VICTORY IN THE AIR.

THE DEMOCRACY'S SKY IS AGLOW WITH PROMISE.

Cheering News All Along the Line—The Battle in the Pivotal States—New York, New Jersey, Connecticut and Indiana for Cleveland—The Fight South and West.

[Special Correspondence.] NEW YORK, Oct. 31.—There is cheering news from all along the line. Whatever apathy there may have been heretofore, there is none now. The smoke of the political battle covers all the pivotal states, and the roaring of artillery is heard in the west and the great northwest. Sheehan holds the center of the line here in New York. He is attacking, and not repelling assaults. The New York Democrats are full of fight and are confident of victory. Tammany Hall leads the van. Her orders are everything for the national ticket. Local issues must give way to the national issue. The orders will be obeyed. Never was there more thorough discipline in the party. Tammany is moving in a solid body, and will poll a larger vote for Cleveland and Stevenson than she has ever before polled in her history.

The reports from the interior of the state are extremely encouraging. Every effort has been made to secure a complete registration. Governor Hill's friends are toying the stratch manfully. Many Republicans have declared their intention to vote the Democratic electoral ticket. A strong effort has been made by the Republican state committee to create disaffection among the Irish Democrats. Patrick Egan, the Republican minister to Chili, with a score of Republican allies of the same stripe, is at the head of the movement. So far it has utterly failed. The majority of Mr. Blaine's Irish friends will not vote for Harrison. All efforts to drag them into line are futile. The Republicans claim dribbling gains from among them, but these are more than balanced by the disaffection in their own ranks.

New York is safely Democratic. The majority of nearly 50,000 last fall cannot be wiped out. The betting on Cleveland carrying the state is $1,000 to $700. Nothing is more sensitive than the pocket nerve, and the pocket nerve in this instance surely indicates the situation here. In Brooklyn the last Republican candidate for mayor is out open and aboveboard for Cleveland. His example has been followed by some prominent Republicans in nearly every town and city in the state.

From Connecticut the news is equally cheering; there is no lethargy in that state. The Democracy is awake and moving. Governor Waller, Robert J. Vance and other Democratic leaders are claiming fully 2,000 plurality for the Democratic national ticket. The same disaffection among the Republicans is found in Connecticut as in New York. Lynde Harrison, who has led the Republicans in many a campaign in that state, openly expresses his intention of voting for Mr. Cleveland. For years he was chairman of the Republican state committee. His disaffection began with the stealing of the state from the Democracy two years ago. Harrison insisted that the Democratic state officers, who clearly had a majority of the votes cast, should be inaugurated. His Republican brethren disagreed with him, and Morgan Bulkeley still holds over as governor.

While the Republicans, through their rotten borough representation in the legislature may again secure the state officers, they cannot carry their electoral ticket. Mr. Cleveland requires only a plurality to carry the state, while the Democratic candidate for state officers must have a majority, or the election goes to the legislature. Never were the Democrats of the state more confident. It is more certain for Cleveland now than it was four years ago.

The struggle in New Jersey is a bitter one. Some think the Republicans have been on a still hunt in that state, but no well informed man has any doubt about the electoral ticket. Cleveland will carry the state by a larger majority than ever. John Kean, Jr., the Republican candidate for governor, is a young man with plenty of money. He is spending it lavishly in his own canvass, and the Republicans are making an effort to carry the legislature. It will have the selection of a United States senator in the place of Rufus Blodgett. Kean may succeed in reducing the vote for the Democratic candidate for governor, but he cannot injure the electoral ticket. Senator McPherson, Governor Abbott, Edward F. McDonald and other Democratic chiefs are heading the column there and making a gallant fight. They predict that Grover Cleveland will carry the state by over 12,000 majority.

Indiana, as usual, has been the battleground of the campaign. All the reports from that state are encouraging. Harrison carried it by a small margin four years ago, and the Democrats in the state all agree that this margin was wiped out weeks ago. Bynum, Cooper, Shiveley and other prominent Democratic congressmen express the utmost confidence as to the result. All are on the qui vive for Republican colonization. It is understood that in the last two weeks of the campaign the Republicans will flood the state with money. "Soap," however, will hardly prove as effectual as it did in Arthur's time.

Walter Q. Gresham's letter in behalf of Cleveland is a tower of strength to the Democracy. Its effect is widespread. There is hardly a town in the state in which Gresham has not some followers. The votes of his friends alone, it is claimed, would turn the scale without adding other elements of Democratic strength. Indeed Indiana Democrats say that the Hoosier State is as certain for Cleveland as is New Jersey.

So much for the pivotal states. Despairing of carrying all of them, the Republicans have been casting their eyes south. They have claimed West Virginia, North Carolina and Alabama. Magee's work in Alabama, however, has turned out "Dead sea fruit." The combination with the Kolb party fails to work. The Republicans were to turn in and vote for the Weaver ticket, with the understanding that if necessary some of the Weaver electors would turn their votes over to Harrison. But a factional fight has broken out, and the combine is going to pieces. Governor Jones, General Oates, General Wheeler, Judge Cobb and other prominent Democrats all agree that the state is sure for Cleveland. The negroes will not be driven solidly into line by the Republicans, and there are other elements of disintegration which sap the strength of the combination.

Nor can the Harrison men gather any satisfaction from the reports from North Carolina and West Virginia. Much money has been spent in Elkins state, but William L. Wilson, John D. Alderson and Congressman Pendleton declare that the state is safe.

Chairman Simmons, of North Carolina, is equally certain of the result in the Old North State. The fight here is very bitter, but it is waged upon congressional and local officers and can hardly affect the electoral ticket.

Meantime the sky is aglow with promise in the northwest. The Democracy have more than a fighting chance in Iowa and Illinois. Its fires are burning brightly in Wisconsin, and there is a chance to secure a Democratic elector at large in Michigan, aside from six district electors.

Beyond these states there are dark clouds on the Republican horizon. Nevada is sure to go for Weaver. Bill Stewart says so, and he knows. The Democrats and Farmers' Alliance have united in Nebraska and South Dakota. They have developed such strength that these states are more likely to go for Weaver than for Harrison.

Cleveland thus has two chances to Harrison's one. The latter must carry a majority of the electoral votes to secure his re-election. Cleveland can become president without a majority of the electoral votes. If neither candidate gets a majority the election goes to the house, and once there Cleveland will be chosen president. PROSPERITY OF NEW YORK FARMERS.

Blaine's Speech at Ophir Farm Exploded by a Real Estate Man. In his recent speech at Ophir Farm James G. Blaine said: "We learn from the Democratic party that these western states are in a desperate condition. The amount of their farm mortgages rolls up into millions. You would suppose it fabulous that the amount of money they embrace could ever have been so invested. This is not so among the farmers in New York. It is not so among the farmers in New Jersey. It is not so among the farmers of Pennsylvania. It is not so among the farmers of any state near by whose condition can be easily learned. But by a singular fatality it is the western states that have got all these farm mortgages burdening them and taking the life out of the people."

Mr. J. L. Douglass, a large real estate and insurance agent of New York city, who has recently been traveling in central New York and in the Hudson river valley, comes forward with the following answer to Mr. Blaine's statements: "I challenge Mr. Blaine and the Republican hosts and say that I have for sale one farm of 135 acres with good buildings thereon at $2,000 at Claydon, Columbia county, N. Y.; another farm of 108 acres at Copake, Columbia county, N. Y., at $2,000; another farm of 185 acres at Taughannock, N. Y., $4,000; another farm of 185 acres at Stuyvesant, N. Y., $6,000. In each case the buildings alone cost about the amount now asked for the farm, and no purchasers at that.

"At Hudson, N. Y., the state, city and county assessors met in September, took testimony of large capitalists and others upon taxation, and the evidence showed a depreciation on all farms of 25 per cent. in fifteen years. In Columbia county two farms were lately sold at a dollar an acre, with improvements. At Rhinebeck, Dutchess county, N. Y., the depreciation of farm property in fifteen years equals 50 per cent., and no buyers, according to the statements of prominent bankers there.

"If Dr. Depew wants to buy a few farms and country seats in his boasted Westchester county and Peekskill, as well as in other counties near New York and Connecticut, I will gladly sell them at a discount of about 50 per cent. from cost."

What Protection Costs.

The tariff on tin plates now causes the price here to exceed by at least $18,000,000 a year the price abroad. Our woolen goods cost us at least $100,000,000 a year more than the same things cost in Europe. So with our glass, our earthenware and many other indispensable things. Altogether our protected articles cost us annually not less than $700,000,000 in excess of what unprotected foreigners pay for the same quantity of similar things. Of this sum only $300,000,000 go to our government; the remaining $500,000,000 go into the pockets of individuals. But the whole amount is a tax upon the people. The smaller sum is a tax for public purposes; the larger sum is a tax for private profit.—Thomas G. Shearman.

Republican Ex-Cabinet Officers for Cleveland.

Five Republican ex-cabinet officers are supporting Mr. Cleveland. They are Judge J. D. Cox, of Ohio, secretary of the interior under Grant; Hugh McCulloch, secretary of the treasury under Lincoln; Walter Q. Gresham, postmaster general and secretary of the treasury under Arthur; Wayne MacVeagh, attorney general under Garfield and Arthur, and Carl Schurz, secretary of the interior under Hayes. There are only a few of them left.

Senator Hill on the Ticket.

From his speech in Tammany Hall, Oct. 25. What shall I say for the Democratic candidates—Cleveland and Stevenson? They both answer the Jeffersonian standard of fitness; both have been satisfactorily tested in the public service, and both represent the cherished principles of our party in this campaign, and are entitled to your suffrages. Ex-President Cleveland needs no eulogy at my hands. His life and public services are familiar to the people. His admiration—dignified, honest and able—has safely withstood the popular criticism, has passed into history and reflected credit upon the country. His re-election will not only be a personal triumph, but it will also be the vindication of our principles and the triumph of the Democratic party.

Frick, of the Carnegie's famous Homestead steel works, was recently called to New York city to consult with Quay, Wannamaker and other political boodlers. It is claimed that he subscribed $250,000 for campaign purposes before he left. He is paying the republican party for past favors.

When farm implements, that are manufactured in this country, can be shipped to a foreign country and sold for one third less than here, it is an indication that the home manufacturers are exacting unfair prices from our people. The McKinley tariff prevents the foreign products from coming in and the home manufacturers then reap a fortune.
