DOCTORS DISAGREE.

Sensational Evidence in the Trial of Mrs. Schmidt.

THE DEAD GIRL'S NECK IN COURT.

The Judicial Investigation in the Famous Chester Tragedy, in Which a Woman Is Charged with the Murder of Her Sister, Emma Pfitzenmeyer.

Media, Pa., March 25.—The attendance at the opening of court on the second day of the trial of Mrs. Caroline Schmidt for the murder of Emma Pfitzenmeyer, her maiden sister, was much larger than on Monday, and great interest was manifested. A number of witnesses were examined as to the condition of the body when discovered. Coroner Bullock gave the reasons for his disbelief in the suicide plea. Dr. J. L. Forman gave evidence to show that the wounds could not have been self-inflicted.

Professor Forman Testifies.
Media, Pa., March 25.—Dr. Forman, the well known expert, was the most important witness produced yesterday. In the course of his examination the following conversation took place:
"In your opinion," asked the district attorney, "could those wounds have been inflicted by the girl herself with that knife?" pointing to the big butcher knife.
"I believe not."
"Could they have been inflicted with that knife in the hands of some other person?"
"I think so."
"Suppose the left carotid or jugular had been cut first by the person herself, would it have been possible for her to inflict the other cuts with that knife?"
"I think not. It may have been possible for her to inflict other injuries with a very sharp knife."
Then Judge Waddell asked whether all of the eight cuts which Dr. Forman found could be self-inflicted by herself with a knife.
His answer was: "They could not; it would be utterly impossible."
Dr. Forman was cross examined at length, but his testimony was unshaken.

Expert Testimony for the Defense.
Media, Pa., March 27.—The testimony of the defense in the case of Mrs. Schmidt produced yesterday was of a highly sensational and interesting character.
Dr. W. W. Keene, of Philadelphia, the well known surgeon, now principal of the Jefferson Medical College, testified that at his post mortem examination of the body, Dec. 25, he had taken out the vertebrae of the neck. By request of Mr. Broomal Professor Keene walked over with the ghastly object in his hands and showed the jury the depth and nature of the wounds. Then Mr. Broomal said:
"Now, doctor, in your opinion, could these wounds have been self-inflicted?"
"I think they could. I am not saying they were; but speaking from a medical standpoint, I think they could have been self-inflicted."
Dr. J. William White, professor of chieftain surgery in the University of Pennsylvania, corroborated Dr. Keene in every particular.

Mrs. Waiters Testifies.
Media, March 28.—The principal witness on the fifth day of the trial of Mrs. Caroline Schmidt was her sister, Mrs. Sophia F. Waiters. Mrs. Waiters testified that her sister Emma, the murdered girl, was greatly downhearted the night of the ball, and then gave evidence to prove that Mrs. Schmidt had called to her on the street only twenty minutes before it was known to Officer Stringham that her sister was dead. This evidence was corroborated in a measure by Lucien Lewis, a railroad watchman. Mrs. Wilhelmina Presser, C. Augustus Dubhom and others testified that Emma seemed unusually low spirited at the ball. A large number of Chester citizens, among them several councilmen, gave evidence that the reputation of Mr. and Mrs. Schmidt was excellent.

Henry Schmidt on the Rack.
Media, Pa., March 30.—The feature of the sixth day proceedings of the Emma Pfitzenmeyer murder case at Media Saturday was the testimony of Mrs. Henry Schmidt, the husband of Mrs. Caroline Schmidt. During the cross examination by District Attorney Hannum the witness seemed extremely nervous. When asked how he knew Emma committed suicide he hesitated, rubbed his hands, and finally, after repeating the question to himself, said: "My wife told me so." He said he was too excited to call any of the neighbors after his wife had found Emma dead on the floor up stairs, but preferred to hunt up Carl Pfitzenmeyer, a brother. Today the closing arguments are being made, and it is likely the case will go to the jury to-night.

The Final Arguments.
Media, Pa., March 31.—In the Schmidt murder trial yesterday the day was consumed in listening to the arguments of counsel for and against the prisoner. District Attorney Hannum stated at the outset that he would not ask for a verdict of murder in the first degree. Mr. Broomal ridiculed the evidence given by the state's experts, which had been clearly disproven by the production of the victim's neck in court, and said that this testimony would go down in history as the greatest medical blunder of modern times. The district attorney, in closing for the commonwealth, asserted that homicide had been clearly proven by a chain of incontrovertible circumstances. The court adjourned until this forenoon, when the judge read his charge, which was brief, clear and simple. The jury then retired for deliberation.

Outbreak in the Comoro Islands.
LONDON, March 31.—News has reached this city from Zanzibar of the outbreak of a revolution in the Comoro Islands, in the Mozambique channel, about 350 miles northeast of the Madagascar coast. On the island of Anjoant the natives, after the death of Sultan Abdul, supplied themselves with arms and spread over the country, massacring 300 people and carrying desolation far and wide. The war vessels of the French squadron, now in the waters of Indian ocean, have been ordered to proceed to the islands and put down the insurrection. The Comoro Islands are under French protection, but are nominally ruled by Arab princes.

PENNSYLVANIA POINTS.

Lebanon has never had a bank failure or a defalcation.

The zinc mines at Friedensville are being worked night and day.

The Lebanon Valley college will probably be moved to Harrisburg.

Pittsburg's chamber of commerce will erect a new ten story building to cost $500,000.

Lumber men anticipate that the present will be the biggest logging season ever experienced.

Miner Michael Walsh was killed by a timber that fell on his head in the Shenandoah City colliery.

Miss Laura Orady, daughter of the late Dr. Martin Orady, of Huntingdon county, has died suddenly.

While talking to friends in the Mansion house reading room, Lansford, Charles Kurtz, aged 70, dropped dead.

A Bucks county farmer says he keeps the Colorado beetle off his potato patch by planting a bean or two in each hill.

The National Brass and Iron company is a new industry located at Reading. Several hundred men will be employed.

Pittsburg residents were treated to a real Chinese funeral Sunday. The deceased was Jen Sur, a prominent Chinese Mason.

Mount Getz park has been recommended by United States army officers as a most favorable site for military encampments.

Judge Dean granted forty-nine licenses in Blair county (including six new ones in Altoona), the most for many years.

Three children of William Meyer, residing near Stricklerstown, died of diphtheria on the same day, and were buried in one grave.

There were no tears for the New Orleans lynched Italians at Scranton. The brutal murder of Paymaster McClure is too well remembered.

Miss Solt, of Snow Shoe, went to bed a few nights ago after eating three quarts of peanuts, and died during the night from the effects.

The William F. Templeton Post, G. A. R., of Washington, has been organized twelve years, and has just had the first death in its ranks.

Policeman John Bittner, of Allegheny, was badly beaten on Saturday night and may die. One of his assailants had been arrested.

Mayor Gouley, of Pittsburg, vetoed the annual appropriation ordinance passed by the city council. The measure appropriated $4,500,000.

The Harrisburg fire alarm service is defective, and it frequently happens that the police patrol must make the rounds of the engine houses and awaken the firemen.

David Garnhart, a Munby bridge workman, injured while at work on the Reading railroad bridge at that place, has sued the contractors, McManis & Riley, of Philadelphia, alleging negligence.

Both the Pennsylvania and Reading railroads in Chester have begun to lay tracks in the direction of Marcus Hook for the purpose of getting the oil shipments. Trouble is expected when the two tracks approach each other.

There will be no more flaming posters in Chester portraying the form divine in short raiment. Mayor Coates has made war on flashy theatrical play bills after having been stirred up by numerous protests from Chester's fair citizens.

Foreman D. M. Jones, of the Glen Lyon collieries near Nanticoke, was brutally and almost fatally assaulted by masked men, without apparent motive, on the highway near his home on Friday night. Miners found him and took him home.

William D. Hunsberger, Burgess of the borough of Souderton, died after a short illness, aged 52 years, of heart trouble. He was a large owner of real estate in Souderton, owning a hotel, lumber yard, hardware store, farm and grocery store.

Special trains are to be run from Cumberland, Myersdale, Conneville, Uniontown and Latrobe on the day of the Nicely brothers' execution at Somerset, to accommodate the many persons who hope to get within the shadow of the jail on that day.

Benjamin O'Brien and William Thompson were arrested at Langhorne for chicken stealing, and while on the way to the Doylestown jail O'Brien escaped. After a hot chase he was found hiding in the water under a bridge, with only his nose above water.

Mrs. Lownes, of Line Lexington, near Lansdale, died a few days ago and her husband, although greatly stricken with grief, preached the funeral sermon on the sad occasion, as is frequently done by the members of the Monnonite church, of which she was a member.

Fourth class postmasters in Pennsylvania have been as follows: William G. Wagner, Cross Grove; E. E. Word, Hackersville; C. G. Barr, Kirkwood; Mrs. M. Warner, Prattville; M. E. Dieffendorfer, Bandy; J. H. Beck, Sedgwick; B. A. Barnes, Unicorn; J. R. Fairlamb, White Rock.

A suit for $132,911.50 has been entered at Norristown by Hannah Williams, of Whittemarsh township, executrix of the late Charles Williams, against Joseph Williams, of Conestoga. During a business transaction a note for $72,394.94 was given some time ago, and the rest of the amount is interest.

The body of an unknown man was found on the Philadelphia and Reading railroad, near the village of Tuckerton, with the skull crushed in. From marks upon his clothing the man is supposed to have been William Haseman, of Philadelphia. He was about 60 years of age, five feet seven inches in height, and wore chin whiskers.

Andrew J. Baldwin, one of the principal stockholders of the Patterson Coal company, has begun a suit in the court of equity against Herbert Hostetter, M. F. Scaife and Nathaniel Taylor, charging them with mismanaging the company and so manipulating its affairs that the stock has been purposely devalued on the market to the other stockholders.

Baseo Frinko, one of the survivors of the Jeanesville mine horror, is dangerously ill in Hazleton. Frinko, with his three companions, were discharged from the hospital some days ago. Since that they have been feasted by their friends and the high living proved too much for Frinko's stomach in its weakened condition. He has been removed to the hospital.
