

GRESHAM'S SUCCESSOR.

Attorney General Olney Now in the Lead for the Place.

ATTORNEY GENERAL DICKINSON.

A Belief That the Distinguished Detroit Man Will Again Take a Place in President Cleveland's Cabinet Should Olney Take the Premiership.

WASHINGTON, June 5.—All the members of the cabinet except Postmaster General Wilson attended the cabinet meeting yesterday. Acting Secretary Uhl represented the state department. Secretary Herbert left before the meeting was over and went direct aboard the Dolphin and sailed for Annapolis, where he will attend the naval academy graduating exercises.

A cabinet officer said after the meeting that no appointment had yet been made to fill the vacancy in the cabinet. He also remarked that he did not think the president had considered the selection of a secretary of state.

Ex-Postmaster General Don M. Dickinson, it is said, would be very likely of appointment if he would accept. A possibility is Mr. Holmes Conrad, of Virginia, the present solicitor general. The fact that Mr. Conrad comes from Virginia, however, may operate against his appointment, but in case he is selected it is believed that Mr. Uhl, the present acting secretary of state, would be a candidate for the vacant solicitor generalship.

The probable new secretary of state comes from sturdy Puritan stock. His ancestor, Thomas Olney, came from England and settled at Salem, Mass., in 1735. He was one of the close companions of Roger Williams and was one of the thirteen who joined Williams in founding the town of Providence. The successive generations took high rank in New England affairs, one of them being attorney general of Massachusetts. The father of Richard Olney owned and managed the cotton mills at Oxford and also engaged in banking. Mr. Olney was one of three sons. One of them is a prominent lawyer in New York, having been district attorney for the city and county of New York. Another brother is a successful woolen manufacturer.

Richard Olney was graduated from Brown university in 1856, and from the Harvard law school in 1858. He married Agnes, daughter of Judge Benjamin F. Thomas, with whom he studied law. They have lived for late years at Boston, with summer homes near Buzzard's Bay and Gray Gables, the summer residence of the president.

Mr. Olney has served one term in the state legislature of Massachusetts, and was an unsuccessful candidate for the attorney generalship of that state. Some years ago he was tendered a position upon the supreme bench of the state, but he declined it. He was also prominently mentioned as a candidate for the chief justice of the United States supreme court, to succeed Morrison R. Waite. In politics he is an old time Democrat, but was unable to support Butler for governor. He did not take a prominent part in the last presidential campaign, but rendered effective service to Mr. Cleveland in an unobtrusive manner.

DON M. DICKINSON.

It is Believed He Will be the Next Attorney General.

DETROIT, June 5.—Upon the receipt of the Washington dispatch concerning the rumor that Don M. Dickinson would be tendered the office of attorney general of the United States, an Associated Press reporter showed the dispatch to Mr. Dickinson and asked as to whether he had received any intimation of that character.

"Is it secretary of state or attorney general this time?" queried Mr. Dickinson. After reading the dispatch Mr. Dickinson replied: "I really cannot discuss these rumors in any way. Not because I do not wish to give the news, should I have any, but, as you are aware, my relations are somewhat peculiar."

It is regarded here as by no means improbable that Mr. Dickinson would accept the legal portfolio if tendered, and his well known intimate relations with the president renders it not unlikely that he has already been consulted with reference to the filling of the vacancy in the cabinet. Detroiters believe that he is without doubt to be the next attorney general. They argue that if Mr. Dickinson intended to decline a cabinet position, if offered, he would undoubtedly announce the fact at once.

Mrs. Cleveland Off for Gray Gables. WASHINGTON, June 5.—Mrs. Cleveland and children left the city today for Gray Gables. The president is doing all he possibly can to close up affairs needing his attention here so that he may join his family at their summer home.

PENNSYLVANIA LEGISLATURE.

All House Bills Dropped from the House Calendar.

HARRISBURG, June 1.—There will be no apportionment by this legislature. This was settled yesterday afternoon by the defeat in the house of the congressional, senatorial and legislative bills. The entire afternoon session was consumed in the consideration of these three measures. The test vote was on the question: Shall the house proceed to consideration of the legislative bill? The motion was carried by a vote of 85 to 83, nineteen Democrats voting with the opponents of the bill. The measure was then voted down by 78 yeas to 88 nays. The senatorial and congressional apportionment bills were called up in turn and defeated by practically the same vote. The defeat of these measures is regarded as a victory of the friends of Senator Quay.

The bill appropriating $10,000 for the removal of the Eastern penitentiary provoked much discussion, but it passed finally with only four dissenting votes.

The first bill taken up at the morning was the general appropriation measure. It carries a total expenditure of $15,500,000, the same as appropriated two years ago. The schools are given $11,000,000. The bill was read the second time and then sent back to committee for amendment. A number of appropriation bills passed finally.

The appellate court bill passed finally in the house last night by a vote of 140 to 20. Mr. Merrick, the legal oracle of the farmers, made a strong fight against the measure, but was beaten at every turn.

HARRISBURG, June 3.—The close of this week will see the close of the state legislature. The legislators have been working day and night the past two weeks, preparing for the final adjournment. In the house nearly all the appropriation bills have been passed. The house appropriation committee has cleared its calendar of house bills, and at its meeting today the senate measures will be taken up for final consideration. The legislators will get very little rest from now until the close of the session. The calendars are loaded with bills, many of which can never be reached. This is especially the case with the house. The senate is up with its work and has nothing to do but consider measures messaged to it from the lower branch of the legislature.

HARRISBURG, June 4.—The opposition to the Quay county movement tried to block the progress of the bill in the house yesterday. The friends of the movement were on the alert, and succeeded in frustrating the plans of the other side. Interest in the bill was revived by the introduction of a resolution, the purpose of which is to prevent the people of Luzerne and Schuylkill counties from having power to create the new county should the Quay county bill pass. The friends of the new county movement are in good shape, and an effort will be made to pass the bill finally this afternoon.

The general appropriation bill passed finally, as did also several private appropriation bills. Other bills passed finally were: Giving the preference of appointment or employment to honorably discharged survivors of the war of the rebellion; increasing the age limit of pupils in soldiers' orphans' schools from 15 to 18 years.

The time of the house from now until the close of the session will be devoted entirely to the consideration of senate bills. A resolution was reported last evening from the rules committee, and adopted, dropping all-house bills from the calendar. Of the number upwards of 100 were on third reading and final passage. Many of the abandoned measures were of vital importance to those who had them in charge.

The house concurred in the senate amendments to the religious garb bill. The measure now places the penalty for the violation of the act upon the school boards employing teachers wearing any religious garb or insignia in the public schools instead of upon the teachers themselves.

The afternoon session of the senate was taken up in reporting bills, reading bills for the first time and passing bills on second reading. Among house bills passed finally were: Defining the offense of disorderly conduct on the public highways; making cities containing over 1,000,000 population of the first class, between that number and 100,000 of the second class, and below 100,000 of the third class; to fix the pay of judges and inspectors of elections in cities of the first class at $3, except in cities of the first class. The Foss bill to prohibit the issuing of liquor licenses, when a majority of the voters in any district disapprove, and the bill to preserve the purity of and prevent the pollution of streams were defeated.

HARRISBURG, June 5.—The house is getting in good shape for the final adjournment. The last of the appropriation bills were passed yesterday and the calendar cleared of second reading bills, after which the house proceeded to the consideration of senate bills on third reading and final passage. Among bills passed finally were: Authorizing the establishment of free public libraries in the several school districts of the state outside of the first and second class cities; creating a bureau of health in the department of safety in second class cities.

The senate finds it necessary to hold two sessions a day to keep more than up with the house, which is required to be at work at least ten hours a day to dispose of the more important work before it by the time fixed for the final adjournment of the legislature Saturday.

In the senate yesterday a large number of bills passed finally, among them: To prevent the issuing of fraudulent tax receipts; to legalize the dehorning of cattle; to fix the standard weight of a bushel of clover at sixty pounds; to prohibit the adulteration of milk by adding so called preservatives; to provide that none but citizens of the United States shall be employed on public buildings and works; to give tax collectors an additional year to collect taxes for which they have become personally liable.

At the afternoon session of the senate Mr. Kennedy offered a resolution, which was adopted, that a committee consisting of the president pro tem. of the senate and six senators be appointed to inquire into the entire school system of Pennsylvania. The committee is to report to the next legislature. Lieutenant Governor Lyon appointed as the committee Messrs. Kennedy of Allegheny, Brewer of Franklin, Fruit of Mercer, Snyder of Chester, Walton of Greene, Green of Berks and President Pro Tem. Thomas.

The report of Senator Gobin, chairman of the joint committee appointed to investigate the management of the Norris town hospital, says that $24,335.15 have been improperly paid from the maintenance fund the past four years. The accounts of the institution are said to be unsatisfactory, deceptive and misleading.
