OUR representatives in the State Senate and Legislature should use all their energies to defeat the passage of the bill extending and reviving railroad charters. That bill would be a great injury to Belle fonte.

No wonder that Andrew Carnegie builds libraries, makes great donations, etc., and preaches up republicanism. Last week he was awarded a $3,500,000 contract to furnish armor plate for the government and has made a large reduction in his workmen's wages.

IT is related, to the discredit of Centre county, that we have a citizen within its boundaries who has refused to vote during the past 27 years because the colored man was given the same privilege. His name is Zachaerias Williams and he lives in the lower part of our county. Which does he deserve, pity or censure?

THE Auditor General's report for 1890, on page 252, shows that the State paid for $16,131 worth of monuments erected on the Gettysburg battlefield the past year, while Adjutant General Hastings drew out of the State Treasury $45,000 "for expenses incident to dedication." Either the monuments are awfully cheap or the expenses awfully high. To spend nearly three times as much as the monuments cost looks extravagant, and must be hard on the surplus.-Sunbury Daily.

THE editor of the CENTRE DEMOstitutional lawyer, as our jealous brother of it. of the Watchman so sarcastically intimates. The opinion expressed, in regard to the bill taxing foreign labor, was based upon newspaper comment and the opinions of leading members of the Bellefonte bar, who no doubt know as much about constitutional law as some of the political appointments composing the Judiciary General committee. The decisions of that committee are not of a high standard, when you consider the great number of unconstitutional bills passed by them which finally must be vetoed by the Governor, or declared unconstitutional by the higher courts.

But what is the difference ; we are not opposing Mr. Meek's course nor his bills, and only hope that, for the benefit would become a law.
