THE BOYS IN BLUE.

THE DEMOCRATIC VETERANS AWAKE TO THE ISSUE.

Comrade Amos J. Cummings' Experiences in the Great Grand Army Review-Brigade Upon Brigade of Democratic Veterans-All Shouting for Cleveland.

No sensible man will take any stock in the assertions that the bulk of the Grand Army vote will be polled against Cleveland and Stevenson. The man who makes this assertion does not know the composition of the Grand Army.

Without the muskets of the Democratic soldiers from the north the Union could not have been preserved. The Democratic veterans are still in line. They are as devoted to Democratic principles now as they have been in years past. The allegation that either Mr. Cleveland or the Democratic house has been opposed to pension legislation is untrue. The record shows it. Mr. Cleveland vetoed about 300 private pension bills while he was president. His veto messages are on record. They speak for themselves. Deserters and those unworthy of pensions alone can take exceptions to them. He signed more pension bills during his term of office than Mr. Harrison has signed.

Honor is the heart of the Grand Army organization. Mr. Cleveland's pension vetoes appeal directly to its spirit of honor. Grand Army veterans recognize this and will reward it. The Republicans have dared to pass only fifty of the 300 and odd pension bills vetoed by Mr. Cleveland, and no more.

A majority of the Democrats in the Fifty-first congress voted for a service pension bill. These votes are on record. If they had been sustained in their action by the Republican members of Tom Reed's congress, a service pension bill would have been passed, and this is what the Grand Army has asked.

I attended the Grand Army encampment at Washington as a member of Horace Greeley post, New York. I met old army comrades from nearly every state in the Union. I saw no Democrat among them who was not heartily in favor of the national Democratic ticket. Thousands of Cleveland buttons were worn by those in the parade, and there seemed to be as many Democratic veterans in line as there were Republicans.

General Daniel E. Sickles, the hero of Gettysburg, was among them. Maimed for life, he was cheered to the echo by his army comrades. All knew that he had repudiated the falsehoods concerning his opposition to the Democratic ticket, and that he was heartily in line among its supporters. No Grand Army veteran has a brighter record and is more devoted to Democratic principles. He is a true Democrat. His fight against Mr. Cleveland ended when Mr. Cleveland was nominated, and like a true Democrat he heartily supports the ticket. He was the orator of the day when the veil was drawn from the monument to the Tammany regiment at Gettysburg; he has presided at meetings of the Tammany Hall organization in New York, and his voice will be heard in Tammany meetings in advocacy of Demcratic principles and of the Democratic ticket hereafter. Another Democratic veteran in line

Among others in line was General Martin P. McMahon, John Sedgwick's famous adjutant general. A veteran Democrat-no man today can aronse more enthusiasm in the old Sixth corps. He has been president of the Association of the Army of the Potomac, and every Democratic veteran who served in that army will be sure to follow his lead.

There are other Democratic veterans to be named. Among them are General Walter S. Newberry, of Illinois; Colonel Hosea H. Rockwell, of Elmira, N. Y.; Colonel Hulbert S. Greenleaf, of Rochester, N. Y.; Colonel W. E. Haynes, of Ohio; Private Darius D. Hare, of Sandusky, O.; Private Irvine Duncan, Captain James W. Owens and Private A. J. Pearson, of Ohio; Captain Oscar Lapham, of Rhode Island; Captain Allen R. Bushnell, of Wisconsin; Colonel Herman W. Snow and Colonel Samuel T. Busey, of Illinois; Colonel David H. Patton and Private Augustus N. Martin, of Indiana; Private Fred E. White, of Iowa; Captain Harrison H. Wheeler, of Michigan; Captain William Henry Harries, of Minnesota; Private John C. Tarsney, of Missouri; Sergeant Luther F. McKinney, of New Hampshire; Private Edward F. McDonald, of New Jersey, and Sergeant Major Amos J. Cummings, of New York. All these veterans are Democratic members of congress and among the most earnest supporters of the Democratic ticket. They vote as they fought-for the Union and for the constitution.

But a stronger evidence of the sympathies of the boys in blue was shown in the theater at Washington during the Grand Army encampment. It was packed with veterans from pit to dome. When one of the actors made a complimentary allusion to Grover Cleveland there was enthusiastic cheering. It lasted more than a minute. Many of the veterans rose in their seats with Grand Army medals swinging from their breasts and swung their hats in Democratic ecstasy.

Whether the managers of the Republican campaign meant to use the Grand Army as a political factor or not, the evidence shows that the Democratic veterans are massed under the Cleveland banner, and are enthusiastic in the campaign on behalf of home rule, a reform tariff and equal opportunities for all. Amos J. CUMMINGS.

NO PECK STATISTICS.

The Massachusetts Labor Report Affords Cold Comfort to the McKinleyites.

The report of the Massachusetts bureau of labor for 1891 presents statistics of manufactures for the years 1885, 1890 and 1891. The presentation is such that the comparison can be made for each of these years of total wages paid, and average yearly earnings of employees in . each of the industries investigated.

The returns of 3,817 establishments for the years 1885 to 1890 show an average yearly percentage of increase in total wages of 6.19. The returns of 3,745 establishments of the same character as those investigated for 1885 to 1890 show a percentage of increase of 2.65 in total wages paid for 1891 over 1890.

Thus there is a falling off in 1891 from the normal percentage of increase of 3.54. This percentage expressed in dellars shows a loss of $4,469,025 in normal increase in wages. The actual increase was $3,335,945. If the normal increase

AND STILL THEY COME

The announcement during the past week that Judge Gresham, Judge Cooley and ex-Attorney General Wayne MacVeagh had declared for Cleveland caused us to overlook the fact that there is a constant stream of dissatisfied republicans of less rate, but of influence and character following their example. Among those who have forsaken the grand old party and are supporting Cleveland and Stevenson, is Hon. Jno. W. Grow, a prominent lawyer of New York city, and a brother of Hon. Galusha Grow of this state.

Jno. D. Watson, Esq., a bright young lawyer of Pittsburg, is on the stump for the democratic ticket. Hon. J. K. O'Conner, of Herkimer county, N. Y., and Hon. W. P. Fiero, also of New York, both leading republicans, are among the late converts. Both these gentlemen have served as members of the legislature and held other positions of trust in the republican party. The tariff question has produced the change of heart.

Hon. R. R. Odell, for many years a republican leader in Minnesota, has written a letter to the democratic state cammittee tendering his services, and will take the stump for Cleveland in the northwest.

Col. George B. Loud, of New York city, a member of the G. A. R. and a life long republican, announces his intention to vote for Cleveland, and gives his reasons for the faith that is in him in the World of Oct. 6. Hon. Wm. Green, district attorney of Fulton county, New York, writes to the World that he too has undergone a change of heart, and will do all in his power to secure the success of the democratic ticket. He is also a G. A. R. veteran and has been a leading republican in that state. He says "the republican party corrupt combination, between plutocrats and politicians to plunder the people." The election of Cleveland, he says, is the only remedy possible.

Last Saturday night the democrats of Pittsburg and surrounding country had a monster parade and mass meeting. Large clubs from all the large iron and steel works participated in the parade, many of which were composed almost entirely of former republicans. Clubs numbering several hundred came from places where it was impossible in former campaigns to effect even a democratic organization. The wage earners are rapidly finding out that the tariff is a fraud upon them, and that it benefits only the manufacturer, while it increases the already heavy burdens of the laborer.

Judge! Reed and Hon. Jno. Hanna, close friends of Judge Gresham, and prominent Indiana republicans, have followed their chief into the democratic camp. They are now engaged in organizing Indiana republicans against Harrison and Reid.

was General Henry W. Slocum. He commanded a corps in the Army of the Potomac and led one of the armies of the west to victory. No man has ever questioned his devotion to Democratic principles. With the Brooklyn Democracy today he stands at the side of Hugh McLaughlin, battling nobly for the Democratic cause. His example alone will inspire every Democratic veteran throughout New York.

Another Democratic hero in the parade was General William S. Rosecrans. He won his straps early in the war in the campaign in West Virginia. At Inka, Corinth, Stone River and on many another battlefield did he prove his devotion to the Union. Democracy means home rule, and William S. Rosecrans will never be found among those who advocate the force bill and the centralization of power.

And gallant General John M. Palmer was among the Democratic veterans. It is absurd to question his fealty to the Democratic ticket. He is an enthusiastic supporter of Cleveland and Stevenson. In days past he has struck many a sturdy blow for the cause of Democracy, and in days to come these blows will be repeated. It was John M. Palmer who carried Illinois for the Democracy two years ago, and John M. Palmer, I venture to say, with the aid of the Democratic veterans in Illinois, will carry that state for the Democracy this fall. He expresses the utmost confidence in Democratic success there.

There were two Democratic soldiers in Washington unable to participate in the parade. One was the heroic General Joseph J. Bartlett, of the Army of the Potomac, and the other that brilliant trooper, General William W. Averill. Both were on sick beds. General Bartlett was minister to Stockholm under President Grant. General John C. Black made him chief of division in the pension office. After the election of President Harrison he was turned out of his place because he was a Democrat. The blow was a cruel one. He had a paralytic stroke soon afterward and was left with very little resources. Today he is living upon a pension granted by the government. General Averill was more fortunate. In his old age congress placed him upon the retired list and he was saved from want. Both these generals are enthusiastic supporters of Cleveland and Stevenson.

General John C. Black is also among the Democratic veterans. Crippled and pale, he is a living witness to the lie that the Grand Army veterans are opposed to the national ticket.

Another Democratic veteran in line was General Samuel S. Yoder, of Ohio. He is now commander in chief of the Veterans' association. His voice has been repeatedly raised on behalf of the national ticket, and he expresses the utmost confidence in its success.

had been maintained it would have been $7,804,970.

The number of industries embracing these establishments is seventy-five. Of this number forty-one or 54.66 per cent. show a falling off in the normal increase of wages paid.

An examination of the tables presenting the average yearly earnings of employees in the same establishments for the same years show much the same results. The average percentage of increase of yearly earnings for the years 1885 to 1890 was 3.98, and for 1891 it was 0.91-a falling off of 3.07 per cent. This percentage expressed in dollars represents a falling off of the normal yearly increase of $113.50 from the yearly earnings of each of the employees in the establishments investigated.

Of the seventy-five industries included in the report, forty-nine, or 66.65 per cent., show a falling off in the average yearly earnings.

The Republican national committee is not using this Massachusetts report as a campaign document. They prefer instead to broadcast the country with Commissioner Peck's worthless campaign screed. Nevertheless the highest Republican authority can be quoted to prove the trustworthiness of the Massachusetts report-no less an authority than Candidate Whitelaw Reid's own paper. The New York Tribune says: "No other statistical board has ever enjoyed a higher reputation for absolute fidelity and impartiality than the Massachusetts board of labor statistics, and under Mr. Wadlin the Massachusetts reports have fully maintained the exceptionable character established for them by the Hon. Carroll D. Wright when at the head of that bureau." Why, then, have they deserted Mr. Wadlin for poor Mr. Peck?

The Case in a Nutshell.

It is probably true that if every business man in a city was required to pay a tax of one dollar annually, to be put in the pockets of some large manufacturer employing a considerable number of men, it might add something to the general prosperity of the city, provided the subsidized manufacturer should expend the contribution in advancing the wages of his workmen or in expanding his business, but the benefits realized would be so slight as well as precarious, and the scheme is so inherently improper, that the experiment would be unsatisfactory. Robbery is none the less objectionable even though the whole people receive an equal share of the booty. Every honest community should protest against such an iniquitous system; and the policy of "addition, division and silence," while it may be acceptable to Republicans in Pennsylvania, will not be adopted by honest men elsewhere.-Senator Hill at Buffalo.

department commander of the G. A. R. from 1889 to 1890, and a leading republican, has come out for Cleveland. In a letter to a friend he says among other things, "believing that the interests of the old soldiers are safe with the democratic party and Giover Cleveland, who has always been sincere, who has always kept his promises, who has never held out false hopes to any man or set, of men. I have come to the conclusion that we old soldiers can safely take sides in the present campaign on the issues of the day, and I shall therefore, like hundreds of the veterans, cast my vote for Cleveland and Stevenson."

On the Way to Paradise.

Let us hope that the people who habitually disregard their health will reach that desirable place, and avoid the locality which is less deplace, and avoid the locality which is less de-strable or an eternal residence on account of the heat and surroundings generally. But while we tarry in this vale of tears, why should we voluntarily endure the tortures of dyspepsia when a systematic use of Hostetter's Stomach Bitters will rid us of the atrocious malady which --miess physicians are very much at fault--tends to shorten the term of our ex-istence. Heartburn, billousness, constipation almost always accompany this complaint and are symptomatic of it. These are all extin-guished by the Bitters, which also conquers fompletely malaria rheumatism, nervousness end debility. Since the appearance of "la grip" ahas shown a singular mastery over this for-it dable complaint that has carried off so many mi our brightest and best.
