the most notorious set of treasury-looters | to beat him with. that ever gathered at Harrisburg. The Gov. was in sympathy with them.

THE price of coal oil should be sufficient warning to the people what they can expect from republican rule in this state. The republican party is always inclined to increase the expense of living and the democrats to cheapen it.

IF the people elect Mr. Miller to the office of prothonotary and public records are bungled and important litigation skilled in every political artifice and becomes confused they will reap their subterfuge, with the experience of a own reward. There is no sense in a party nominating a man for an important position which he is incompetent to fill. Mr. Miller wants an office and it makes little difference what it is. This intends to rule the next national conis an important matter.

NO SENSATION.

This, the last issue of the CENTRE DEMocrar for the campaign, goes forth without springing any sensation or last card towards our republican friends. We do not believe in these late issues, sprung on the eve of an election when no opportunity remains for a reply. The qualifications of the candidates for county offices have been fully and frankly discussed and we presume by this time the intelligent electors of Centre county have fully decided how they will cast their ballots next Tuesday.

any one or two of the five or six candidates to come before it, excepting perhaps Mr. McKinley, having a decided advantage over the others. It looked like a free for all race, with the odds, indeed, in favor of one of the leaders, but with great probabilities on the side of some compromise candidate. That kind of a convention is possible, how-CHRISTOPHER MAGEE, of Allegheny county ever, only to a party whose members | Republicans on the tariff issue. While wait for the convention to assemble before maturing their plans or making to have things well settled in advance which they represent.

Not since the days of the great triumvirate, when the Republican masses at last succeeded in throwing off the rule of Conkling, Cameron and Logan, has there been less freedom in that party than today. To those dictators, who were at least men of commanding ability and the highest personal integrity, have succeeded such creatures as Thomas C. Platt and Matthew S. Quay. These are the men who are deciding today who shall be the next Republican candidate for the presidency.

As they manipulate the wires the situation in that party becomes clearer. They have already, it is understood, practically forced Mr. Harrison out of the field. However little regard we may have for the ability of the ex-president, it must be said that he has maintained a dignified position in his silent aspiration for a third nomination, and that he has not sullied his personal record by making overtures to the men who are owners in fee of the Republican party in Pennsylvania and New York. He has incurred their lasting displeasure, and upon his head fall the first consequences of their undisputed supremacy. He realizes, it is said, the impossibility of making a fight for himself in the next convention. His friends are therefore ready to enter some combination in opposition to that already formed by Platt and Quay.

While it is not openly announced, the preferred candidate of the bosses at the present time is said to be Speaker Reed. They are by no means tied up to his cause. They are not the sort of fellows to tie up to anybody until they have the consideration safely in their hands. in order that they may carry with them other textile grasses have increased to mouthly pay-roll of the Penna. Mr. Platt has been fooled out of a cabinet position once, and Mr. Quay has seen the patronage that he values melt away from him without return. In the next campaign they propose to have the terms of payment so well arranged that they cannot be evaded. While this brings Mr. Reed into prominence on the one side it serves also to brighten the chances of Mr. McKinley. As soon as one candidate assumes a dangerous prominence all the hostile elements begin to coalesce about the most prominent member of the opposition. If Mr. Reed is the candidate of Platt and Quay, and if he is to be beat-THE last republican legislature had en as such, McKinley is the easiest man

We hear therefore and shall hear less about Allison and Morton and Cullom and other "favorite sons." As the battle thickens, the Republicans of the different states will begin to gather about one or the other of the two principal figures. While it is too early yet to venture upon any definite predictions, the chances are that the next Republican nomination will be dictated absolutely by the men in that party who achieved most unenviable notoriety. Quay is perhaps the best political general in the country today. Reckless in his choice of means, lifetime in building up political machines and without a single serious reverse or failure in his operations within his party, he is now arranging his forces on a larger field and vention as arbitrarily as he does the Republican party of Pennsylvania. ### THE OHIO CAMPAIGN.

Democrats Have the Sympathies of the Manufacturers and Workingmen.

The Democratic campaign in Ohio has begun this year under the most favorable auspices, says the Philadelphia mass meeting in Columbus ex-Governor Campbell said that he opened the campaign in behalf of the Democratic party "and of that portion of the Republicans The Republican political situation is who are with us on the issues of state losing some of its complexity. It seemed | reform." The profligate acts of the last probable for a time that the next na- two Republican legislatures of Ohio tional convention would meet without have excited the deepest indignation and disgust among the Republican masses, and these feelings cannot fail to influence the result of the election.

Yet while the people take great interest in state questions national issues overshadow all others in the Ohio campaign. Though the Democrats are somewhat at variance on the silver question, they have a decided advantage over the manage their own affairs by their inde- the Republicans make their campaign pendent judgment. ### NEW JERSEY DEMOCRATS.

They Have a Good Ticket and Are on the Road to Victory.

The Democrats of New Jersey got together yesterday and staid together until they had named a most admirable state ticket, headed by Chancellor Mc-Gill for governor, and had adopted a sound and stirring platform, says the Philadelphia Record. The candidate is a platform in himself. The convention indorsed the Cleveland administration and its financial and revenue policy, but the resolutions are in the main a declaration of policy in the management of state affairs.

The attempt to saddle upon the Democratic party the responsibility for petty official thieveries is scornfully repudiated, and attention is called to the incomparable record of the party in managing the finances of the state so as to pay off all indebtedness and acquire for New Jersey the fame of being the most economically governed state in the Union. Among the resolutions is one demanding the adoption of a constitutional amendment that will render impossible any law for the legalization of gambling in any form. This knocks the race track persimmon off of the Republican tree top very nearly.

The Democrats of New Jersey have pulled themselves out of the fog in fine shape and may make a winning contest in November.

FREE RAW MATERIALS.

Republicans Would Restore the Tax on Hides, Hemp and Flax.

During the seven months ended July indicate a considerable increase in the manufactures of which these grasses are the raw materials. In threatening to restore the duties on wool the Republicans indirectly threaten the same policy toward all other raw materials of production.

The manufacturers of textile fabrics from hemp and flax, of leather, of furniture and of many other industrial products of which the materials are free, are in the same boat with the manufacturers of woolens. An impartial and consistent policy demands that the raw materials of all these manufactures should be free or should be equally taxed. There is no more reason why a duty should be imposed on the wool of a sheep than on the hide of an ox. But if the American manufacturers desire raw materials that should be again subject to duty they will vote for the party that favors this policy. The woolen manufacturers are as much entitled to free raw materials as the manufacturers of linens and leather.

We've Had Enough.

Says Senator Cullom: "When the Republican party gets control again, as it will next year, with some Republican for president, such as Reed or McKinley, or some other man, we will take up that tariff and go over it item by item.' Thanks for the notification. If the people of this country are in a humor now for going over the tariff item by item all the efforts of the Republicans to make them believe that tariff agitation is disastrons to business have been without avail - Louisville Courier-Journal.

MORE LIGHT TURNED ON

cerned, lying idle, while Philadelphia, to whom it belongs, is denied the use of it.' We here have the positive declarations of the three republican papers declaring mismanagement of the finances of the state. That there is now from $4,000oco.oo to $5,000,coo.oo lying in various banks over the state on which somebody, not the State, is drawing interest, and that if the state funds were kept on the same plan that the city funds now are, the people of the state would be $100,000 richer at the end of each year. With this showing it is not any wonder the State Treasurer becomes very rich in a term of office extending only over two years at a salary of $5,000.00 per year.

The meeting and doing of Chairman Spangler as threatened in the Gazette of last week in the face of the declarations of three leading republican papers will not be a very easy matter. Moreover the record to which the Gazette refers is made up of facts and figures taken from the appropriations and other bills passed by the legislature. They are indisputable, and any one doubting the statement in Mr. Spangler's address can verify them easily by making an examination of these various bills. They show the creation of new offices, and new departments, the increase of salaries, the establishment of new courts and judgeships. Every fact and figure and statement made by Chairman Spangler is clearly and conclusively proven by the Acts of Assembly issued for the year 1895.

The National finances under the late republican administration were juggled and bungled in a fearful manner, but owing to the fact that our columns are now full we cannot now take up this

"RETURNING PROSPERITY." The Gazette, however, says it has fully answered Chairman Spangler's glowing periods of returning prosperty. Mr. Spangler quoted from the Pittsburg Dispatch and McKinley and Carnagio in support of his statement. To these can be added the statements of Chauncey M. Depew, who recently said, "The United States have just started upon an unprecedented era of prosperity.'

And then we could fill columns with notes like the following clipped from the daily papers of all parties.

"Norristown, Oct. 9th,-The Merion Worsted mills in west Conshohocken will resume on Monday and give employment to 250 hands. "Lewistown, Oct. 16th,-The blast furConvince nace of the Logan Iron and Steel Company has been blown.' "Bellefonte, Oct. 16th,-The Bellefonte Furnace will be put in blast to its full capacity on Nov. 1st 1805. Norristown, Oct. 16th,-The Glass Works after an idleness of eighteen months resumed this evening.

ant is run to its full capacity and is mjoying the most prosperous season in "Honesdale, Pa., Oct. 19th,-Fire will be started in the Honesdale Glass Works after being idle five years. Harrisburg, Oct. 19th, -Contracts have been made with the Middletown Car Works to construct 250 cars. This will put a large number of men to work. "Sunbury, Oct. 21st,-The Sunbury Iron Works, after an idleness of four years resumed work to-day.

Thus we might go on increasing the list to many thousands. It will be noticed that many of these mills and factories have been idle, like some of our Bellefonte works, from three to five years. This carries us back to the high tariff period and shows clearly that the financial policy of the late Republican administration closed our furnaces, forges and factories, and threw out of employment hundreds of thousands of our work-men.

The Gazette and its gang have failed miserably to answer Chairman Spangler, and they should be glad to abandon the idea of making any further answer next week. We apprehend that the people of the county in the last experience they had with republican office holders in the county, are so well satisfied that they will not be anxious to repeat the experiment for at-least a full genera-

In the face of this showing it is the duty of every democrat to turn out on Tuesday next and see that his party, its principles and its nominees are supported at the polls.

Tariff on Coal

The miners of the Clearfield soft coal field must see by this time that something is wrong with the statements of the orators during last year's campaign. They know that within three weeks after the election their wages were reduced ten per cent.

The miners likewise know that they have suffered from two reductions since then and that during the past three months if the average pay was four dollars a week it was a good one. The tariff of fifty cents a ton is still on the schedule. It was never taken off and when the advice of the orators to vote to keep it on was given there was no chance to remove it. - Yet the Cape Breton mineers of Nova Scotia, where coal is free and open in competition with the markets of the world, miners are paid 69 cents a tou, equal to $65 and$72 a month. This is quite, difference over the Clearfield rate of 35 cents a ton and a possible $25 a month. The Clearfield miners have doubtless learned by experience Between Quay in Pennsylvania and that the tariff is a tax bounty in which
