THIRTEEN OF THE VIOTIMS DEAD.

Twenty-five Others Seriously Injured, and Some of These May Die-The Accident Probably Due to the Carelessness of an Eugineer Who Is Dead.

QUEBEC, July 10 .- A terrible accident occurred on the Grank Trunk railway at Crags Roads Station, about fourteeen miles west of Levis, at 3 o'clock in the morning, as the result of which thirteen persons were killed and twenty-five others more or less seriously injured, two of whom may die.

A large pilgrimage from Sherbrooke, Windsor Mills and Richmond had left the latter town for the famous Catholic shrine of St. Anne de Beaupre. The train carrying the pilgrims was divided into two sections, one running a few minutes behind the other. The first section reached Crags Road about 3 o'clock, and stopped at the tank to take water. Due precautions were taken, and the semaphore was thrown to mark "danger" against the following train.

Only the trainmen were astir. The Pullman in the rear was wrapped in silence, the sleepers all unconscious of the terrible fate that was rushing upon them. Suddenly the second section, which had passed the semaphore at full speed, dashed into the rear Pullman of the first section. The engine embedded itself in the sleeper and the latter plunged forward and partially telescoped the next car in front.

Every borth in the sleeper was filled, and many of the occupants were killed as they slept. Others awoke to their horrible surroundings maimed, bleeding and bruised, conscious of little else but the agony that racked them. It was a terrible scene. The cries and moans of the wounded and dying plerced the air on all sides, while as a canopy that served as a veil to the tragedy the steam from the shattered engine rose in clouds that blinded all observation for the time being. The reason why the second section did not observe the danger signal will probably never be known, as both the engineer and firemen were killed. It is believed, however, that the engineer, McLeod, had fallen asleep at his post. No other explanation seems possible, as there evidently had been no attempt to stop the speed of the onrushing train.

The Pullman conductor, Mr. Moore Wood, had a narrow escape. He had luckily stepped out on the rear platform just in time to see the oncoming train and jump. He thus escaped injury. The engine of the colliding train seemed to rear up, then turned completely over. The rest of the second train was derailed and badly smashed up. In an instant after the crash the air was filled with the shricks and groans of the injured and imprisoned passengers. The few train hands and station employes on the spot set to work manfully and extricated the passengers as quickly as possible.

The dead are: Charles Bedart, mail clerk, Richmond; Miss Bedart, Richmond: Hector McLeod, engineer, Rich-mond; Richard L. Perkins, fireman, Richmond; Rev. J. T. Mercler, Richmond;

Rev. F. P. Dignan, Windsor-Mills; Mr. Miss Valin, St. Ahmond: de Levis; aunt of Miss Valin, name unknown; Miss Phaneuf, St. Joseph de Levis; Mrs. J. B. Caver, Danville; Miss Delacourte, Sheffield; John O'Farrell, Capleton.

Sugar Valley Road.

The residents of Sugar Valley are agitated again over a revival of the project for building a railroad through the valley from Watsontown to Lamar. At the latter place the proposed road will connect with the Central Railroad of Penna. which extends from Mill Hall to Bellefonte. Surveyors are at work now in the east end of Sugar Valley, and the presence at Loganton recently of prominent Bellefonte citizens who are said to be interested in the construction of the road, leads to the belief that the road will be built within the next year. The above article has been going the rounds. Railroad rumors from Sugar Valley are not the most reliable, but we know that some prospecting has been going on in the past month for this purpose.
