

The Grand Jury beg leave to remind the Commissioners that the yard in front of the Court House is in a very shabby condition, and is being used as a play ground, disfigured by pitching quoits and we are also informed that the Court House has been granted for holding exhibitions, band meetings, etc., which we discontinue, as this is a MISUSE OF THE PUBLIC BUILDINGS.

CHURCH DEDICATION.

A BEAUTIFUL AND IMPRESSIVE SERVICE.

After Five Years of Labor the Handsome Structure is Consecrated.—The Largest and Finest House of Worship in Bellefonte.

Last Sunday was a memorable day in the history of the Catholic church of Bellefonte. In August 1884 the corner stone of their new church was laid, and that meant five long years of hard work for the pastor and congregation, who anxiously looked forward to the time of the completion of this temple of worship. The work on the building was advanced as the funds of the church were raised, and at no time was it encumbered with debt, and to-day stands forth as a testimonial of their great zeal and devotion to their faith.

This building is constructed of a white sand stone and makes a most noble structure of mammoth proportions. Two massive towers rise from the front corners and will have spires when finished. The interior is 118 feet in length and about 60 feet to the ceiling. The ceiling is divided into three sets of arches which are supported by two rows of columns and extending through the length of the room. The choir is stationed in a gallery over the entrance and rear of the auditorium. The rich colors of the large glass windows shed a lustre of warmth and beauty through the building by day and at night they glow with intense colors. The large triple windows in front were presented by the Brockerhoff family in memory of the late Henry Brockerhoff and of Mr. and Mrs. Mullen, father and mother of Mrs. Brockerhoff. The four tower windows were the gifts of the Rosary Society—Rev. T. J. Rafferty, Rev. P. McArdle and a number of young men and women. The small windows under the tower were presented by H. Miller, Thomas Caldwell and J. Pacini, in memory of S. Pacini, and the Sunday school; gable windows, gifts of the Saylor family, in memory of H. Saylor and the James Clark family. The twelve large aisle windows are properly inscribed as memorials as follows: John Brown, John Roll, Rev. W. Burke, Rev. J. Gromly, Mrs. W. D. Kelley, in memory of Theo. Kelley; Mrs. Alice Beezer, A. Kohler and J. Seight, in memory of U. Kohler; Mr. and Mrs. Ceadar, Crotty family, in memory of father and mother; P. Gross, in memory of Mr. Gross; Hazel family, in memory of Mr. Hazel; Garber family, in memory of Joseph Garber; P. Collins, in memory of deceased members of Collins and Schoales families.

The furniture for the front of the church was taken from the former building. On Sunday morning a large crowd had assembled on the outside. At 10 a. m. Father McArdle opened the doors and in a short time every pew in the large room was filled. The exterior of the building was first consecrated by the Bishop and priests, who walked around it in their full vestments, and chanted an appropriate service. The priests of the church who took part, together with the places they filled in the ceremony, are as follows: Rt. Rev. Thomas McGovern, the Bishop; Very Rev. Joseph Koch, V. G., Assistant Priest; Very Rev. E. Garvey, V. F., of Williamsport, and Very Rev. M. G. Powers, V. F., of Lock Haven,—Deacons of Honor. Very Rev. Joseph A. Boll, V. F., of Gettysburg—Deacon. Rev. J. Parren, of Tyrone,—Celebrant. Rev. J. J. Gormley, of Renovo—Sub-deacon. Rev. W. J. Burk, of Bonneauville,—Master of Ceremonies. Rev. Nevin Fisher, Professor in Overbrook Seminary, Philadelphia, who delivered the sermon. Rev. Father J. Cohl, of Snow Shoe. Rev. P. McArdle, the rector of the church.

The choir was under the direction of Mr. A. Luckenbach and was composed of singers of this place with the assistance of Miss Schell and Mr. Young, of Tyrone and Prof. Beyers, of Ebensburg. Miss Hibler, of Milesburg presided at the organ. For this occasion the "Farmer's Mass" was rendered.

Rev. Father Fisher delivered the dedicatory sermon, which was a clear and forcible enunciation of their doctrine and belief as they interpret the scriptures. Bishop McGovern delivered the sermon in the evening.

FRIDAY EVENING'S CONCERT.

A Rare Musical Treat and Financial Success.—An Immense Audience.

One of the best musical entertainments given in Bellefonte for a long time, took place in the Court House on last Friday evening. The immense room was completely filled by an appreciative audience and it was not disappointed as most every portion of the program was greeted with ringing applause. The singing by the choir, Messrs. Spear, Aikens and Bayard—Messrs. Keplinger, Voris and Weaver was well received. The instrumental duet by Miss Emma Aikens and Miss Edie Hamilton, of Tyrone, was executed with much expression and was highly appreciated. The program from the beginning to end was a grand musical treat and that is not saying enough. Among the principal features was the singing by Mrs. Dr. Gearhart, of Tyrone, and Dr. Keplinger, of this place. Mrs. Gearhart possesses a voice of rare qualities and her renditions held the immense audience wrapt in admiration. Mr. Keplinger appeared before a Bellefonte audience some time ago and all were anxious to hear him again. His singing displayed great talent, and was of a high order. E. M. Blanchard, appeared on the program and delighted the audience with some of his favorite selections. Our friend Robert Voris distinguished himself and was compelled to respond to the applause of the audience by rendering a second solo. Miss Emma J. Aikens surprised the audience in the manner in which she rendered her solo; it was her debut before a Bellefonte audience and acquitted herself admirably. Prof. Bane, the celebrated guitarist, gave a fine exhibition of what can be done upon that instrument. W. I. Swoope, Esq., occupied considerable time by two recitations. Mr. Swoope possesses ability in that direction which should be encouraged. The entertainment was gotten up by Mrs. J. A. Aikens and Mrs. Weaver for the benefit of the Presbyterian church. These ladies are deserving of much praise for the success of this entertainment which was a rare musical treat and a financial success as well.

What He Saw.

J. W. Gephart, who has returned from a flying visit to Europe, taking in parts of England, France, Italy and Germany, can relate many little incidents of interest that came under his observations, and which prove that he is a close observer.

In their educational system he finds England in advance of America; in Germany it is profound with learning and every thing is done with a view to build up the brain more so than to have magnificent exteriors and interiors for their college buildings.

In the mechanical arts Mr. Gephart thinks England and Germany not up with the U. S. He likes the German railroads, which run smoother and swifter than in this country, and are always constructed with a view to straight tracks. They avoid curvatures by frequent tunneling.

The hotel system in England is equal to our own, and charges more moderate. The tip system, he says, is not what many are led to believe, and only amounts to a trifle per week, unless the guest is foolish enough to throw away his change in tips. He says he got the best coffee he ever drank, in Germany; when served it comes in a small mug, very strong and little of it, but accompanied by a mug of hot milk which is added by the guest and this makes up the quantity steaming with deliciousness.

Farm work in many parts is performed by the women. He saw grain harvested in a far cruder manner than in the days of our hand cradle. Reaping and mowing machines are not seen. The density of the population leaves but few acres for any one farmer, and on these he can do all his labor by hand.

He was above the clouds on some of the high mountains. In Germany he heard a shop lady remark to her husband, "Der Mon spricht gut Deutsch," which Wes. prides as a compliment. He saw the eternal snows on the mountain tops and visited one of the Alpine glaciers, and saw the evidence that a glacier travels. The Germans, he tells us, eat much animal food—wild and domestic.

This is as much as we can recollect in a hurried sketch of what he told us.

He did not say that he danced with the Queen or that he drank with Bismark—he may be too good a Presbyterian for doing either.—Centre Hall Reporter.

A Sad Death.

A most singular death occurred in this place on last Sunday morning. Lucy, a daughter of John Corman, aged about 2 years, was eating peanuts when, by accident, a kernel got in her wind-pipe and caused great pain, almost strangling the little one. Medical aid was summoned at once but the obstruction could not be moved or dislodged. The little girl remained in this condition, suffering great pain and was unconscious most of the time, until 5 o'clock when she died. After the death of the little one an opening was made and the two halves of the kernel were found in the passage below the larynx. The interment took place on Tuesday afternoon.

WON'T ANTE UP.

Williamsport Property Owners Refuse to Pay for Street Paving.

The city of Williamsport will soon have a big law suit on its hands, growing out of the refusal of property owners on certain streets to pay the proportion for the cost of paving. The contractor has been unable to obtain anything from the property owners, and the city having paid its share declines to take any further action. Suit has been brought against the individuals, but in many cases to compel them to pay according to the foot rule would be a virtual confiscation of the property. The contractor is now looking to the city to settle and the first steps to an action at law have been taken.

The New Mills.

The new Centre Hall Mills, of Kurtz & Son, have been in continuous operation now for ten weeks, and it that time have frequently been behind orders for both flour and feed. The Cream and Calla Lilly brands of flour, kept at the mill, are equal in excellence to these brands before the fire, and equal to any in the country. Rye flour and granulated corn meal of the finest grades are manufactured at this mill, also four grades of feed, the cheapest grades up to fancy chop. The purity and excellence of all these grades of mill feed have created such a demand for them in the short space of time since the mill has been in operation, that it has been found necessary to double the manufacturing capacity of the mill at once, and inside of ten days the necessary machinery to supply this increased demand for feed, will be in running order. The proprietors sustained a heavy loss by the fire in March, and are gratified that the new mill has gotten under full sail with the most encouraging promise of success, and is maintaining its former reputation for first class work.

All goods turned out are warranted to be pure, and free of mould or rot of grain. The best proof of this is the constantly increasing demand for the products of the mill from all sections.

The goods of the mill and its dealings with its patrons in every section, have been so entirely satisfactory, that all its patrons before the fire have returned to it again, with many new ones. A further enlargement of the plant is in contemplation.

At the time the first mill was burned the firm was negotiating for a small electric light plant and steam heat, and one other institution, all of which had to be abandoned after that disaster, to be taken up again perhaps in the near future.—Centre Hall Reporter.

A White Squirrel Shot.

The Williamsport Republican says that Frank Hart, the Fourth street druggist, and W. H. Moyer, the principal of the Market street school building went up near Linden on a hunting expedition, and while going through the woods they sighted a white animal up a tree. Moyer brought his shot gun to bear upon it and soon brought it to earth. It proved to be a perfectly white squirrel, a very rare animal. There are white tame squirrels, but they have pink eyes. This one's eyes, however, are black, and its hair is as white as the driven snow, while its bushy tail is over ten inches long. The animal is a great deal larger than a gray squirrel and is a very fine specimen. Mr. Hart intends to have the skin stuffed.

Good Joke About Tanner.

The Corporal, as everybody knows, had both legs shot off during the war, but the substitutes serve him well. Once there was about the house where he lived a negro as green as a new Congressman. "One night when Tanner had his boots all besmeared with mud he called Adolphus in to pull off his boots. The negro caught hold of the boot, but Tanner told him to pull off both at once. Tanner had unloosened the straps that held on the false legs, and the negro, putting his foot on the bed between Tanner's legs, gave one strong, vigorous pull. Away came the legs and the negro fell with the legs on top of him. He gave one frantic yell, rushed out of the door, and the last seen of him he was fleeing across the wall towards the river.—Philadelphia Times

The Big Granger Picnic.

It is said in a Lebanon Dispatch that Dr. T. A. Corryell, of Harrisburg, secretary of the granger association, in company with other representatives of the same association, visited Robert H. Coleman September 25 and effected a twenty years' lease of grounds at Mount Gretna. It is reported that the picnics of the association, which have heretofore been held at Williams' Grove, will here after be held at Mount Gretna. A stock company will be formed with a liberal capital several buildings will be erected the largest of which will be 50 by 500 feet, and it has been decided to conduct the picnic on a much grander scale than ever before.

Personal in His Remarks.

The editor of the Sugar Valley Journal is very personal in some of his remarks. He says in his paper last week: "George Kleckner is the meanest neighbor we ever had any dealings with. He is on his ear, and refuses to pay his subscription due this office, because we turned his cow out of our yard."

A FEW FACTS FOR VOTERS

ALWAYS RETAIN A GOOD OFFICIAL.

Why Lew Schaeffer Deserves Your Vote—A Good Official—Redeemed and Simplified the "Fee System" of the Prothonotary's Office.

There are many reasons why Lew Schaeffer should be elected this fall and among them is one which is not generally known. In the discharge of his duty as Prothonotary he has always been careful in the matter of fees. Three years ago three prominent attorneys were appointed by the court, at his request, to interpret the law upon the fees of that office. This was done and the same was posted in the office so that all persons could examine it. We are told by a number of old veterans and poor and needy soldiers, who have had business in that office in the way of pension documents, that Mr. Schaeffer never accepted a fee from them for his services, except when the party was in good financial circumstances. There is another strong point we hear in his favor. A subscriber and an intelligent farmer, of Boggs township, was in our office this week and said that he knew of several instances where Schaeffer had reduced the fees charged for entering notes from $1.75 to $1.25. Mr. Schaeffer we find adopted this rule the past three years, thereby saving many dollars in the line of legal expenses for farmers and others, especially when in distress and financial difficulties. He is disposed to help those in distress instead of charging excessive fees.

There is another point we wish to make. We do not believe there is a single Republican attorney in Bellefonte who is not pleased with Schaeffer's administration of that office, and would like to see him re-elected but dare not give his open support for him on account of party affiliations. It is a great inconvenience to the legal fraternity and to the public to have incompetent and inexperienced men in that position to jumble the books and blunder around for three years at the expense of the public. Let us avoid such things by taking timely action.

We don't want our public offices filled by a set of incompetent men, an expensive samples of which can be found in the present Republican commissioners board. Their course should be enough to satisfy every Democrat for the next generation.

The outlook for the extension of the Tyrone & Clearfield railroad from Curwensville to Mahaffey, is assuming such shape as to warrant us in saying that railroad connection between the two places will soon be made. A number of the prominent men of Curwensville, Clearfield and this place are urging the matter of extending this road, believing that it will be to the best interests of the people of this section.—Philipsburg Journal.
