

U KNO

A LIGHT PURSE IS A HEAVY CURSE

There are exceptions however. For instance if stolen the thief will kick himself, and our prices on dress goods, muslins, flannels, etc., place them within the reach of all.

SPECIAL TO DRESSMAKERS.

We open this week the finest and most complete line of Dress Linings, direct from the manufacture, ever brought to Bellefonte, and will be pleased to have U ask to C'em.

500 dozen Ladies' and Childrens' Hosiery—just in. Best for price and no mistake.

G. R. SPIGLEYER, JR.

Your Attention.

Your attention is hereby called to an important announcement to be found in another column from LYON & Co. They have a large stock of goods and are offering same at prices that deserve your attention. See what they have to say. It may be of interest to you.

LOCAL DEPARTMENT.

Next Tuesday spring election. Remember that.

Do you ever notice what Lyon & Co. have to say.

Schreyer and Reese expect to open their grocery store April 1st.

James Gardner, of Howard, was committed to jail on Tuesday on the charge of wife beating.

Mr. Wm. Culveyhouse expects to move to Indiana this spring, and will dispose of his store at this place.

Owing to the storm last week the session of Christian Endeavor at State College was not very largely attended.

The prices at which Lyon & Co. sell goods is what attracts so many new customers. See the advertisement in another column.

Mr. John Brown called on Tuesday to order sale bills from this office. He will have a large sale of farm stock on Wednesday March 6th.

Since Mr. George Baldwin, the florist, took sudden leave from Bellefonte, the establishment has been kept in operation by A. A. Maitland.

George B. Brandon, formerly proprietor of the Brockerhoff House, has rented the Mansion House at Carlisle, Pa. It is the principal hotel of the place.

On Monday Ad. Fauble left for New York city for the purpose of placing an order for spring clothing. He promises to bring some bargains with him.

While we have had a genuine blustering winter there is very little frost in the ground. The first snow that fell came before there was a frost and that still remains.

The production of "Faust" in the opera house last week was one of the finest entertainments of the season. The cold weather and small house did not seem to discourage the company.

Montgomery & Co. have made some decided improvements in the arrangement of their store. They now can handle their line of ready made clothing to better advantage than formerly.

During the blizzard last week the court house officials became very much discouraged over the low temperature of the building. The steam heat could not keep things comfortable and finally coal stoves were put up and now everything is lovely.

Irvin C. Speer, youngest son of W. T. Speer, in this place, arrived in Bellefonte Wednesday evening of last week from Berwick, Louisiana. It is now almost ten years since he left here. He is now located with one of the largest firms in Chicago and is considered their most expert electrician. In looks he is stout and heavy as if the world and all therein agreed with him.

A PLEASANT EVENING.

AT THE HOME OF MR. AND MRS. GEO. L. GOODHART.

Celebration of their 25th Wedding Anniversary—Silver Wedding—Many relatives and Friends Present.

On Monday evening there was a large gathering at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Geo. L. Goodhart, near Centre Hill, to join with them in the celebration of the twenty-fifth anniversary of their wedding. Owing to the impassable condition of the roads, due to the blizzard, it had been feared that few would venture from home, but by Monday evening the roads were opened in many places while generally the driving was done through the fields.

The first to pull through was a four-horse sled load from Bellefonte in charge of Alf Baum who handled the prancing steeds in fine style and landed the party safe and sound at the hospitable home of Mr. and Mrs. Goodhart. From all points of the valley others came and at 8 p. m., their spacious home was thronged with relatives and friends to mingle in the festivities of the occasion.

The time for the formal ceremonies were announced when Miss Jessie Durst began playing an appropriate wedding march and the guests gathered in the parlor. Mr. and Mrs. Goodhart then made their appearance and took their position surrounded by their children: two handsome and accomplished daughters, Misses Annie and Ada, and two sturdy sons, James and Bruce. Over this truly happy family circle hung an appropriate design framed and encircled in ivy and evergreen. It contained a large link of "1870" and a similar emblem of "1895" which were joined by five smaller chained links, the last of which was broken, in memory of the youngest son of the family. Paul, who died about a year ago.

In 1870 Mr. and Mrs. Goodhart, nee Miss Susan Evans, of Potters Mills, were united in the holy bonds of matrimony. At that ceremony Dr. Hamill, of the Presbyterian church, presided and Mr. J. M. Gilliland, now living at New Bloomfield, acted as Mr. Goodhart's next friend, and was to have been present on this occasion, but was delayed by the storm. Rev. James Boal, of Port Carbon, recent pastor of the Presbyterian church was to officiate, but he also failed to arrive. The nearest to a divine in the gathering seemed to be none other than the Presbyterian Elder, D. F. Fortney, Esq., of Bellefonte, who apparently was attired in ministerial garments and well suited for the occasion.

He addressed the gathering in a few well selected words, dwelling upon the appropriateness of such a celebration and that it should be an occasion for rejoicing. For some time Mr. and Mrs. Goodhart were the object of warm and sincere congratulations. A sumptuous repast followed that contained all that was delicate and toothsome. The evening was spent in greetings among friends, and various amusements. One of the special features of this occasion were the tokens of friendship in the form of presents, among which was a very fine dinner set from immediate relatives. This being a "Silver Wedding," there were many other beautiful tokens which space will not permit to mention. At 11 p. m., our party, having a long drive ahead, deemed it best to bid all a cheerful goodnight and resume our journey homeward.

Mr. Geo. L. Goodhart is well known to most of our readers as one of the Democratic members of the present board of county commissioners who is serving his second term. By occupation he is a farmer. He was born on the farm and has spent his life tilling the soil. He is one of Potter townships foremost citizens, a prominent member in the Patrons of Husbandry and a consistent member of the Presbyterian church, and always enjoyed the highest esteem and respects especially of his neighbors—the best test of true manhood and worth. He is fortunate in having an amiable, loving helpmate; and it is the wish of his many friends that the future may have as much happiness in store for himself and family, as they have enjoyed in the past.

Convention At Aaronsburg.

A musical convention will be held in the Reformed church of Aaronsburg, commencing Monday evening February 18th, 1895, continuing during the week with three sessions daily and closing with two grand concerts, Thursday and Friday evenings, February 21 and 22. House and Store Burned.

On Friday morning, during the blizzard, the house of Mr. W. S. Williams, merchant, who lives a short distance north of Martha Furnace, took fire and burned completely away, taking with it a store building and all the contents. The house and store adjoined and it is supposed that while the wind was blowing at a high gale sparks were carried from the residence into the crevice between the two buildings. When it was discovered it was burning fiercely and with no one there to render assistance it was soon destroyed.

At the time, Mrs. Williams was seriously ill and confined to her bed. Being a heavy person it was with the greatest difficulty that she was removed to the wood shed some distance away, and then conveyed in a large sled to a neighbor's house. Since then she has been in a critical condition.

Mr. Williams had $500 insurance on his house, $100 on the furniture, but nothing on the store which is a complete loss. For fifteen years he carried insurance on his store but the last policy expired last November, and by neglect was not renewed. The loss on the store will be about $1000.

Court Notes.

The following are the doings of court last week from Thursday morning. Owing to the cold weather several short sessions were held and often the people were shivering and wearing their overcoats:

Thos. L. Waple vs Phillipsburg boro to recover $20,000 damages for injuries from a fall on a defective side walk. The jury found for the defendant, therefore Waple could not recover.

Emily Alexander vs admr of J. I. Leach. Verdict for plaintiff, $662.94.

Daniel Hess vs admr of J. I. Leach. Verdict for plaintiff $1127.93.

George W. Campbell, use of C. T. Fryberger vs W. F. Rockey. An action to recover commissions. Continued and John Kline appointed as referee.

Birthday Anniversary.

On Sunday the children, immediate relatives and a few friends assembled at the Garman House to pay their respects to Mr. Daniel Garman who had reached the 76th milestone of life and has the promise of seeing many more. One of the principal features of the occasion was the elegant dinner so much enjoyed by all. Owing to the delay in trains two sons, Dick, of Philadelphia, and Robert, of Coatsville, Pa., could not reach Bellefonte as had been expected.

Death of an Old Resident.

Salmon Strong, and old and respected citizen of Beech Creek, died last Thursday, at the advanced age of 85 years. Mr. Strong had been a resident of Beech Creek for the past fifty years.

A GENUINE BLIZZARD.

A STORM THAT BEATS ALL OTHERS.

Railroads Snowbound for Several Days—20 degrees Below Zero—All roads badly Drifted—The Worst ever known.

In another portion of this issue will be found an account of the great blizzard that swept over the continent the latter part of last week, and from which we are now emerging. It extended far and wide, causing delay to trains, closing up roads and causing much suffering from the severity of the cold.

Centre county got the full benefit of this storm. It practically began on Thursday morning, of last week, and continued until Saturday evening. During that time the sky was overhung with heavy clouds. The intense cold weather prevailed, the thermometer standing below zero most of the time and in some places registered 20 degrees below zero. With the wind blowing like a hurricane it was almost impossible for any one to be out of doors, while inside it was with the greatest difficulty that one could keep warm. A large quantity of dry snow fell and this was swept along with blinding effect. It drifted in heaps and swirls about the buildings, along the fences and roads; high mounds were formed that soon made travel by vehicle impossible.

On Friday all roads leading to Bellefonte were completely blocked, but an occasional train on the Bald Eagle valley railroad was able to pull through, all others were snowbound.

TRAINS STALLED.

A passenger train with two engines, on the Bellefonte Central stuck in a drift near Fillmore on Friday and could move neither forward or backward. A number of lady passengers, on their way to State College, were assisted through the snow to Kephart's farm house where they were kindly cared for. The storm gathered more snow about the belated train, packing it in and around the engine and cars, until it reached the roof of the passenger cars. There the train remained until Monday. The company had about one hundred men at work Sunday, and on Monday the road to the College was finally opened.

A passenger train on the Central R. R. of Pa., stuck in a drift two miles east of Bellefonte, near Harrison Kline's farm and remained there until Sunday. Over two hundred snow shovelers were at work on this road on Sunday and Monday.

The Lewisburg branch suffered the worst, there being no trains over that road from last Thursday until Wednesday of this week when a large snow plow, pushed by three engines, steamed into Bellefonte from Lewisburg. The 2 p. m. train started out on time. The cuts in the vicinity of Centre Hall and Pleasant Gap were packed full and solid, and required a great deal of work to clear.

Out in the country the lanes and roads are most all abandoned and people drive through the fields. In many places the drifts are higher than the fences and packed so solidly that a foot mark is not made in walking.

There were many cases of intense suffering during this severe spell, but at this writing no deaths are reported from freezing.

It is generally concluded to have been the severest snow storm and intense cold that the oldest inhabitants can recall. If it was a genuine Dakota blizzard, we are thankful it was our first and will ever pray it may be our last.

House Burned.

On Wednesday morning of last week the house on the Charley Snyder farm, better known as the Glasgow farm, near State College was destroyed by fire with all its contents. The farmer William K. Corl had made the fire as usual and gone to the barn to do the work while his wife prepared breakfast, on returning from the barn he noticed the flames bursting from the roof and at once gave the alarm and started to the rescue of his family. The five small children—the baby only two months old—were carried out in their night clothes, with what wraps could be gathered at the last moment and by the time they were gotten into the nearest house—a half mile away—they were almost perished. The house being frame burned rapidly, nothing was saved and the loss is a severe one for Mr. Corl for the personal property was not insured.

Furnace Shut Down.

On Monday morning the fires at the Valentine furnace were banked. The plant has been in successful operation for several months. A scarcity of ore caused by the bad weather and drifts and the necessitr of making a few repairs about the plant are the reasons for the stop. The ore banks will be kept in constant operation so that a good supply will be on hand when the fires are relighted, which will be in a short time.

A large lot of shoes are on the bargain counter at Powers' shoe store. See advertisement on another page.

Your attention is called to the advertisement of Lyon & Co. They are putting out goods at still lower prices.
