

Indigestion

Indigestion is a very common complaint, and is caused by many people eating, drinking, or smoking, or by the action of the stomach, which results in heartburn, loss of appetite, flatulence, and a feeling of fullness, coated tongue, and irregularity of the bowels. Indigestion does not get well of itself. It requires careful attention, and a remedy like Hood's Sarsaparilla, which acts gently, yet efficiently. It tones the stomach, regulates the digestion, creates a good appetite, banishes headache, and refreshes the mind.

Sick Headache
"I have been troubled with dyspepsia. I had but little appetite, and what I did eat distressed me, or did me no good. After eating I would have a faint or tired, all-gone feeling, as though I had not eaten anything. My trouble was aggravated by my business, painting. Last week I took Hood's Sarsaparilla, which did me an immense amount of good. It gave me an appetite, and my food relished and satisfied the craving I had previously experienced."

WEST CHESTER, Pa., April 23.—Amos Fehoff, of West Cain, was killed in a runaway. He was one of the best known men in northern Chester county. The horse he was driving ran away, and he was thrown out on his head.

READING, Pa., April 22.—Jefferson Betz was severely beaten and had his leg broken by being struck with a club in a fracas on Maple street. Two of his assailants have been arrested and warrants have been issued for the others.

READING, Pa., April 25.—Dr. Walter J. Hoffman, of this city, connected with the Smithsonian institution, has just received the "Royal Ludwig Medal" for his services in behalf of science and art, from his royal highness, Prince Luitpold, prince regent of Bavaria.

NORRISTOWN, Pa., April 23.—At a meeting of the board of trade a resolution was adopted inviting the First brigade, National Guard of Pennsylvania, to encamp at Norristown, where eligible located ground is offered by C. F. Malley, and a committee was appointed for arranging the proper inducements.

HARRISBURG, April 24.—Governor Pattison today, on the application of District Attorney Brownback, of Norristown, issued a requisition for Antonio Frederico, an Italian who is in custody in San Francisco and is wanted on the charge of wantonly murdering Ciracco Camelli in Conshohocken on May 30, last year.

READING, Pa., April 23.—Samuel Schmehl, an aged retired farmer from Rittenbambur township, lives entirely alone in a small house near Priceton. During a temporary absence from home his house was entered and a small chest carried off containing $2,800 in money and bonds. A young man residing in the neighborhood has been arrested on suspicion.

SCOTTDALE, Pa., April 22.—Five hundred Pinkerton detectives have arrived in the coke region. They will be stationed on guard duty principally at Frick's works. The strikers are exasperated and a feeling of uneasiness is very noticeable. The strike leaders are making strong speeches against the introduction of "Pinkerton thugs," as they call them.

NORRISTOWN, Pa., April 24.—At an early hour yesterday morning a dying man was picked up on the turnpike in Plymouth near the spot where Ryan, the mysterious stranger in the Charity hospital, says he was shot by an unknown assailant. The man was brought to the Norristown lockup, where he subsequently died. It has been learned that the dead man was August Schmucker, aged 51, a shoemaker, of Philadelphia, who had been on an extended spree.

NORRISTOWN, Pa., April 24.—H. U. Brunner, Esq., of counsel for the Italians, representing the families of the men injured and killed by the dynamite explosion in the quarry of John T. They have arranged to give three exhibitions for the purpose of raising sufficient funds to enable them to leave Reading.

READING, Pa., April 24.—Joseph Cronauer, collector of city taxes, called at the residence of John E. Schaeffer, in the Ninth ward, and inquired as to the ownership of the property. Mr. Schaeffer, who was lying in the front room on a lounge, called out, "A gentleman by the name of McGinty owns it." Upon this Cronauer, it is alleged, rushed into the house, and a hand to hand combat ensued, in which the tax collector was badly worsted. Schaeffer then had Cronauer arrested for assault and battery, and the latter swore out a counter charge.

ST. PLEASANT, Pa., April 21.—Yesterday afternoon the coroner's jury announced its verdict in the Morewood riot case as follows: "That the deceased came to his death at Morewood on Thursday morning, April 2, 1891, about 3 o'clock, by a bullet discharged from a gun or revolver in the hands of the deputies of the sheriff of Westmoreland county." This applies to each man killed in the riot.

PENNSYLVANIA LEGISLATURE

How the Wheels of Government Revolve at Harrisburg.

HARRISBURG, April 22.—In the senate yesterday these bills were passed finally: Authorizing an increase in the number of clerks employed in the office of the secretary of the commonwealth; to prevent the pollution of the waters of streams supplying cities of the first class; a supplement to the act to prevent vexatious attachments.

In the house Mr. Gillan moved to reconsider the vote by which the wholesale license bill passed the house. He gave as his reasons that the bill was a vicious one, in so far as it changed the method of granting wholesale licenses all over the state, and would result in disaster to the country districts. After much speech making on the question, the vote was taken, resulting yeas, 100; nays, 60. The bill will, therefore, be recalled from the senate.

The report of the conference committee recommending that the house recede from its non-concurrence in the senate amendments to the bill reimbursing Governor Beaver for money expended during the floods of 1889 was agreed to by a vote of 129 to 13.

HARRISBURG, April 23.—In the senate yesterday the amendment to the Brooks bill giving constables a fee of twenty-five cents for reporting each saloon once a month came up for final consideration. An amendment was carried fixing the fee at fifty cents, and the bill laid over to be printed. The governor sent in a number of bills with his approval, together with a report of the commission appointed to revise the anthracite mining laws of the state. A minority report was also submitted.

The senate passed an act to amend the forty-first section of an act entitled "an act dividing the cities of this state into three classes; regulating the passage of ordinances providing for contracts for supplies and work for said cities." The bill relieving employers from the charge of conspiracy under certain criminal laws was recommitted to the committee.

In the house the bill providing for the removal of Philadelphia's quarantine station was passed—yeas, 144; nays, 42. The employers' liability bill, holding employers liable for injury or loss of life caused by negligence of foremen, etc., was defeated—yeas, 51; nays, 60.

HARRISBURG, April 24.—In the house yesterday bills were favorably reported from committee as follows: Appropriating $54,735 for the payment of a deficiency for past expenses for the support of the National Guard; changing the time and manner of making the registry of voters and the duties of registry assessors; appropriations for the soldiers' orphans for 1892 and 1893, not to exceed $12,900. The act authorizing an increase in the number of clerks employed in the office of the auditor general and the secretary of the commonwealth came up on final passage again and was passed. The bill authorizing the organization of a state police force with corporate rights was defeated.

There was a discussion over the act appropriating a sum of $2,000 for the erection of a monument to Philip Ginter, the discoverer of anthracite coal in Pennsylvania. Some of the members denied that Ginter was the discoverer of anthracite coal. The bill finally passed. In the house the Brooks wholesale license act, as amended, passed finally by a vote of 117 to 85. A few short speeches were made before the final vote was taken. The bill requires wholesalers, brewers and distillers to pay in cities of the first and second class a license fee of $1,000. In third-class cities a license fee of $500. Other cities, boroughs and townships are graded downwards.

The senate bill providing for the collection, arrangement and display of the products of the state of Pennsylvania at the World's Columbian exposition in 1893, and making an appropriation of $300,000 therefor, also passed finally by a vote of 143 to 24. As the bill passed the senate it appropriated $150,000 and provided for a commission of eleven persons. The house increased the appropriation to $300,000. The house also increased the membership of the commission to thirteen by adding the governor and the lieutenant governor thereto. The bill now goes back to the senate for concurrence in the amendments.

HARRISBURG, April 25.—In the house yesterday bills were reported from committee as follows: Regulating the sale of baking powder, amended so as to require that all the ingredients shall be printed on the label; also favorably, senate bill in relation to the cremation of human bodies. Negatively, senate bill to extend the limitation of actions to a right to mine iron ore when the same has not been exercised for twenty-one years.

The education committee reported favorably Senator Harlan's bill to provide for the better supervision of the common schools. Mr. Wherry's concurrent resolution providing for a legislative committee to present a report of supervising the charitable correctional institutions of the state, to consider and report upon the advisability of abolishing the board of commissioners of public charities, and the practicability of establishing in place thereof a state department, to be known as the department of supervision, was taken up. Adjourned till 5 p. m. Monday.

The Delamater compromise. MEADVILLE, Pa., April 28.—On April 15 the time for signing the Delamater compromise was extended until yesterday. At a meeting of the committee yesterday the time was extended until May 1, the day appointed for the payment of the first 10 per cent. in case the compromise be made. In case the matter is not closed up by May 1 the proposed compromise will doubtless fall through, and the assignees will settle the business. Creditors representing about $75,000 have not yet signed the agreement.

Gen. Pleasanton's Narrow Escape. PHILADELPHIA, April 28.—Gen. Pleasanton, of blue glass fame, had a narrow escape from death at the City Hall. He visited the water office and by mistake opened the door leading to the cellar vault. He pitched head first down the iron steps to the cellar floor, a distance of fifteen feet. He was found with one leg so badly wrenched that he could not stand, and a bad scalp laceration. No disastrous results from the injuries were anticipated, but the attending physician considers the general's escape from instant death as miraculous.

Iron Works to Resume. LEESPORT, Pa., April 28.—The furnace of the Leesport Iron company will resume this week. It has been idle nearly a year, during which time a number of improvements have been made.

VON MOLTKE DEAD.

The Venerable German Soldier Succumbs at Last.

AFTER NINETY-ONE YEARS OF LIFE

The Great Military Chieflain Was Vigorous Until Within a Few Hours of His Death—Attended the Reichstag Yesterday Afternoon—A Hero of Many Battles.

BERLIN, April 25.—Count Von Moltke, the eminent German soldier, is dead. He attended the reichstag yesterday afternoon and died suddenly at 9:45 in the evening of heart disease. Count Von Moltke was born Oct. 25, 1800, and his 90th birthday was the occasion of a great celebration, which was partly attended by all of Germany's vast army on duty in the fatherland, and civilians generally. He received numerous and costly presents from all parts of the world, and European rulers vied with each other in the magnificence of their gifts.

His Career as a Soldier. Count Moltke entered first into the Danish service, being of Danish descent, but shortly afterward, in 1822, passed into the Prussian army. In about ten years he succeeded in achieving promotion to that of a major. In 1835 he made a voyage to the east, where he was introduced to Sultan Mahmood, of Turkey. At the request of the sultan he took important military reforms in the Turkish service, and also won considerable credit in the Syrian campaign of 1839.

Appointed Chief of Staff. Returning to Prussia he was appointed chief of staff in 1856 and aid-de-camp to Prince Frederick William. He devised the campaign of 1866 against Austria, and having been promoted to the rank of general he directed operations, under King William, in the decisive battle of Sadowa. He is credited with having laid out the plan of the general staff Franco-Prussian war, on the German side, in that great struggle. The investment of Paris was his plan for ending the war. He has since been the chief military figure in Europe, keeping up his activities until his death.

A consultation was held at the dead general's house in regard to the funeral arrangements, and the suggestion that the body be taken to the Von Moltke family estate, in accordance with the wish expressed by the count, was approved. Religious services will be held in the hall of the general staff department. The coffin will then be carried with imposing military honors to the railway station for conveyance to Kreisman. The funeral will take place on Thursday.

The fact is generally remarked that Emperor William, Emperor Frederick and Count Von Moltke all died on Friday.

The count's will was deposited in the Berlin court in 1887. The heir to the entailed estate is Maj. Wilhelm Von Moltke, son of the count's brother Adolph. The major is married, but is childless.

Coercing the Colony. LONDON, April 28.—In the house of commons last evening Lord Knutsford, in behalf of the government, moved the second reading of the bill to coerce Newfoundland. He argued that it did not interfere with local colonial questions or the independence of the legislature. Arrangements affecting the fishery rights of France were binding alike on the colony and the empire. The government desired to meet the wishes of the colonists as far as it was consistent with international obligations. If the colonists made general arbitration a sine qua non the government must go on with the bill. There would be ample time in the house of commons to consider amendments, and he hoped reasonable councils would prevail. The bill passed without division.

Threatened Coal Famine Averted. PITTSBURG, April 28.—The agreement of the Hocking valley miners to work this year at the present rates and nine hours a day will break the back of the eight hour movement of the miners. It is expected that this settlement will compel the remaining Ohio miners to accept similar terms.

Evictions Continue. CONNELLVILLE, Pa., April 28.—Sheriff McCormick, with a posse of ten deputies and accompanied by fifty men of company C, went to Leisenring yesterday and evicted twenty-six families without any resistance. John Leszko, the terror of the region and leader in all acts of violence, rendered valuable assistance to the sheriff. James Dougherty, a deputy, caused some excitement by walking away from the sheriff's posse, remarking that he had enough of this dirty work. Evictions are continued at Leitch today.

The Huascar Also Sunk. BUENOS AYRES, April 28.—Later advice from Caldesa bay, the scene of the recent engagement between the naval forces of the government and those of the insurgents, state that in addition to the loss of the insurgent ironclad Blanco Encalada, the monitor Huascar, which was also in the rebel service, was sunk by the explosion of torpedoes. After the engagement had been concluded the government fleet returned unharmed to Valparaiso.

Charged with Perjury. PHILADELPHIA, April 28.—Joseph C. Midgley, of Germantown, a wool importer, having an office at 90 North Front street, was held in $5,000 bail yesterday by United States Commissioner Henry E. Edwards to answer in court to a charge of perjury committed in the trial of the suit of the United States against Midgley, and for securing the entry of dutiable merchandise at less than the legal rate. Bail was furnished.

The Duke of Rutland Knighted. LONDON, April 28.—The Duke of Rutland has received the rank of knight of the garter in place of the Duke of Bedford, recently suicided.

Highest of all in Leavening Power.—U. S. Gov't Report, Aug. 17, 1889.
