PRINCETON NEARLY DEMOLISHED.

How the Town Was Ruined in Twenty Minutes -- Exaggerated Reports of Loss of Life at Hamilton-Prostrated Elec trie Light Wires Do Injury at Evansville, Ind.

CINCINNATI, July 16 .- Further details of the wind storm which swept over Butler county, nearly wiping out the town of Princeton and inflicting severe damage at Hamilton, show that it was a storm of terific violence.

Among the buildings destroyed in Princeton was a large school house built of brick. This edifice was wrecked so completely that not one brick was left on another.

A huge rafter was carried between 600 and 700 feet and left high in the branches of an oak tree, while the debris and other school furniture were strewn about the grounds for hundreds of yards.

The Work of Twenty Minutes. The residences which were swept away or wrecked by the wind included those of Finley Whitehead, Joseph Stinson, Stephen Clawson, Ash Walters, John Lenhart, Rose Miller and others. Gus Kinnear's blacksmith shop and barn were demolished.

Besides the loss of dwelling places, there was tremendous damage to crops, through which suffer many whose homes were vet left standing.

The terrible visitation came without warning at about 4 o'clock in the afternoon and so rapid was its work of de-struction that in less than twenty minutes all was over and the homeless ones were being cared for by their more fortunate neighbors.

A heavy rainfall, amounting almost to a deluge, accompanied the wind.

An unverified report from Hamilton says the killed and injured people there number fifty, but this report is not given full credence.
