Mysterious and Fatal Explosion in an English Town.

OVER THIRTY PEOPLE KILLED.

Guests of a Hotel Buried in the Ruins and Crushed or Burned to Death—Three Buildings Blows to Atoms—Some Miraculous Escapes. Heroic Attempts at Rescue.

LONDON, Dec. 1.—A most mysterious explosion occurred at Blackburn, a city of 100,000 population, thirty miles from Manchester, and three buildings were blown to atoms. The streets in the vicinity of the explosion were full of people, when suddenly, and without a moment's warning, the earth shook, there was a tremendous report, and the air was filled with flying bricks, timbers, broken glass and all manner of debris. The houses which were destroyed were in the Blackburn market, naturally one of the most frequented parts of the town, and the scene which followed was indescribable. The people were wild with fear and ran in a terror from the market place. Many of those who ran away had been struck by the flying debris, and with blood pouring from their wounds they added to the terror of the people.

Buried Under the Walls.
The Crown hotel and two stores on Victoria street collapsed immediately after the explosion. From the ruins of the hotel the most heartrending cries issued. The entire building tumbled in upon those unlucky enough to be in the building. There were, according to reports, at least twenty people buried in the ruins of the hotel, while over a dozen are said to have met death in the ruins of the two stores.

There were a number of miraculous escapes from death. When the buildings fell, after the explosion, a number of people were passing. Among them was a woman with a child in her arms. A mass of bricks fell on the woman, killing her instantly, but the child escaped without injury. A boy belonging to a grocery store was on his way into the Crown hotel with a basket of groceries when a companion jokingly stopped him and ran away with a box of mustard very boy to run after the lad who was teasing him. Just as he did so there was a heavy, dull, explosive sound, apparently from the cellar of the hotel, and in another moment the building was a heap of smoking ruins.

Shrieks of Agony.
Cries of horror arose on all sides. The two stores also collapsed and then the flames sprang from the hotel ruins and shrieks of agony could be heard as if from the depths of a furnace.

Several heroic efforts to save life were made by the police and firemen. One of the latter, in attempting to rescue a child whose cries could be heard in the ruins of the Crown, fell into the flames and was so severely burned that his life is despaired of. It was only with difficulty that he was rescued by his comrades.

The number of dead is not positively known, but it is judged that the majority of the bodies will be found in the ruins of the hotel. All that remains to be done is to overhaul the ruins and pick out the dead.

Many terrible scenes of distress have been witnessed about the ruins upon the part of those who have relatives among the missing and who fear that they have met death in the ruins. One poor woman with five children clinging to her skirts and a babe at her breast is the center of sympathy and interest in the crowd. She is supposed to be the wife of the assistant cook of the Crown.

Five bodies have already been recovered. They are burned or crushed almost beyond recognition. The police estimate the number of dead at thirty-two.

The cause of the explosion still seems to be a mystery.

Lived and Died Together.
VIENNA, Dec. 1.—Achduke Henry, whose serious illness from inflammation of the lungs has been announced, died yesterday. The archduke was born at Milan in 1828. He held the rank of field marshal in the Austrian army. In 1868 he contracted a morganatic marriage with Leopoldine Hofman, who was born in 1842. She was raised to the nobility in 1872, and created baroness of Waldeck in 1878. Of this marriage there is issue one daughter. The baroness died Sunday of the same disease from which her husband died a day later.

A Deadly Plaything.
LONDON, Dec. 1.—Five boys, while playing on the beach at Southampton, found a bomb embedded in the sand. They did not know what it was and began playing with it, tossing it from one to the other and rolling it along the shore. While they were engaged in their sport the bomb exploded and pieces of it flew in every direction. One boy was instantly killed, another was so badly injured that he is now dying, and the other three were so badly wounded that small hopes are entertained of their recovery.

Called Out to Death.
BIRMINGHAM Ala., Dec. 1.—Bud Talley and Bob Newbern, prominent Blount county farmers, have been placed in jail at Oneonta charged with the murder of Stephen Cafes, a neighbor. An old grudge between the men has existed for several years. Just after midnight Sunday night Cafes was called from his house and shot to death. Two men were seen running away. Tulley borrowed a rifle that day, and said he and Newbern would call on Cafes at night. Lynching is threatened.

Rachel Sherman's Wedding.
WASHINGTON, Dec. 1.—The marriage of Miss Rachel Sherman, the youngest daughter of the late General William T. Sherman, to Dr. Thorndyke, of Boston, will be solemnized in the latter part of December, at the residence of Senator and Mrs. Sherman, in this city. The ceremony will take place at noon, and on account of the deep mourning of the family of the bride-elect it will be a quiet one, attended only by the immediate relatives and by a small number of personal friends.

Heavy Snow in Virginia.
NORFOLK, Va., Nov. 30.—Norfolk is a winter city. A blizzard of severity almost unknown in this section struck the city yesterday, accompanied by sleet, which later turned into a heavy snow, which now lies seven or eight inches deep on the level and has drifted much deeper in places.

FIFTY YEARS A BISHOP.

Elaborate Celebration of Bishop Kenrick's Golden Jubilee.

ST. LOUIS, Dec. 1.—With all the pomp and ceremony that characterizes the observance of important events by the Roman Catholic church the venerable Peter Richard Kenrick, archbishop of St. Louis, is celebrating the fiftieth anniversary of his episcopate.

Following the elaborate services of Sunday, pontifical high mass was celebrated in the old cathedral yesterday.

Cardinal Gibbons was the celebrant of the mass, and Archbishop Ryan the preacher of the day. Admission to the edifice was by ticket, and the structure was packed to the most remote nook and corner by representative men. Hundreds of priests representing nearly a dozen dioceses, and robed in full vestments, occupied seats in the sanctuary. The gathering of eminent Roman Catholics was larger than at any time since the third plenary council of Baltimore.

In the afternoon there was a banquet at the archbishop's residence. Covers were laid for 500. Cardinal Gibbons presided, and only clergymen participated. Six toasts were responded to by Cardinal Gibbons, Archbishop Corrigan, Bishop Hennessy, Father Grimselman, Vicar General Brady and Father Collier of St. Peter and St. Paul's church.

Last night there was an enormous torchlight procession through the principal streets of the city. Every one of the numerous Catholic societies in St. Louis turned out in force, and there were delegations in line from every county in the state, together with a great many from other states. The exercises are continued today.

A Life of Parnell.

LONDON, Dec. 1.—The United Press correspondent is assured by Mr. Henry Harrison, M. P., that Mrs. Parnell, widow of the Irish leader, has no present intention of issuing a defense of Mr. Parnell in the form of a book or biography. In due time a life of Parnell will be published, but it will be a work of years, and will be the result of thorough and exhaustive preparation. It will not be ephemeral, but a work to take its place in the history of the time. Letters and correspondence of Parnell are at present deposited in a place of security, and will no doubt be fully drawn upon for the "life" when the time comes to prepare it.

Recovered the Buried Plunder.
DENVER, Colo., Dec. 1.—Superintendent McFarland of the Pinkerton detective agency, who went out to secure the remains of the plunder stolen by the Rio Grande express robbers, has returned with the booty, which he found planted near the head of Brush creek at the place to which he was directed by one of the robbers, who had confessed.

Eye for the Starving Adulterated.
ODESSA, Dec. 1.—An outcry has been raised that agents are paying fancy prices for rye that is so adulterated with sand and other materials that it is unfit to eat, and also that they are buying wheat at prices above the market rate. It is feared that the outcry will put a stop to the contributions of persons charitably inclined.

Bill Nye Takes a Tumble.
JACKSON, Miss., Nov. 30.—At the Opera house Saturday night, just after the curtain rose for the Bill Nye-Burbank combination entertainment, Nye fell out of the back door of the Opera house, a distance of fifteen feet, landing on a pile of lumber. He was so badly hurt that he could not appear and the audience was dismissed.

Saranac Lake Frozen Over.
SARANAC LAKE, N. Y., Nov. 30.—A cold wave prevails here. The thermometers registered 10 degrees below zero at the signal service station last night. Lower Saranac lake is frozen over for the first time this season.

Contract Laborers Sent Back.
NEW YORK, Dec. 1.—Thirteen Croatian laborers who arrived on the steamer Rhyndland on Saturday, under contract to work in the mines of Philadelphia and Ohio, were returned by the same steamer yesterday afternoon.

PHILADELPHIA, Nov. 30.—William Killor, who was sent to the Eastern penitentiary on Nov. 12 under a sentence of life imprisonment for the killing of David Lewis in a stable at 447 North Eighth street on Nov. 6, 1887, was found dead in his cell.

CARBONDALE, Pa., Nov. 30.—James Gilmartin, a boy aged 13 years, was accidentally shot and killed by Willie Kelly, a boy about the same age. Kelly was shooting at a tree when the bullet struck young Gilmartin in the forehead, penetrating the brain.

PHILADELPHIA, Nov. 27.—It is said there will be an attempt to organize a new bank on the ruins of the late Spring Garden National bank. The locality is regarded as a good one, and the institution, it is believed, will be backed by gentlemen having the confidence of the community.

PHILADELPHIA, Dec. 1.—William C. Allison, president of the Allison Car Manufacturing company, at Thirty-second and Walnut streets, died at his residence yesterday from heart failure. Mr. Allison was one of the pioneer car manufacturers of this country, and was the founder of the company which bears his name.

HARRISBURG, Nov. 30.—Governor Pattison has appointed C. E. Heydrick, of Franklin, Venango county, as judge of the supreme court, vice Hon. Silas M. Clark, deceased. Mr. C. E. Heydrick is a leading attorney in northwestern Pennsylvania. He is the former member of the Venango county bar, and resides in the city of Franklin.

PITTSBURG, Nov. 30.—A plot of seven desperate prisoners was unearthed by the officials of the Western penitentiary. The seven are now in solitary confinement, and under close guard. They sought a road to freedom by digging a tunnel about three feet in diameter from under the floor of the mat packing house, which is the only wooden building inside the walls.

PHILADELPHIA, Nov. 28.—Robert M. Yardley, receiver of the Keystone National bank, brought eight-seven suits in the United States district yesterday against as many stockholders of the Keystone bank for the assessment of $50 upon each share of stock held by them. The aggregate number of shares upon which suit is brought is 4,123, the assessments upon which amount to $106,150.

JOHNSTOWN, Pa., Dec. 1.—George Dynes and Alphonse Lee, of Chicago, were committed to jail to answer charges of burglary by breaking into an express car and stealing a number of valuable articles. The boys left home a month ago for Philadelphia, and were on their trip back when they broke into the car. Dynes' father is a painter and decorator, and Lee's father is janitor of the custom house.

PHILADELPHIA, Nov. 30.—"Mr. Blaine is a well man." This is what Dr. Madison Taylor, the physician to the department of state, said in an interview. Dr. Taylor thoroughly examined Mr. Blaine during the latter's visit to this city, and he makes the statement to put a stop to the many reports to the contrary which have been going around the country since Mr. Blaine's severe attack of illness last spring.

READING, Pa., Nov. 30.—Daniel Brown, a well known citizen, who, on Nov. 3, was elected jury commissioner for three years, was whirled to death in the Erie and Reading rolling mill. His clothing caught in the belt of the fly wheel and, although a heavy man, weighing over two hundred pounds, he was whirled around twelve times through space but eleven inches wide. He was horribly mangled and lingered nearly four hours.

CHESTER, Pa., Nov. 30.—St. Paul's Protestant Episcopal church was robbed early in the morning. The thieves entered through the school room window and broke open the contribution boxes and took the money, which was kept for buying Christmas treats for the poor. They also entered the vestry room, destroyed the white surplices of the rector there, and robbed the room in which the electric light plant is located of several articles of value.

INDIANA, Pa., Nov. 28.—Alexander Morehead, aged 24 years, son of Rev. W. W. Morehead, of Greensburg, Pa., shot himself through the left breast, and will probably die. Young Morehead gives as the reason for the suicide the fact that his brother was married on Wednesday, and they had been reared together and he could not bear the separation from him. It is believed that Alexander was a suitor for the hand of his brother's wife.

POTTSVILLE, Pa., Nov. 30.—John Harrington, a miner living at Robinson's Patch, near Mahanoy City, met death by being drowned in a mine. The men were employed in tapping the water in the old workings of the Springdale colliery, above Mahanoy City. They had no idea that they were so close to it and they had taken no precautions against a rush of water. Harrington was caught in the flood and was carried down and drowned. The other men escaped.

PITTSBURG, Nov. 30.—Samuel Largin, who was arrested on a telegram from Philadelphia, was taken to that city last night by Detective Geyer, to answer the charge of larceny in stealing 884 pairs of pants from a Philadelphia clothing dealer and afterwards pawned them. Largin was the manager of a Hebrew dramatic company, which is now stranded here. He eloped from Philadelphia with Etta Doorinkie, 16 years old. The girl's father came here from his daughter and took her home today. Largin's wife came here yesterday from New York to visit her husband. She did not seem to worry over his arrest.
