BRAZIL A REPUBLIC.

Emperor Dom Pedro II Deposed by His Soldiers.

HE QUIETLY SAILS FOR LISBON.

The Revolution Accomplished Without Loss of Life—Dom Pedro Treated with the Utmost Courtesy—Gen. Da Fonseca Proclaimed President—His Cabinet. Business at a Standstill.

RIO DE JANEIRO, Nov. 18.—The emperor has sailed for Lisbon. He was notified by the provisional government of his deposition and informed that his civil list would be continued. He was treated with the utmost courtesy.

Bahia opposes the new regime, but most of the other provinces recognize the republic.

Dr. Barboza, the new minister of finance, announces that all contracts made by the late empire government will be maintained by the new government.

The city is tranquil, but business is at a standstill.

The Republic Organized.

The new Brazilian cabinet has been organized by the soldiers as follows:

President, without portfolio—Gen. Dodoro da Fonseca.

Minister of the interior—Aristide Loba.

Minister of foreign affairs—Equintin Bocayura.

Minister of finance—Dr. Barboza.

Minister of justice—Campos Salles.

Minister of war—Benjamin Constant.

Minister of marine—Admiral Vanderholz.

Minister of agriculture—Demetris Ribero.

Senhor Bocayura is a journalist. Senhor Barboza was a member of the chamber of deputies. Senhor Constant is a journalist and a professor in the Polytechnic school. Gen. da Fonseca held command of the province of Minas Geraes. He was recently punished for insubordination.

STORY OF THE REVOLUTION.

Dom Pedro Declined to Abdicate, but Yielded to Force.

RIO DE JANEIRO, Nov. 19.—On the morning of the revolution the city awoke to hear the proclamation of the republic of the United States of Brazil. Senhor Fonseca, Constant and others proceeded to Petropolis on Friday morning and informed the emperor that he was de-throned.

Dom Pedro was calm and dignified and listened quietly to what his visitors had to say. Senator Fonseca acted as spokesman and said: "Brazil has advanced in civilization enough to dispense with monarchy. The country is grateful for the emperor's patriotism but has insisted on a republic."

Dom Pedro replied with dignity, declining to abdicate. He would yield to force but would not renounce the throne voluntarily.

The imperial family were allowed only one hour to prepare for their departure. A man-of-war was ready with steam up to take them off and the captain received his instructions as soon as the emperor and his party were on board.

The orders informing the captain of his route were sealed, but it is supposed his destination is Lisbon.

It is reported that the impending revolution was known to several financial houses in Vienna two days prior to the occurrence.

SENIOR VALENTE'S ADVICES

The Minister at Washington Receives Confirmatory Dispatches from Rio.

WASHINGTON, Nov. 19.—Senior Valente, the Brazilian minister, last evening received two dispatches from Rio de Janeiro confirming and corroborating the news of the overthrow of Dom Pedro II. One of the dispatches came from Bocayura, the new minister of foreign affairs, and merely announced the success of the revolution and the organization of provisional republican government.

The other, from Minister of War Constant, announces the establishment of the republican government, the formation of the new cabinet and also that the de-throned emperor had been directed to leave the country. Everything in Rio, the dispatch stated, was quiet and tranquil. Senior Valente declined to state whether he had been requested to resign or whether he intended to resign, merely stating that his resignation was a matter for future consideration.

Boistering Brazilian Bonds.

LONDON, Nov. 19.—The English banks and financiers who are large holders of Brazilian securities have mostly refused to sell their holdings because the sale might bring about a panic.

The Prime Minister Ordered to Leave.

LISBON, Nov. 18.—The Oporto Comercio Do Porto has a cablegram from Rio de Janeiro stating that the former prime minister has been ordered to leave the country and will sail immediately.

Abducted in Daylight.

ST. LOUIS, Nov. 19.—Miss Alice Jackman was abducted in broad daylight from in front of the residence of W. H. Brothers, in the fashionable quarter near Lafayette park. She was about to enter a carriage with Mr. Brothers when she was seized by two men and hurried into a closed carriage and rapidly driven away. She is heirless to a large amount.

Prefers Prison to the Senate.

COLUMBUS, O., Nov. 19.—Allen O. Myers has published a card denying the recent statement that he is a candidate for United States senator. He says that he would rather serve his unfinished term in jail than be a member of the United States senate as at present constituted.

Perished in the Blizzard.

VINOCHA, Kan., Nov. 18.—Two men came in from the Kenyon ranch, situated on the neutral strip for five coffins, in which to bury the bodies of the Fenn family, consisting of father, mother and three children, who perished in the terrible blizzard which raged throughout the west two weeks ago.

An Ice-man for Congress.

NEW YORK, Nov. 18.—Joseph Charles Turner will without doubt be nominated for congress in the Sixth district at the congressional convention which is to be held at No. 9 Charlton street on Nov. 22.

HON. LEWIS C. CASSIDY.

Death of the Distinguished Philadelphia Lawyer.

PHILADELPHIA, Nov. 19.—Lewis C. Cassidy died at his residence in Germantown, from an attack of apoplexy. When last seen in town on Saturday he was thought to be in his customary excellent health, and the announcement of his sudden demise came as a shock to the hundreds of people who knew him. Amongst the politicians of both parties the news caused much sorrow.

He had not been at his office for a week, when he was called away by the illness of his son, who is down with a bad attack of typhoid fever. This son has been on the verge of death and his father did not often leave his side. This constant watching produced a nervousness that Mr. Cassidy did not consider serious, nor did any one else. Death came very suddenly. It is supposed an attack of apoplexy was the cause. He has been a sufferer from heart trouble for several years, but by care and the avoidance of excitements this affection was kept in abeyance and no immediate danger was suspected.

CASHIER CRESSON'S SUCCESSOR

Isaac Roberts Chosen Cashier of the Conshohocken Bank.

CONSHOHOCKEN, Pa., Nov. 19.—The directors of the Tradesmen's National bank elected Isaac Roberts cashier, vice William Henry Cresson, whose defalcation almost swept the institution out of existence.

Mr. Roberts is teller of the First National bank of Conshohocken. The capital stock of $50,000 with which the bank will resume business has been paid in and is in the hands of the Montgomery Trust company, upon whom Bank Examiner James will draw at the proper time for the Tradesmen's bank.

It is intended to reopen the institution Wednesday or Thursday. George W. Wood, Cresson's brother-in-law, said that the bank would make every effort to approach the fugitive cashier and turn him over to the legal authorities for punishment.

The Johnstown Orphans.

JOHNSTOWN, Pa., Nov. 19.—Within the next ten days it is expected that the 300 disputed Johnstown claims will be adjusted, and then the work of the commission will end. When its work is completed the commission will have disbursed a $1,500,000 in an effort to resuscitate the people of the stricken valley, and will still have $90,000 on hand. This money is to be deposited with some Philadelphia trust company, yet to be selected, as an annuity fund. It will enable every child who was made an orphan by the flood to receive an annuity of $50 a year until it reaches the age of 16 years, and this will probably be the most far teaching in its results of any of the work of the commission.

An Important Link.

FRANKLIN, Pa., Nov. 19.—The Western New York and Pennsylvania Railway company have completed the preliminary survey for their new road from this city to Jackson Center, Mercer county, and will at once begin the work of locating the road bed. The grading will be commenced about the middle of December. It is proposed to put a large force of laborers to work and complete the road with all possible haste. This new link in the road has become a necessity and will give the company a through connection between Pittsburg and Buffalo and will shorten the route between these points about 300 miles.

Extension of the North Branch Road.

WILLIAMSPORT, Pa., Nov. 18.—The Williamsport and North Branch railroad, which now has its terminus at Halls, will soon extend its tracks to this city, a distance of about ten miles. It will intersect with the tracks of the Pennsylvania railroad entering the city on a line paralleled with the Philadelphia and Reading. Agents of the company are now engaged purchasing the right of way. A corps of surveyors has been at work for some time locating the route of the proposed extension.

Explosion of a Boiler.

TITUSVILLE, Pa., Nov. 19.—A terrible explosion shook the city. It was found that the boiler at the Titusville Bedstead works had burst, tearing John Carlson, the watchman, to pieces. His head was blown off. The dome and boiler went twenty feet in the air and came down through the roof of the Burgess Steel works. Carlson had a wife and six children in Sweden. He was just going to send for them. The wreck is dreadful.

Inflicted Fatal Injuries.

BELLEFONTE, Pa., Nov. 19.—The Hungarians employed by the Center Iron company taking ore out at High Bank, near here, nearly all got drunk. An altercation started, when one more boisterous and unruly than the rest picked up a pick standing near by and struck one of the Huns several times on the head, inflicting fatal injuries. The offender is in jail.

An Abandoned Canal.
