THE TRIAL OF HOLMES.

Sensational Scenes in Judge Arnold's Court at Philadelphia.

HOLMES CONDUCTS HIS OWN CASE.

But After Two Days as an Amateur Lawyer He Recalls His Counsel and the Taking of Testimony in the Great Murder

PHILADELPHIA, Oct. 29.-The trial of H. H. Holmes, the notorious insurance swindler and alleged murderer of a number of persons in various parts of the country, who was indicted here for the murder of Benjamin F. Pitezel in this city in the summer of 1894, began before Judge Arnold in the court of over and terminer. The prosecution is conducted by District Attorney George S. Graham, assisted by Thomas W. Barlow as special counsel. William A. Shoemaker and Samuel P.

Rotan were counsel for the defense. Messrs. Rotan and Shoemaker urged a continuance of the case for sixty days to give them an opportunity to gather witnesses, but this was opposed by District Attorney Graham and denied by Judge The prisoner's lawyers then announced that they would retire from the case if the judge's decision was irrevocable, and Judge Arnold threatened them with disbarment if they did so. Then Holmes created a sensation by announcing that he discharged the lawyers. Soon after the lawyers left the room and Holmes acted as his own counsel, examining the talesmen who had been called for jury duty, and showing remarkable skill in his questioning. Incidentally he refused the services of Everett J. Schofield and J. M. Fahy, young members of the bar, and strongly urged a day's postponement, which was again denied. Finally, shortly before noon, a jury was selected.

After a two hours' recess District Attorney Graham began his opening address to the jury. He declared that he had convincing proof that Holmes had murdered Benjamin F. Pitezel.

At the conclusion of Mr. Graham's address Holmes addressed the court, asking that he be allowed to have a lighted cell during the evening and night; that he be provided with writing materials, and that he be allowed to see his wife-the one known in this case as Miss Yohe. The district attorney declared that the woman declined to see him, and it was finally arranged that he should write to her. Judge Arnold promised the prisoner all the opportunities he required in preparing his defense.

PHILADELPHIA, Oct. 30 .- At the opening of the Holmes trial yesterday District Attorney Graham announced that "the woman known as Miss Yohe and Mrs. Howard was sent for, saw the prisoner, and had ample opportunity for an interview with him." This is the woman who Holmes declared on Monday was his wife, charging that Mr. Graham had done all in his power to separate them. Holmes said that he had had only a three minute interview with the woman, and asked that it be renewed during the recess. His request was granted.

The prisoner asked that a plan of the Callowhill street house be made, and was there was none of it in possession of the prosecution.

Jeannette Pitezel, "Dessa," the 17-yearold daughter of the dead man, was the first witness called. Sheidentified several large crayon portraits of her father.

Eugene Smith, who found Pitezel's body in the Callowhill street house on Sept. 4, 1894, then told the story of his discovery, which has been already fully published. Holmes submitted Smith to a long examination, dwelling upon every point of the testimony adduced by the commonwealth, but the witness was unshaken.

At last, becoming exasperated at his inability in this respect, and in consequence of an immaterial remark thrown in by Mr. Graham, Holmes exclaimed: "I object to the bloodthirsty manner in which the district attorney and this witness are trying to draw the inference that I rushed into this potter's field and mutilated the dead body of my friend."

"You are drawing the inferences yourself," said Mr. Graham.

request that all witnesses except the one on the stand be excluded from the room Mr. Graham objected to this and Holmes sarcastically said: "I would like to know father of the Princess of Wales. whether you, Mr. Graham, or the honorable court is to make the rulings in this case. I have been anxious to know this since the trial began."

Judge Arnold upheld the district attorney and Holmes asked for and was granted an exception to the ruling. Holmes then asked that the witnesses connected with the murder of Benjamin F. Pitezel be excluded. This was granted him. After the witnesses had all left the room Holmes asked if his wife was to be a witness "Again I must ask," said the district attorney, "which wife you mean." "You know," responded Holmes: "the woman you see fit to designate as Miss Yohe, thereby casting a slur on her and myself. That woman is my wife."

"You cast a slur on her," Mr. Graham retorted, "when you married her with two wives living. I call her by the name she gives me, which is Miss Yohe. I decline to answer qour query.

Drs. Scott and Mattern testified that the body of Pitezel had been left in such condition as to hasten decomposition. Both declared that death was due to chloroform poisoning. Dr. Leffman testified that it was impossible for a man to fix himself in the position in which Pitezel's body was

The sensation of the evening session was caused by Holmes immediately after court reconvened. He arose and in a wavering tone said:

"If your honor please, I have a request to make. In consequence of the severe physical strain to which I have been subjected, and also because of the criticism leveled against my former counsel, Messrs. Shoemaker and Rotan, I have within the past half hour sent for them and asked them to again assume charge of my defense. I should like the court to permit

The two lawyers were then requested to step into the court room. Holmes was moved back to his former position, and his counsel took seats. The testimony at the evening session was o prove Holmes' temporary residence at the North Eleventh street house, under the name of Howell, where he had brought Pitezel and been visited by Pitezel.

WOMAN SUFFRAGE DEFEATED. South Carolina's Constitutional Convention Shelves the Proposition.

COLUMBIA, S. C., Oct. 30 .- The constitutional convention voted down the woman suffrage amendment by the decisive vote of 121 to 26. George D. Tillman made a great speech in advocacy of the idea, cl ming that by enfranchising women with a property qualification the white people would carry the elections by fair and honest methods, and by no other way could they do it. He characterized the suffrage plan of Senator Tillman as a temporary, fraudulent makeshift, which would not endure.

Delegate Patton introduced a substitute suffrage plan basing the franchise upon military service, and giving Confederate and Union soldiers and their descendants the right to vote regardless of educational or property qualifications, while these qualifications would apply to other voters. A vote was not reached when the convention adjourned for the day.

An effort was made to give the legislature authority to give the women the suffrage if they at any time thought proper, but the proposition was killed by a vote of

The Crush at the Durrant Trial. SAN FRANCISCO, Oct. 30 .- The close of the arguments for the defense in the trial of Theodore Durrant yesterday was marked by the greatest crowd that ever fought for admission to a court room in this city. Judge, jurors, court officers and attorneys struggled for nearly an hour in a surging throng of men and women who crowded through the corridors leading to the court room. Ropes were stretched across the corridors, but they were brushed aside as easily as pieces of twine might have been. General Dickinson finished his argument for the defense at noon. Attorney Deuprey's impaired physical condition was apparent in his argument, which was a disappointment to the large crowd who Patriotism and Pensions. WASHINGTON, Oct. 30.-Commissioner William L. Lochren, of the pension office, in his his annual report, under the head "Patriotism and Pensions," says: "Thoso men who enlisted early and fought the battles of the war were not moved by mercenary considerations, and unless actually disabled did not show the haste in applying for pensions manifested by those who enlisted near the close of the war for large bounties, and did little actual service, and who are now the noisiest in clamoring for more pensions. As compared with this latter class the real soldiers of the war have been modest in preferring claims for pensions." The report shows that the number of pensioners June 30,1894, was 969,544; new pensioners added during the year, 39,185; dropped pensioners restored, 4,206; deaths during the year, 29,816; dropped for other causes,

M. RIBOT'S RESIGNATION.

The French Premier and His Ministry Retire to Private Life.

A ROW OVER RAILROAD SCANDALS

Precipitated the Present Ministerial Crisis. The Government Charged with Laxity in Punishing Swindlers-President Faure Promptly Accepts the Resignations.

PARIS, Oct. 29.-In the chamber of deputles yesterday M. Rouanet, who has been prominent in exposing those who were connected with the Panama canal and Southern railroad syndicates, questioned the government regarding the South of France railroad scandal, it being alleged that a number of senators, deputies and others have made large profits out of the company by fair or unfair means. He declared that the good repute of parliament was involved and asked for explanations as to the partiality which had been shown towards those involved in the scandals, claiming that the authorities had been afraid to prosecute them because the deputies and senators involved with the late Baron Reinach, of Panama canal fame, had disposed of 8,850,000 francs in devious ways, and he demanded that the minister of justice, M. Trarieux, publish the documents in the case which were in his possession and which would throw light on

M. Binder, a member of the Right, then charged the minister of justice with culpable leniency, and demanded that the guilty parties be punished.

M. Traricux replied, denying that he had which required the arrest of M. Edmond Magnier, formerly senator of the Var, and recently editor in chief of The Evenement, who was recently sentenced to a year's imprisonment for having received part of the profits of the syndicate. Continuing the minister of justice said that whenever the government believed it had incriminating evidence it had prosecuted the parties involved. No deputy, he added, was included among the guilty parties.

Amid continual Radical interrup that several names were known to the government as having figured in the re-port of the expert, M. Flory, who made an. inquiry into the finances of the South of France railroad. He was interrupted by excited cries for names.

In reply M. Trarieux said: "Rouvier, Jules Roche, Etienne, Dolancle, Bardoux ond others.

When he was able to make himself heard the minister of justice added that the majority of those whose names had been mentioned had explained their position, and he concluded with the remark:

"The chamber knows the truth, and if parliament considers its dignity and honor compromised the government will join the chamber in voting for repressive measures. and in the face of these explanations asks the chamber for a vote of confidence.

The order of the day, pure and simple, was then submitted to the chamber and rejected by a vote of 406 to 105. M. Haberts then moved that the chamber agree to prohibit members of parliament from joining in financial syndicates. The motion was accepted by the premier. M. Ribot, and was adopted unanimously.

Later M. Rouanet submitted a motion demanding that full light be thrown on the South of France railroad scandals,asking the government to prosecute all those who have been found to be implicated in them, and submit to the chamber the report of the expert who inquired into the finances of the company.

M. Ribot thereupon said it was useless to submit the expert's report, and, as to the prosecutions, he added, the work of justice had been accomplished and could not be reopened.

M. Rouanet's motion asking for an explanation as to the partiality which had en shown towards those involved in the scandals, claiming that the authorities had been afraid to prosecute them, and demanding that the minister of justice publish the documents in the case, which were in his possession, was then adopted by a vote of 275 to 196.

After the adoption of this motion the ministers left the chamber of deputies in a body amid ironical Radical cheers, and went to the Elysee Palace, where they handed in their resignations to President Faure. The resignations have been accepted, and the chamber of deputies has adjourned for a week.

The ministry which has just resigned was formed on Jan. 26 by M. Ribot after the fall of the Dupuy ministry. It was composed of the following members: M. Ribot prime minister and minister of finance; M. Hanotaux, foreign affairs: General Zurlinder, war; Admiral Besnard, marine; M. Trarieux, justice; M. Leygues, interior; M. Poincare, public instruction and worship; M. Dupuy-Du-temps, public works; M. Lebon, com-merce; M. Gadaud, agriculture; M. Chau-

It is stated that neither M. Ribot, M. Poincare, nor M. Leygues will accept office again.

The Figaro recently said that the following named members of the chamber of deputies who were members of the South France railway syndicate made the profits set against their names: Jules Roche, 28,000 francs; M. Rouvier, 6,750 francs; M. Etienne, 8,000 francs; M. Dolanele,5,000 francs; M. Passy,12,500 francs; M. LeMercier, 4,500 france.

The Figaro added that these deputies were not prosecuted because the official accountant, M. Flory, was of the opinion that the formation of the syndicate was perfectly regular, and, therefore, its mem-bers were not guilty of corruption.
