AFFAIRS IN BRAZIL.

How a Scheme to Exile President Fonseca Failed.

THE JUNTA OF RIO GRANDE DO SUL.

They Have a Well Equipped Army and Are Prepared to Defend Their State Against the Dictator's Troops. Fonseca's Soldiers Join Their Captors-Dom Pedro Willing to Return

LONDON, Nov. 17.—A special dispatch to the London Times from Santiago, Chile, says that a person who was a principal actor in the revolution against Dom Pedro states that the premier at the time sent a note to Petropolis, urging Dom Pedro to return to Rio Janeiro. This note was pocketed and forgotten by the doctor at the palace in the excitement of that period. Dom Pedro fled instead of facing the movement, which would have yielded to his presence. In May and June, 1890, certain parties had made arrangements to ship Da Fonseca and his cabinet away from Brazil just as Fonseca had shipped off Dom Pedro, but those interested in freedom of elections had not come forward, and the opportunity was lost.

Rio Grande do Sul's Junta. Dispatches from Santiago say that if Rio Grande do Sul telegrams may be trusted, the junta considerers itself strong enough to decline Governor Castilho's offer to join the opposition as chief of the provincial movement. Cas-tilho was the governor who handed over the city of Porto Alegre, capital of Rio Grande do Sul, to the insurgents.

The state of Rio Grande do Sul is now in the hands of the provisional junta, which, like that recently victorious over Balmaceda in Chile, is com-posed of three persons. They are Dr. Azzey Brazil, General Ossorio and Bar-

A Well Equipped Army.

For many months past arms and ammunition in considerable quantities have been smuggled into Rio Grande do Sul, which fact has enabled the junta quickly to so organize an army. A commission appointed by the junta has gone to Montevideo, capital of Uruguay, to try and prevail upon that country to ob-serve the strictest neutrality, so far as allowing Fonseca's troops to pass through Uruguayan territory.

The dictator is reported to have 20,000 of his troops in and about Rio Janeiro.

The Nationalist party within a few days expect a considerable portion of the navy to declare itself in support of the

Another regiment is said to have abandoned Da Fonseca's cause, and to be marching to join the junta's troops, and the garrisons of six towns are said to have done the same.

The dictator's troops at Itaqui have surrendered and have joined their captors. This places another arsenal, with a further stock of arms and ammunition, in the possession of the insurgents.

Dom Pedro's Patriotism. Paris, Nov. 16,-According to an official communication sent to the public press the leaders of the Brazilian colony here have received a declaration to the effect that Dom Pedro, seeing with profound grief events in Brazil tending to dismember the country, is ready to return if the nation desires his presence in order, in his old age, to render a final service to the union, integrity and greatness of his fatherland.

A FAMILY WIPED OUT.

Terrible Result of a Tenement Fire in Columbus. COLUMBUS, O., Nov. 14 .- One of the most disastrous fires in years, from the fact that an entire family was consumed occurred here early yesterday morning in a row of tenement houses on North High street. The exact origin of the fire remains a mystery, but on the first alarm flames were seen shooting from the roof, lifting up everything within grasp. The firemen endeavored to enter the room, but the dense smoke made this useless. One of the captains did get partially inside the building, but was pulled out again nearly suffocated. Two hours were consumed in gaining centrol of the flames, and long ere that every person was supposed to have escaped. Such, however, was not the case. It was nearly four o'clock in the afternoon when a little girl living in the afternoon when a little girl living in the neighborhood with childish curiosity rummaged the ruins and found a naked This led to a search and the ultimate discovery of five blackened bodies, burned to a crisp and beyond recogni-

The clock on the mantelhad stopped at 3:35 a.m., indicating the hour of the fire. The dead are: Charles Bethers, aged 30 years; Elizabeth, his wife, aged 28; Carrie, aged 9; Myrtie, aged 5, and James, aged 3.

The Ohio Senatorship.

WASHINGTON, Nov. 17.-Ex-Governor Foraker had a long interview yesterday afternoon with Secretary Foster, pre-sumably about the senatorial situation in Ohio. Secretary Foster is a very ardent Sherman man in the present fight, but it is not believed that he will take an active interest in the contest. Joseph P. Smith, editor of the Urbana (Ohio) Citizen, who had charge of the contests in the legislative districts in Ohio during the late campaign in the interest of Senator Sherman, is also in town. Mr. Smith says there is absolutely no doubt of Sherman's election. Of sixty of the ninety-three members and senators-elect who have declared themselves, he says Sherman has fortysix and Foraker fourteen.

Depew Eulogizes Parnell.

New York, Nov. 16.—The Academy of Music was crowded to excess last night to hear Chauncey M. Depew's eulogy on the late Charles Stewart Parnell. The lesson of Parnell's life, said Mr. Depew, after sketching the history of his life and its most striking incidents, was the superiority of constitutional over revolutionary methods. The dead here was compared with Gambetta, Cavour and Bismarck, and the peroration was a hope for Ireland's content, happiness and prosperity. Depew Eulogizes Parnell.

A Whole Fleet Missing. LONDOK, Nov. 17.—Intense anxiety prevails among the relatives and friends of the crew of the Brightling Sea fishing fleet, all the vessels of which were at sea when the recent storm burst upon the English coast. Not one vessel of the fleet has returned to port since the gale began, and it is feared that the whole fleet may have been overwhelmed by the terrible force of the hurricane. A MANIAC'S SUICIDE.

Saturated Himself with Oil and Rolled on Live Coals. WILKESBARRE, Pa., Nov. 17.—John T. Ruddy, whose mind has been unbalanced for some time, took advantage of his brother's absence from the house to carry out an inexpressibly fiendish purpose, of which he himself was the victim. Escaping from the room in which he had been confined he secured a carving knife and slashed his throat twice.

The wound was rough and jagged, but did not reach the jugular vein. Leaving a trail of blood behind him from kitchen to shed he went down the steps and poured coal oil over his clothes, completely saturating them. He then returned up stairs, the oil dripping from his clothes, and shoveled the live coals out of the stove, scattering them over the floor. As the smoke began to rise he lay down and rolled across the floor. Instantly he was a mass of flames. Neighbors who had seen the smoke rushed in, but too late to save him.

The fire in the house was extinguished with some pails of water, but all that remained of Ruddy was what resembled a charred log. The younger brother, Anthony, had gone down town to bring up a physician, as the authorities had promised that the brother should at once be removed to the asylum at Danville.

A Juvenile Murderer.

PHILADELPHIA, Nov. 17.-James Wood, colored, aged 10, was committed to await the action of the coroner, on the charge of having killed Mrs. Emma Hackvania. On July 13 Wood and two companions, Kennard Pearce and William Burk, pur-chased a goat of Mrs. Hackvania. After the purchase they decided that they did not want the goat, and asked her to take it back. She refused to return the money, when Wood, who carried a small rifle, aimed at the woman and pulled the trigger. The ball took effect in the woman's head, and she died a week later. Pearce and Burk were arrested at the time, but Wood escaped. He was recently located on a New Jersey farm.

Gruenbaum Confesses.

PHILADELPHIA, Nov. 17 .- Expert accountants are at work on the books of the Bergner & Engel Brewing company trying to fix the amount of money stolen by Herman Gruenbaum. Gruenbaum't stealings have been very systematic, and would have probably continued for some time yet if he had not got over bold on Saturday and took a sum of money which was soon missed. Gruenbaum has confessed his guilt, saying that his specula-tions cover a period of four years. Mr. Engel thinks the amount will reach $12,000. Gruenbaum is 38 years old, and married, and until Saturday en-joyed the full confidence of his employ-

Their Winter Hotel.

WEST CHESTER, Pa., Nov. 14.—Tramps are coming into their winter quarters at the Chester County Home in droves. A week ago the inmates of the home numbered less than one hundred. Now there are nearly two hundred of them. The approach of cold weather is driving them in, and daily from ten to twenty-five come in. These men are quartered in a large outbuilding and their only labor is the gathering of firewood for warming their quarters. Early in the spring they take their leave and begin their wander-ings. It is a remarkable fact that nearly the same faces are seen in the "tramp house" year after year.

Fatal Freight Wreck.

PITTSBURG, Nov. 17 .- A fatal rear end collision between two Panhandle freight trains occurred just west of Burgetts town, about twenty miles west of this city, late yesterday afternoon. Four-teen cars of perishable freight, with the caboose and engine of the second train, were derailed and piled in a heap, the cars of wreckage taking fire and burning up. Brakeman Hardy, of this city, was caught in the wreck and cremated alive. Thomas Whitesides, engineer, and John McFarland, fireman, received fatal internal injuries before being rescued from the burning debris. The loss will reach $100,000 will reach $100,000.

Emmet Pays the Fines.

PITTSBURG, Nov. 16.-Joseph K. Emmet, son of the German comedian, and twenty-two others, including Managet E. D. Wilt of the Grand Opera house and nineteen cabmen, who were arrested for violating a Sunday law, were given a hearing before Justice Ayndman and fined $28.40 each. The offense consisted of a parade of twenty-five cabs, on which were large boxes announcing Mr. Em-met's appearance at the Grand Opera house this week. Mr. Emmet paid all the fines, amounting to nearly $600.

A Poor House Wair's Sad Death.

CARLISLE, Pa., Nov. 18.—Quite a sensation has been produced by the death of the lad alleged to have been beaten to death by John Lafferty at Idaville, Adams county, just across the Cumberland county line. A trial for murder will probably be the result. The body of the boy showed a number of bruises, and there is little doubt that death was caused by a cruel beating at the hands caused by a cruel beating at the hands of the farmer. The boy is the son of a poor woman of this place, and was taken from the almshouse by Lafferty.

Bentley's Bonanza Blocked. Norristown, Pa., Nov. 14.—Thomas Bentley, colored, who has been going about collecting money for two colored churches—one at Jenkintown, the other at Hatboro—has been committed to answer for alleged false representations.

Bentley, it is alleged, was not authorized to collect funds. He carried two subscription books, one for each church, and, it is said, appropriated to his own use the money he collected.

A Brakeman's Awful Death. A Brakeman's Awful Death.

WILKESBARRE, Pa., Nov. 17.—William Hontz, of Ashley, a brakeman on the Central railroad, died yesterday as the result of a horrible accident while coupling coal cars. He had reached for the big iron hook and held it in front of him. The other cars were nearer than he thought and he was caught and the hook forced through his abdomen, partially disemboweling him. His sufferings were frightful.

Stricken Blind.

Norristown, Pa., Nov. 14.—John Meakin, a puddler at Alan Wood's rolling mill, Conshohocken, was suddenly stricken blind yesterday. As he was in the act of washing he was without the alightest warning bereft of the sense of sight. He called for help and was led stone blind to his house. A physician was summoned and at last accounts there were signs of returning vision.

Fall of the Leaf.

The bright, green foliage of summer which is now variegated with golden tints, and leafless trees will soon presage the coming of winter's chilly blasts. Nature has been more than usually lavish in her gifts and abundant crops make the heart of the husbandman glad. With the advent of fall it will be well for all to take the advent of fall it will be well for all to take proper safeguards against disease. A pure stimulant tones up the enfeebled system.
