CHURCH MASSACRE.

Details of the Slaughter of Catholics in Russia.

SEVENTY TO A HUNDRED KILLED.

Cossacks Rode Into the Church on Horseback, Destroyed Sacred Ornaments and Knouted and Speared the Worshipers. Dead Bodies Thrown Into a Cesspool.

Berlin, Jan. 3.—Several reports have recently been circulated regarding a massacre of Catholics which was said to have take place at Krosche, Russia, and cossack soldiers belonging to the Russian government are said to have been implicated in this massacre.

Various versions of the affair have been given and each version has been officially denied by the Russian government. The Cologne Gazette, on the other hand, some days ago repudiated these official denials, and professed to give details of the cruelty of the cossacks.

The Volks Zeitiung says that the Cath olics at Krosche took turns to guard the church for eight days previous to the massacre, in order to prevent their co-religionists from being surprised by the Russian cossacks, but in spite of the precautions they were surprised at 2 o'clock during the morning of Nov. 10 by Prefect Klingenberg and forty armed cossack police

It is said the prefect, at the head of this force of cossacks, entered the church in which about seventy Catholics were gathered. The cossacks, eursing and yelling, rushed upon the worshipers, knouting them and striking them with their swords until the church echoed with the screams

Some of the Catholics ran to the belfry, where they rang the bells in alarm. Thousands of people soon gathered around the church and the Russian officials were forced out of the building. Only the pre-fect and his deputy succeeded in resisting the efforts of the inhabitants, and these two men retreated to the organ loft, from which place they opened fire upon the people in the church, until the former escaped and the latter was overpowered and eventually confined in a cell situated in a neighboring convent.

Late the same day a detachment of some 300 cossaeks were sent from Kovno to Krosche. They were armed with rifles, lances and knoute. Upon arrival at Krosche the cossaeks were divided into two detachments. One body surrounded the township on all sides and the other rode at a gallop towards the church and dashed, with lances drawn, into the crowd outside the building, spearing and shoet-ing and lashing with their knouts all who came within their reach. Many were killed and wounded.

The cossacks then rode their horses into the church, and the massacre of people incide began. They shot and speared right and left until the fleor and walls of the church were drenched with blood.

The coseacks are said to have acted like The cosaceks are said to have acted like demons, smashing the crueffixes, candle-slicks and images of saints and then throwing the pieces into a esespeol.

The cosaceks then rede ever the people right and left and dragged the corpose by their feet to the esespeol and threw them into this horrible hole until it was cheked round the town and to prevent the escape of any of the inhabitants. A number of the latter are said to have been so panic stricken that they committed suicide, many of them jumping into the swollen river, were they were drowned.

The rest of the unfortunate inhabitants were surrounded by the cossacks, who, lance in hand, drove them before them to the market place in front of the town hall. Here every man, woman and child of the town was ordered to be punished by being flogged with the knout. The number of people killed is not definitely stated, but report places the num-ber at all the way from seventy to a hundred, with a very large number so severely injured that they have since died of their injuries or have been maimed for life.

A Belligerent Police Chief.

SOUTH OMASA, Neb., Jan. 3.—At the city council meeting last night Chief of Police Beckett was handed a note from the mayer calling for his resignation. Mayor Waller called on two policemen to eject the ex-chief, but the latter drew a revolver and said he could clean out the whole force. No attempt was made to arrest him. Further trouble is feared, as underneath all is the fight between the A. P. A. and the antis.
