SWEPT TO THEIR DEATH.

An Ocean Disaster Resulting in the Loss of Twelve Lives.

THE CAPTAIN AMONG THE VIOTIMS.

The Steamship Pomerarian Overwhelmed by Mightly Waves and Several Passengers Washed Overboard, While the Commander Receives Fatal Injuries. LONDON, Feb. 13.-The Allan line steamship Pomeranian, from Glasgow, Jan. 27, via Moville for New York, has returned to Greenock in distress, after having met with one of the worst accidents that has occurred to a trans-Atlantic steamer for many years, resulting in the loss of twelve lives

The Pomeranian encountered boisterous weather immediately after leaving port. The 4th of February dawned with a fearful gale raging, and a tremendously high sea running. The vessel was then about 1,500 miles out. The hatches were battened down and covered with tarpaulins, ventilators were turned to leeward, and every precaution taken to prevent water getting

Suddenly a tremendous sea raised its crest a short distance ahead of the steamer as she plunged down a wave. Before she could rise the sea came over the starboard bow and tons of water rushed aft. Almost at the same time a falling wave astern pooped the ship. The result almost baffles description. The deck saloon, chart house, the bridge and boats were smashed to pieces and partly washed overboard. The deck was covered with an almost inextricable mass of wreckage and the utmost confusion reigned.

At first the full extent of the disaster was not known. The steamer began to pay off before the wind and sea, and it was at once seen that the quartermasters had been carried oway Two sailors sprang to the wheel and soon put the steamer on her

Then it was found that Captain Dalziel the master of the steamer, was missing. He had been last seen standing on the lee side of the steamer, aft the saloon in conversation with a saloon passenger named John Stewart, of Glasgow.

They had both been caught by the sea that came over the stern and dashed against the deck house. They were then carried with terrific force and jammed be neath the after steam winches. Captain Dalziel's legs were broken and he sustained internal injuries. He was removed to his room and, everything possible was done for him, but he died the next morning. Mr. Stewart's legs were also broken and he sustained other injuries from the effects of which he died in a few hours.

At the time of the accident, the second officer, John Cook, had the watch. He was on the bridge with John Hamilton, the fourth officer, and both of them were carried overboard and drowned.

In the saloon deck house when the sea broke over the steamer were James Gibson and Lilian Gibson, of Dalkeith, and James Caffrey, of Londonderry, all first cabin passengers. They were carried over the side and not afterward seen. David Forbes, of Dundee, a second cabin passenger, and James Pritchard and Fred Westbury, stewards, were also lost in the same man-

When the chart room was carried away the charts, sextants and quadrants, in fact everything absolutely essential to the navigation of the ship, went with it. The binnaele box and its compass on the bridge had also gone overboard, and had it not been that the after compass remained it is doubtful if the steamer would have reached port for many days yet.

were Peter McLean and William Urquhart.

THE HUORA'S EXPERIENCE. Buffeted by Mighty Billows for Three Days-A Singular Incident. NEW YORE Feb. 17,-The voyage of the British steamer Huora, Captain Tait, from Leith Jan. 21 and Dundee 26th, which arrived at this port yesterday, was one of thrilling experience. On Feb. 1 the vessel was fourteen hours in a hurricane from the northwest. The sea was prodigious, sweeping over and engulfing the vessel and washing overboard William Atchison, a seaman, aged 24 years, and severely injuring another of the crew.

On Feb. 4 the vessel encountered another hurricane from the west, during which she became unmanageable and could not be made to respond to her helm. For hours she lay perfectly helpless in the trough of the sea and nearly on her beam ends, the sea sweeping over her, washing away her cattle stalls and everything movable about the decks, and injuring her steering gear.

The vessel remained in this help ess condition from 6 a. m. to 4 p. m. She was almost continually on her beam ends, and the top of the cattle sheds was in the water During this eventful period John Dakers experienced a trip that will long prove a vivid recollection to his mind. A huge wave washed him unceremoniously overboard, and, wonderful to relate, back again, sate and sound, aboard the vessel n less time than it takes to relate it, without more serious inconvenience than a severe drenching and a few bruises.

On Feb. 5 the gale continued, and the steering gear was disabled. Heavy seas swept the deck, flooded the cabin and aused great damage to the cargo. Finally the vessel managed to reach port with a hand steering gear.

A Filibustering Scheme. NEW YORK, Feb. 15.-The Morning Advertiser says: "An expedition is now being fitted out at Key West, Fla., by Cubans and Americans to proceed to Honduras for the purpose, primarily, of conquest, and incidentally for plunder. Several hundred fighting men, armed with repeating rifles and ammunition, are ready to embark on the expedition. It is said that a small steamer had been chartered at a northern port, and is even now en route to Key West. The hold is well ballasted with cannon, gatlings and field artillery."

Trenton's Great Ice Gorge. TRENTON, Feb. 15 .- Two attempts to break the great ice gorge by the use of dynamite were made at Periwig bar yesterday. Only a small quantity of ice was detached, however, and today further ef-forts with dynamite are being made. The blockade now extends from Periwig to the Philadelphia and Reading railroad bridge, a distance of about five miles. The situation of the factories and dwellings in the lower part of the city is unchanged.

Fugitive Embezzler Captured. PHILADELPHIA, Feb. 15 .- A dispatch from New York announces the arrest there of D. Lancaster Drew, the cashier of the Central Savings Fund and Trust company of this city, who absconded a couple of weeks ago with $12,000 of the institution's

Among other bills introduced were: Repealing that portion of the liquor license act of 1887 which provides that any person convicted of more than one offense shall not again be licensed; regulating all public highways outside of cities and boroughs; preventing any political candidates or organizations from paying naturalization expenses; the act for the protection of fish and game prepared by the Game Association of Pennsylvania.

HARRISBURG, Feb. 10.—In the senate yesterday a bill was introduced to divide the state into thirty congressional districts, changing the district lines. Lancaster and Luzerne are to constitute separate districts. The bill to abolish the Philadelphia building commission passed first reading. In the house bills were favorably reported: Regulating fraternal and beneficial orders; to prohibit the exhibition of physical deformities was also reported favorably. The bill regulating the employment of railroad telegraph operators was reported unfavorably. Bills introduced: For the protection of fish (all fish may be angled for at all seasons of the year excepting trout, which may be caught from April 1 to Aug. 1); for the protection and propagation of game; appropriating $93,500 for the Pennsylvania Institution for the Instruction of the Blind.

Bills introduced: To prevent the introduction and spreading of obnoxious weeds by requiring their destruction under penalty; to establish a state quarantine board at Philadelphia. Adjourned until Monday evening.

HARRISBURG, Feb. 14.-The most important bill of the session was introduced in the house by ex-Auditor General Miles. It provides a revenue for local purposes by the taxation of real estate and personal property, and by diverting from the state treasury to the several county treasuries revenue derived from the taxation of bank stock, money at interest, writs, wills, deeds, appeals from justices of the peace, emoluments of county offices, licences for the sale of malt, spirituous and vinous liquors, and for the repeal of all taxes on county and municipal loans, and to tax transportation and transmission companies for state purposes at the rate of 2 mills on the dollar. The Fow rapid transit bill was recommitted to the committee. Ex-Speaker Boyer introduced a bill to tax inheritances, other than collateral, to be applied to the creation and maintainance of a state charity fund. An effort to place on the calendar the bill making seven months the minimum school term failed last night after a lively debate in the house. Representative Develin introduced a bill to remove the Eastern penitentiary, and appropriating $500,-000 for a new one of larger capacity.

HARRISBURG, Feb. 15 .- In the senate yesterday a large number of remonstrances from churches in every part of the state against the repeal of any part of the Sun-day laws were presented. Bills introduced: To punish milk dealers or their employes for the sale of adulterated milk; to abolish days of grace on bills of exchange, drafts, promissory notes and other negotiable instruments; to remove the power of granting licenses from judges and place it in the hands of a commission of six, equally divided politically, to be appointed by the governor. Mr. Penrose's bill to abolish the Philadelphia public buildings commission was called up and read for the second time. Among bills introduced in the house were: To provide for the incorporation, government and regulation of rapid transit passenger railway companies to be operated by power other than steam; to give street railway companies the right to haul light freight; to punish any person who wilfully or maliciously cuts or tears down any flag or banner; repealing so much of the milk law as declares any milk obtained from animals fed on distillery waste impure and unwholesome; providing for the teaching of vocal music in the public schools; providing for a board of railroad commissioners, to be appointed by the governor, who shall have access to the books of all railroad companies. An Enemy Baffled.

There is an enemy with whom thousands are familiar all their lives, because they are born with a tendency to; biliousness. With this with a tendency to billousness. With this enemy they are constantly battling with ineffectual weapons. Hostetter's Stomach Bitters will baffie it. Mere purgatives will not reform a disordered condition of the liver indicated, not by constipation alone, but also by sick headaches, yellowness of the skin and eye balls, nausea, furred tongue and uneasiness, more particular upon pressure on the right side upon and below the short ribs. Avoid drastic purgatives which gripe and weaken the intestines, and substitute this world famous antibillious cordial, which likewise removes malarial, stomachic and kidney complaints, rheumatism and nervousness. As a laxative of the bowels, painless but effectual, it improves appetite, sleep and the ability to digest, and possesses the additional advantage of a standard tonic.

Town Topics, that brilliant, spicy, though ometimes slightly naughty, society journal, published in New York, makes the following nouncement:

"With the first issue in March Town Topics will be permanently enlarged to thirty-two pages. Although it is generally conceeded that already this journal had become the most complete, varied and entertaining to men and women of culture of any weekly ever published yet the publisher, grateful for the extraordinary favor with which the higher class of readers, not alone in America, but wherever English is read, has received Town Topics, will be content only with renewed and greater efforts to produce a journal unapproached in breadly of scope and excellence of literature. Arrangements are now completed with Twenty-Five of the most distinguished writers of fiction to contribute short stories and serials to its columns. Among them are such world famed authors as Amely Rives, Mary J. Hawker ('Lance Falconer') F. Marion Crawford, Edgar Fawcett, Julian Hawthorn, Ambrose Bierce, Hamlin Garland, Paul Lindau, Catulie Mendes Francois Coppee, Anatole France, etc., etc., "Hereafter each number of Town Topics will contain a short story, and a chapter or two of a serial by one or the other of these entertaining literateurs. There will be no curtailment of the varied and interesting matter that has heretofore gained for the journal unique and exalted position it now holds in current litera-ure."

There is no weekly journal published which overs so wide a field of matters interesting to cople of intelligence and culture as does Town Topics. This new departure, giving to its readers the further benefit of the very higbest order of fiction, will prove another element of popularity. For the amount of reading matter that it gives weekly, it is the cheapest publication ($4 per year) in the world.
