A telegraph lineman in Indiana has been fined for cutting shade trees that stood in the way of his wires. This is better than shooting him, to which many indignant property owners have been tempted; but there should be a rigoro " law to prevent telegraph companies from taking other people's property without yesterday. compensation, as they are prone to do in this respect.

Does Experience Count?

It does, in every line of business, and espec ially in compounding and preparing medicines. This is illustrated in the great superiority of Hoods Sarsaparilla over other preparations, as shown by the remarkable cures it has

The head of the firm of C. I. Hood & Co, is a thoroughly competent and experienced pharmacist, having devoted his whole life to the study and actual preparation of medicines. He is also a member of the Massachusetts and American Pharmaceutical Associations, and continues actively devoted to supervising the preparation of and managing the business connected with Hoods Sarsaparilla. Hence the superiority and peculiar merit of Hood's Sarsaparilla is built upon the most substantial foundation. In its preparation there is represented all the knowledge which modern research in medical science has developed, combined with long experience, brain work, and experiment. It is only necessary to give this medicine a fair trial to realize its great curative value.

Flavored with Opium.

The cigarette victim is becoming a daily feature of the current news now. It took the filthy little rolls rather longer than was expected to perfect their work, but they are now making a brave showing, which may be expected to increase rapidly as the constitutions of the victims give away. It should not be forgotten by those contemplating this form of suicide that cigarettes owe both their attractiveness and their deadly effect to opium. The lower brands may contain nothing worse than refuse tobacco and rubbish of various kinds, but they are soon succeeded by the higher grades flavored with opium, and the smoker becomes an opium fiend before he knows it.

The season of malaria and bad colds is here. A little stimulant has often saved doctor bills. Yes, even life has been saved by it.
