

CATARRH,

Catarrh of the Nose and Throat.

A NEW HOME TREATMENT.

Sufferers are not generally aware that these diseases are contagious, or that they are due to the presence of living parasites in the lining membrane of the nose and eustachian tubes. Microscopic research, however, has proved this to be a fact and the result is that a simple remedy has been formulated whereby catarrh, catarrhal deafness and hay fever are permanently cured in from one to three simple applications made at home by the patient once in two weeks. N. B.—For catarrhal discharges peculiar to females (whites) this remedy is a specific. A pamphlet explaining this new treatment is sent on receipt of ten cents by A. H. Dixon & Son, 334 West King St., Toronto, Canada.—Scientific American.

Sufferers from catarrhal troubles should read the above carefully.

Universally Laughter At.

The unthinking are prone to make game of nervousness. Yet this is a very real and serious affliction, the harassing symptoms of which are rendered all the more poignant by ridicule. The stomach is usually responsible for these symptoms—its weakness and disorder find a reflux in the brain, which is the headquarters of the nervous system. As a nerve tonic and tranquillizer we believe that no one can be pointed out so effective as Hostetter's Stomach Bitters. In renewing vigorous digestion, it strikes the key note of recovery of strength and quietude by the nerves. Headaches, tremors in quiet sleep, all these modify and ultimately disappear as the system gains strength from the great tonic. Dyspepsia, biliousness, rheumatism, constipation and kidney complaints are subdued by the Bitters.

THE FINAL SESSION.

The Pennsylvania Legislature Concludes Its Labors.

PRESENTS AND PRETTY SPEECHES.

The Bachelor Speaker Receives a Silver Service and Other Substantial and Verbal Testimonials of Esteem—Mr. Penrose Elected President Pro Tem. of the Senate—Bills Passed.

HARRISBURG, May 10.—The house passed all of its last night of existence in continuous session and at 7 a. m. the conference report on the general appropriation bill was brought in from the printer and agreed to. During the night the house passed finally the following senate bills:

The act providing for the incorporation and regulation of savings banks and institutions without capital stock; the act relating to the receiving of deposits by insolvent bankers, brokers, or any other of a bank-national, state or private; the act defining the offense and providing a punishment therefor; the act relating to the payment of traveling expenses of directors of the poor and county commissioners within the commonwealth; the act to authorize the directors of the poor of the several counties and the overseers of the poor of the several poor districts of the commonwealth of Pennsylvania to sue for and recover any and all claims in action belonging to any person who is now or may hereafter become chargeable to their respective counties or poor districts; the bill to amend an act entitled "An act relative to insurance companies," approved April 24, A. D. 1887 to apply the provisions of said act to live stock insurance companies; and to give jurisdiction to a commissioner, justice of the peace and magistrates; giving to water supply companies right to issue capital stock to an amount not exceeding $2,000,000; an act to punish bribery at the special election in June.

At 11 o'clock Messrs. Moore, Stevens and McKinnon were appointed a committee to wait on the governor and inform him that the house was ready to adjourn. Messrs. Jones, Allison and Flad were appointed a committee to wait on the senate and inform it that the house was ready to adjourn.

Present and Compliments for the Speaker

At 11:30 ex-Speaker Graham was called to the chair, and Mr. Dearden, in a neat speech, presented to Speaker Boyer, on behalf of the house, a silver service of knives, forks, etc., and a large solid silver salver. Mr. Dearden referred to the high honor paid Mr. Boyer in his twice being elected speaker, and predicted for him future honors, which was greeted with applause. He paid a high compliment to the speaker's fairness, integrity and honest judgment. Speaker Boyer regretted that his physical condition prevented him from answering as he would like to. He appreciated the kind words that were said of him, and set the house to smiling by saying that the present given him was "terribly suggestive."

Speaker Boyer is a bachelor, and that is what made the house laugh. He amended his expression to "exquisitely suggestive," and then referred to the kindness with which he had been treated, and the leniency shown him by his fellow members. When he failed, he disclaimed any intention to wound the feelings of any member, and said if he had done so, he desired to apologize. Mr. Baker, on behalf of Chief Clerk Morrison, presented Speaker Boyer with a gold watch chain in the shape of a laurel wreath, with diamonds for the head. Mr. Moore, on behalf of the other clerks, presented the speaker with a diamond pin.

Several valuable presents were made on behalf of the house to the clerks, sergeant-at-arms and pages. Resident Clerk Voorhies received a beautiful and costly piano.

As Speaker Boyer resumed the chair he was met by ex-Speaker Graham, who complimented him highly for his efficiency, and spoke feelingly of the parting. The gavel then fell, and the speaker declared the house adjourned sine die.

Closing Proceedings in the Senate.

The members of the senate sat around all night, sleeping on lounges and in the chairs at the desks. Others, more wakeful, gathered in knots and sang songs. The work of the senate had been nearly all cleared up, and they only waited for the arrival of the amended general appropriation bill. The appropriation bill was received from the printer at 7 o'clock and passed.

The governor notified the senate that he had signed the following acts of assembly: Dividing the cities into three classes with respect to the population; amending the act providing for the appointment of constables for three years; authorizing county officers to employ detectives and offer rewards for the detection of crime; providing for the organization and regulation of electric light companies.

A resolution offered by Mr. Cooper was adopted thanking Lieutenant Governor William T. Davies for the impartial manner in which he has presided over the sessions of the senate. Resolutions thanking the various other officers of the senate were then adopted, and several senators made eulogistic remarks on the retirement of Capt. Delany.

Mr. Penrose Elected President Pro Tem. The senate then proceeded to the election of a president pro tem. Mr. Newmyer nominated Edwin Penrose and Mr. Ross nominated William McAleer. A ballot being taken, Mr. Penrose was declared elected by a vote of 35 to 14. The new speaker was escorted to the chair by Senators Newmyer and McAleer. After a short speech, he was sworn in by Judge Simonon. The senate then adjourned.

After the adjournment of the senate a handsome silver service was presented to John C. Grady, the retiring president pro tem. The presentation speech was made by Mr. Ross, of Bucks. Senator Newmyer, on behalf of Chief Clerk Russell Errett, presented Mr. Grady with a handsome gavel.

HARRISBURG, May 9.—When the Fow liquor transfer bill was called up in the senate on final passage, Senator Cooper was surprised to find that a material omission had been made in the printing of the amendment relating to the execution bond. The fault laid, of course, with the public printer. The only way out of the difficulty was to postpone the bill and have the error rectified. When the bill was corrected and returned it failed of a constitutional majority. The vote was 23 to 23. Senator Cooper is disposed to think that there was some underhand work in the matter and Senator Smith says it has a very suspicious look.

The bill appropriating $300,000 in aid of the improvement of the harbor of Philadelphia passed finally.

The Osborne-Devlin contest was decided in favor of Mr. Osborne and was sworn in as the member from the Third district, Philadelphia.

The general appropriation bill passed

Finally. The report of the conference committees on the soldiers' orphans' bill were accepted.

The house passed the bill authorizing boards of prison inspectors to fix the salaries of deputy wardens, keepers and other employes, except in Philadelphia also the bill empowering the president judges of the court of common pleas of counties not forming separate judicial districts to hold the court of quarter sessions of the peace and oyer terminer and general jail delivery in the absence of the associate judges.

The senate bill for the government and regulation of county jails and prisons was defeated.

The house on third reading voted down the bill to authorize the formation of corporations for the purpose of driving and floating sawlogs, lumber and timber upon all streams not exceeding twenty miles in length from their source. This is commonly known as the "boom" bill. The vote was afterwards reconsidered and the bill passed.

The reports on the soldiers' orphans' appropriation bill, and the bill to relegate the management of the fund and the orphans to a commission, were presented and the reports agreed to.

The governor forwarded the following appointments: To be superintendent of public printing, Barton D. Evans, of West Chester; superintendent of public instruction, E. E. Higbee. The appointments were at once confirmed.

The Quigley bill relative to the revocation of liquor licenses was defeated.

At 1:45 o'clock this morning the conference committee on the general appropriation bill reached an agreement and reported the bill, with the senate's amendment giving $5,000 for "Small's Handbook" copyright, and $5,000 for the battle of Lake Erie picture stricken out. This bill included a $75,000 for the national guard uniforms.

At quarter past 1 o'clock this morning the house reconvened and began rushing through the belated bills. In the senate the dignified senators were willing away the recess in a mock senate.

HARRISBURG, May 8.—Mr. Cooper, in the senate, made a motion that the vote by which the Fow liquor license transfer bill was killed last Friday be reconsidered. Mr. Packer said he was against the bill and therefore against reconsideration. Mr. Cooper said he hoped the senate would include this measure. It was one of high importance and should not be killed in this way. The object of reconsideration was to correct one objectionable feature, that of compelling saloon keepers to pay constables for their monthly visit and to right a typographical error, the result of a mistake by the printer or of collusion with him.

The senate agreed to reconsider the vote, and Mr. Cooper inserted his amendment. Appropriation bills were finally passed as follows: For new laundry at Norristown Insane Asylum, $5,000; Wills Eye Hospital $10,000; proposed dispensary at Norristown, $5,000.

The Quigley bill, relating to the revocation of liquor licenses, came up on second reading in the senate. A motion was made by Mr. Woods to strike out the last section of the bill which provides that the saloon keeper shall be furnished with the particulars of the charges against him. The motion was lost.

The governor returned several bills to the house with his veto. The conference report on the general revenue bill was submitted. The house insisted upon its non-concurrence in the senate amendments to the soldiers' orphans' appropriation bill.

Fighting for License.

READING, Pa., May 14.—The thirteen liquor dealers of this city recently informed on made an answer in court why their licenses should not be revoked. They claim that section 7 of the Brooks high license law is wholly unconstitutional and void, and confers no authority upon the court to revoke the licenses as prayed for in the petitions of complaint, for the reason that the provisions of said section contravene the requirements of section 1 of the constitution of Pennsylvania as well as article 5 and 6 of the amendments to the constitution of the United States. Also that the act of assembly of May 13, 1887, is unconstitutional and void because it offends against the provisions of the constitution of Pennsylvania. Several of the respondents in their answers also deny that liquor was sold on their premises on Sunday with their knowledge. The court took the papers and commissioners will probably be appointed to take testimony in the thirteen cases.

Some Possible Vetoes.

HARRISBURG, May 13.—Governor Beaver attacked the bill left him by the legislature with great vigor Friday and Saturday mornings. When he has disposed of the less important measures he will take up the appropriations bills and other acts concerning which there are doubts of his approval. Among the bills that are said to be in danger of falling under the veto axe are the National Guard dress uniform measure, involving $75,000; the appropriation of $50,000 on transporting the surviving participants in the battle of Gettysburg to the battle field on Pennsylvania's day; the judges' salary bill and other appropriation bills.

Auditor General McCannet said some time ago that additional sources of revenue would have to be provided if the legislature continued from year to year the reckless appropriation of public moneys. As it was, the state authorities were compelled to exert themselves to raise the necessary cash.

Lost His Life for a Friend.

SLATONOTON, Pa., May 14.—William H. Lloyd, of Danielsville, Northampton county, leaped from a Lehigh Valley coal train near here this morning to help a companion who had fallen from the same train and lay between the tracks as if seriously injured. Lloyd fell, crushed the right side of his head against a railroad sill and expired in a few minutes. The other man was not badly hurt.

Roasting Reading.

READING, Pa., May 10.—The unusually hot weather this early in the season is being severely felt here. At 7 o'clock yesterday morning the thermometer marked 88°, and by 1 p. m. it had reached 96°. A number of persons employed in the city park were compelled to quit work on account of the heat.

Another Commissionary to Paris.

HARRISBURG, May 14.—Governor Beaver has appointed William B. Gill, superintendent of the Sixth district of the Western Union service, to be a commissioner to the Paris exposition. Mr. Gill will start for Paris in June.

The Board of Pardons.

HARRISBURG, May 14.—The next regular meeting of the board of pardons will be held on Tuesday, May 15.
