WITH TEARS IN HIS EYES

Philadelphia's Ex-City Treasurer at the Bar of Justice.

HE CONFESSES HIS GUILT.

With Wet Eyes, Bowed Head and in Almost Inaudible Tones "Honest" John Bardsley Pleads Guilty to Every Charge.

PHILADELPHIA, June 10 .- Ex-City Treasurer John Bardsley was brought up from Moyamensing prison in the common van Tuesday morning and placed in the dock to plead to the seventeen indictments found against him the day before. It was whispered about the court house that Bardsley would plead, and it drew a large crowd who were curious to see how the fallen financier would face the stern reality of being placed in the common crimi-

Long before the opening of court the new court house was crowded, many of the prominent members of the bar being present. After a lengthy conference between the lawyers the prisoner was formally arraigned to plead.

"John Bardsley," said Crier Hart, "you are charged with loaning public money as a public officer. How say you-guilty or not guilty.

"Guilty," said Bardsley inaudibly. "You are charged with making and agreeing for interest on public money as a public officer. How say you-guilty or not guilty?"

"Guilty," again, in a low tone of voice. "You are charged, as a public officer, with investing public money. How say you—guilty or not guilty?"
"Guilty," with tears.

District Attorney Graham then said that at this time the court could not take evidence, and Mr. Alexander, in behalf of the prisoner, desired time to present testimony for his client. In view of the pleas of guilty Mr. Graham said he was willing that the matter should be postponed, and a day fixed for a hearing agreeable to counsel for the defense. Mr. Alexander said that in two weeks they would be ready, and this was agreed upon.

Mr. Graham then said that there had been an arrest for perjury, and that the commonwealth would, in view of the circumstances, abandon the charge and not press that count further.

Another Philadelphian Takes to His Heels to Avoid Arrest.

PHILADELPHIA, June 10 .- Frank Brenton, treasurer of the defunct Milward-Cliff Cracker company, which was wrecked by paper floated through the Spring Gar-den National bank, has fled to avoid arrest upon a charge of conspiracy made by T. Broome Belfield, one of the directors of the company. President Kennedy and Director Young, of the bank, are named as the co-conspirators.

The prosecution is based upon the illegal negotiation of $94,000 of promissory notes signed by Brenton as the treasurer of the company and negotiated through the Spring Garden bank by Kennedy. Whether the treasurer received his share of the proceeds or not is a matter of conjecture.

Wanamaker's Explanation.

Mr. Wanamaker read his statement, which was a very lengthy one, and the tenor of which was that he had never been an officer or a stockholder of the bank, but simply a depositor, and was in absolute ignorance of any of the irregularities until not admit liability for the whole comsimply a depositor, and was in absolute ignorance of any of the irregularities until after the run on the bank commenced.

DEBTS OF NATIONS.

For purposes of comparison the Census Bureau has obtained statements of the public debt of most of the nations of the world, and is able to show the increase or decrease in the last ten years in the case of the most important countries. In this comparison the United States makes an extremely favorable appearance, even if national. State, and county debts are all lumped together. The aggregate indebtedness of the foreign nations heard from very nearly doubled from 1880 to 1890, while that of the United States was reduced nearly one-half. The strictly national debt was reduced more than one-half, while that of the States was somewhat diminished, and that of the counties slightincreased, though not in proportion to the increase of population. The comparison of public indebtedness per capita of the population is very favor; able to the United States. In France it amounts to $116.35; in the Netherlands, $95.56; in Great Britain, $87.79 in Italy, $76.06. In the United States the national debt per capita is $14.63, or including State and county debts, $20 .-

46. This does not include the strictly local indebetedness of towns and municipalities, but that is nowise represented in the public debt of foreign nations, and should not be included for the purpose of comparison. The whole world seems to be pretty nearly $50,000,000,-000 in debt but its assets are doubtless sufficient to keep it from the perils of localities at least one-fourth of the bankruptcy for some time to come.—wheat is already down from the ravages New York Times.
