THE CHINAMEN IN NO HURRY "o Comply with the Provisions of the

Geary Law. WASHINGTON, May 2 .- According to the Geary law the Chinese must go on May 6, the date upon which the act becomes operative. It is not probable, however, that Chinese who have failed to comply with the provisions of the law will be molested. Assistant Secretary Spaulding said yesterday that, while the law goes into effect on the 6th, the government will not take any steps to enforce it until the supreme court decides upon the constitutionality of the act. A test case will be brought before the supreme court next week and be accorded a speedy decision. Until the court renders a decision John Chinaman will not be disturbed by the agents of the government.

WASHINGTON, May 2.-In regard to the figures recently published purporting to show by reports to the comptroller of the currency that the amount of gold held in Chicago exceeded that held in New York, and that the west had more gold than the east, Comptroller Eckels says he was not consulted.

He says that some newspaper men en-tered his office and took from the file hanging therein some sheets of old reports and from them the figures were made up. Mr. Eckels had nothing to do with the statement. He says he does not care to deny it, as it was only by implication that his name was mentioned. However, he admits that the figures as published were erroneous, and that New York holds nearly three times as much gold as Chicago.

Acting Secretary of the Treasury Hamlin says that gold is steadily accumulating and that he feels very easy as to the situation. He says there are nearly two millions of free gold in the treasury.

WASHINGTON, April 29.-Thomas W. Duvall, of Philadelphia, has applied for ap-pointment as chief clerk of the internal evenue bureau in Washington. Thomas De Lacey, of Scranton, asks to be made inspector of public buildings. George Max, of Philadelphia, has filed

A Whole Town Swept Away by a Cyclone in Texas,

DALLAS, Tex., May 1 .- Late particulars in regard to Saturday's cyclone at Cisco, confirm the first reports that the town was swept away.

Fifty people are now known to have been killed and scores of others are more or less injured, some of them so severely that death will surely be the result.

in Motion. CHICAGO, May 1 .- The fact that all the buildings at Jackson Park are not entirely completed and all of the displays not yet finally arranged in their proper positions, did not prevent the throwing open to-day of the World's Fair to visitors from all nations on the face of the globe, as had been arranged over two years ago when the gigantic enterprise was officially sanctioned by the United States government and our neighbors in foreign lands.

The booming of cannon, blowing of steam whistles, ringing of bells and a general reign of pandemonium awakened Chicago's population and her vast army of visitors from the center to the most remote corner of the suburbs at an early hour this morning to the fact that the long-looked for day had arrived when the Columbian exposition should be formally opened and the cherished hopes and broad promises of its ambitious projectors were to be realized.

Over a week had been spent in decorating the business places and residences for the great occasion and as a result the me- , e'l it.

tropolis of the west presents to-day a gigantic panoramma of glittering splendor, such as has never before been presented to the gaze of the people on this side of the water, if not in the world. Every one of the mammoth business structures on State and Clark streets, Chicago's two principal business thoroughfares, are literally covered with flags and red, white and blue bunting woven into every conceivable design known to the professional decorator, and the decorations in general are far more elaborate than those hung out on the occasion of the dedication of the World's Fair buildings last October. The Lexington hotel, where President Cleveland and his cabinet are being entertained during their stay here, is the most magnificently decorated structure in the city, over $2,500 having been expended in the effort to make it outshine all its neighbors in point of beauty and design.

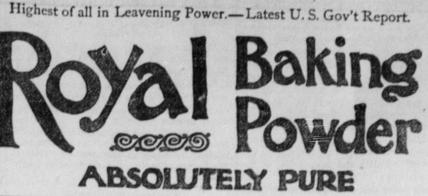

The Rush for the Park.

Since early morning the streets leading to Jackson Park have been literally packed with a moving mass of humanity, everyone clamoring without respect to the rights of others, to be the first to reach the objettive point and witness the grandeur and magnificence of the most extensive undertaking ever attempted.

The event of the day was the starting in motion the wheels of the machinery in the various buildings inside the park. The exercises connected with this event took place in manufacturers' hall, the largest structure on the grounds. The building was completely packed with people from the doors to the rostrum occupied by Presi-dent Cleveland, his cabinet, the World's Fair managers and other prominent citizens of the United States and many from foreign lands,

The town covers one square mile of territory and contains about 2,000 inhabit. Not less than 250 buildings were ants. totally destroyed. The town is situated at the junction of the Texas Central and Texas Pacific railroads, and was founded by the Texas Central Railroad Company in 1879. It was named in honor of John J. Cisco, a banker of New York.

Special trains were made up at Eastland and Baird, on which all the physicians and surgeons of these two towns were conveyed to the scene of the catastrophe.

To add to the horror of the situation, a part of the town burned and many persons lost their lives in the flames.

The storm came from the southwest and northeast, and seemed to meet over the illfated town, where the clouds assumed the shape of an inverted funnel. The range of the storm was two miles west of Cisco, to Lem Station, and five miles east of that place.

A freight train of seventeen cars, engine and caboose on the Texas Central track was blown from the rails and the engineer. fireman and over a dozen persons in the waiting room were either killed outright or fatally injured.

Forty or more persons are fatally injured. The scenes were simply heartrending. Most of the people had retired for the night, when the storm struck the town, confusion instantly ensued and whole families became separated in the darkness. The women of the town were frantic with grief. A car of provisions, tents, clothing and other necessaries have been sent from here together with a large number of volunteers to care for the dead and dying.
