FIFTY-THIRD CONGRESS

Business of a Week in the National Legislature.

THE TUCKER REPEAL BILL PASSED.

The House Disposes of the Elections Law Repealer by an Overwhelming Majority—The Vote Was Strictly a Party One. Populists Joined With the Democrats.

WASHINGTON, Oct. 5.—Two of the most eloquent and exciting speeches that have been made in the senate chamber since the debate on the silver purchase repeal bill began were delivered yesterday by Democratic southern senators—Butler, of South Carolina, and Blackburn, of Kentucky. Each speech lasted about two hours, and each speaker had large and sympathetic audiences, both on the floor and in the galleries. They were both against the repeal bill, and in favor of such a compromise as would result in the permanent establishment of bimetallicism. Mr. Call of Florida, also spoke in opposition to repeal. In the house Mr. Compton, of Maryland, made a strong constitutional argument against the federal elections law, but he was listened to by a mere handful of representatives. Mr. Lane, of Illinois, received little more attention when he spoke in the same line. Mr. Sweet, of Idaho, criticized President Cleveland.

WASHINGTON, Oct. 6.—The senate devoted six hours to executive business yesterday, spending but fifteen minutes in open session. Mr. Hill (N. Y.) gave notice that he would offer an amendment to the ruler, providing that a paired senator, on general pay vote, shall be entered on the journal and counted as present for the purpose of constituting a quorum. The nominations of Mr. J. J. Van Alen, to be ambassador to Italy, and of Mr. R. E. Preston, to be director of the mint, were favorably reported.

WASHINGTON, Oct. 7.—In the senate yesterday Mr. Blackburn, of Kentucky, offered an amendment to the silver purchase repeal bill. It adopts the bill as it passed the house, strikes out the Voorhees declaration favoring bimetallicism, and adds to the house bill a provision for the free coinage of silver of American production—the difference between the metal price of the silver and its money value when coined to be retained by the treasury as seigniorage, and this seigniorage to be sold for gold—either at home or abroad—the gold received for it to be kept in the treasury for the purpose of maintaining the parity between the two metals.

Not even the earnest manner of Mr. Cummings, of New York, could awaken the house yesterday from the lethargy into which it seems to have fallen. There was no increase in the attendance.

WASHINGTON, Oct. 8.—On Wednesday the crucial test is to be made in the senate—that is, if a sufficient number of senators respond by that date to Mr. Voorhees' summons to insure the attendance of a quorum. In that case the effort will be made to bring the silver repeal bill to a final vote by sitting continuously, the purpose being to tire out the opponents of the bill. If plans of the repealer are successful the bill will probably come to a vote before the close of the week. But if the silver men succeed in an attempt to break a quorum and force an adjournment at any stage of the proceedings they are confident that the senate will be obliged to pass a compromise measure or allow the entire repeal proposition to fail.

After the bill to repeal the federal election laws has been disposed of in the house, as under the pending order it will be tomorrow, it is expected that the McCrea bill to amend and modify the Geary Chinese registration and restriction act will be given the right of way.

WASHINGTON, Oct. 10.—The session of the senate yesterday was given up entirely to considering the Sherman act. Some of the most impassioned speeches made since the opening of the debate took place on Mr. Wolcott's resolution instructing the finance committee to put into legislative form the bimetallic declaration of policy contained in the Voorhees substitute. Mr. Wolcott criticized the president for his letter to Governor North, of Georgia, characterizing it as "intrusive, offensive and unfitting the relations that should exist between the legislative and executive departments of the government." Mr. Voorhees made the resolution the ground work of a speech defending the repeal bill. The Wolcott resolution was finally sent to the calendar, and the repeal bill proper taken up. In the house the debate on the federal elections bill closed and the voting began today. At no time during the discussion has there been much attention given to speakers on either side of the question. Even the last day of the discussion was not productive of much interest. The house Democratic caucus last night, after a discussion of two hours, unanimously adopted a resolution that the Tucker bill should be passed, and on that measure the vote is now being taken.

WASHINGTON, Oct. 11.—The house yesterday passed by the overwhelming majority of yeas 201, nays 100, the Tucker bill to repeal the federal election laws. The Republicans had intended to refrain from voting on the final passage, but when the Democrats mustered 183 votes on the first amendment proposed they saw that it was absolutely impossible to break a quorum and yielded as gracefully as might be. The vote was strictly a party one, but the third party men joined with the Democrats.

There were two speeches delivered on the repeal bill, the first by Senator McPherson, of New Jersey, and the second by Senator Ceebell, of Missouri. Mr. McPherson's speech was in support of the bill. He declared it to be his belief (which was shared, he thought, by two-thirds of the people of the United States) that the Sherman law was the main cause, the true cause, the only visible cause, of the business troubles of the country.

Mr. Ceebell's speech was in continuation of the one which he began Monday, and was directed against the pending bill. He ridiculed the idea of the Sherman law having any influence in bringing about the financial panic, and attributed it rather to the legislation to establish gold monometallicism in European countries and in the United States. But as international bimetallicism, in his opinion, was an impossibility, a mere dream, as impracticable as a universal language. He spoke for five hours, and had not then come to an end of his speech. The house bill to repeal the election law was received during the day.

Ex-Treasurer McCurtain's Shortage.
TULSA, Okla., Oct. 11.—Ex-Treasurer Green McCurtain's shortage has turned out to be nearly double what was first supposed. The United States authorities have taken the matter in hand, and if he does not come up with the money at once he will be placed under arrest.

HE WORKED THE "HEIRS."

Made Them Believe They Owned a Monster Estate in Germany.

READING, Pa., Oct. 10.—Officers arrived here last night having in custody A. J. Dress, of Phillipsburg, Centre county, when they arrested at that place on a charge of false pretenses in receiving about $3,000 from the alleged heirs to the estate of John George Spang, who died over sixty years ago, and is supposed to have left in Germany an estate which is now worth anywhere from $400,000 to $1,000,000. In default of ball Dress was committed. He sent the Spang heirs what has since been proved a forged copy of the will of John George Spang. There is no Spang estate awaiting American heirs in Germany. Several hundred people of the Spang family have been deluded, and Dress has made several trips to Europe at their expense.

Long Drive to the Cemetery.
ALLENTOWN, Pa., Oct. 11.—Leander R. Austin, a salesman, who has lived in Allentown three years, was taken sick with typhoid fever in West Virginia a month ago and died of the disease at his home here. His dying request was that he should be buried in the Methodist cemetery at Mainsburg, Tioga county. The railroad refused to carry the corpse for fear of contagion. Yesterday afternoon the corpse, in a sealed casket, was placed on a wagon, which started at once on the 93-mile journey to Mainsburg. They expect to arrive in Mainsburg on Friday night. Though 62 years of age, Austin's only child is a daughter 1 year old.

Death of a Once Noted Preacher.
PHILADELPHIA, Oct. 9.—Waldo Messers, who was once a well known minister of this city and later of New York, died yesterday in the German hospital. Mr. Messers recently lost his church in New York, and later domestic discord added to his troubles, his wife instituting a suit for divorce. This is said to have driven him to drink, and he had been dispirited heavily lately. It is said that his friends found him lying on the floor of a room in a gold cure establishment, sick and helpless. They sent for a physician, who pronounced his condition critical. He was sent at once to the German hospital in an ambulance, where his death occurred.

Holidaysburg's Sensation.
ALTOONA, Pa., Oct. 11.—Holidaysburg, the county seat of Blair, had a first class sensation last night. One of the staid old town's most prominent citizens, a leader of a church choir, and a well established merchant, eloped with a young woman and left his wife and four children overwhelmed with grief. The man's name is Leslie Lotz, and the woman in the case was his next door neighbor, Mrs. Crawford. He is supposed to have taken $10,000 in ready cash along in his flight, and further developments are anxiously awaited.

A Carpenter's Fatal Fall.
LANCASTER, Pa., Oct. 11.—John Hovey, a carpenter, working on the new building of the Reformed Theological seminary, was assisting to place a rafter in position yesterday afternoon and was standing astride of its end. The timber slipped, throwing Hovey up into the air and then to the ground, fifty feet below. His skull was so badly crushed that the brain oozed out, and every bone in his body was broken. He was 35 years old, and leaves a wife and two children.

Four Choctaws Murdered.
TUSCALOOSA, Ala., Oct. 11.—Word has just been received here that about thirty miles west of here three Choctaws were murdered. Governor Jones says the murders are the result of the late political war, and the victims were Jones' men. Near Kosoma the body of James Lewis, a Choctaw, was found in the woods riddled with Winchester balls. The murderer is unknown. It is supposed that politics was also the cause of Lewis' murder.

The Belligerent Moors.
MADRID, Oct. 9.—The cable to Melilla has been repaired and dispatches of the most serious import are arriving here. The "holy men" throughout Morocco are preaching a war of extermination. They exhort the Moors to drive out all European infidels and give no quarter to Spaniards captured in battle. The Kabyles continue to arrive at the camp of the tribesmen near Melilla.

Mother and Two Sons Killed.
CINCINNATI, Oct. 9.—Nat Foley, with his wife and two boys, Tom, aged 16, and William, aged 18 years, while driving across the Big Four railroad track at Kyle's Station, twenty-seven miles north of this city, were run down by a fast express. The mother and two boys and horses were killed. Mr. Foley was hurled a great distance, but was only slightly injured.
