LOSS THREE AND A HALF MILLIONS

While a Limited Department Was Fighting One Big Blaze Flames Start in Another Section Which Destroy Nearly Two Hundred Houses-Firemen Fatally Injured.

New Orleans, April 3.—New Orleans was visited yesterday by two of the worst fires in the city's history. Eleven blocks of buildings were destroyed, involving a loss of $3,600,000. Both fires were the result of carelessness and would have been trivial but for the exceeding dryness, which was the result of a long drouth, a high wind and the inadequacy of the fire department. The latter was reorganized in January from the volunteer to the paid department system, and the number of firemen was reduced about nine-tenths. The first fire started in a pile of cotton in front of the fireproof compress, at the corner of Robin and Front streets. Some one threw a lighted cigarette in the pile, which in a few minutes were burning fiercely. The flames quickly ate their way into the compress building, where 12,500 bales of cotton were stored. The air was soon filled with masses of burning cotton, which communicated the flames to the adjacent structures. The shippers' cotton press, where 30,000 bales of cotton were stored, was the next to go and the Orleans compress, with 25,000 bales, soon followed.

While the firemen were combating the flames in the Orleans compress, the walls suddenly gave way, and Captain Dupree, Lieutenant Shaw and Pipeman Bordeaux were buried in the ruins. All were seriously and possibly fatally injured. The Independence cotton yards had been engulfed, and the fire covered an area of five squares. The Baldwin agricultural works and the Louisiana rice mills, four squares distant, were ignited by the masses of burning cotton which filled the air, but after a hard fight both buildings were srved without serious loss.

A panic prevailed in the vicinity of the fire, which was close to the residence district and people living many blocks distant began fleeing for their lives, carrying what few belongings they could gather up in their haste. There were also destroyed in the cotton district several minor buildings. several minor buildings.

The cotton loss is estimated at about 65,000 bales. This would mean a loss of about $2,225,000 in cotton alone. It is claimed by some that the fire was the work of laborers, who wished to avenge the purchasing of the presses by the

While the firemen were engaged in a hopeless struggle with the cotton fire another blaze broke out at the corner of Laurel and Third streets, a mile away. Mrs. Valentine tried to start a fire with coal oil. An explosion followed and the house was soon in flames. For half an hour the fire was a small affair, but no engines arriving it finally spread to the surrounding buildings, which were all wooden cottages, and in two hours the flames had swept bare an area six blocks in extent, reaching from Magazine street to Constance crossing. In all 185 houses were destroyed. The loss will approximate $500,000.

Terrific Explosion in Russia. St. Petersburg, April 6.—This city was thrown into a state of the most intense excitement by a most terrific explosion due to an accident at the state factory for the manufacture of smokeless powder, where in some unknown manner five tons of gun cotton had exploded. The shock of the explosion was tremendous. The whole city was shaken. Nine workmen were in the building when the explosion took place, and every one of them was blown to pieces. A search was made for the remnants of their bodies, and some of their limbs were found 250 yards away from the building.

BALTIMORE, April 5 .- Thaddeus J. Barton, the veteran theatrical manager, died at his home in this city, aged 70 years. Mr. Barton was well known all over the United States to the theatrical profession. In 1849, while manager of the old Front Street theatre in this city, he was the first man to put Edwin Booth on the stage, and the now famous tra-gedian was then but a boy of 17, and played Titus in "Julius Cæsar" to his father's Brutus.

MILLIONS IN SMOKE. VETOED BY ABBETT.

Disastrous Conflagrations in the New Jersey's Governor Disapproves the Reading Deal.

DOUBTS ITS CONSTITUTIONALITY.

He Reviews the Hurried Passage of the Measure, and Says the Legislators Left It to Him to Guard the People's Interests - No Provision for Their Benefit.

TRENTON, N. J., April 6.—Governor Abbett decided not to approve the bill to legalize the Reading deal. He filed a memorandum giving his reasons for de-clining to approve the measure. He says: "Under the constitution of the state this bill cannot become a law without my approval, expressed by my signature. There is no question as to my right to approve this bill within thirty days after the adjournment of the legislature.

"I have grave doubts of the constitutionality of this bill, because the fifth section purports to suspend the operation of the act of 1885, making leases of this kind unlawful without setting it forth in full, as required by the constitution. If I had not reached my conclusions about this bill upon other grounds, the apparent unconstitutionality of the proposed legisla-

LEON ABBETT. tion presents an objection which would require very careful deliberation. The scheme of the original act is not a novel one in the state of New Jersey. "It is plain that the members of the legislature considered that they were, in passing this bill, pursuing the settled policy of the state, which has been to encourage rather than to discourage the consolidation of railroad corporations having a common interest in travel and business. A careful examination of the acts fails to disclose any authority conferred by it which would authorize or assist any combination to control the necessaries of life. There is nothing which authorizes a control of prices by the corporations beyond the natural rule of supply and demand.

The governor adds that experience does not show that an increase in the prices of an article transported is a natural result of railroad consolidation, where there are other railroad facilities. Only a combinations of all the railroads carrying coal across the state might occasion such a result.

The governor then refers to the hurried passage of the bill and the impossibility for the legislature to weigh its facts fully. He further says that it is evident that the bill being passed in the closing hours of the session the members looked to him before approving it to see that the interests of the people were protected. With this view he has made an exhaustive examination. He is satisfied that there was no intention under the bill to increase the cost of coal in New Jersey, whatever might be the effect elsewhere. Even if there was the bill protected the public, as it pro-vided for amendment or repeal. This, however, might necessitate the calling of the legislature in extra session, and he would not care to leave legislation in such a shape. It would give rise to various embarrassments and expenses.

He adds that the wisdom of legislative protection for the consumer has impressed itself on him by the advance in the market price of coal since the passage of this act. The officials of the companies have even asserted that there has been no agreement to prevent further advance and that they could not make any such an agreement.

Attention is called to the fact that the combination of roads will reduce the cost of transportation for the coal companies, and that this reduction is to be the direct outcome of the privileges granted by the state, which means the people, wherefore the saving ought to belong in part to the people. The bill does not provide for this. Such a contract was expected. The governor, how-ever, thinks that legislative approval would be necessary for the validity of any such contract, and without any such stipulation so approved it would be unwise to confer the powers sought by the bill. He therefore disapproves it.

EUROPE'S ANARCHISTS. Proofs of a Plot to Destroy Buildings in Madrid.

MADRID, April 6.—The whole police force is engaged in hunting down an-archists, with the view of getting at the bottom of the conspiracy to blow up the cortes. Yesterday they made a raid upon an anarchist club and arrested twelve of its members. They seized a number of documents and several red and black flags. The also found a number of disguises, which, it is supposed, were to be used in the dynamite outrages. The Frenchman arrested, who gave his name as Jean Marie Delboche, was so violent at first that it was found necessary to gag and manacle him. He and the Portuguese, Manuel Ferreira, were taken to the office of the minister of the interior by the police. They admitted that they were anarchists.

Yesterday the prisoners were brought before a magistrate. Papers were found on the prisoners showing that they were engaged in a conspiracy to blow up the chamber of deputies, the blow up the chamber of deputies, the senate chamber, the royal palace, the Bank of Spain and other buildings. A number of threatching letters have been received by prominent families. One noble family, which owns extensive property, has been warned that if it does not let its houses to the poor and homeses it will be blown up.

Dispatches from Valencia and Malaga announce that the anarchists are threatening a reign of terror in both cities. In These two discoveries have strengthened the belief that the attempts to blow up the parliamentary buildings were plotted by Spanish anarchists. ening a reign of terror in both cities. In -The inequalities and unusally low assessments made in most of the districts of the country has long called for redress. In many cases the smal homes of the mechanic and miner are assessed to nearly their full value, while the more costly lands and houses owned by the more prosperous citizens or corporations are not assessed in proportion, and consequently the burden of taxation falls on those least able to bear it.
