NO SPEAKING ON THE JOURNEY.

No Formal Reception on His Arrival. The Coming President of the Senate to be Banqueted Tonight by His Predecessor in Office

WASHINGTON, March 1 .- Vice Presidentelect Stevenson and party reached the national capital at 6:05 last evening, the journey from their Blooming on home having occupied thirty-four have to the minute. After leaving Cumberis d the special train made no stops until Mastinsburg was reached. Here the largest crowd of the trip had gathered. It blocked up the platform and the parapet above, while the verandas and windows of the hotel were black with people. As the train came to a standstill the Martinsburg band played "America." A slight rain was falling, and so the general contented himself with bowing his thanks for the reception from the rear platform of the car instead of going through the usual hand shaking

There were loud and repeated calls for a speech, but General Stevenson stuck to his determination to make no addresses on the trip. His failure to respond put the throng in a trifle of a bad humor, but the band struck up a lively air and drowned the voiciferous demands for just a few words. Meanwhile some of the members of the escorting club had been decorating the locomotive that was to take the train into Washington.

No stops were made between Martins-burg and Washington, but at Shenandoah and Harper's Ferry there were small crowds that gave a cheer as the train rushed by.

The train was due here at 4.10 o'clock, and at that hour two or three hundred people were assembled in about the Balti more and Ohio depot to welcome the vice president-elect to Washington. In the two hours that elapsed before the train reached its destination the crowd had doubled, and when Mr. Stevenson appeared on New Jersey avenue, leaning on the arm of Colonel J. G. Berret, chairman of the general inauguration committee, a loud cheer for Stevenson went up. Mrs. Stevenson, escorted by Mr. James L. Norris, chairman of the executive committee, followed, and the whole party entered carriages and were driven to the Ebbitt House.

Among the crowd gathered at the station were quite a number of ladies, all of whom exhibited the liveliest curiosity to see the new official. Representatives of Illinois were on hand to greet Mr. Steven-son. There was no official demonstration at the station.

The Illirois club, of Bloomington, including ladies to the number of about 100, who came as escort to the vice presidentelect, will occupy the cars in which they made the journey during their stay in Washington.

Mr. Stevenson and party retired to their apartments immediately on their arrival at the Ebbitt House. The corridors were filled with people waiting to shake hands with the distinguished Illinoisan, but matters of a social nature were deferred until the party had somewhat refreshed themselves after their long jonrney. Later the general informally received a number of senators, representatives and prominent men, who called to pay their respects and personally extend congratulations.

Besides the vice president-elect and his wife, three daughters and son, the party is composed of Mrs. Stevenson's sister, Mrs. Scott, of Lexington, Ky., and two daughters; George Easton and wife, of Louisville; J. F. Ford and wife, B. B. Cooper and wife, and James S. Ewing and wife, of Bloomington, Ills.; Miss Blanche Burnett, of St. Louis; Robert E. Williams, Mr. Stevenson's law perceptor, and Con-gressman-elect Funk, of Illinois; John and William W. Stevenson, brothers of the vice president-elect, with their wives, guests of friends in the city.

Tonight Vice President Morton will give a formal reception to his successor, and tomorrow night the Democratic members of the Illinois congressional delegation will give a reception to the 110 members of the Illinois Democratic club who served as an escort to the vice president-elect.

Pope Leo and the English Pilgrims. ROME, Feb. 28.—The pope bade a courteous farewell yesterday to the pilgrims from England. His holiness said that he hoped soon to see England once more a Catholic country. HOMES SUBMERGED.

A Hungarian Town Overwhelmed by Rising Waters.

VIENNA, March 1 .- A terrible calamity has overtaken the village of Gergely, near the town of Paks, in Hungary, situated on the river Danube, about sixty miles south of Buda. At this point in its course the river flows through a stretch of low land, and is lined on both sides by extensive marshes

Owing to the sudden rise of the Danube the 1,600 inhabitants of Gergely found the mud huts in which they lived submerged by waste waters. The frail dwellings gradually yielded before the furious current, which was continually rising. The people took refuge in the church and school, which were constructed of stronger materials, hoping that these buildings would be able to hold out against the flood. The people, led by their pastor, offered up earnest prayers for safety, and mothers and children clung to the altar, beseeching the intercession of the saints. They saw their homes disappearing in the raging streams, and the swelling waters be gan to beat against the church and school building with such fury that at last they decided that to remain would mean the destruction of all of them, while if they fled some at least might escape.

Opening the doors, they started out into the flood, which surged nearly to the waists of the grown up people. Fathers and mothers carried their children and the sick and feeble were helped along by those who were stronger. They fled as fast as possible in the direction of Paks, the swift and boiling current pursuing them, as it were, in their flight. One mother with five children, sank in the waters and perished. Many others, the number of whom is as yet unknown, were drowned in the flood, and the survivors reached Paks in a most deplorable condition.

Five Brave Life Savers Drowned. NEW BEDFORD, Mass., Feb. 27.—The brig Sagua, which had struck on the Sow and Pigs, was observed from the lighthouse at Cuttyhunk, one of the Elizabeth islands, separating Buzzard's bay from Vineyard sound, and a boat of the Massa chusetts Humane society, with a volunteer crew of six, soon put off. They reached the vessel and a rope had just been thrown from it when the boat capsized, and five of the life savers were drowned. They were Captain Timothy Aiken, Jr., Isaiah H. Tilton, Hiram Jackson, W. A. Brightman and Frank Akin. Three of the men leave wives and twelve children. The crew of the brig escaped. McKinley Gratefully Declines Aid. COLUMBUS, March 1.—Governor McKinley, in a letter to the Cleveland Leader, says: "I cannot express the depth of my gratitude to the people who have sent money to The Leader for my use, but grateful as I am and always will be for their noble generosity, I connot accept their contributions. Nothing has touched me more in my misfortune than the letters of sympathy and offers of help received from those of my countrymen who have little but what they earn. Please convey to such friends my heart's best
