

FOREIGN AFFAIRS.

A Budget of Late News From the Old World.

Fanatical Chinese Rioters Attack American Missionaries.

The Department of State has received a telegraphic despatch from the Minister at Peking, China, reporting that a riot has occurred at Ichang, on the Yangtze-Kiang River, in the Province of Hoo Pei, and that an establishment of American missionaries there has been destroyed. No further particulars are given.

Corpse in a Coal Bunker.

A horrible discovery was made in the coal bunker of the Thompson line steamer Fremont at Montreal, Canada. While working among the coal the men found a human foot and a search for the body to which the foot was supposed to belong was made. The search in and around the bunker was almost unbearable.

The Immigration into Canada.

In the Canadian House of Commons at Ottawa there was a lively discussion on the immigration estimates. Sir Richard Cartwright said that he thought it was time the Government ceased paying out $250,000 a year on an immigration which was either mythical or useless, inasmuch as a great majority of the immigrants leave Canada for the United States.

Burglars and Parricides.

Two young men named Hoefler, aged respectively eighteen and twenty-four, broke into the house of their parents in Berlin, Germany, believing it to be empty at the time, and proceeded to the bedroom of their father, intending to steal some money which was usually kept there.

Sad Death on the Alps.

Charles Lane, of New York, who has been living at Oberhofen, near Thun, recently returned from Bern, Switzerland, recently escorted a party of women on an excursion to Beatenberg, on Lake Thun. The women returned by the same way they came, but Mr. Lane went by the dangerous Gutschuel route. Late next afternoon his body was found, horribly mutilated, at the foot of a precipice.

Fatal Earthquake Shocks.

The volcanic disturbances at San Salvador, San Miguel and Tequisquacan, which were followed by successive minor shocks. The people rushed in a panic from their beds shrieking and praying, while buildings cracked, swayed and fell. Other towns have suffered greatly, some being virtually destroyed. Some lives were lost.

Distress Leads to Disorders.

In the Province of Orel, Russia, bands of peasants are roving over the highways attacking convoys of grain and food even where the convoys are escorted by soldiers. Fights are of frequent occurrence and many persons have been killed. Crime is rampant owing to a desire to escape starvation by imprisonment. The jails are crowded with prisoners.

Collapse of a Building.

A house which had but recently been completed and occupied in Regensburg, Germany, collapsed and eight of the occupants were killed and a number injured. The builder has been arrested, charged with manslaughter, and an official inquiry is in progress.

JULES GREVY.

The Venerable Ex-President of the French Republic is Dead.

Ex-President Jules Grevy, of the French Republic, died a few days ago at Paris, at the age of eighty-four. His death removes another of the prominent figures of French history that were arrayed against monarchy and despotism, and were instrumental in overthrowing the Napoleonic dynasty and establishing the infant French Republic on a firm and secure footing.

TWO HORRIBLE DEATHS.

A Fight Among Farmers in Which One Avenges His Brother.

A terrible fight among farmers is reported from Celina, Ohio. While James Lewis and Tom Johnson were running a thrashing machine on John Cole's farm, Lewis cut Johnson on the hand. He claimed that the act was accidental. Johnson, however, would listen to no explanation, and rushed at Lewis, striking him a terrible blow in the face. Lewis fell under the thrashing machine and was drawn between the cylinders. He was killed instantly.

Frank Lewis, a brother of James, was witness to the fight, and caught up a pitchfork, and before anybody had time to restrain him, he plunged the tines into Johnson's stomach, killing him almost instantly. Lewis is under arrest.

THE NATIONAL GAME.

DUFFY, of Boston, leads the Association in sacrifice hitting. AMONG the League batters, Browning, of Cincinnati, is second. The American Association has had three Presidents within a year. PHILADELPHIA has beaten the Pittsburghers by a hundred by one run. GRIMM was the first Brooklyn man to make one hundred safe hits.

REILLY, of Pittsburgh, is playing by all odds, the worst first base in the League. LONG now leads the Boston League team in batting, run-getting and base-stealing. CURVED balls have been used less this season than any time since their discovery.

"GLASS ARM" ball players is the term now used on a man drawing salary on a past reputation. FOREMAN is the only one of the Washington pitchers with more victories than defeats to his credit.

MYERS, Philadelphia's second baseman, has never been known to make a safe hit on the Cincinnati grounds.

PITCHER McGILL has been effective for St. Louis, winning sixteen and losing six games up to a recent date.

WHEN Hutchinson is in the box for the Chicago players move about with perfect confidence of winning.

BROOKLYN seems to have gone all to pieces in the pitching department. Not one of the club's four high-salaried pitchers is doing good work.

THE Cincinnati Leaguers use the best paid lot of ball players Cincinnati ever harbored and they are playing the worst ball ever seen on the League grounds.

CLEVELAND, Pittsburgh and Philadelphia have hit Rustie, of New York, hardest this season. Most recently, however, he has been roughly handled by all opposing teams.

HAMILTON, of the Philadelphia, is leading the League in batting with a percentage of .340. He has stolen seventy-six bases in 109 games. Latham, of Cincinnati, is eight behind him.

MANAGER MUTRIE, of the New Yorks, says more glass arms and maimed baseball players are being carried along on the payroll of the different Associations and League teams this year than has ever been the case since he figured in the baseball arena.

THE Boston Association team can fairly claim to be a model organization. The men have all been sobriety itself, and not a player has committed himself in an improper or unseemly manner. This will also apply to the Athletic, New York and Chicago teams.

JOHN EWING, of the New Yorks, has a better percentage of victories than Rustie. "Long John" has won sixteen out of twenty-three games, and Rustie has won twenty-nine out of forty-five. Chicago's reliable Hutchinson has the best record, having won thirty-five out of forty-seven games.

CATCHER HARRINGTON thinks Crane, of Cincinnati, one of the best pitchers he ever supported. "It's a pleasure to catch his pitching," says Jerry, "for he can put the ball where he wants it. From his easy movements you would think he was going to send the balls over with any speed, but I promise you they come sailing in like a rocket."

THE New Yorks have been practicing all this season at placing the ball with a man on first base, and have been fairly successful. The batter, with a man on first, is not so pretty well who is going to cover second base, whether the second baseman or short stop, and that leaves him either one loophole or another. The Boston Association team has this style of playing down finer than any other team.

NATIONAL LEAGUE RECORD.

Table with columns for Team, Wins, Losses, and Percentage. Includes teams like Chicago, Brooklyn, Cleveland, etc.

AMERICAN ASSOCIATION RECORD.

Table with columns for Team, Wins, Losses, and Percentage. Includes teams like St. Louis, Milwaukee, Louisville, etc.

PROMINENT PEOPLE.

PORT SWINBURNE is a red-headed bachelor. THE German Kaiser's new beard is a bright red.

EX-SENATOR INGALLS, of Kansas, receives $200 for each of his lectures. FRANK HEMBARCK has partly written five chapters of his autobiography.

VON MOLTKE had a sort of autobiography comprising twenty-nine diaries. SENATOR SHERMAN, of Ohio, has been nearly thirty-eight years in office.

SENATOR STANFORD, of California, is said to receive a larger mail than the President. EX-GOVERNOR BERRY, of New Hampshire, has observed his ninety-fifth birthday.

LORD DUDLEY, of England, holds the highest life insurance ever taken out. It is for $6,000,000. LORD SALISBURY has made twenty-one new peers since he has been in office, besides raising the rank of several more.

THE youngest son of General Grant, Jesse D. Grant, has accepted the management of a group of silver mines in Mexico. CLARENCE H. FREEMAN, the champion checker player of this country, is a mulatto, with a slight tinge of Pequot Indian blood.

SENATOR HOAR, of Massachusetts, distinctly objects to being classified among the old men of the Senate. He is sixty-five years of age. SECRETARY BLAINE'S fortune is estimated at $750,000, a friend of his says, and much of it is invested in railroads and mining properties.

GOVERNOR CAMPBELL, of Ohio, is bald-headed, of Scotch extraction, with a drooping iron-gray mustache, and is rising ninety-and-forty. MRS. M. HORTCHKISS, of Lakeville, Conn., has given seventy-five acres of land and $275,000 to found a preparatory school for Yale College.

CHANG JAY, Governor of Shanghai, China, is dead. He was a prominent statesman, and had he lived, would probably have been Viceroy. SINCE Garibaldi's death no one has been allowed to use his chair in the Italian Legislative Chamber in Rome. It is now hung with a laurel wreath.

WILLIAM HAYWARD, the oldest jockey on the American turf, is supposed to be worth about $00,000. The horses he rode won something in excess of a million dollars in stakes and purses.

THE remarkable vigor of Oliver Wendell Holmes is due to the fact that he has taken of himself since he became an octogenarian. His life is now one of great abstemiousness.

BISHOP J. H. VINCENT, of Chautauque fame, has not been in good health for some time past. He is in constant demand as a lecturer, but it is doubtful if he will be able to lecture often in the coming season.

CAPTAIN PETER JOHN IRVING, commander of the record-breaker Teutonic, is one of the youngest captains in the service of any of the transatlantic steamship companies. Captain Irving is not much above forty.

THE proposed bride of the Casarovich of Russia, Princess Maria, of Greece, is only fifteen years of age. She is very pretty and is of the Danish type of beauty, with blue eyes and fair hair. The Casarovich met her a year ago, and immediately fell desperately in love with her.

THE biggest flour warehouse in the United States, owned by the Reading Railroad Company, with a capacity of 125,000 bushels, was opened recently at Philadelphia.

NEWSY GLEANINGS.

GOOD news prevails in Chile. ITALY has 100,000 organized Socialists. CANADA'S rye surplus will be very small. A LARGE oat yield is announced from Ohio. MISSOURI has 23,000 square miles of coal fields. SMALLPOX is becoming epidemic in Salvador.

AMERICANS will build Russia's great Siberian Railway. THERE are at present 225 electric roads in the United States.

NEW MEXICO needs 200 school teachers, women preferred. THE Eiffel Tower is said to have changed the climate of Paris.

LONDON is full of Italian children, imported especially to beg. THE British Consulate at Ichang, China, was destroyed by a mob.

THE mercantile agencies report business improving in all sections. THE Methodist Episcopal Church has 280,000 Sunday-school teachers.

COREAN Consulates in Philadelphia and New York are to be abandoned. SEALING vessels returning from Behring Sea report that seals are plentiful there.

AT Buenos Ayres, Argentine Republic, gold is quoted at 3/2 per cent. premium. AN insect, which is a puzzle to the scientists, has attacked the sugar beets in California.

THE Italian Government has sent an urgent order for 50,000 rifles to the Terni factory. ACCORDING to the Government report, the potato crop will not only be a big one, but of high quality.

ACCORDING to the live-stock report, the imports of wool for the year will be about 100,000,000 pounds. THE Egyptian cotton crop this season is the largest on record, amounting to 3,700,000 hundred weights.

THE Railway Clerks' Association has paid $24,000 to beneficiaries during the year, leaving a balance of $439,335. A DEMAND is now being made for a large increase in the Japanese fleet, so as to make it as strong as the Chinese.

ABOUT 800,000 acres of land in Eastern Oklahoma, recently ceded by Indians, has now been opened to settlement.

CHINA-LEAF tobacco promises to be the best ever grown in New England, New York, Pennsylvania and Wisconsin.

HONDURAS banana culture has increased as to keep twelve steamers plying toward New Orleans all the while in the fruit.

THE Pennsylvania railroad bridge at Stucker's Creek, Ind., which has cost thirty-nine brakemen their lives, has been torn down.

IN the month of August 14, 925 European aliens landed in England, as against 9415 in 1890, and 9817 of them left for the United States.

THERE are about thirty blood relations in New York and Connecticut anxious to try and break the $30,000,000 will of Mrs. Hopkins-Searles.

THE Cunard Steamship Company are to build four large steamers of "cruiser type," two for the New York and two for the Boston service.

PLANS for the Old Fellows' Temple to be erected in Chicago provide for a building as high as the Washington Monument. The estimated cost is $3,500,000.

TERRIBLE was tested in buried shells at Fort Hamilton, New York Harbor, the three charges blowing holes of from thirteen to fifteen feet each in the earth.

THE splendid harvest in Kansas has rehabilitated the savings banks in Atchison that failed last winter, and real estate mortgages have again become valuable.

PRESIDENT DIAZ, of Mexico, has suspended the customs duties in Chihuahua, so that food may be imported from this country to the starving people of that State, which has had no rains for two years.

CENSUS AGENT PETROFF has turned up at San Francisco with the population of Alaska in 1887, which he says was 900 Aleuts, 3000 Indians and 18,000 Esquimaux. He says rum is depressing the population.

TERRIBLE ACCIDENT.

A Drunken Bear on a Spree Kills Four Persons.

A strange and terrible accident has occurred in the neighborhood of Vilna, Russia. A large tame bear, which had been trained by the servants of a country gentleman to drink vodka (whisky), entered a village tavern and killed the tavern keeper and three members of his family in a fit of intoxication.

The tragedy was brought about by the owner of the tavern, Isaac Rabbanovitch, attempting to snatch from the bear a keg of vodka, which it had commenced to drink, and starting it with its paws.

In the conflict that ensued the infuriated animal hugged to death the tavern keeper, his two sons and daughter. When some peasants arrived on the scene with guns they found the intoxicated animal asleep on the floor in the pool of blood and vodka, surrounded by its four victims. The bear was immediately shot.

THE MARKETS.

Table of market prices for various commodities like Bees, Cows, Sheep, Lams, Hogs, Flour, etc., with prices in dollars and cents.

WATERBURY (MASS.) CATTLE MARKET.

Table of cattle market prices for Beef, Sheep, Lams, Hogs, etc.

PHILADELPHIA.

Table of Philadelphia market prices for Flour, Wheat, Oats, Potatoes, etc.

PHILADELPHIA.

Table of Philadelphia market prices for Flour, Wheat, Oats, Potatoes, etc.

PHILADELPHIA.

Table of Philadelphia market prices for Flour, Wheat, Oats, Potatoes, etc.

REV. DR. TALMAGE.

THE BROOKLYN DIVINE'S SUNDAY SERMON.

Subject: "The Doves at the Well," Delivered at Elmira, N. Y.

TEXT: "And they said, We cannot, until all the flocks be gathered together, and till they roll the stone from the well's mouth, then we water the sheep."—Genesis xxix, 8.

There are some reasons why it is appropriate that I should accept the invitation to preach at this great Interstate fair, and to these throngs of countrymen and citizens—horsemen just come from their fine charges, the king of beasts for I take the crown from the lion and put it on the brow of the horse, which with every noblest, and to speak to these shepherds. You come from their flocks (the Lord Himself in one place called a Shepherd and in another place called a Lamb, and all the good are sheep); and you, my countrymen, come up from the fields, your occupation honored by the fact, that God Himself thinks it worthy of immortal record that He owns "the catticon a thousand hills." It is appropriate that I should accept the invitation to preach at this great Interstate fair, and to these throngs of countrymen and citizens—horsemen just come from their fine charges, the king of beasts for I take the crown from the lion and put it on the brow of the horse, which with every noblest, and to speak to these shepherds. You come from their flocks (the Lord Himself in one place called a Shepherd and in another place called a Lamb, and all the good are sheep); and you, my countrymen, come up from the fields, your occupation honored by the fact, that God Himself thinks it worthy of immortal record that He owns "the catticon a thousand hills." It is appropriate that I should accept the invitation to preach at this great Interstate fair, and to these throngs of countrymen and citizens—horsemen just come from their fine charges, the king of beasts for I take the crown from the lion and put it on the brow of the horse, which with every noblest, and to speak to these shepherds. You come from their flocks (the Lord Himself in one place called a Shepherd and in another place called a Lamb, and all the good are sheep); and you, my countrymen, come up from the fields, your occupation honored by the fact, that God Himself thinks it worthy of immortal record that He owns "the catticon a thousand hills." It is appropriate that I should accept the invitation to preach at this great Interstate fair, and to these throngs of countrymen and citizens—horsemen just come from their fine charges, the king of beasts for I take the crown from the lion and put it on the brow of the horse, which with every noblest, and to speak to these shepherds. You come from their flocks (the Lord Himself in one place called a Shepherd and in another place called a Lamb, and all the good are sheep); and you, my countrymen, come up from the fields, your occupation honored by the fact, that God Himself thinks it worthy of immortal record that He owns "the catticon a thousand hills." It is appropriate that I should accept the invitation to preach at this great Interstate fair, and to these throngs of countrymen and citizens—horsemen just come from their fine charges, the king of beasts for I take the crown from the lion and put it on the brow of the horse, which with every noblest, and to speak to these shepherds. You come from their flocks (the Lord Himself in one place called a Shepherd and in another place called a Lamb, and all the good are sheep); and you, my countrymen, come up from the fields, your occupation honored by the fact, that God Himself thinks it worthy of immortal record that He owns "the catticon a thousand hills." It is appropriate that I should accept the invitation to preach at this great Interstate fair, and to these throngs of countrymen and citizens—horsemen just come from their fine charges, the king of beasts for I take the crown from the lion and put it on the brow of the horse, which with every noblest, and to speak to these shepherds. You come from their flocks (the Lord Himself in one place called a Shepherd and in another place called a Lamb, and all the good are sheep); and you, my countrymen, come up from the fields, your occupation honored by the fact, that God Himself thinks it worthy of immortal record that He owns "the catticon a thousand hills." It is appropriate that I should accept the invitation to preach at this great Interstate fair, and to these throngs of countrymen and citizens—horsemen just come from their fine charges, the king of beasts for I take the crown from the lion and put it on the brow of the horse, which with every noblest, and to speak to these shepherds. You come from their flocks (the Lord Himself in one place called a Shepherd and in another place called a Lamb, and all the good are sheep); and you, my countrymen, come up from the fields, your occupation honored by the fact, that God Himself thinks it worthy of immortal record that He owns "the catticon a thousand hills." It is appropriate that I should accept the invitation to preach at this great Interstate fair, and to these throngs of countrymen and citizens—horsemen just come from their fine charges, the king of beasts for I take the crown from the lion and put it on the brow of the horse, which with every noblest, and to speak to these shepherds. You come from their flocks (the Lord Himself in one place called a Shepherd and in another place called a Lamb, and all the good are sheep); and you, my countrymen, come up from the fields, your occupation honored by the fact, that God Himself thinks it worthy of immortal record that He owns "the catticon a thousand hills." It is appropriate that I should accept the invitation to preach at this great Interstate fair, and to these throngs of countrymen and citizens—horsemen just come from their fine charges, the king of beasts for I take the crown from the lion and put it on the brow of the horse, which with every noblest, and to speak to these shepherds. You come from their flocks (the Lord Himself in one place called a Shepherd and in another place called a Lamb, and all the good are sheep); and you, my countrymen, come up from the fields, your occupation honored by the fact, that God Himself thinks it worthy of immortal record that He owns "the catticon a thousand hills." It is appropriate that I should accept the invitation to preach at this great Interstate fair, and to these throngs of countrymen and citizens—horsemen just come from their fine charges, the king of beasts for I take the crown from the lion and put it on the brow of the horse, which with every noblest, and to speak to these shepherds. You come from their flocks (the Lord Himself in one place called a Shepherd and in another place called a Lamb, and all the good are sheep); and you, my countrymen, come up from the fields, your occupation honored by the fact, that God Himself thinks it worthy of immortal record that He owns "the catticon a thousand hills." It is appropriate that I should accept the invitation to preach at this great Interstate fair, and to these throngs of countrymen and citizens—horsemen just come from their fine charges, the king of beasts for I take the crown from the lion and put it on the brow of the horse, which with every noblest, and to speak to these shepherds. You come from their flocks (the Lord Himself in one place called a Shepherd and in another place called a Lamb, and all the good are sheep); and you, my countrymen, come up from the fields, your occupation honored by the fact, that God Himself thinks it worthy of immortal record that He owns "the catticon a thousand hills." It is appropriate that I should accept the invitation to preach at this great Interstate fair, and to these throngs of countrymen and citizens—horsemen just come from their fine charges, the king of beasts for I take the crown from the lion and put it on the brow of the horse, which with every noblest, and to speak to these shepherds. You come from their flocks (the Lord Himself in one place called a Shepherd and in another place called a Lamb, and all the good are sheep); and you, my countrymen, come up from the fields, your occupation honored by the fact, that God Himself thinks it worthy of immortal record that He owns "the catticon a thousand hills." It is appropriate that I should accept the invitation to preach at this great Interstate fair, and to these throngs of countrymen and citizens—horsemen just come from their fine charges, the king of beasts for I take the crown from the lion and put it on the brow of the horse, which with every noblest, and to speak to these shepherds. You come from their flocks (the Lord Himself in one place called a Shepherd and in another place called a Lamb, and all the good are sheep); and you, my countrymen, come up from the fields, your occupation honored by the fact, that God Himself thinks it worthy of immortal record that He owns "the catticon a thousand hills." It is appropriate that I should accept the invitation to preach at this great Interstate fair, and to these throngs of countrymen and citizens—horsemen just come from their fine charges, the king of beasts for I take the crown from the lion and put it on the brow of the horse, which with every noblest, and to speak to these shepherds. You come from their flocks (the Lord Himself in one place called a Shepherd and in another place called a Lamb, and all the good are sheep); and you, my countrymen, come up from the fields, your occupation honored by the fact, that God Himself thinks it worthy of immortal record that He owns "the catticon a thousand hills." It is appropriate that I should accept the invitation to preach at this great Interstate fair, and to these throngs of countrymen and citizens—horsemen just come from their fine charges, the king of beasts for I take the crown from the lion and put it on the brow of the horse, which with every noblest, and to speak to these shepherds. You come from their flocks (the Lord Himself in one place called a Shepherd and in another place called a Lamb, and all the good are sheep); and you, my countrymen, come up from the fields, your occupation honored by the fact, that God Himself thinks it worthy of immortal record that He owns "the catticon a thousand hills." It is appropriate that I should accept the invitation to preach at this great Interstate fair, and to these throngs of countrymen and citizens—horsemen just come from their fine charges, the king of beasts for I take the crown from the lion and put it on the brow of the horse, which with every noblest, and to speak to these shepherds. You come from their flocks (the Lord Himself in one place called a Shepherd and in another place called a Lamb, and all the good are sheep); and you, my countrymen, come up from the fields, your occupation honored by the fact, that God Himself thinks it worthy of immortal record that He owns "the catticon a thousand hills." It is appropriate that I should accept the invitation to preach at this great Interstate fair, and to these throngs of countrymen and citizens—horsemen just come from their fine charges, the king of beasts for I take the crown from the lion and put it on the brow of the horse, which with every noblest, and to speak to these shepherds. You come from their flocks (the Lord Himself in one place called a Shepherd and in another place called a Lamb, and all the good are sheep); and you, my countrymen, come up from the fields, your occupation honored by the fact, that God Himself thinks it worthy of immortal record that He owns "the catticon a thousand hills." It is appropriate that I should accept the invitation to preach at this great Interstate fair, and to these throngs of countrymen and citizens—horsemen just come from their fine charges, the king of beasts for I take the crown from the lion and put it on the brow of the horse, which with every noblest, and to speak to these shepherds. You come from their flocks (the Lord Himself in one place called a Shepherd and in another place called a Lamb, and all the good are sheep); and you, my countrymen, come up from the fields, your occupation honored by the fact, that God Himself thinks it worthy of immortal record that He owns "the catticon a thousand hills." It is appropriate that I should accept the invitation to preach at this great Interstate fair, and to these throngs of countrymen and citizens—horsemen just come from their fine charges, the king of beasts for I take the crown from the lion and put it on the brow of the horse, which with every noblest, and to speak to these shepherds. You come from their flocks (the Lord Himself in one place called a Shepherd and in another place called a Lamb, and all the good are sheep); and you, my countrymen, come up from the fields, your occupation honored by the fact, that God Himself thinks it worthy of immortal record that He owns "the catticon a thousand hills." It is appropriate that I should accept the invitation to preach at this great Interstate fair, and to these throngs of countrymen and citizens—horsemen just come from their fine charges, the king of beasts for I take the crown from the lion and put it on the brow of the horse, which with every noblest, and to speak to these shepherds. You come from their flocks (the Lord Himself in one place called a Shepherd and in another place called a Lamb, and all the good are sheep); and you, my countrymen, come up from the fields, your occupation honored by the fact, that God Himself thinks it worthy of immortal record that He owns "the catticon a thousand hills." It is appropriate that I should accept the invitation to preach at this great Interstate fair, and to these throngs of countrymen and citizens—horsemen just come from their fine charges, the king of beasts for I take the crown from the lion and put it on the brow of the horse, which with every noblest, and to speak to these shepherds. You come from their flocks (the Lord Himself in one place called a Shepherd and in another place called a Lamb, and all the good are sheep); and you, my countrymen, come up from the fields, your occupation honored by the fact, that God Himself thinks it worthy of immortal record that He owns "the catticon a thousand hills." It is appropriate that I should accept the invitation to preach at this great Interstate fair, and to these throngs of countrymen and citizens—horsemen just come from their fine charges, the king of beasts for I take the crown from the lion and put it on the brow of the horse, which with every noblest, and to speak to these shepherds. You come from their flocks (the Lord Himself in one place called a Shepherd and in another place called a Lamb, and all the good are sheep); and you, my countrymen, come up from the fields, your occupation honored by the fact, that God Himself thinks it worthy of immortal record that He owns "the catticon a thousand hills." It is appropriate that I should accept the invitation to preach at this great Interstate fair, and to these throngs of countrymen and citizens—horsemen just come from their fine charges, the king of beasts for I take the crown from the lion and put it on the brow of the horse, which with every noblest, and to speak to these shepherds. You come from their flocks (the Lord Himself in one place called a Shepherd and in another place called a Lamb, and all the good are sheep); and you, my countrymen, come up from the fields, your occupation honored by the fact, that God Himself thinks it worthy of immortal record that He owns "the catticon a thousand hills." It is appropriate that I should accept the invitation to preach at this great Interstate fair, and to these throngs of countrymen and citizens—horsemen just come from their fine charges, the king of beasts for I take the crown from the lion and put it on the brow of the horse, which with every noblest, and to speak to these shepherds. You come from their flocks (the Lord Himself in one place called a Shepherd and in another place called a Lamb, and all the good are sheep); and you, my countrymen, come up from the fields, your occupation honored by the fact, that God Himself thinks it worthy of immortal record that He owns "the catticon a thousand hills." It is appropriate that I should accept the invitation to preach at this great Interstate fair, and to these throngs of countrymen and citizens—horsemen just come from their fine charges, the king of beasts for I take the crown from the lion and put it on the brow of the horse, which with every noblest, and to speak to these shepherds. You come from their flocks (the Lord Himself in one place called a Shepherd and in another place called a Lamb, and all the good are sheep); and you, my countrymen, come up from the fields, your occupation honored by the fact, that God Himself thinks it worthy of immortal record that He owns "the catticon a thousand hills." It is appropriate that I should accept the invitation to preach at this great Interstate fair, and to these throngs of countrymen and citizens—horsemen just come from their fine charges, the king of beasts for I take the crown from the lion and put it on the brow of the horse, which with every noblest, and to speak to these shepherds. You come from their flocks (the Lord Himself in one place called a Shepherd and in another place called a Lamb, and all the good are sheep); and you, my countrymen, come up from the fields, your occupation honored by the fact, that God Himself thinks it worthy of immortal record that He owns "the catticon a thousand hills." It is appropriate that I should accept the invitation to preach at this great Interstate fair, and to these throngs of countrymen and citizens—horsemen just come from their fine charges, the king of beasts for I take the crown from the lion and put it on the brow of the horse, which with every noblest, and to speak to these shepherds. You come from their flocks (the Lord Himself in one place called a Shepherd and in another place called a Lamb, and all the good are sheep); and you, my countrymen, come up from the fields, your occupation honored by the fact, that God Himself thinks it worthy of immortal record that He owns "the catticon a thousand hills." It is appropriate that I should accept the invitation to preach at this great Interstate fair, and to these throngs of countrymen and citizens—horsemen just come from their fine charges, the king of beasts for I take the crown from the lion and put it on the brow of the horse, which with every noblest, and to speak to these shepherds. You come from their flocks (the Lord Himself in one place called a Shepherd and in another place called a Lamb, and all the good are sheep); and you, my countrymen, come up from the fields, your occupation honored by the fact, that God Himself thinks it worthy of immortal record that He owns "the catticon a thousand hills." It is appropriate that I should accept the invitation to preach at this great Interstate fair, and to these throngs of countrymen and citizens—horsemen just come from their fine charges, the king of beasts for I take the crown from the lion and put it on the brow of the horse, which with every noblest, and to speak to these shepherds. You come from their flocks (the Lord Himself in one place called a Shepherd and in another place called a Lamb, and all the good are sheep); and you, my countrymen, come up from the fields, your occupation honored by the fact, that God Himself thinks it worthy of immortal record that He owns "the catticon a thousand hills." It is appropriate that I should accept the invitation to preach at this great Interstate fair, and to these throngs of countrymen and citizens—horsemen just come from their fine charges, the king of beasts for I take the crown from the lion and put it on the brow of the horse, which with every noblest, and to speak to these shepherds. You come from their flocks (the Lord Himself in one place called a Shepherd and in another place called a Lamb, and all the good are sheep); and you, my countrymen, come up from the fields, your occupation honored by the fact, that God Himself thinks it worthy of immortal record that He owns "the catticon a thousand hills." It is appropriate that I should accept the invitation to preach at this great Interstate fair, and to these throngs of countrymen and citizens—horsemen just come from their fine charges, the king of beasts for I take the crown from the lion and put it on the brow of the horse, which with every noblest, and to speak to these shepherds. You come from their flocks (the Lord Himself in one place called a Shepherd and in another place called a Lamb, and all the good are sheep); and you, my countrymen, come up from the fields, your occupation honored by the fact, that God Himself thinks it worthy of immortal record that He owns "the catticon a thousand hills." It is appropriate that I should accept the invitation to preach at this great Interstate fair, and to these throngs of countrymen and citizens—horsemen just come from their fine charges, the king of beasts for I take the crown from the lion and put it on the brow of the horse, which with every noblest, and to speak to these shepherds. You come from their flocks (the Lord Himself in one place called a Shepherd and in another place called a Lamb, and all the good are sheep); and you, my countrymen, come up from the fields, your occupation honored by the fact, that God Himself thinks it worthy of immortal record that He owns "the catticon a thousand hills." It is appropriate that I should accept the invitation to preach at this great Interstate fair, and to these throngs of countrymen and citizens—horsemen just come from their fine charges, the king of beasts for I take the crown from the lion and put it on the brow of the horse, which with every noblest, and to speak to these shepherds. You come from their flocks (the Lord Himself in one place called a Shepherd and in another place called a Lamb, and all the good are sheep); and you, my countrymen, come up from the fields, your occupation honored by the fact, that God Himself thinks it worthy of immortal record that He owns "the catticon a thousand hills." It is appropriate that I should accept the invitation to preach at this great Interstate fair, and to these throngs of countrymen and citizens—horsemen just come from their fine charges, the king of beasts for I take the crown from the lion and put it on the brow of the horse, which with every noblest, and to speak to these shepherds. You come from their flocks (the Lord Himself in one place called a Shepherd and in another place called a Lamb, and all the good are sheep); and you, my countrymen, come up from the fields, your occupation honored by the fact, that God Himself thinks it worthy of immortal record that He owns "the catticon a thousand hills." It is appropriate that I should accept the invitation to preach at this great Interstate fair, and to these throngs of countrymen and citizens—horsemen just come from their fine charges, the king of beasts for I take the crown from the lion and put it on the brow of the horse, which with every noblest, and to speak to these shepherds. You come from their flocks (the Lord Himself in one place called a Shepherd and in another place called a Lamb, and all the good are sheep); and you, my countrymen, come up from the fields, your occupation honored by the fact, that God Himself thinks it worthy of immortal record that He owns "the catticon a thousand hills." It is appropriate that I should accept the invitation to preach at this great Interstate fair, and to these throngs of countrymen and citizens—horsemen just come from their fine charges, the king of beasts for I take the crown from the lion and put it on the brow of the horse, which with every noblest, and to speak to these shepherds. You come from their flocks (the Lord Himself in one place called a Shepherd and in another place called a Lamb, and all the good are sheep); and you, my countrymen, come up from the fields, your occupation honored by the fact, that God Himself thinks it worthy of immortal record that He owns "the catticon a thousand hills." It is appropriate that I should accept the invitation to preach at this great Interstate fair, and to these throngs of countrymen and citizens—horsemen just come from their fine charges, the king of beasts for I take the crown from the lion and put it on the brow of the horse, which with every noblest, and to speak to these shepherds. You come from their flocks (the Lord Himself in one place called a Shepherd and in another place called a