SITUATION ALARMING.

Desperate Foreigners in Pennsylvania's Coke Regions.

SCENES OF BLOODSHED IMMINENT.

Desertion of Property, It is Feared, Can be Prevented Only by a Resort to the Military Power of the State—The Strikers Desperate.

UNIONTOWN, Pa., April 4.—The situation throughout the entire region at the close of the second day of the big strike of coal miners and coke workers is very alarming, and it looks as if bloodshed and destruction of property will only be averted by resort to the military power of the state. As in 1891, the strikers have been receiving food supplies from the company stores, which was cut off from them yesterday. The great horde of foreigners now require food, and have not the means to obtain it. The only way it can be secured is by sacking the company's stores, but to do this they must overpower deputy sheriffs who are standing guard with Winchester rifles. The operators in the region are very apprehensive and fear that the strikers will destroy property in every section of the region.

Eleven thousand strikers bivouaced last night at different places between here and Scottsdale, and it is generally believed numerous raids will be made on the company stores. If an outbreak among the strikers takes place anywhere in the region the inevitable result will be loss of life. The strikers realize the danger of an encounter with the deputies, but their condition is desperate, and they may attempt to overpower the guards. About 300 deputies are standing guard at the different works. Their forces are scattered, and should an attack be made by one of the big mobs it would be certain death to offer resistance.

In the houses of the strikers, it is said, a large number of shotguns and rifles are stored, which will probably be brought into use soon unless the situation changes.

The only operators now standing out against the strikers are the H. C. Frick company, the McClure company and W. J. Rainey. They made a bold stand, and say they will fight the matter to a finish. The Frick men are at work wherever they have not been driven off by force, and these men named will bear the brunt of the conflict, as has been the case in all former strikes. An unaccountably large supply of "booze" is flowing freely, and hundreds of strikers are practically insane from drink.

An outbreak which means a great deal in the present conflict occurred last night at the Leith works, near here. The mob who visited that plant yesterday left men to see that the workmen did not go down in the mines, or the drawers return to the yards. A squad of employees started to go to work in the evening, and were raided by the strikers. A fight ensued in which two workmen were knocked down with clubs, beaten insensible and left on the field for dead. The matter caused great consternation and for a time the workmen were kept off the grounds.

CLEARFIELD, Pa., April 4.—The first consequences of the upheaval in the Conneleville coke region are developing here with startling force and rapidly. The operators in the Clearfield region, while differing much as to causes, are agreed as to the almost inevitable effect, which will be a big bitter contest between employer and employed. Nothing short of miracles in the way of conciliation can now prevent it, and it is altogether probable that in the event of actual collisions between the opposing forces in the coke region the excitement will involve this field in the struggle. The prospect is that the region will see stormy times before the end of the week.

WASHINGTON, April 4.—The dynamite cruiser Vesuvius is likely to go out of commission as a ship throwing dynamite projectiles, as a result of the action of the house committee on naval affairs. A provision was inserted in the naval appropriation bill authorizing the secretary of the navy, in his discretion, to alter the Vesuvius into a torpedo boat. The action of the committee is in accordance with a recommendation by Secretary Herbert, who showed in his annual report that after the dynamite guns had been in the possession of the government three and a half years they had not fully met expectations. The committee further agreed on three new torpedo boats.

AN EXPENSIVE MEXICAN SHOW. CITY OF MEXICO, April 4.—The annual representation of the capture of Puebla from Emperor Maximilian by General Diaz was represented on the plains of San Lazaro, near this city, on a scale of magnificence never before approached by alike event in Mexico. An entire division of the army, including infantry, cavalry and artillery to the number of 5,000 participated, and the representation entailed an expenditure of $50,000.

MADRID'S FATHER WAS A MASON. LOUISVILLE, April 4.—The records of the Mason Widows' and Orphans' home in this city show that Horatio, John and Rose N. Pollard, children of John D. Pollard, were admitted to the home in 1877 upon the recommendation of Crab Orchard Lodge, No. 432. These records establish the fact that Madeline Pollard's father was a Mason, or his children would never have been admitted to the home.

DEATH OF SENATOR FAULKNER'S MOTHER. WINGHESTER, W. Va., April 4.—Mrs. Mary W. Faulkner, mother of United States Senator Faulkner, died here yesterday, aged 77 years.

ROCHESTER, Pa., April 4.—At Legionville, near here, a tragedy took place which will probably result in the death of James Clark and Chris Hartley. Clark is about 50 years of age and married, his wife being but 18 years old. A feud of long standing has existed between Clark and Hartley, which culminated when Hartley came to a blacksmith shop where Clark was carrying a mattack to be sharpened. Clark informed Hartley that the mattack could not be sharpened there. This enraged Hartley and he struck Clark on the shoulder with the mattack, almost severing the arm. When Clark fell he called for help. His wife, Lena, rushed in with a gun and shot Hartley four times. Both of the wounded men will die. No doubt has been made as yet in arrest of the woman.

ZELL GETS FOUR YEARS. NEW YORK, April 4.—William T. Zell, formerly treasurer of the New York Athletic club, and an employee of the Lehigh and Wilkesbarre coal company, was sentenced to four years in state's prison. Zell pleaded guilty to grand larceny in the first degree in having altered the books of the company and embezzled $63,000.

THE CONGRESSIONAL DEADLOCK ENDED. WASHINGTON, April 4.—The deadlock which has prevailed in the house for a week past over the Joy-O'Neil contested election case was broken yesterday. Charles D. Tompkins presented and John J. O'Donnell withdrew his challenge from the Eleventh Congressional district.

ITEMS OF STATE NEWS.

Matters of Interest from All Over the Commonwealth.

READING, Pa., April 4.—John Hayes (colored), who was shot in a duel at Wernersville on Saturday evening last by George Hartman (white), died at the Reading hospital. Hartman is in custody.

HARRISBURG, April 2.—The state convention of the Pennsylvania Lutherans will be held in Harrisburg, June 25 and 26. Rev. Dr. W. H. Singley, of this city, who has charge of the arrangements, says there will be 5,000 delegates present.

SHAMOKIN, Pa., April 3.—While Jeremiah Krigbaum was working near the abandoned Garfield slope the earth caved in and he disappeared through the opening. If the man was not killed or smothered he was drowned, as the mine is "drowned out."

HOLLIDAYSBURG, Pa., April 2.—Jacob Dodson and Emanuel Smith, young farmers, became involved in a warm discussion about baptism at a prayer meeting service at East Freedom. Smith pulled a revolver and shot his companion twice. Dodson may die, and Smith is in jail.

NEW CASTLE, Pa., April 4.—It has just been learned that the New Castle Steel company has been invading Canada and has found a good market for steel billets. It seems that the company has not only been able to undersell the English companies, but to also make a superior quality of steel.

WARREN, Pa., April 4.—A gang of tramps engaged in a fight near here, and one named Sullivan, supposed to be from Titusville, Pa., was killed. Seven tramps were arrested and will be held for the murder. While making the arrest Officer Seafert was seriously wounded by one of the tramps.

HAZLETON, Pa., April 2.—John Robinson was shot twice in the head yesterday by an angry Italian upon whom he had played an April fool joke. Robinson was found unconscious on the road near Harleigh. One bullet cut through his scalp, while the other entered his ear. His assailant is unknown.

HARRISBURG, April 2.—William Bowen and John Dudley, tin plate workers, who came to this country from Wales recently in search of work, blew out the gas in their room at the Groves hotel, in this city. When the porter went to call them Bowen was dead from the effects of the gas and Dudley was unconscious. Dudley was removed to the hospital.

WILKESBARRE, Pa., April 3.—The eleventh body in the Gaylord mine, that of John Hammer, was brought to the surface late yesterday afternoon. The remains were identified by means of a belt which Hammer wore around his waist. The bodies of only two of the thirteen victims now remain in the ill-fated mine—Thomas Pictou, the foreman of the gang, and Daniel Morgan.

HUNTINGDON, Pa., April 4.—The sixth successful escape of prisoners from the county jail, in this city, under the present sheriff, T. M. Oaks, in fifteen months, occurred yesterday afternoon, when Samuel Rodgers, who was chopping wood in the jail yard, broke the lock of the main entrance gate and made good his escape. Rodgers had just been liberated from the Western penitentiary.

PHILADELPHIA, March 31.—An altercation which resulted in a homicide occurred between two convalescent patients at the Philadelphia hospital. James F. Dawson, 25 years old, and James T. Burke, 21 years old, were washing windows on a dispute arose and Dawson started to strike Burke, followed by Burke. It is alleged that Burke kicked Dawson several times, and when they reached the bottom of the stairs pounded him until he was unconscious. Dawson died a few hours later.

CHESTER, Pa., April 4.—The strike on the central division of the Pennsylvania railroad has extended to the Maryland division, and a number of men on the Chester and Thurlow sections quit work yesterday, refusing to accept the reduction. Though there are many idle men here, there have been very few to take the places of the strikers, and it is believed the difficulty will be adjusted. The men say they cannot support their families on the wages of the new schedule, which is $1 for a day of ten hours.

READING, Pa., March 31.—Sheriff Fahrnbach and Police Sergeant Quackenbos, of this city, stopped a prize fight in a Methodist church at Wernersville yesterday. The ring was pitched in the center of the church, and the benches and pews were occupied by a motley crowd, a good supply of liquid refreshment being on hand. The principals were Mike Butler, of Wilmington, known as "Boston Mike," and Henry Kramer, of this city, known as "Fatty" Kramer. In the first round Kramer scored a complete knock down. They had clinched in the second round, and while they were wrestling on the floor the fight was stopped.

WILKESBARRE, Pa., April 2.—"Rattler" Flynn, the owner of considerable real estate at Midvale, this county, has made a demand upon the district attorney for damages done his property during a riot at that place two weeks ago. Flynn owned the house, which was occupied by the Hungarian murderer, Saunders. When the latter, in order to escape from the fury of the mob, barricaded himself in the house, the dwelling was assailed from all sides, and the result is it is now a total wreck. In case the district attorney fails to make an amicable settlement, Flynn says he will sue the county.

MEDIA, Pa., April 3.—Judge Clayton, of the circuit court, yesterday took the unusual step of revoking a large number of naturalization papers which had been issued by his own court. The holders of the papers in question were Hungarians and Italians, and the papers were issued a year ago, at which time several hundred new citizens were created by Judge Clayton, under circumstances that have since evoked much adverse comment. An Italian named Resch, who appeared as voucher for the men when the papers were issued, was ordered under arrest by the court upon the charge of fraud in procuring the papers.

ROCHESTER, Pa., April 4.—At Legionville, near here, a tragedy took place which will probably result in the death of James Clark and Chris Hartley. Clark is about 50 years of age and married, his wife being but 18 years old. A feud of long standing has existed between Clark and Hartley, which culminated when Hartley came to a blacksmith shop where Clark was carrying a mattack to be sharpened. Clark informed Hartley that the mattack could not be sharpened there. This enraged Hartley and he struck Clark on the shoulder with the mattack, almost severing the arm. When Clark fell he called for help. His wife, Lena, rushed in with a gun and shot Hartley four times. Both of the wounded men will die. No doubt has been made as yet in arrest of the woman.

Zell pleaded guilty to grand larceny in the first degree in having altered the books of the company and embezzled $63,000.

THE CONGRESSIONAL DEADLOCK ENDED. WASHINGTON, April 4.—The deadlock which has prevailed in the house for a week past over the Joy-O'Neil contested election case was broken yesterday. Charles D. Tompkins presented and John J. O'Donnell withdrew his challenge from the Eleventh Congressional district.

A REPENTANT ORATOR.

Mr. Breckinridge Under the Fire of Cross-Examination.

FEELS REMORSE FOR HIS FOLLY.

"There is but One Punishment I Have Not Deserved, and That is to Marry the Woman Who Was Concerned With Me in the Act."

WASHINGTON, March 29.—The defense yesterday introduced Rankin Rossell, a Kentucky schoolmaster. He testified that Miss Pollard had introduced herself to him, and that he subsequently called on her regularly, finally engaging to marry her. He had broken off the match because she allowed him to kiss and hug her in a way he did not like in a woman he loved. Miss Pollard had told him she was born in November, 1863 (three years earlier than the plaintiff now claims). Miss Pollard had often sat in his lap for two hours at a time. Rossell's testimony was badly shaken on cross-examination.

WASHINGTON, March 30.—There was much suppressed excitement in the Breckinridge-Pollard trial yesterday when the white-haired defendant took the stand to testify in his own behalf. His statement was to the effect that the plaintiff first made herself known to him on a train, and that subsequently, in response to urgent letters from her, he called on her at Wesleyan college. One of these letters was the one that had been placed in evidence, and which the plaintiff has declared a forgery, but which has been declared genuine by experts. When he met her at the college she told him of her compact to marry Rhodes in return for the payment of her schooling, and of her hatred of that individual, with whom, however, she had been intimate. Upon this admission the colonel, so he testified, advised her that she should marry Rhodes. In the evening, at Miss Pollard's solicitation, the congressman declared, he took her riding in a closed carriage.

Then the colonel detailed at great length what took place in the carriage. Miss Pollard's attitude at the outset was very deferential. After they had ridden awhile he took liberties with her, to which she offered no resistance. "Just a case of illicit love?" broke in Mr. Butterworth. "That was it, Butterworth; I am a man, she a woman—human, both of us."

The colonel further stated that on their return to the city he had put into her hand a $10 bill. She at first refused to accept it, but finally did so.

Before the appearance of the defendant two witnesses testified for the plaintiff. These were John Benckhardt and Stephen Dunn, both of Lexington. Both of these declared on oath that no such woman as Lena Singleton had kept an assignation house at the place which Kaufman and Brandt had sworn in their depositions that they saw Miss Pollard.

WASHINGTON, March 31.—Mr. Breckinridge continued his testimony yesterday, being on the stand all day. He declared that he had never presented Miss Pollard a basket that had belonged to his second wife, and did not know how it came into her possession. The visits to the assignation house in Lexington, he declared, had been first suggested by the plaintiff. He admitted the visit to Mrs. Blackburn's, and corroborated that lady's testimony that he had presented Miss Pollard as his intended wife, but declared that this was only to relieve the plaintiff of aspersions on her character, with the understanding that she (Miss Pollard) would leave Washington and cease her relations with him. The story of his visit to Major Moore differed but little to that told by the plaintiff, with the difference that his acknowledgment of an alleged engagement was wholly a subterfuge to protect the plaintiff. The case has practically narrowed down to a question of veracity between the plaintiff and her witnesses and Colonel Breckinridge.

WASHINGTON, April 3.—The cross-examination of Congressman Breckinridge by ex-Congressman Jere Wilson was begun yesterday, and it was most scathing for the defendant. Judge Wilson questioned him at length as to the books he had read, and when the opposing counsel objected he justified his course with the reminder that the same questions had been asked his client, Mr. Breckinridge's most embarrassing position was when he was placed with questions regarding his ride in the closed carriage with Miss Pollard. "Did you give her any friendly advice on that occasion?" he was asked. "I did not."

"You were a man of 47 and she a girl of 17 to 21?" "That was all true and much more. No man in America had less excuse for such an action than I, with the domestic surroundings I then had. I have attempted to make no excuse for it. It just happened so."

"And the fact that she was a young girl in school makes it all the worse?" "You cannot frame words too strong to characterize it. I have not attempted to justify it or even defend it, and all the hell I have suffered since then I have deserved."

"Then I understand you to say that the enormity of the act cannot be overstated?" "There is but one punishment which I have not deserved, and that is to marry the woman who was concerned with me in the act."

WASHINGTON, April 4.—Another witness for the prosecution was introduced in the Pollard case yesterday. This was Mrs. Louise Lowell, a typewriter, who declared that she had written letters in typewriting for Mr. Breckinridge addressed "My Dear Sister Louise," and that she had addressed envelopes for him addressed to Miss Pollard at Lexington. Miss Pollard herself then came to the stand and testified that she had received these letters. Mr. Breckinridge then returned to the stand, and in response to Judge Wilson's questioning emphatically denied the statements of Mrs. Lowell and Miss Pollard.
