THE CABINET INDUCTED

The Oath of Office Administered in the Diplomatic Room.

JUSTICE FIELD OFFICIATED.

The Members, With the Exception of Secretary Gresham, Who Had Previously Taken the Oath, Were Sworn In in a Body.

WASHINGTON, March 8.—The induction into office of the members of President Cleveland's cabinet—save Secretary Gresham, who was sworn in Monday—was a historic event at the state department. For the first time in the history of the government the heads of the departments assembled in the diplomatic parlor and together took the oath of office.

On the occasion of Mr. Cleveland's first inauguration all the cabinet officers assembled at the Arlington hotel, and, accompanied by Associate Justice Field, the only Democratic justice then on the supreme bench, drove to each executive department in turn, beginning with the state department. In the secretary's office Justice Field administered the oath of office to Secretary Bayard in the presence of all the new cabinet officers and the outgoing secretary, and then, leaving the newly made secretary in charge, proceeded with the others in order to the various departments, administering the oath to each in turn in the presence of his predecessor.

Justice Field officiated. This also was a proceeding out of the usual order that had obtained on the change of previous administrations and upset the calculations of some of the old clerks and notaries public in the departments, who had had the honor of swearing in former heads of departments. Especially was this the case with venerable "Judge" Lawrence of the postoffice department, who had up to that time as the department notary administered the oath of office to every postmaster general for half a century. His disappointment was somewhat assuaged by being permitted to hold on one end of the book while Mr. Vilas took the oath.

There was quite a concourse in the corridors of the state department to witness the new ceremonies. Justice Field, who in the necessary absence of Chief Justice Fuller had been selected to administer the oaths, came into the room of the secretary of state leaning on the arm of Attorney General Olney and accompanied by Private Secretary Thurber, Representative Charles O'Neil, the "Father of the House," and B. R. Smalley, Democratic national committee man from Vermont. The party at once repaired to the diplomatic parlor.

There were present to witness the ceremony about 50 spectators. They included besides those already mentioned Mr. and Mrs. Perrine, Mrs. Lamont, her guest, Miss Sanders of New York; Mr. and Mrs. Roosevelt, Representative Tracy and wife of Albany; Logan Carlisle, son of the secretary of agriculture; Mr. George F. Parker of New York and John T. Glenn, Secretary Hoke Smith's law partner.

The Oath Administered.

There were also present Mr. R. W. Gilder, Representatives Bynum and Martin of Indiana; Mr. Sulloway, Democratic national committee man from New Hampshire; West Point Colonel Volkmeyer, Representative Maddox, Cabanis and Tate of Georgia; Senators Teller and Wolcott of Colorado, General E. S. Bragg of Wisconsin, several newspaper men and attaches of departments.

The new cabinet officers grouped themselves about the table at the east end of the parlor, Justice Field and Secretary Gresham at the head. The venerable jurist then, calling the secretaries to his left hand, in turn administered the statutory oath, which he read without glasses, to Messrs. Carlisle, Lamont, Smith, Herbert, Olney, Bissell and Morton, and each signed. The Bible used was a new one procured for the occasion.

The ceremony being ended a few minutes were spent in exchanging salutations and making introductions of the strangers to one another, and then the new secretaries departed for their several departments to enter upon the discharge of their duties.

Secretary Carlisle, when he assumed charge of the treasury department, had on hand $1,250,000 of free gold and a net balance of $25,500,000, of which $11,500,000 is in national bank deposits, $11,000,000 in subsidiary coin and $500,000 in minor coins.

Cleveland's Stream of Callers.

WASHINGTON, March 8.—The steady tramp, tramp of the office seeker sounded through the White House all day. There was practically no cessation in the line of people who ascended the stairway leading to the president's room, and nearly all who came saw Mr. Cleveland. They found him in a jovial humor, and he cracked jokes with old acquaintances whom he had not seen since his departure from Washington four years ago.

While a large number of those who saw the president are candidates for office, few of them attempted to press their claims, and congressmen with long lists of constituents who are willing to work for Uncle Sam were discreet enough not to ask for favors, but simply pay their respects.

Mr. Cleveland was so busy receiving callers in his office that he did not go down stairs to see the hundreds of people who were waiting for him in the east room. The room became so crowded and the crowd outside awaiting admittance was so great that the east room was cleared and a line formed so that people might pass in and out and thus have an opportunity of seeing the apartment. Fully 5,000 people went through the White House in this dispassionate manner.

FATAL FIRE IN DANVILLE.

Two Killed and Four Injured by the Fall of a Wall.

DANVILLE, Va., March 8.—Danville was visited by a destructive fire yesterday. The National hotel building was discovered to be on fire, and in a few moments flames burst from the roof. Alarms were sent in and quickly responded to. The whole building was in a mass of flames when the departments arrived. The building was a four story structure, and in the heart of the business part of the city.

After the fire had been under control and with a force of men were at work removing goods from Sumnerfield's shoe store the front walls that adjoined the store came down with a great crash. Several men were in the building and hundreds of people rushed to the scene. An alarm was sent in and the firemen responded and began the rescue of those who had been caught in the wreck. Sam Best, a white lad, was the first found and picked up for dead, but was found to have sustained but a painful cut on the head and fracture of the left leg. He will recover.

Captain Brazor Will Bring Charges That May Expel the Militiaman.

PHILADELPHIA, March 8.—The visit to Washington to take part in the inaugural parade of Lieutenant Colonel Streator, of the Tenth regiment, is likely to lead him into as much trouble as he got into from stringing Private Jans up by the thumbs during the trouble at Homestead last summer. Colonel Streator's regiment and the battalion of the State Fencibles of this city, were quartered in the same room on the postoffice building. Early Saturday morning some trouble arose between the men of the two regiments and a fight was imminent. Colonel Streator and Captain Brazor, of the Fencibles, came upon the scene, and it is alleged by the latter that Colonel Streator struck him. Captain Brazor says that Colonel Streator was drunk at the time, and he proposes to bring charges against him within the next ten days to the military authorities of the state. What his specific charge will be Captain Brazor refused to say, but he stated that his penalty is summary dismissal from the guard, with loss of franchise.

He intended to transfer it to a syndicate and thereby clear over $50,000. He had taken from the treasury of the asylum the sum of $120,000. He is unable to say what became of the money.

He looked around and found leaning upon and over him a huge bearded man in a broad rimmed hat, and with two revolvers sticking in his belt.

"Well, old boss, what'll ye have?" said the man in a friendly voice.

"Who are you?" said Forney.

Nature's Surest Ally.

If nature not struggle against disease, even in weakly constitutions, swift indeed would be the course of a malady to its fatal termination. While nature thus struggles let us, lest worse befall us, aid our efforts with judicious medicinal help. Experience must be our guide in battles with disease, and that "lamp to our feet" indicates Hostetter's stomach Bitters as the blood is infected with bile, if the bowels and stomach are inactive, if the kidneys fail to expel impurities of which they are the natural outlet, a course of the Bitters is the surest reliance of the sufferer, one, moreover, that is sanctioned by professional indorsement and proof for nearly half a century. No American or foreign remedy has earned greater distinction as a remedy for and preventive of chronic liver complaint, malaria, constipation, kidney and rheumatic trouble and debility.

How to Boil an Egg.

"Isn't it strange," said a short foreign looking man the other day at one of the restaurants, "that not one cook in fifty, nor housekeeper either, know how to boil an egg? They will tell you to drop it in boiling water and let it remain three minutes, and to be sure the water is boiling. An egg so prepared is indigestible for a well person, let alone one who is sick to eat. To boil an egg properly put it in a vessel, cover it with cold water, place it over the fire and the second the water begins to boil your egg is done. The white is as delicate as jelly and as nutritious as it should be." The speaker has occupied the place of chief at several of the largest hotels of the country and is now proprietor of a restaurant in Denver.

Miserable and Dull

Dyspepsia, the Blues, Headache, Pain in the Back, Etc.

"I must say a word about Hood's Sarsaparilla for it has made me feel like another man. I was miserable and dull all the time; had the blues, could not enjoy the least fun; felt sick all over and often thought I would soon die. I did not know what to do. Could not sleep, eat or work with satisfaction. My stomach was so out of order that

I Often Wished I Was Dead.

I spent many a dollar for medicine, all for little, or I might say, no benefit. I saw and read so much about Hood's Sarsaparilla that I thought I would try it. The first bottle made a different feeling, so I kept on till I had taken three. The severe pain in my back, headache and distress in my stomach, all traces of dyspepsia have and I can eat, sleep and work, and feel so much better than I used to, that I cannot thank Hood's Sarsaparilla enough. I earnestly recommend it as the best medicine for dyspepsia and distress in the stomach. I wish Hood's Sarsaparilla abundant success." JOHN STEELY, 746 Locust Street, Reading, Pa.
