Indianapolis' Fearful Holocaust. Indianapolis, Jan. 23.—The fire in the National Surgical institutue, which occurred yesterday morning, was one of the most appaling in the history of this city. The attendants barely had time to awaken the patients, when in the halls and upper rooms pandemonium reigned. Shriek after shriek went up for help as the inmates realized their terrible sit-uation. When the firemen arrived the work of removing the crippled inmates was proceeded with rapidly, and of the 316 inmates all were rescued but nine-teen. Of these nearly all were burned

PHILADELPHIA MARKETS. Closing Quotations of the Stock and Produce Exchanges.

Produce Exchanges.

PHILADELPHIA, Jan. 25.—The stock market was dull and heavy. The trading, except in a few stocks, was not heavy, and the fluctuations were of no importance. Reading was active and during the morning it advanced, the buying being due, it was said, to the probable success of the negotiations for the control of the Poughkeepsie Bridge system, but in the afternoon the stock declined again as the general market weakened. Pennsylvania was steady. Lehigh Valley and Lehigh Navigation showed some weak ness.

Following were the closing bids.
