

GUILTY COUPLE KILLED.

The Man in the Case a Son of Kentucky's Governor.

A WRONGED HUSBAND'S REVENGE.

He Followed His Wife and Her Paramour to an Assignment House and Hid with Them with Bullets—A Sensation in High Kentucky Society.

LOUISVILLE, May 1.—At separate undertaking establishments in this city lie the bodies of perhaps two of the most prominent people in the state of Kentucky. One that of Archie Brown, son and private secretary to Kentucky's chief executive; the other that of Mrs. Fulton Gordon, prominent because of her remarkable beauty and excellent family connections. The story is a sad one, and has caused one of the greatest sensations this city or state has ever been called upon to chronicle.

Brown came to Louisville in response to a telegram from Mrs. Gordon, and met her at 1035 Madison street, an evil resort kept by Lucie B. Smith. The couple immediately went to an upstairs room which had been previously engaged. Half an hour later Fulton Gordon, the woman's husband, went to the house and engaged a lower room, saying that a woman would join him shortly. The man closed all the doors and a few minutes later a commotion was heard above, followed by a succession of pistol shots. Then there was a hurried movement down stairs as Mrs. Gordon fled from the scene. A few more shots rang out, and she fell dead on the porch in the rear yard. Gordon left the house and immediately Brown's corpse was found up stairs.

Gordon was arrested by Officers Reilly and Lapaille as he was about to jump in his buggy on a neighboring street. When arrested he said: "I shot both of them. I caught them in the act. They are both dead. I am shot too. Come with me and I'll show you where they are."

Gordon was as pale as a ghost and was evidently very weak. The officers and Gordon walked to Lucie Smith's. Just as they got inside the front door Gordon staggered and was about to fall, when Officer Reilly caught him. He was in a fainting condition and somebody dashed some water in his face. The officers then summoned the ambulance and Gordon was sent to jail. Officer Lapaille said he had known Mrs. Gordon by reputation for some time. She had been going by the name of Reese.

Never was there a more sanguinary battle than the one fought on the second floor of Lucie Smith's house. Gordon had no difficulty in getting into the room, as the fact that there are no broken locks indicates that the doors were left unfastened. As soon as Gordon gained egress a desperate duel evidently began. Brown had a thirty-eight caliber revolver, which was found empty after the tragedy. Gordon must have had two pistols, as six bullets pierced Brown's body and three that of Mrs. Gordon. The head on which Brown and Mrs. Gordon lay was covered with blood, showing that one or both had been shot while in that position or that in the struggle one or more of the wounded had fallen there.

Gordon himself was covered with blood, most of which doubtless was the result of contact with his wounded antagonist. When, perhaps, if any, Mrs. Gordon took in the encounter, only her husband is a witness to say.

Two bullets are embedded in the door, several went through a window, three are buried in the wall and two in the ceiling. The walls are smeared with blood. The dingy carpet on the floor is saturated with gore, and the furniture was badly broken in the fray.

Brown's body is covered with blood from head to foot. There was no clothing on the body except a pair of knit drawers and a pair of black socks. The undershirt was removed and the wounds were plainly visible.

Mrs. Gordon's body was found on the cellar door, face downward, clothed only in a chemise and a skirt, and in stocking feet. Her hair was loose, and was hanging about her head in a tangled mass. Her face was calm and gave no sign of a struggle. Her bosom was covered with blood and her skirt bespattered with the fluid. Her hands were tightly clenched, and her face smeared with splashes of blood.

Gordon is unhurt, but is suffering from nervous prostration. Gordon stated that he tried to kill himself after shooting Brown and his wife, but the cartridge failed to explode, and his hand was nervous. On his way to jail Gordon said that he had suspected the couple for some time, and about a week ago his suspicions were confirmed. Ever since he had kept a watch on his wife.

At 8 o'clock last night the coroner's jury rendered a verdict of justifiable homicide. Governor Brown, accompanied by Secretary of State Headley, arrived in the city from Frankfort last evening, and is stopping at the Galt House. The governor is completely prostrated by the affair.

Mrs. Gordon was Miss Nellie Bush, of this city, and her family is one of the best known and most prominent in this state. Her father was once state librarian and her grandfather was Judge Zachariah Wheat, chief justice of the court of appeals of Kentucky, and one of the most respected and distinguished of Kentucky jurists. She eloped with Gordon about two years ago. She leaves three children.

Brown was divorced from his wife a few years ago, and his intimacy with Mrs. Gordon was the ground for the separation. On account of the high social standing of the parties none of the facts were made public at the time of the divorce.

PENNSYLVANIA LEGISLATURE.

The Penrose Resolutions Will Doubtless be Favorably Reported.

HARRISBURG, April 27.—The proceedings in the house yesterday were brought to an exciting close. After many senate bills on second reading had been disposed of Mr. Moore, of Chester, sprung a motion that the vote be reconsidered by which the McQueen bill was killed last Monday. The measure provides that school books shall not be changed oftener than five years after they have been adopted. Mr. Herzog, of Berks, appealed to the house to vote down the motion. He said the bill had been defeated once, and ought not to be taken up again. The motion was adopted by a viva voce vote. Mr. North demanded a roll call, which showed 64 yeas and 48 nays.

Then the opponents of the bill demanded the reading of the roll. When the clerk had finished Mr. Herzog called the attention of the speaker pro tem. (Mr. Cochran, of Armstrong) to the fact that Messrs. Richey, Rhodes and several other members were recorded as having voted in the affirmative when they were not in the chamber. Several other members arose to a question of privilege, and stated that their absent colleagues were recorded. Mr. Cochran stated that he would not recognize any other members who arose to a question of privilege. His decision was greeted with hisses and faint applause. Immediately Speaker Walton stepped on the platform, and the confusion partly subsided. Members crowded around the desk to protest against the ruling of the speaker pro tem. A motion to adjourn was offered and carried.

The members were in no mood to work, although about fifty senate bills were disposed of. The bill to repeal the laws relative to the examination of boundary line monuments by commissioners of the counties located along the boundary lines of the state was taken up and passed finally.

HARRISBURG, April 29.—There is nothing but the hardest kind of work for the state lawmakers, especially the members of the house, from now until the close of the session. The committees are working day and night to get rid of the bills not yet acted upon, so that the members may be free to give all their attention to the general calendar of bills. The house committees have cleared their calendars of these bills, and are disposing of senate bills as fast as they come over.

The congressional apportionment bill will be brought out this week by the house committee. Chairman Lawrence has prepared a bill which he will submit to the committee tomorrow morning. It gives Philadelphia and Allegheny each an additional congressman and makes no material change in the other districts in the state outside these two counties.

The proceedings after having been watched with keen interest this week. Everybody is waiting to hear of the action of the judicial general committee on the Penrose resolution to investigate the operation of the Bullitt bill. The committee will meet tomorrow, and an attempt will be made to bring out the resolution without delay. There is no doubt as to the action of the committee. Three-fourths of its members are friendly to Senator Penrose, and will vote to report the memorial favorably. Senator Quay will be here this week, and it is thought he will be consulted by President Pro Tem. Thomas and Senator Penrose before the committee is announced. Senator Kennedy, of Allegheny, seems to be the general favorite for chairman. He is a personal and political friend of Senator Quay.

HARRISBURG, April 30.—The house adjourned last night after having been in session thirty minutes. This was in respect to the memory of Representative Lemon, of Allegheny county, whose death occurred at New York. Mr. Lemon was dean of the Allegheny delegation and was one of the most beloved and respected members of the house. He was taken sick early in the session, and by advice of his physician went to the Bermudas. On his return home he was stricken down at New York and lingered until yesterday afternoon. Consumption caused death.

Chief Clerk Fetterolf has had Mr. Lemon's desk and chair draped in deep black. Across the chair has been placed a white ribbon on which is printed in bold letters "Vacant." A pillow of beautiful roses rested on the desk at the evening session. Mr. Lemon's death was announced to the house by his immediate colleague, Mr. Mackrell. A resolution of condolence was presented by Mr. Stewart, of Philadelphia, and a committee was appointed by Speaker Walton to arrange for the funeral and draft suitable resolutions.

Prior to this action the calendar was cleared of bills on first reading. The Muehlbronner bill, requiring publication of official advertising in one German newspaper in cities of the second class, passed finally on a special order.

HARRISBURG, May 1.—The Quay county movement was given a serious setback in the house yesterday. The bill creating the new county was defeated on final passage by a vote of 62 yeas to 83 nays, less than a constitutional majority. The advocates of the bill have already prepared to make a fight to reconsider the bill. They are in a majority, but it is a question whether they can muster enough votes to pass it finally. The bill has already passed the senate.

The Cotton building and loan association bill was also defeated. The Marshall bill, prohibiting the sale of oleomargarine and other imitations of pure butter, passed finally. The bill is similar to the act of 1885, except that it directs that one-half of the fine collected from violators shall go to the county and the other half to the department of agriculture for the use of the state dairy and food commissioner.

The bill creating the office of deputy auditor general passed second reading on a special order, and will be considered this afternoon on third reading and final passage. It has already passed the senate. Should it become a law the position will be tendered to Captain P. D. Bricker, of Jersey Shore, the present corporation clerk of the department. The bill provides that it shall go into effect at once. It will probably be received and signed by the governor by next Tuesday, in order that Captain Bricker may enter upon the duties of office at the same time as Auditor General Mylin.

Chairman Lawrence reported the congressional apportionment bill from committee. The bill gives Philadelphia and Allegheny each an additional district.

The McQueen bill, to prohibit changing of text books by school boards oftener than once in five years after their adoption, was called up and defeated finally. Among the bills passed finally were: Giving female teachers the same salary as male teachers when occupying similar positions; authorizing the board of public buildings and grounds to set aside a plot in Capitol park for a monument to be erected by the Sixteeners' association in memory of Governor Curtin.

A Mountain League.

Although we have not yet heard of it in Bellefonte the Philadelphia Journal says arrangements are being made to form a Mountain League, for base ball, to include the towns of Bellefonte, Tyrone, Philipsburg, Clearfield, Curwensville, Dubois, Brookville and Pannsylvania. Philipsburg is already in the field with a good team and anxious to knock the stuffing out of the rest of the towns. But there is one thing certain, if Bellefonte goes into the base ball business, it will be to win, so make up your minds to that, ye neighboring towns.

Hecla and Clintondale Parks.

Superintendent J. W. Gephart, of the Central Railroad of Pennsylvania, was asked as to what further changes the company contemplated making this summer, the official stated that the improvements begun last year at Hecla park would be completed this year. He further states that he has already booked many gatherings at Hecla during the summer, sufficient dates from June 15 to September 1 having been taken to insure the occupancy of the grounds at least three days a week during that period. The cave which has been discovered near the Hecla park, he says, is quite a large cavern, but until it is demonstrated positively that the water now running in the cave can be used, or will be found in quantity sufficient to supply a large crowd, there will be no steps taken to fit it up as a resort. The cave is near the standpoint on the grounds and within 300 feet of the railroad.

Large Orchard.

A peach orchard embracing 3000 young trees on the Hahn property near Aaronsburg, is an experiment that is being anxiously watched by people living in that section. The head of this enterprise is a Juniata county peach grower, who feels certain that the Hahn property is favorably located for raising this luscious fruit.
