CHURCH AND STATE.

Their Relations Clearly Defined by Cardinal Gibbons.

THERE SHOULD BE NO ALLIANCE.

While the Church is the Bulwark of the Nation, Governmental Patronage Would Tend to Diminish its Usefulness—The Pulpit Must Not be Muzzled.

PHILADELPHIA, Feb. 7.—The Catholic hierarchy of the United States was represented at the annual dinner of the Catholic club last evening by its most distinguished prelates. There was present as the guests of the club Cardinal Gibbons, Archbishop Corrigan, Archbishop Ryan, Bishop Keane, rector of the Catholic university at Washington, and William F. Harry, chairman of the Democratic national committee.

The dinner was held in the art gallery of the Art club, and about 200 gentlemen, prominent in the business and social life of the city, were present.

Colonel John I. Rogers, president of the club, presided. Behind the distinguished guests was hung a large piece of tapestry embroidered with the arms of the Papal See, surmounted by the national colors, and the sides of the room were hung with the yellow and white colors of the Papal state, and the colors of the United States. After a few brief remarks Colonel Rogers gave the first toast of the evening, "Church and State," and Cardinal Gibbons arose to respond. He was greeted with applause and was frequently compelled to stop during his speech by the plaudits of his auditors. His eminence said in part:

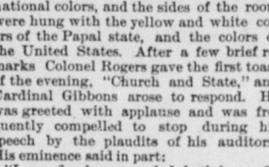

"I am firmly persuaded, both by study and observation, that the church is more sturdy in her growth and more prosperous in her career when she is free to pursue her divine mission without any interference on the part of the state. Here, thank God, the church is free, and therefore she is prosperous. Here the church and the state run in parallel lines, each assisting the other, and neither of them unreasonably intruding on the domain of the other. Here the constitution holds over the church the protecting arm, without interfering in ecclesiastical affairs.

"We have no state religion or official church in the United States. But it will be a great mistake to draw an inference from this fact that therefore our government is anti-Christian or anti-religious. I venture to say, on the contrary, that there is no commonwealth under the sun more permeated by Christian and religious principles than the government of the United States. Here the Christian Sabbath is observed as a day of rest as well as in any country of the civilized world. On that day the courts of justice are closed and give place to the courts of our Lord, which are opened in every town and hamlet in the land. The members of our national and state legislatures open their daily proceedings by invoking the Father of Light on their deliberations. We celebrate our annual Thanksgiving Day, in which we pour out our gratitude to the giver of every good gift for the temporal blessings vouchsafed to us as a nation.

"But if the state protects the church the church is the strongest bulwark and safeguard of the commonwealth in the exercise of her earthly mission. It will be the delight as well as the duty of the ministers of Christ in the future, as it has been in the past, to uphold our civil and political institutions. It will be our delight to proclaim the moral law, which is the basis of all good government, and to foster domestic peace and public tranquility and social order throughout the land.

"For my part I believe the relation between church and state are as close and cordial as we should desire. All we ask is a fair field and no special favor. I do not wish to see the day when the state will be called on to build our churches and subsidize our clergy, or as soon as the government commenced to support our church it would dictate to us what doctrines we ought to preach and ought not to preach. And in proportion as state patronage would increase the devotion and patronage of the faithful would wax cold. If it is a great wrong to muzzle the press it would be a greater wrong to muzzle the pulpit."

Archbishop Ryan responded to the toast, "The Hierarchy," and he ably sustained his reputation as the most eloquent and polished orator of the Catholic church in this country. Bishop Keane spoke to the toast, "Higher Education." The bishop's speech was an eloquent plea for the mental advancement of men. Archbishop Corrigan spoke a few words of thanks in reply to the proposal of his health. Ex-Adjutant General D. H. Hastings was the last speaker of the evening, replying to the toast, "Pennsylvania."

Clifford Not Guilty.

PITTSBURGH, Feb. 8.—At 7:30 last evening the jury in the Clifford murder case filed into the court room. They were polled by Clerk Black, and then, with the usual formality, the verdict was received. "Not guilty," said the foreman, and a relieved sigh was uttered by Clifford. Clifford was removed to jail on the other charges pending against him. He still has indictments for murder, treason and riotous answer for.

The Hawaiian Appeal.

WASHINGTON, Feb. 8.—The two conferences between the Hawaiian commissioners and Secretary Foster on Saturday were most friendly and cordial. The commissioners are extremely reticent. They will only say they have been cordially repelled by the representative of the United States government, and this beginning argued a satisfactory completion of their mission.

Another Earthquake at Zante.

ATHENS, Feb. 8.—Another violent earthquake was felt at Zante yesterday. The king and queen are visiting all villages to learn the wants of those who have been driven from home and to calm the panic-stricken. The weather on the island is intensely cold, and great suffering prevails among the unsheltered fugitives from the city of Zante.

The rapid transit bill was recommitted to the committee on passenger railways, who will give a hearing on Tuesday next. A resolution was adopted reciting the destruction of forests in this state to such an extent that there exist grave fears of game becoming extinct on account of the destruction of their haunts, and providing for the appointment of a joint legislative committee to examine into the feasibility of having a large section of our forests secured by the state for the purpose of establishing a natural state park.

HARRISBURG, Feb. 7.—Senator Neeh, of Allegheny, introduced a bill last night which provides for the creation of a board of inspectors for the supervision and regulation of natural and artificial gas, electric light, heat and power companies, fixing the maximum charge for the same to the consumers, and the testing of the meters used to measure the supply. The bill now goes to the senate. Both houses held special sessions last evening to listen to eulogies of the late James G. Blaine.

A GREAT SEED ESTABLISHMENT.

$1.50 FOR EARLY TOMATOES.

We are in receipt of a Seed Catalogue for 1903, published by F. B. Mills, Seedman, Rose Hill, N. Y. Mr. Mills has a very novel idea in getting up his catalogue. It is very plain, and his idea is to give his customers a very large amount for their money.

With every order amounting to $1.00 or more he allows the customer to select 50 cent worth in packets free, their own choice, thus you see everyone gets $1.50 for their $1.00.

Among the new premiums offered for cabbage, onions, potatoes and pansies, we might mention the early tomatoes. $500 is offered to any person growing a ripe one in 75 days or less from day seed is sown, and 400 to person growing a ripe tomato in least number of days from day seed is sown, $125 for next and $75 for next.

He offers one of the finest lines of vegetable and flower seeds that can be found, and prices are very reasonable.

He offers $1.50 to club raisers for largest club order and largest number of customers secured by any one person.

Last year he paid Mrs. T. B. Young, Rock City, Ill., $50 for largest order. His catalogue is very interesting and no one who plants seeds can afford to be without it. It gives a birdseye view of his establishment together with interior views of his seed houses, showing how the work is carried on, and photographs of persons who have won prizes.

His seeds are becoming known everywhere for their excellent quality and Mr. Mills guarantees to please all his customers. After looking this catalogue all through we would advise our readers to write to him at once, for it is free to anyone applying, and try some of his seeds this spring.
