AND STILL THEY COME.

Judge Columbus B. Harrold, of Jeffersonville, Indiana, has announced his intention to support the democratic ticket, state and national. Judge Harrold has for years been a leading republican, and has been the party candidate for congress. He is one of the foremost lawyers of the state and his practice extends to most every section of Indiana. He says the tariff question was the lever that brought about the change.

Another recent convert to democracy is Prof. Alfred H. Leeds, of Stevens Institute at Hoboken. He says that he has always been a consistent republican but can no longer support the policy of that party, and will in the future act with the democratic party. He says he knows that many republicans like himself will support Cleveland and Stevenson.

Hon. Henry C. Astwood, ex-Congressman to San Domingo, and an active republican all his life, is stumping New York for Cleveland. He says that "Cleveland's administration was the best we ever had for the colored race," and that "the democrats will this year get a large proportion of the colored vote throughout the country."

For the last month the republican papers were regularly announcing the "drip" of the John J. O'Brien association, of New York, to Harrison and Reid, and claiming that it had heretofore been a democratic club. This association supported the national republican ticket both in 1884 and 1888, and never claimed to be a democratic organization. Last Saturday evening at the regular meeting they unanimously voted to support Cleveland and Stevenson and the whole democratic ticket. This declaration is significant and will add hundreds of votes to our ticket in New York.

Mr. Edward Holbrook, manager of the Garham Manufacturing Co., of New York city, has bolted the republican ticket. He says "I have been a republican, but I am done with that party I can support it no longer. The real effect of the McKinley bill is to kill business, and I cannot conscientiously support a party that holds to such a system of legislation." Mr. Holbrook is also a director in one of the principal banks of New York city. He says the business community has the greatest confidence in Mr. Cleveland and many republican business men will vote for him.

Moses M. Grants, a prominent Grand Army man, has also bolted the republican party and says he will vote for Cleveland because he has entire confidence in the patriotism and purposes of the democratic party and in Mr. Cleveland.

Bishop Jno. M. Brown, of the African M. E. church, has announced his intention to support Cleveland and Stevenson and has written an open letter addressed to his people advising them to vote the democratic ticket. His letter will be freely circulated among the colored people and will, no doubt, have a good effect for our ticket.

Mr. M. C. Church, of Parkersburg, W. Va., was selected as one of the vice-presidents of a republican meeting at that place on October 10th. He failed to make his appearance, but next morning he came out in a card announcing that he had severed all connections with the republican party. He says the McKinley bill is ruinous to the business of the country.

The Workingmen's Alliance, of the state of New York, have endorsed Cleveland and Stevenson for President and Vice-President, and as an organization will make a canvas of New York state for the democratic ticket.

Ex-Gov. Jacob D. Cox, of Ohio, has come out for Cleveland. He says he can no longer endorse the republican tariff policy. Gov. Cox served with distinction in the Army of the Potomac during the war and was soon afterwards elected Governor of Ohio on the republican ticket. He has always heretofore been a staunch republican but the McKinley bill was too much for him and he is now supporting Cleveland and tariff reform.

Carter H. Monroe, of Brownsville, Ind., a prominent republican and former editor of the leading republican paper of that city, has deserted the grand old party and is making speeches for the democratic ticket.

Don't get ill. Look out when you see an offer to sell clothing at "half price," "less than cost," "50 cents on the dollar" and all that sort of thing. In 999 cases out of 1000 it means shoddy. Clothing does not advertise for people to come in and buy at figures that make every sale a positive loss. This class of advertising simply means that a dealer has picked up a lot of "off goods" so poor so cheap, miserable and worthless that they can be sold at good profits for much less than any decent suit can be retailed at. You will not find a bargain in sales of this kind in a hundred years. When you want a genuine bargain come to us and get a genuine first-class suit at a genuine low price, which is a price that represents the solid worth and wear to you for every cent you put into it. Come to us for trustworthy clothing at trustworthy prices and your purchase will be a trustworthy bargain every time.

SAMUEL LEWIN, The Leading Clothier.

McKinley Prosperity.

According to President Harrison everything is prosperous under the McKinley tariff. Is it evidence of prosperity that 40,000 workmen during August were on a strike or locked out? Is it evidence of prosperity that in the iron and steel business, the most highly protected on the list, except the clothing of the people, there has been a reduction of wages of from 10 to 20 per cent? Is Home-stead an object lesson that high tariff is for labor and not for capital? Finally in The Bulletin of the Iron and Steel Association we find these admissions:

"We have never known a period in the history of the American iron trade when prices have been so generally low and unremunerative as during the past twelve months, and yet production has never been so great. The explanation of the continued low prices is that our producing capacity is still beyond our enormous consumptive wants."

Does not this enforce the necessity of looking beyond the home market to dispose of our surplus? Is it not an admission, coupled with conceded facts, that McKinleyism has forced down wages and brought about low and unremunerative prices, the lowest "in the history of the American iron trade"—Pittsburg Post.

Republican "Calamity Prophets." Republican editors who have criticized the Democrats as "croakers" and "calamity prophets" will be pained to see that their own leaders have become so deeply alarmed that they have taken up their tale of woe and are making the air blue with prophecies of ruin. Chairman Tom Carter gives out to his Republican organs an interview in which he shows that he is wrestling with fear and doubt; but he nevertheless hopes that "the common sense of the people will prevent turning the country over to a final ruin."

Chairman Carter's doleful forebodings are fortified with awful political weather predictions by Senator Aldrich and Secretary Charles Foster. These two prophets of evil assure the American people that if Cleveland is elected the United States senate and house will also be Democratic, and Foster says that "such a result would be an undisputed calamity to the American people."

Another cup of "calamity croakers" The Republican outlook for victory on Nov. 8 has made the prophets unusually blue. They should brace up. Their ruin does not mean the country's ruin.

Cleveland and the Young Men.

The New York Tribune enjoys the distinction of being perhaps the most blindly partisan Republican journal in the United States. Nevertheless it shows in the following words, from its leading editorial of Oct. 1, that it has a correct understanding of the causes of Grover Cleveland's popularity among the young men of this country:

The esteem in which Mr. Cleveland has heretofore been held by a great number of his fellow citizens has proceeded from the belief that he was a bold and uncompromising advocate of his own conscientious convictions; that he was possessed in fact by that courage of opinion which, just verging on willfulness and rashness, has often availed to captivate the popular mind and heart. To this estimate of his moral qualities Mr. Cleveland owes in great degree the admiration which he has inspired in many young and ingenious persons and most of the panegyrics to which the country has listened with conflicting emotions during the last eight years.

It is stated that last year alone the Carnegie company collected from the builders of America an extra tax by selling their products at extra prices, because of the tariff, of more than $1,000,000.—Wade's Fibre and Fabric.
