BIG BUILDINGS ABLAZE.

Disastrous Conflagration on the World's Fair Grounds.

VALUABLE EXHIBITS DESTROYED.

The Loss Estimated at a Million Dollars, The Casine, Peristyle, Manufactures and Liberal Arts Buildings Destroyed-One Fireman Killed and Others Injured.

CHICAGO, Jan. 9.—The World's fair Pompeli came last night. Probably no more magnificent, yet terrifying, spectacle has ever been witnessed this side of the Atlantic. It was long after dark last night when belated people returning from work to their homes in the southern suburbs along the elevated road noticed constantly enlarging columns of fire and smoke ascending skyward in the east. Hundreds of spectators hurried from the trains into the celebrated court of honor. There, suddenly, the conflagration came into full Whirlwinds of blazing embers were be ing carried from the end of the court of honor furthest from the Administration building high over the mammoth roof of the Liberal Arts building, the largest structure on earth. The fire had been burning less than an hour when a thunderous crash of falling timber and a tremendous shout from the crowd announced the collapse of the Peristyle. A moment later another terrific yell from the crowd told that the Liberal Arts building had caught fire and that the whole exposition was threatened.

The fire started in the Casino, just east of the Agricultural building and south of the Peristyle. The Casino was quickly destroyed, and the flames surged north on top of the Peristyle, and dropping, made a second line of fire along the base of the columns. The flames then sprang through the Music hall. Fears of looting added to the horror of the scene. At 10 o'clock, with a possible loss of about $1,000,000 by fire in the Manufactures building alone, the authorities began to realize a large element in the crowd was composed of idlers who would be hard to control. The spectators were, therefore, driven by the police westward over the bridges from the lake, and lined up in a solid mass against the Electricity ouilding.

Here they could see great blazing fragments dropping upon the exhibits below. Through the glass roof and buildings could be seen the fine pieces flaming like boulders in an avalanche, crushing and burning the exquisite French section and threatening to destroy the Russian and British sections.

The fire boats and engines on the lake side had by this time subdued the flames in the ashes of the Peristyle and in the lower collonade of the southeast side of the Liberal Arts building and hopes were raised that the fire had been subdued, but shortly after 11:15 the flames got beyond control away up on the top promenade of the Liberal Arts building, and the main aisle of the building was soon a mass of

The fair officials put the maximum loss at $1,000,000. On the other hand, the estimates made by the people connected with the local directory made the highest figures only $150,000 in the Liberal Arts building. At 10:45 a great iron arch gave way directly above the Egench wares, and falling heavily buried them beneath the burning pile and they were abandoned. Back of the French was the Japanese exscared and frantic Japanese. This, like many exhibits, has not been released from bond and the goods could not be taken from the building.

Superintendent Graham, of the Manufacturers building, says it will be weeks before a schedule of the damages could be prepared. "It can hardly be over estimated," said Mr. Graham. "It is an awful sacrifice of wealth. I have feared this ever since the fair was closed, and now it has come worse than I even dreamed."

The great fire was not without its work of death and injury. For the second time within the history of the exposition firemen risked life and limb to save the property of others, and saddened homes are the result. The dead and injured are: William Mackey, pipeman of Engine No. 61, feil from ladder on Peristyle, internally injured and died at Mercy hospital; Captain Frederick Getz, of Truck No. 16, leg broken and internally injured; Eugene Durand, watchman in the French section of the Manufactures building, badly cut and bruised.

The origin of the fire is said to be rere the origin of the life is said to be revenue on the part of a couple of tramps. The solitary guard in the Music hall says that just before the flames broke out he kicked two vagabonds out of the Music hall and told them to find quarters elsewhere. They left in the direction of the Casino. Directly after the fire broke out, and soon everything on the grounds was in terror and confusion.

A Crazy Father's Crime.

BUFFALO, Jan. 10 .- Miss Clara Curtiss, the handsome daughter of William H. Curtiss, of 141 Park street, 18 years old, lies dying at her home with three bullets in her breast. They were fired by her father, who is most undoubtedly crazy. The noise of the shooting was heard by Mrs. Curtiss, and she rushed in and found her husband standing over the girl with the smoking revolver in his hand. Mrs. Curtiss screamed, whereupon the infuriated assassin turned on her with a mad-man's ferocity, and fired twice, both bullets taking effect. SICILY'S BL. 14413. The Troops Attacked by the Lawless Element.

PALERMO, Jan. 6 .- The presence of large bodies of troops in Sicily and the establishment of martial law has not had the effect of aweing the disorderly element. At Marineo, a town eleven miles southeast of this city, a most bloody riot

A band of men, estimated to have numbered 9,000, gathered in one of the low quarters of the town and started to parade the street. Many revolutionary cries were uttered, and threats to loot the town were frequently heard. A strong force of troops were dispatched to disperse the mob.

When the troops appeared they were attacked by the rioters, many of whom were armed with rifles or revolvers, and a desperate fight took place. A volley was poured into the mob, and eight of the rioters were killed. Twelve others were wounded. In addition twelve soldiers were wounded. A dispatch from Caltinesetta says that there was a demonstration there last evening under the auspices of the Fasci dei Lavoratori, which wound up in a conflict between the troops and peasants. One of the soldiers was wounded by a peasant, and when this was learned the troops fired a volley into the crowd of rioters and killed ten and wounded sev-

Later dispatches announce that riots have occurred at Upper and Lower Ragusa, Monte Chiaro, Neonforte, Gibellina, Selemi and Noro. Private dispatches from all parts of

After the elopement Moore and the faithless wife located at Beaver Falls, but Moore soon tired of the woman and deserted her in a few months.
