SENATORS OBJECT.

They Dislike England's Attitude
 on the Behring Sea Matter.

RATIFICATION MEETS OPPOSITION.

They Urge That the Submission of the Matter to Foreign Arbitrators
 Will be a Cowardly Surrender on Our Part—Only the Beginning of the Opposition.

WASHINGTON, March 9.—The Behring sea arbitration treaty was sent to the senate yesterday afternoon by the president, and at 3:30 the senate went into executive session to consider it, on motion of Mr. Sherman, chairman of the committee on foreign relations. The message of the president and full text of the treaty was read. There was nothing of an important nature in the president's letter, it being simply a letter of transmittal, and containing no recommendations or suggestion. After a short, concise explanation of what the treaty proposed an appeal to the senate concerning the urgent necessity for speedy action had been made on behalf of the administration by a prominent senator. An animated and interesting discussion, free from crimony, however, followed on the matter, and some of the remarks that were made showed a disposition on the part of some senators, particularly among those from the Pacific coast, to wage earnest opposition to its approval, if not to its consideration.

Several senators were uncompromising in their attitude. They held that there was no question as to the right of the United States to the waters acquired from Russia by the Alaska treaty of 1867, and contended that the submission of this right to the decision of foreign arbitrators was a cowardly surrender on the part of this country. Ratification under these circumstances they resented bitterly. Another argument urged against ratification of the treaty was that one of the arbitrators, Italy, had not the friendliest feeling towards the United States on account of the New Orleans affair.

Much feeling, almost general in its character, was manifested over the omission from the treaty of a clause renewing the modus vivendi, and some senators urged that a refusal to do this during the pendency of arbitration proceedings justified the United States in directing its armed vessels to seize any sealers, without regard to nationality, found violating the present law. The discussion lasted more than an hour and ended with the reference of the treaty to the committee on foreign relations. But yesterday's discussion is only the beginning of the opposition which will probably arise when the treaty is brought before the senate for consideration. The correspondence in the negotiation proceedings was not sent to the senate.

THE PRESIDENT'S ATTITUDE.
 United States Law Will be Enforced in the Behring Sea.

WASHINGTON, March 9.—At yesterday's cabinet meeting the question was discussed whether or not, under the conditions that exist now, the recently negotiated Behring sea treaty of arbitration should be sent to the senate, and it was decided in the affirmative. It was asserted that it would not do for the United States government, after having proposed arbitration, to withdraw from the arrangement made by its representatives and that of Great Britain to carry that proposition into effect, whatever position the other party might assume. This government, it was further stated, must show its good faith in the matter. Other means than the proposed arbitration could be found, and doubtless would be, under the new conditions arising out of the refusal of Great Britain to renew the modus vivendi, by which the seal herds could be protected pending arbitration.

President Harrison, it is said, fully realizing the necessity that exists for expeditious action, if there is to be any effective protection of the seals against poaching this season, will endeavor to reach an understanding with Great Britain as soon as possible. Should Lord Salisbury persist in his refusal to join in a modus vivendi, after receiving the reply to his recent note, sent yesterday, it is probable the president will notify him that the law of the United States against illegal sealing will be enforced against all vessels offending, and the usual proclamation warning poachers off the sealing waters will be issued. The programme, however, will depend largely upon developments from time to time.

A New Trial for Lingo.

TRENTON, March 9.—The supreme court yesterday afternoon reversed its decision rendered a few days ago denying a new trial to Lingo, the alleged colored murderer, and rendered a decision in favor of a new trial for him. There was nothing beyond a verbal announcement to that effect from Chief Justice Beasley, who said that under the circumstances the court was constrained to grant a new trial.

Forger Starkey Surrenders.

CHICAGO, March 9.—After three years spent in evading justice, William Starkey, the alleged jury briber and writer of the Cronin decoy letter from Canada, entered the office of clerk of the criminal court yesterday afternoon and voluntarily gave bonds in the sum of $13,500 for his appearance. Starkey has been living in Canada since his flight.

NEW HAVEN, Conn., March 5.—Noah Porter, D. D., LL. D., formerly president of Yale college, and Clark professor of moral philosophy and metaphysics.

NEW YORK, March 8.—Edwards Pierpont, attorney general and minister to England under Grant, and previously judge of the superior court, aged 79 years.

LONDON, March 8.—The death is announced of Louis Joseph Martel, the French statesman, formerly a member of the senate and of President Jules Simon's cabinet, aged 77.

WASHINGTON, March 8.—Hon. John W. Kendall, representative in congress from the Tenth Kentucky district, died at his residence in this city at 9:25 last night, aged 58. This was Mr. Kendall's first term in congress.

FIFTY-SECOND CONGRESS.

Condensed Report of Proceedings in Senate and House.

WASHINGTON, March 8.—In the senate, among the bills favorably reported were: To pay the Yankton and Sioux Indians for services as scouts under General Sully in 1847 to provide for an investigation regarding the slums of cities. Mr. Morgan introduced a bill to provide consuls for the Congo free state. The Idaho contested election contest was again discussed, without final action. In the house, the following committee reports were read: From the committee on judiciary, defining the crime of murder in the first and second degrees; from the committee on interior and foreign commerce, making Council Bluffs, Ia., a port of call for the same committee, for increased pay of coast guards. The house then went into committee of the whole on the District of Columbia appropriation bill.

WASHINGTON, March 4.—In the senate house bill authorizing the postmaster general to credit the late postmaster at Indianapolis, Aquilla Jones, with the sum of $2,438 was called up and passed. A bill to consolidate the several laws relating to the coinage was placed on the calendar. The senate resumed consideration of the Idaho election contest, being addressed by Mr. Gray (Del.) in support of the claims of Claggett, the contestant. The vote resulted in favor of Dubois by 57 to 5. In the house Mr. Tolson (Ga.) called attention to a special dispatch from Washington printed in the Atlanta Constitution, charging him with corruption in the Craig-Stewart election case. He vigorously denounced the author, who he said was the speaker's clerk. The house resumed consideration of the district appropriation bill.

WASHINGTON, March 5.—In the senate house bill making Newark, N. J., a port of immediate entry was passed. Mr. Manderson introduced a bill to prevent and punish corporations and associations from making or using scrip or metal tokens of denominations of less than $1 in payment for labor or other debts. Mr. Stanford introduced a bill directing the purchase of silver bullion and the coinage thereof. In the house the speaker announced the appointment of Mr. Hemphill (S. C.) and Mr. Dingley (Me.) as directors of the Columbian institution for the deaf and dumb. Mr. Mitchell (Pa.), from the committee on appropriations, reported the invalid pension appropriation bill. On motion of DeLoach (Utah), a bill was passed for the relief of the inhabitants of the town of Ferron, Utah. The house then went into committee of the whole on the pension bill.

WASHINGTON, March 7.—In the house Saturday Mr. Tucker (Va.), from the committee on election of president, vice president, etc., reported a joint resolution proposing a constitutional amendment, changing the date for the beginning and ending of terms of senators and representatives from March 4 to 1st, and providing that the annual sessions shall begin on the second Monday in January; and further providing that the term of the president and vice president shall commence and end on April 1st instead of March 4th.

WASHINGTON, March 8.—Among the bills introduced in the senate were: By Mr. Peffer, to increase pensions of veterans of 1812 to $25 a month; by Mr. Sawyer, to authorize the establishment of postal telegraphy; by Mr. Perkins, to amend the act relating to the academic education of Indians. The bill extending the free delivery system to towns of 5,000 and a postal revenue of $5,000 was reported from committee. The house spent the day in discussing the resolution of the committee on rules, naming Tuesday, March 11, as 189 against 85. On the final vote 61 Democrats and 15 Republicans voted against the free silver men, while 9 Republicans and the 9 Alliance congressmen voted with them.

WASHINGTON, March 9.—In the senate Mr. Stanford introduced a bill to fix the duty on opium at $5 per pound; by Mr. Felton, to create the California debris commission and to regulate hydraulic mining. Bills were passed: For the relief of John W. Lewis, of Oregon, receiver of the land office, allowing him $500 in place of fees to prohibit the sale of firearms and ammunition to Indians residing upon reservations; to reimburse Major General Clay Goodloe, paymaster United States marine corps, $3,300 stolen by his clerk, who afterwards committed suicide; estimating $27,725 to certain taxpayers for commissions paid on internal revenue stamps printed from private dies; referring to the court of claims the Decey meter case; to pay the estate of the late John Ericsson $14,000 for planning and superintending the construction of the United States steamer Princeton. The joint resolution to provide for an international bi-millennial agreement was laid aside without action. The senate then resumed consideration of the seal herds bill, without final action. The house adjourned as a mark of respect to the memory of the late Congressman Kendall, of Kentucky, and the following were appointed a funeral committee: Messrs. Paynter, Mansur, Amerman, Bailey, Owens, Wilson (Ky.) and Belknap.

Victims of Berlin's Battles.

BERLIN, March 9.—The reports of the city hospitals for the last week show that sixty men were seriously injured during the riots of last week. Six of the injured rioters have died already, four from fracture of the skull inflicted by broadside blows from the policemen's swords, and two from complete exhaustion caused by loss of blood from sword cuts in the neck and arms. A girl of 16 years, who was passing along the sidewalk when the riot before the palace was in progress, was run down by a platoon of police with their swords drawn and had one cheek and her nose cut completely off. She is still alive at the Charity, but cannot recover. Several boys of 17 and 18, who were watching the riot sustained such severe injuries from the swords of policemen recklessly clearing the way that one will die and the rest are in a critical condition.

Mercier's Party Defeated.

MONTREAL, March 9.—The Mercier party has been defeated. Up to this hour definite returns have been received from nineteen of the seventy-five constituencies in the province. Of that number thirty-eight have gone Conservative. Twenty of these thirty-eight seats were formerly held by supporters of Mercier. Among the defeated are three of the members of Mercier's late cabinet, Messrs. Bolduc, Duhamel and Langlois. Mr. Mercier has been elected in his own county by a good majority.

Slaughtered the Wedding Guests.

CETTINGE, Montenegro, March 8.—A dispatch from Kolaschin, a town on the frontier of Albania, reports that one of forty Albanians who were escorting a wedding procession accidentally shot a Montenegrin while firing a salute. Though it was clearly apparent that the shooting was entirely accidental the comrades of the wounded man poured a volley into the wedding party, killing and wounding nineteen of them. The Montenegrin party was building a bridge.

Secretary Foster Homeward Bound.

SOUTHAMPTON, March 9.—Secretary Foster, of the United States treasury department, embarked for New York this morning on the North German Lloyd steamer Sprea, on which he came. Mr. Foster is accompanied by ex-Surgeon General Hamilton and Mr. McLennan. Secretary Foster said he had heard nothing direct concerning the Behring sea negotiations. He hoped some modus vivendi would be found.

Those who wound the feelings of their neighbors by many unkind speeches attempt to justify themselves by declaring that they say always what they think. This is their idea of an honest man. One should never say what he does not think but it does not follow that he should always say what he happens to think. A wise man thinks all that he says; a fool says all that he thinks.—Christian Advocate.

 I wish to state that a wonderful benefit Pastor Koenig's Nerve Tonic has been to my brother, who has suffered from rheumatism since 1886 and has not been able to do work of any kind since that time. He has tried all kinds of patent medicines and different doctors of skill, but all without benefit, until he took the Tonic. He has continually improved since, and I will say, and hundreds besides me who have seen him during his sickness, that it was indeed a miracle to see him restored to health.
