

SCOTT'S EMULSION

OF PURE COD LIVER OIL AND HYPOPHOSPHITES

Almost as Palatable as Milk.

So digested that it can be taken, digested, and assimilated by the most sensitive stomach, when the plain oil cannot be tolerated; and by the combination of the oil with the hypophosphites is much more efficacious.

Remarkable as a flesh producer. Persons gain rapidly while taking it.

SCOTT'S EMULSION is acknowledged by Physicians to be the Finest and Best Preparation in the world for the relief and cure of CONSUMPTION, SCROFULA, GENERAL DEBILITY, WASTING DISEASES, EMACIATION, GOLDS AND CHRONIC COUGHS. The great remedy for Consumption, and Wasting in Children. Sold by all Druggists.

THE NEW YORK STAR.

A Daily and Weekly Newspaper.

PROSPECTUS FOR 1889.

THE STAR BUILDING.

The New York Star passed into the hands of its managers 13 November last, and a new corporation is now in full possession and control of it.

During the first months of the change the improvement made in it was so pronounced that it came to be recognized at once as

A Live, Bright and Lustrous Newspaper.

Its news columns are filled with the freshest of foreign, domestic and local news. Its editorials are crisp, positive and bold. Its Democratic principles are so pronounced and orthodox that the Democratic National Committee, on its recent reorganization, selected it as the medium for placing its official action and utterances before the voters of the party. It urges united Democracy in nation, State and city; and is the advocate of no individual nor the organ of no faction.

ITS SUNDAY ISSUE OF 16 PAGES

Is regarded universally as the best combination of original literature with news which is now published in New York city on Sunday. The matter selected for the literary columns is supplied by scores of contributors of the highest merit and reputation. Their united contributions each Sunday would make a volume as large as Harper's Magazine, and treating of many more subjects than any monthly magazine published ever discusses. The whole at a cost of only 3 cents for 16 pages!

THE WEEKLY EDITION

differs in many respects from the weekly editions of other New York papers. It is a perfect epitome of the really important news of the week carefully condensed and systematically arranged. All the markets of interest to farmers are published in detail. Space is given to the class of literature most welcome in the home circle. Special care is taken to interest the women of the household. It does not pretend to instruct the farmer in farming, but to interest him in the general news of the world, leaving the home paper of each subscriber to supply the practical information on all agricultural topics. It is an excellent paper, therefore, to obtain, through favorable club rates, along with the weekly printed in your immediate locality.

TERMS.

For the six months from July 1 to Dec. 31, 1889, we offer THE STAR, free of postage to any part of the United States and Canada, outside the limits of New York city:

Every day, six months..... $3.00
Daily, without Sunday, six months..... 3.00
Sunday edition, six months..... 75
WEEKLY STAR, six months..... 50

Try it for one-half year and you will not be content ever after to be without either the daily, Sunday or weekly issue.

The terms for a year's subscription are just double those given above as the rates for the next six months.

Address THE STAR, Broadway and Park place, New York City.

THE WEST VIRGINIA FLOODS.

It is Now Said That Seventeen Were Drowned—Great Suffering.

WHEELING, W. Va., July 23.—Specials from the flood district near Parkersburg give the following complete list of the drowned so far as known: It is thought that the death list will be much larger when the districts now cut off from the outside world are heard from:

Robert Black, Mrs. Black, Mrs. Thomas Hughes and four children, Ed Boso, Mrs. Isaac Roberts, Mrs. Orville West and two children, John Bailey, Roy Kiger, Mrs. Roy Kiger, Mrs. Isaac Tucker, a man whose name cannot be ascertained. The damage to property cannot be estimated at present. Hundreds of people lost all they possessed and many families are homeless.

A late dispatch says the village of Morris-town, Wirt county, was swept entirely away. Great suffering exists among those who lost all they possessed, and the county commissioners of Wood county will issue an appeal for aid.

The cloudburst occurred on Limestone mountain, Wood county, where the five creeks that were flooded have a common source, and from where they take their courses in as many directions.

The damage to crops was inestimable, and the farmers will be dependent upon charity until next season.

In Favor of Electricity.

New York, July 23.—In the Kemalar reference Dr. R. C. W. for twenty-five years a physician, testified in favor of electricity as a painless death dealing force. Witness would be very much astonished if 1,000 volts did not kill in every case. He had no doubt whatever as to the deadly effect of a force of 1,500 volts. In the cross-examination witness said that the certainty of a death current and not a fact demonstration. Witness also admitted that he did not know what electricity was, nor did he think any one else did. It was not even known if a current existed. The word was only used as a name for the unknown agent.

In the Hands of Insurgents.

CONSTANTINOPLE, July 23.—Cretan insurgents have seized the town of Varnos Cedonia and have expelled the town officers and set fire to five public buildings. The Turkish peasants of the district in possession of the rebels have taken refuge in Retymo.

Francis Joseph is Modest.

BERLIN, July 23.—It is reported that Emperor Francis Joseph of Austria has requested that no public festivities be held when he visits Berlin.

SPORTING NOTES.

The most remarkable game of the season was played on Saturday at the West New Brighton, S. L., grounds. The Staten Island Athletic and the Staten Island Cricket teams played fifteen innings without a score, the game then being called on account of darkness. Brilliant fielding prevented runs in the twelfth and fifteenth innings. The opposing pitchers were Bates and Tyng. Only sixteen hits were made, nine of them being credited to the Athletic team, who are also credited with one of the three errors.

In speaking of the classification idea, President Goulding, of Worcester, says that there is not a club in the Atlantic association that has any business to pay over $1,200 per month for salaries. The highest salaried man on the team should receive $150 per month, and from that figure the amount should run down to $50. He says that some such kind of plan as the new classification plan must be adopted if a league like the Atlantic is to live. Nearly all of the clubs acknowledge that they are losing money, and Worcester and New Haven are just looking their heads above water.

At the conclusion of the game in Jersey City all the players were arrested and each fined $2 and released. This is probably the last game that will be played in Jersey City on Sunday.

Hins, of Wilkesbarre, keeps up that batting streak. In eight consecutive games up to July 17, inclusive, he had made twenty-one hits, with a total of thirty-seven.

At the end of the season Syracuse is to lose the services of Jack Chapman, who is to manage and have entire charge of the Louisville club next season at a salary of $2,500.

Grant, the colored second baseman, is to have charge of the colored All American team, which is a combination of the Cuban Giants and Gorhams.

If the games in Jersey City pay Phil Powers will not go to Rochester, but will remain with his present charge.

The Athletic baseball park in Milwaukee was the scene of a catch-as-catch-can wrestling match Sunday between Evan Lewis, the "strangler," and Charles Green, heavyweight champion of England. The "strangler" defeated the Englishman in three rounds, getting two points down in the first round in two minutes. In the second he worked one hour and three minutes to down the English champion, and in the third he downed him in three minutes. The match was for $150 a side and the gate money. Green was very badly injured and "Strangler" nearly broke his back in the second round.

The Pittsburgh baseball team arrived in Buffalo Sunday, en route to Cleveland. Deacon White and Zack Rowe were with the team, and it was learned that they have been laid off, and that Smith and Knoche have been put back in their old places. This was decided on Friday, after the club had lost its ninth consecutive game. Rowe said he supposed their work had not been satisfactory.

Their batting, owing to hard luck, was very poor. "We are being paid $500 a month each and can stand it as long as any one else can."

The Sunday baseball playing was continued at the Rhode Island shore resorts. At Rocky Point the Waukegan and Providence teams played a full game, although it was reported that the sheriff had given orders to stop the sport. The police, when complained by some wealthy residents of Warwick Neck, said they were paid to preserve order, not to curtail the harmless amusement of visitors. Governor Ladd has been inquiring into the responsibility for the numerous baseball contests and the Sunday balloon ascension at Oakland beach. He has discovered that the police were hired by the shore places, and that little less than a riot proclamation and the calling out of the militia would suffice to check the new order of things in Warwick and at Rocky Point.

IN FLAMES AT SEA.

The Boston Steamer Lorenzo D. Baker a Total Loss.

TWO FIREMEN PERISHED.

The Blaze Started in the Engine Room and Could Not Be Controlled—Passengers and Crew Fled for Their Lives. One Lady Was on Board.

New Bedford, Mass., July 23.—Capt. Wylie and crew of the Boston steamer Lorenzo D. Baker have arrived at this port on the whaler Franklin.

Their own vessel was burned at sea and the survivors have a thrilling story of their experience.

Two firemen were lost with the ship. Capt. Wylie told his story in the following words:

Capt. Wylie's Story.

"We left Port Antonio, Jamaica, July 19, with a cargo of bananas for Boston. We had six cabin passengers, Mrs. Elizabeth Lime, of Dundee, Scotland; Josiah Dillon, of Iowa; Lorenzo D. Baker, Jr., of Welfleet, Mass.; Jeremiah O'Callahan, of Boston, and Ernest B. Thing, of Lynn. There were Lawrence Jensen and Peter Saxild, sailors, who were working their passage, and nineteen of the officers and crew, in all twenty-seven persons.

"We had fair, smooth weather up to the evening of July 15, the day of the disaster, when we were in latitude 38 degs. 15 min. north, longitude 69 degs. 49 min. west. At this time a fresh gale from the southwest set in, causing the ship to roll some, but not severely.

An Alarm of Fire.

"At about eight bells, midnight, there was an alarm of fire. I went out on deck and saw that the engine room was in a blaze. I ordered the fire hose on, but the engineer said he could not get at the pumps.

"Then I ordered the fire buckets and immediately alarmed the passengers and ordered the steamer's boats to be swung out. By this time the flames had burst through the top of the engine room and the starboard boat was on fire.

"We swung out the port boat and lowered her, and I had the lady passenger put in this boat and ordered it to be manned. Two other passengers then got into the boat, but men had gone forward. This operation had occupied about ten minutes.

Fire Within Three Feet of Them.

"Two other passengers now got into the boat, but the men had gone forward. The fire was within three feet of us, and the heat was intense. Placing the boat's painter in the hands of a sailor and telling him to hold it fast, I ordered the first mate to take the bow, and springing into the stern, told the men at the falls to lower away, thinking, as soon as the boat was afloat and detached from the steamer, to return on board and get out the raft and small boat. But the boat capsized on striking the water and threw us into the sea. The man lay on the painter, the mate and I righted the boat, put the passengers aboard, and we put away for the steamer, which had drifted half a mile. On the way we encountered the raft, which had eight passengers on it, and took them into the boat. By this time the wreck was more than a mile away.

All but Two Rescued.

"After rowing some time we picked up a sailor floating on the gangway steps. He said he had gone in the small boat, and that four sailors and two firemen were on board the steamer, having been cut off from the boat by the fire. One fireman had been drowned in trying to reach the small boat. The distance between us and the burning ship was gradually increasing when we saw a schooner bearing down to the ship. She took off some men and then picked up the Franklin, Capt. Rose, of New Bedford. She had taken five men from a spar alongside the steamer. Another fireman had been drowned by swinging from the steamer's bowsprit to the spars to which the sailors clung. At the time the steamer had burned to within three feet of the water's edge, and was a mass of flame from stem to stern.

"We soon found the small boat and twenty-five out of twenty-seven souls who had been on board the steamer were safe on board the Franklin. The most generous treatment was accorded to us by Capt. Rose and the crew of the Franklin. Clothing and the best of all they had was freely given. The Franklin's voyage was not up for a month, but Capt. Rose brought us immediately into port."

The Lady Passenger's Experience.

The firemen who lost their lives were Hugh Wylie, of Liverpool, Eng., and Ralph Robinson, of Boston, Mass.

The only lady passenger on board the lost steamer was Mrs. Elizabeth Lime, of Dundee, Scotland. A reporter had a brief interview with her and found her to be an intelligent lady of about 35 or 28 years of age, with a pleasant face and agreeable manner. She had lived in Jamaica four years, her husband being a planter. He died last November and Mrs. Lime was on her way home to reside with her friends in Scotland. She was asleep in her berth below when she was aroused at night by the voice of Capt. Wylie, telling her that the ship was on fire. She hurried into some clothing, secured her money and went on deck, where she was placed in the life boat.

When the craft capsized she was drawn underneath. She could not swim, but she had on a life preserver and soon came to the surface. The mate, who was on the keel of the boat, caught her by the arm and drew her up. When the boat was righted she was assisted in, and soon after the boat was picked up by the Franklin. She was treated like a princess by the rough men on the schooner and given the best accommodations in their power. She lost all her wedding presents, including a valuable set of silver plate, her watch, jewelry and all her clothing, except what she had on.

On reaching this city Mrs. Lime was conveyed to the Mansion house and after procuring some additional clothing she proceeded to Boston to remain a while with friends before proceeding to Scotland.

Proposes to Make a Test Case of It.

WASHINGTON, July 23.—H. C. Smith, the colored Democrat whose dismissal from the sixth auditor's office has attracted some attention, and who claims that his removal is due to his being a Democrat, has announced his intention of making a test case of it. He has not decided as yet exactly what course he will pursue in the matter before the civil service commission and obtains their decision on the question, as there is no other body to which he can appeal.
