—Chas. L. Davis, the famous comedian, will be at the opera house on next Tuesday evening.

—J. Benner Armor left on Saturday for Baltimore, where he will attend school this winter.

—The district conference of the Epworth League meets at Tyrone, on Thursday and Friday of this week.

—Messrs. Harris and Cruse will open their fall term of dancing school in the Bush Arcade, Tuesday evening Oct. 3.

—Will Cassidy and wife left on Saturday for a trip to the World's Fair and a visit to his parents' home at Canton, Ohio.

—The rain on last Friday prevented the game of ball between Bellefonte and Williamsport. A large crowd would have been present.

—Lew McQuiston sold his fruit stand to Michael Thal, of Roopsburg, who will continue the business. He intends to keep a large assortment of goods.

—Travel from this section to the granger picnic does not seem to be as large this year as formerly. Hard times, World's Fair and lack of interest may be the cause.

—Mr. William Hart has opened a sample store for Wanamaker & Brown's goods, of Philadelphia, in the store room vacated by Herr's shoe store, on Allegheny street.

—The steam heat should be turned on in Bellefonte. Many business places and public offices are so cold and damp as to endanger health. It is a good season for our doctors.

—Major Geo. A. Hilton, who is conducting a series of temperance meetings in the court house during the evenings of this week, was a pleasant caller at our office on Monday.

—On Monday morning the Lewisburg train was about one hour late caused by travel and traffic to the grange picnic. The train was also well filled with people on their way to the World's Fair.

—Philip Waddle, Bellefonte's famous bass soloist, is in New York city at present, and will consult some leading musical instructors. He may decide to take a course of instruction before returning home.

—Alvin Joslin, when rendered at our opera house last season, was highly appreciated. The same company, of which Chas. L. Davis is the head, will appear again next Tuesday evening, September 26th.

—The Curtin Cornet band, from Roland, passed through Bellefonte on Saturday for the Grange picnic at Centre Hall, where they spent the day. They very kindly favored our people with several choice selections.

—Bellefonte has no reason to complain, as there are few towns of its size that did near the same amount of business during the dull season. On Monday the rolling mill at Valentines furnace resumed, and other enterprises will soon do likewise.

—The funeral of E. H. Carr, Milesburg, who died from injuries received by a runaway team on Tuesday of last week, was very largely attended. The interment took place in the Union cemetery at Bellefonte. Many members of the I. O. O. F. were present.

—The Tyrone base ball enthusiasts received another chill on last Friday when they played their last scheduled game with our team. They played as they best knew how, but they could not win as our team is entirely too much for them. The score was 8 to 2. As usual, they found much fault with the umpire.

—Lewins' Philad. Branch was all torn up last week and pandemonium reigned supreme in the clothing department. The explanation is that new she'ving was put in so that they were able to carry a larger and more complete stock than ever. Their line of fall and winter clothing is being unpacked and embraces some new styles and patterns.

—R. B. Spangler, of Hastings, Pa., was in Bellefonte on Tuesday, on his way for a short visit to his parents at Centre Hall. He holds a responsible position at Hastings as book-keeper and pay master for the large mining operation at Hastings and Spangler, Pa. He says they have a steady demand for coal and their operations have been busy all summer.

RAILROAD SENSATION.

A BILL IN EQUITY FILED BY THE PENNA. R. R.

To Restrain the Valentine Iron Company, the Nittany Valley Railroad and J. W. Gephart and others from Giving any Aid To the Central Railroad of Penna.

Last week a Bill in Equity was filed in the prothonotary's office, at this place, by Attorneys E. M. and John Blanchard, for the Pennsylvania railroad which caused somewhat of a sensation, and since then there have been many false rumors about as to the nature and intention of the proceedings instituted. It is not an effort to prevent the Central railroad, now building between Bellefonte and Mill Hall, from entering Bellefonte and becoming a competing line as was stated in another paper and is generally rumored. The proceedings are against the Nittany Valley Railroad company, the Valentine Iron company and J. W. Gephart, president of the Valentine Iron company, to restrain them from giving any aid for the construction, completion and operation of the new railroad known as the Central Railroad of Pennsylvania, between Bellefonte and Mill Hall, a competing line with the P. R. R. company.

The Nittany Valley railroad connects with the Pennsylvania line at a point above the Valentine furnace property and extends east through Nittany Valley, over four miles to the company's ore lands and mines. It was built for the convenience of the furnace plant. When the first furnace company began operations an agreement was entered into by which the Nittany Valley railroad company was to give all traffic over their road to the Penna. R. R. and the furnace was also to ship all freight from the Nittany Valley railroad over the Penna. system. The first furnace company failed and was succeeded by the present Valentine Iron company, and the Penna. railroad company is now making an effort in our courts to establish the fact that the contract made with the first furnace company is binding upon their successors, the Valentine Iron company, which, if sustained, would compel them to ship only over the Penna. railroad and the Nittany Valley railroad could not be a tributary to the new road, and they also would be deprived from giving the new road any aid or encouragement in any manner, because of it being a competing line to the Penna. railroad in this territory. In this contract the Penna. railroad was to give the furnace company a special freight rate.

The Valentine Iron company claim that this contract was wiped out when the mortgage on the property was foreclosed and the old furnace company ceased. They also claim that the Penna. railroad company violated the provisions of the contract by advancing the freight rates and therefore it is null and void. The substance of the proceedings are as to whether this contract can be enforced.

Even should Mr. Gephart, as president of the Valentine Iron company, be restrained from further acting as an official in the building and operation of the new road to Mill Hall, that would not prevent its rapid completion. The work would go on in the same manner with some competent man in his place, but neither he, nor the furnace company, nor the Central Railroad Company of Penna. anticipate such a result. Every phase of the above controversy was carefully considered by able legal talent from the outstart and they simply smile at this move of the Penna. R. R.

It is evident that the Pennsylvania railroad company fully realizes that it soon will lose its iron grasp and monopoly upon all the traffic and travel in this section. In its Bill in Equity it plainly admits that the Central Railroad of Pennsylvania is a competing line and connected with a system fully as extensive as its own. It also admits that the road is being rapidly completed under the careful direction of the present officials, which is the most cheering news the people in this vicinity can receive and will be most gratifying to the directors and stockholders.

Yes, Bellefonte will soon have a competing line of railroad and it will be in operation in a short time. The new locomotives will be here by November, in time for all our business interests to celebrate the fact with a general Thanksgiving dinner.

LIVELY LAMAR.

Arrangements Being Made to Catch the Sugar Valley Trade.

The Lock Haven Express says:—A gentleman who is interested in lands at Lamar, or Washington Furnace as it was formerly known, stated yesterday that the completion of the Bellefonte and Mill Hall railroad will give that place a genuine boom. Town lots are being laid out, and arrangements made for erection of new buildings. Lamar will be the point at which the trade of Sugar Valley will strike the new railroad and consequently the town for that reason will be one of the most important on the line. Bellefonte parties will erect a large building for mercantile purposes, and a store will be opened in which a stockequal to any in Lock Haven will be kept. The object will be to make Lamar a trading point of such importance that farmers will not find it necessary to go further, and instead of their trade finding its way to Lock Haven stores, it will be made an object for them to buy their goods at Lamar. The same gentleman expressed the opinion that unless the proposed electric railroad is built to Mill Hall, the completion of the new Nittany Valley line will be a disadvantage to Lock Haven, and much of the trade of the valley will be diverted to Bellefonte.

Board of Trade.

The Bellefonte Board of Trade held an interesting meeting on Tuesday evening. There are now about one hundred members which represents the principal business men of the town. A fair sum is now in the treasury and a number of important moves have been made to put it to use. The members have decided to adopt a uniform business envelope on the back of which a brief prospectus of the business advantages of our town will be printed. A more elaborate folding circular will soon be issued that can be enclosed in an ordinary envelope. Several pages may also be engaged in an industrial edition now being prepared. Practical work is now being done that can not fail but bear good results.

Composite Paving.

On Monday Merty Cunningham with a force of workmen began operations for repairing and repaving portions of the walks about the court house yard. When that is finished the street from Garmans hotel down past the Reynolds bank building to the crossing will be paved with Cunningham's patent composite. That will be the first street in Bellefonte to have such a paving and it is at a place where the constant traveling will give it a thorough test. The expense of this paving will be paid, we understand, by the property holder on either side. Most of the streets in Altoona, Harrisburg and other cities are paved in this way and has proven durable and satisfactory.

They are Handsome.

That is what all the ladies say who have visited Aiken's store during the past week and have seen the large assortment of Ladies and Misses coats, Wraps, etc., for fall and winter wear. The stock is entirely new and was selected from the very latest designs in the market. The assortment is large and you can find anything you want in style, price and quality. The ladies are invited to call and see the new styles. It will give you an idea what will be worn this coming season. It is a pleasure to show our goods, whether you make purchase or not.

AIKEN'S STORE.

Fire Timothy.

A bunch of timothy stalks, over six feet in height, is on exhibition at McCalmont & Co's. store, this place. It was grown on John Dale's farm near Houserville, and on land where phosphate had been used, which is a proof of what these fertilizers will do in increasing the productiveness of the soil. They also have some very large and fine specimens of wheat and other grains grown where phosphates were used. McCalmont & Co. have delivered over twenty car loads of fertilizers this year. They handle the best brands which always bring good results.

One Store Less.

Mr. Henry Lehman, of Philipsburg, sold his store goods last week to a New York firm, and who are packing it up for removal. Mr. Lehman's reason for selling is that business is so dull and the prospects for the winter are so discouraging that he might as well quit business until times get better. He has been in business in Philipsburg for twenty consecutive years. He and his family will remain at that place for the present.

A New Firm.

The "Centre Hall Implement Works" will be the title of the new firm that has been organized—E. M. Huyett, W. O. Reareck and Henry Boozer, constitute the firm. The manufacture of implements in the foundry and machine department will be carried on upon an extensive scale. Their famous Centre Hall compriant will be a specialty.

WEDDED AT NOON.

A BEAUTIFUL WEDDING CEREMONY.

Miss Catharine Green and Clevan Dinges Pronounced Man and Wife—Other interesting Paragraphs.

On Wednesday noon a very pretty wedding ceremony occurred in the Presbyterian church, by which Miss Catharine, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. F. P. Green, of this place, and Clevan Dinges, of Williamsport, were united in marriage. At 12:30 Prof. W. T. Meyer began playing the familiar wedding march, when the bridal party emerged from the north tower. First came the following ushers: John Fryberger, Harry Green, Thos. Lee, of Philipsburg; Dr. Moore, of Shamokin; Simon Dinges, of Williamsport and John Walker, Bellefonte. The bridesmaids were Miss Mary Green, sister of the bride and Miss Annie Dinges, sister of the groom. A flower girl, little Miss Catharine Curtin, followed carrying a basket and scattering roses. The bride and groom came last and were the object of all attention. The bride was attired in cream white Bengal silk, en traine, with veil and carried bridal roses. She was the ideal of contentment and joy as she gracefully leaned upon the arm of her future companion in life.

Dr. Laurie conducted the service at the altar, in which the ring ceremony was used. The ring was carried by the little flower girl who presented it to the groom during the services. After they were pronounced wedded, the benediction given and congratulations over, they left the church, passing down the opposite aisle. The little flower girl preceded them.

It was a very beautiful and appropriate service. The bride and groom departed on the afternoon train for their wedding tour after which they will be at home at Williamsport.

A Bad Cut.

Mr. Geo. Meyers, of Lock Haven, who was working in the woods taking out ties for the railroad company, near Zion, had the misfortune to cut his right leg above the knee on Friday afternoon of last week. There was no cause for alarm on this account until late in the evening, when the wound began to bleed so freely that it was feared he could not live until a physician could be summoned. As chance would have it Dr. Fisher happened to be in the immediate vicinity and succeeded in stopping the flow of blood. Mr. Meyer is very weak, but in a fair way to recover.

Snake Story.

The leading snake story of the season comes from James Johnson, who lives a short distance north of Zion. Mr. Johnson reports that while plowing in new-ground last week he turned out a black snake measuring 9 feet and 11 inches, and at a short distance from his first find he plowed out two nests of small snakes of the same kind, the one containing 52 and the other 47 snakes, measuring from nine to twelve inches. Squire Shaffer, who took Mr. Johnson's deposition as to these facts, says they are all true and correct.
