The opposition to the bill was so strong that Mr. Morgan, one of the committee on foreign relations, who drew up the measure, expressed a willingness to postpone its further consider-stion till December, and the senate adjourned pending a motion to recommit the bill to the committee on foreign relations. The house devoted another day in the sundry civil bill without concluding it. The session was con-sumed in debating amendments to sections which were passed over informally last week. An attempt was made by Mr. Enloe (Tenn.) to reduce appropriations for the United States coast and geodetic survey by cutting down certain estimates for field work and salary. This however was unsuccessful.

Testing a Horse for Lameness

When examining a horse with a view to purchasing, says a contemporary, always have him led down a steep or stony descent at the end of a halter with no whip near him. Many horses when brought out of the stable are excited by the presence of strangers, and become still more so at the sight of a whip. A slight lameness may therefore be momentarily overlooked by the horse himself, just as a man under strong excitement, will sometimes forget a sore foot. Leading the horse down a slope will show any defect in his fore-quarters and running him back will develop any weakness that may exist in his hind

THE BLAINE BOOMERS. Charged with Using the Secretary's

Name to Aid Alger.

WASHINGTON, May 24.-Secretary Blaine's trip to New York has no political significance. The statement that he goes over to see his new granddaughter only partly explains the reason for his journey. The secretary is troubled with an affection of the eyes which has recently become quite serious, and he goes to New York for the purpose of consulting a specialist in diseases of that char-acter. He expects to be absent for a couple of days only. In speaking of the matter he said: "I never knew until I was 60 years old that I had such an organ as the eye, judging from any un-usual feeling there. But latterly my eyes have been troubling me, and I have felt constrained to take advice as to their treatment.

A close friend and admirer of President Harrison, speaking of the efforts being made by the antagonists of the president to defeat his renomination by the use of the name of Secretary Blaine. said:

'The object of the movement is perfectly plain. These gentlemen do not have the remotest expectation that Sec-retary Blaine would accept the nom-ination, even if it were tendered him. They would be the most surprised and disgusted lot of politicians in the coun-try if that were to be the result of their chine works. They have in view, and that is the substance of the whole movement, is the nomination of General Alger. They know that when Secretary has been nominated and declined that General Alger is probably the only man of prominence who would accept the nomination. Hence it would be tendered him by acclamation." NEW YORK, May 24.—Secretary James G. Blaine arrived here at 9.40 last night. In response to) inquiry the secretary stated that he came here wholly on private business. He intended to have his eyes attended to, and he wished further-more to see his little granddaughter. His coming, he said, had absolutely no political significance.
