BURGLARS OPERATED

Three Residences Entered on Last Saturday Night.

Last Saturday night a gang of house burglars were at work about Bellefonte and no less than three houses were entered, without being disturbed.

The residence of A. C. Mingle, the shoe dealer, on High street, was entered. When the family arose they found the front window and back door open, while Mr. Mingle's pantaloons and coat were down in the kitchen and about $21 in gold was missing. Closets, sideboard and shelves had been ransacked, but nothing else was missed. A few burnt matches were found lying about the rooms. A lot of silverware could have been taken but the fellows evidently were gold standard enthusiasts and did not want the cheaper stuff.

At Col. W. H. Wilkenson's residence, on Allegheny street, an entrance was until 5:30 in the afternoon In the case affected by a back door. The lower of Patrick Ward vs. I T. Ore Vein Found. While drilling for water at the old Lamborn ore bank on the Bellefonte Central railroad a few days ago, a vein of excellent ore was found about 200 feet beneath the surface.

Hazing and carousing has become an intolerable practice among the students at Penna. State College this year. They seem to have a wild set of boys, some of whom are in need of restraint. On Sat- | Wilbur H. Holt, urday about fifte in passed through Bellefonte for their respective homes, having been awarded a vacation for haza ing. On Friday evening a gang of students came to town and amused themselves tearing down signs, etc. Policeman Montgomery caught them in the act and compelled them to replace everything or betaken to the lockup. They quickly complied with his request.

Special Court Verdicts.

But two trials took place last week. In the case of Hugh Ward vs. J. T. Lucas a verdict was found on Friday for the plaintiff for $2,195 43. The jury in this case was out from 9:45 in the morning dict for the plaintiff was found for $519.25.

Freight Cars Needed.

There is a famine in freight cars on all the principal railroad lines in this state, and many shippers, who were holding off for lower freight rates, are now offering a premium on cars. The iron industries are clamoring for better service and the Pennsylvania railroad company has just placed an order for 1,000 gondola freight cars.

On Curtin Street.

On Monday night the good people on Curtin street were greatly alarmed. It appears that some night prowlers were trying to effect an entrance to the James McClain residence by working at the front door. This aroused the family of $1.50 for the round trip.

An attempt was also made to gain an eath. They are Amelia, who lives at entrance to the Wm. B. Rankin residence Hicksville, Ohio, Elizabeth, living at on the same street but were frightened

Fire at Pleasant Gap.

About 6 o'clock Friday morning fire broke out in the residence of Kurt Tayfor at Pleasant Gap. The house was burned to the ground, but the furniture and practically everything of value was saved from the flames. The fire commenced in the ceiling near the flue in the kitchen and before much could be done to check the flames the house was in ruins. The loss is about $100.

The Official Ballot.

There will be six columns on the State ballot this year except in three counties, Greene, Huntingdon and Mifflin, where there are independent candidates for President Judge. While the other parties have nominated full State tickets, the People's party have a State Treasurer only three Judges, and the Social-Labor party only a State Treasurer.

Miss Agnes J. Hull.

Miss Agnes J. Hull, daughter of Mrs. Hull, of Valentine street, Monday morning, of blood poisoning. When she first became ill on Saturday she was attacked by severe convulsions. Her death was a sudden and severe shock to her friends. Miss Hull was a young lady of 24 years of age. She was a consistent member of the Catholic church. The funeral took place at 10 o'clock Wednesday morning.
