

Terrible Accident to a Party of New York Excursionists.

PROBABLY FORTY LIVES LOST

The Tug James D. Nichols, Overcrowded with Passengers, Goes to the Bottom Four Miles from Scotland Lightship. Only Fifty-four Rescued.

NEW YORK, June 25.-The tug James D. Nichol, with a party of excursionists and a crew numbering twelve, sank at about 1 o'clock yesterday afternoon some three miles off the Highlands.

It will probably never be known how many persons were on board the ill fated tug at the time of the accident. Few of the passengers were acquainted with each other, and the only way in which the names of the lost can be obtained is from the applications of their friends and relatives for information at police headquar-ters. It is now believed that at least forty-two were drowned. Ten bodies have been recovered.

The tug left Fifth street and the East river at 7:30 a. m., touched at Pier 8, East river, and then went on to the fishing grounds. She had, it is said, a license to carry fifty passengers, but sixty-three tickets were sold. There was a bar and a lunch counter on board, where attendants, with the crew, brought the whole number on board up to about seventy-five.

The tug reached the banks on time, but the fishing was poor and the sea too rough for comfort, and about noon she started back. When about three miles east of the Highlands and about four miles south of Scotland lightship the waves began to break over her starboard rail heavily.

The captain, William Hyatt, stuck pluckily to his post, and sounded the whistle in a prolonged scream for help. Even as he did so the tug filled with the water that poured into her from both sides, and went down like a stone, carrying many of her passengers with her.

The water choked the cry of the whistle, but not before it had been heard and heeded. The Clyde steamship Algonquin, a mile away, heard it, and swung round to go back to the rescue. The tugs Wal-lace S. Flint, R. J. Moran and Governor also hurried toward the spot. From farther away came the C. E. Evarts.

The Algonquin sent her lifeboat, with First Officers A. M. Rich and four sailors. They picked up ten men, one of whom, however, died a few moments later. The tugs rescued the others who remained afloat. Some few had life belts on, but most of them were clinging to bits of wreckage. A life raft supported a dozen and the top of the pilot house as many

The rescued men and three dead bodies were brought to this city.

BROOKLYN, June 25 .- A catboat was capsized by a sudden squall yesterday off the Atlantic Yacht club house, at the foot of Fifty-sixth street. A pleasure party, consisting of six people-two men, two wo men, a 7-year-old boy and a 2-year-old girl -were thrown in the water. The yacht club's steam launch at once put out to the rescue, but only the little girl was saved. One of the men had worked heroically to keep the little girl's head above water, and when she was taken from his grasp, his strength being spent, he sank and drowned before help could reach him. The party consisted of Charles Nelson, a Swede, 32 years old; his wife, 30 years old;

Kate Higgins, a 17-year-old servant; a Nor-

The carriage was stopped and MM. MARTYR FOR Chaudey and Rivaud, in tremulous voices, said: "Don't shout! The president has said: been the victim of an outrage.' The cheers were instantly turned to curses, and many and loud were the cries for vengeance.

The landau proceeded to the theater, where MM. Rivaud and Chaudey went to the president's box. Then M. Rivaud an-nounced the terrible tragedy, and with exclamations of anger the audience dispersed.

After examining the president's wound ail the physicians in attendance upon him agreed that an operation was necessary, whereupon Dr. Ollier immediately probed the wound. While this was being done M. Carnot came to his senses, and said feebly, but distinctly. "How you are hurting me'

The doctors, however, continued to attend the wound, the outward bleeding of which had stopped. They knew, though. that the president's condition was extremely grave, as they more than sus-pected that internal hemorrhages had commenced.

Despite all that medical skill could do the dying man sank rapidly, and at 12:45 this morning he breathed his last.

Santos, the assassin, is a beardless young Italian, who gave his age as 22. He refused to answer questions until he came before a tribunal. He said, however, that he came to Lyons only yesterday. When it became known that the miscreant was an Italian a number of stores kept by Italians were mobbed, and it was with difficulty the police prevented the looting of the Italian consulate.

Marie Francols Sadi-Carnot, fourth president of the French republic, was born at Limoges, France, Aug. 11, 1837: He was the eldest son of the ex-Minister Hippolyte Sadi-Carnot of 1848, who died in 1888, and was the grandson of Sazare Carnot, known as the "Organizer of Victory." He was an engineer by profession. He entered public life when a very young man and went from one position to another until, in 1876, he was chosen a member of the chamber of deputies. Then he served in several ministries, and in 1887 was chosen to succeed M. Grevy as president of the republic. His term would have expired Jan. 1895. M. Cassimir-Perier, who lately retired from the premiership, is the strong est candidate for the presidency. M. Car-not's successor will be chosen by the senate and chamber of deputies at Versailles on Wednesday.

The body of the martyred president was taken to the train tonight. As it passed through the streets the multitude stood with uncovered heads in respectful silence. No sooner had the train left for Paris, however, than mobs looted the stores of Italians, compelling the owners to flee. Riots also occurred at Dijon and Grenoble. At the latter place the Italian consulate was looted.

The police are actively engaged in searching for accomplices of Santo. They are particularly anxious to find a hair dresser's assistant named Marias Violly, who is said to have repeatedly predicted that President Carnot would be murdered in his carriage on arriving here. An Italian woman, who proves to have been Violly's mistress, and one of Violly's associates named Roux have been arrested. Violly himself, however, has disappeared. Magistrate Benoist believes that Santo was inspired as much by a desire to avenge his compatriots who lost their lives in the rioting at Aigues-Mortes as he was by the wolf like sentiment that prompts anarchists to bathe their hands in human blood.

PRESIDENT CARNOT'S ASSASSIN. An Ignorant Baker Who Has Served Time

for Distributing Anarchist Documents. MILAN, June 26 -- Cesare Govanni Santo is the son of Maria Broglio and Antoine Cesare Santo. He joined the anarchist association at an early age. In January, 1892, he tried, with two fellow anarchists, to start a newspaper which would represent the group of individualist anarchists to which he belonged, but was unable to raise the funds necessary to float his pro jected newspaper. The police watched him until the end of 1893, when he went to Switzerland. He is a baker by trade. In an interview with the sister of Santo she said that from the time he was 19 years old her brother had been an attendent at anarchist gatherings. The police were aware of Santo's anarchistic tendencies, and upon one occasion searched his lodgings and seized a number of incendiary pamphlets. He was not then ar-rested, but was warned that if he persisted in the course he was pursuing he would find himself in prison. His mother and sister, fearful of what might become of him, begged him to abandon anarchism, and devote himself to his trade and harmless pleasures. The warning of the police and the pleadings of his relatives. however, had no effect. Santo appeared to be infatuated with the idea of spreading the anarchist propaganda, and the police kept a watchful eye upon him. Three months later he was detected in company with a number of other anarchists distributing anarchist literature to the soldiers. For this offense he was arrested, tried, convicted and sentenced to five years' imprisonment. He escaped from prison and fled to Lugano. After this his family heard nothing of him un-til six months ago, when a letter was received from him announcing that he was still seeking work, The proprietor of a bakery where Santo had been employed for four years said he knew little of him outside of the work he did, but he scouted the idea that Santo was the author of anarchist pamphlets He was, the baker declared, too ignorant and uneducated to write anything. The man admitted that he knew Santo was infatuated with the anarchists.
