Cold weather must be coming as the creek freezes over at night, an inch thick.

Frank Leeder makes a special trip to a white house in Giltintown every Saturday night. Wonder what his attraction is.

There seems to be a lot of hunting here; but not much game killed.

Any person wanting spruce chickens please call on Wess Fye, two miles northeast of Gorton. He can furnish any amount you want; very fine pullets.

Wm. Blawser, of this place, went home where he expects to stay until after the election.

PINE GROVE MILLS.

Junior Mechanics at Tyrone—Several Hunting Parties.

A full democratic vote was out on Tuesday.

WILL CONTINUE.—The protracted meeting, in the M. E. church, will continue during the week.

JUNIOR MECHANICS.—Quite a number of our Junior Mechanic members, were in Tyrone last Saturday, participating in the dedication of the new hall, and parade. They report having a very nice time.

IMPROVEMENTS.—J. D. Wagner is putting in a 30 ft steel water wheel in his mill, in place of the turbine, thus increasing the power and using less water. He also expects a new chopper this week. Anyone wishing good flour can secure it by calling on Mr. Wagner.

FELL ASLEEP.—A party of young crackshots, from this place, betook themselves to the woods, last Saturday for deer. Ed. while watching a crossing, fell asleep and had it not been for one of the party awakening him there might have been another Rip Van Winkle romance enacted. As it was, he slept so sound that a little bird lighted on his ear and did not awaken him. Be a little more careful Ed. or the next time you will be allowed to sleep.

THE MODOCKS.—Isaac Martz, Linz Musser and H. M. Krebs left on Wednesday morning with the Modocks, of Boalsburg, for a two weeks hunt at the head waters of Stone Creek. As it is a good place to hunt and all excellent shots, we predict a good supply of venison.

ABOUT ZION.

The farmers are about all done with their fall work.

A conference of the Lutheran synod of this district, is being held here this week.

MILTON WISE.

Milton Wise, one of our energetic young men, went to Altoona on Tuesday on a business trip—at least that is what he said.

Joseph Karlin, of St. Marys, Pa., bought 700 bushels of apples in this vicinity, at 40 cents per bushel, and shipped the same over the C. R. R. of Pa., this week.

A LONG WALK.—One of our merchants walked all the way to Lock Haven, last Saturday, to see his girl. He returned on Monday morning by train, and slept all the way home. It must have been his first time out.

NEW BUILDINGS.—Mrs. Lesh is building a new house at the west end of town. One of our young merchants has also selected a site for a new house, on the Struble property, south of Zion. How do you like the location, Emma?

Rumor has it that things will soon be (Love-ly) about the home of Mr. W. W. Rupert. Torsy.

ROBT. F. HUNTER, Com. W. G. RUNKLE.

Wednesday, Nov. 6, '95.

Silk Mill. The proposition of the parties who offered to locate a silk mill in Sunbury has been accepted. One public spirited citizen of the town will furnish the money needed, if no one else will contribute. The works will employ upwards of two hundred persons and will be a valuable addition to the manufacturing establishments of the town.

On Tuesday there was the customary amount of rum and boodle at work in the various sections of the county. The leaders of the two great parties greatly decry this practice, yet every election are guilty of keeping it up.

MARATHA.

The meeting in the Baptist church, is still in progress. Rev Plum conducted the service on Friday evening.

Mrs. Files, of Philipsburg, has been visiting her sister, Mrs. McKelvey, who has been seriously ill, but is now convalescent.

Mrs. Ardrey spent a few days with her son, Ellsworth Ardrey, in Bellefonte.

Miss Mary Turner, of Port Matilda, is now visiting her friends at this place.

BE CAREFUL.—Some of the folks, in our town, are thinking of committing matrimony. Boys be careful where you pop the question, as there are eaves droppers around sometimes.

STRANGE DISEASE.—Mr. Johnston, a carpenter, was working at the new farm house of Wilson Williams, when he had a severe attack of this strange disease, which sometimes baffles the skill of the most learned physicians. The victim is first seized with a sense of loneliness, then a longing for home and friends sweep over him. Those who have diagnosed the case, pronounce it homesickness. We hope Mr. J. will recover.

Miss Mollie Gingery, after spending some weeks with her sister, at Morris Mines, has returned home.

Miss Lulu Ardrey has returned to her home in Franklinville, after a sojourn of a couple of months at this place.

STATE COLLEGE NOTES.

The Adelphi Club enlivened the parlors of the University Inn, by one of their select dances.

The Friday Club was entertained by Mrs. Bevy Gill, on Friday evening. About fifty members were present, and a social time was had.

The State College Choral Society held its initial meeting, at the University Inn, on Monday evening. All lovers of vocal music will hail the organization of this society with delight, as great things are expected of it.

Quite a number of our young people invaded the hospitable home of Mr. Emanuel Musser, and held a taffy party, at which everyone present had a splendid time.

The farmers have about finished their corn, which many of them were delayed with on account of the dry weather, and are seeing to their thrashing and late apples. Many of them were much relieved by the rains of Friday and Saturday.

Dr. Theo. S. Christ, is having his barn drained, which will be a great improvement.

It is expected that many will avail themselves of the round trip rate to Philadelphia, and will go down to see the great foot ball game between U of P. and P. D. C., Oct. 21st.

The Water Co., will make connection on Wednesday with the pipeline and the town system. Z. X. Y.

WOODWARD HAPPENINGS.

Our friend, Frank Yearick, is confined to his bed by an attack of sciatic complaints.

Mr. Claire Gramley made his appearance in our village this week.

Mr. Washington Frank, who is working for Mr. Engle, of this place, climbed the Brush Valley mountain to cast his ballot.

Prof. Kahl, from Aaronsburg, made his appearance in this place on Monday evening, and organized a singing class. We wish him success.

One of the lost sons of Woodward, Camel Bowersox, made his appearance again. He seems to have lived on an abundance of good things, as he looks very plump, but is wearing his best companions hat.

Mr. John Barner, is papa of a bouncing baby girl, of which fact he is proud.

The fitting of Mr. Beaver, from Aaronsburg, passed through this place on Tuesday.

The teacher of Woodward school, intends organizing a Literary Society in his school, hoping this may be a means of drawing our patrons to his little house of instruction.

Mrs. William Benner is confined to the house by a severe time in getting her wisdom teeth.

We thought the time of Carpet Baggers had passed long ago, but on Tuesday we were surprised to see one on a wheel.

An Editor and His Soap.

An editor who died of starvation after making Dr. Tanner ashamed of himself was being escorted to Heaven by an angel who had been sent out for that purpose.

"May I look at the other place before we ascend to eternal happiness?"

"Easily," said the angel.

So they went below and skirmished around, taking in the sights. The angel lost track of the editor, and went around hedges to hunt him. He found him sitting by a furnace fanning himself and gazing with rapture upon a lot of people in the fire. There was a sign on the furnace which said: "Delinquent Subscribers."

"Come," said the angel, "we must be going."

"You go on," said the editor; "I'm not coming. This is heaven enough for me."—Memphis Commercial Appeal.

KOLA NUT TEST.

It Enables a Sick Soldier to Beat a Well Man in a 25 Mile Race.

American surgeons and army officers have for some time been experimenting with the kola nut with a view if introducing it into the commissary department of the army, to be used in lieu of other food in forced marches where there is little or nothing for the soldier to eat.

Dr. Charles E. Woodruff and Lieut. Harris, of the United States army, stationed at Fort Sheridan, have made experiments which have shown that in forced marches the kola nut gives far better satisfaction for nutritious purposes than ordinary food. Both Dr. Woodruff and Lieut. Harris found that they were less fatigued from the long walks they took when they ate nothing but the kola nut when they ate full rations of ordinary food.

An experiment with the kola nut was made in St. Louis and the result was identical with that of the Fort Sheridan officers. A number of the army officers of Fort Snelling were anxious to see the result of an experiment, and so the test was arranged.

Corporal R. P. Wyatt and Private M. C. Olson, both of Company F, started from the Ryan Hotel at 8:40 to walk to the West Hotel at Minneapolis and return to the Ryan at once. Private Olson was not allowed to eat any breakfast, but he was given five little reddish nuts about the size and shape of a good sized hickory nut, which he was told to eat slowly on the way.

Further than this he was not allowed to eat any food while making the trip. Corporal Wyatt was allowed to eat a good hearty breakfast and told he could eat and drink what he wished on the way. He was requested to regulate his diet according to the soldier's bill of fare when the larder in the commissary's tent is well stocked.

At 3:50 the two men arrived at the Ryan Hotel from their journey to Minneapolis. In giving their accounts of the trip, which comprised a walk of 25 miles in the hot sun, they plainly showed that the kola nut had proved the more satisfactory diet.

Corporal Wyatt had eaten and drank freely as he felt inclined to during the day, and came in almost overcome by the heat, and thoroughly tired and stiff from the long walk. Private Olson, who but recently arose from a bed of sickness and has not fully regained his strength, was much the fresher of the two, and had suffered little from heat. He said he ate two of the nuts on the way to Minneapolis and two on the way back, and that he had sat and rested while his companion ate and drank.

He said he never felt better than when he returned from the long tramp, and that he thought that the walk had done him good. He had not felt the need of more food.

"ONLY TWO OF US LEFT."

Patti Says She and Nilsson Are the Last of the Old School.

La Diva Patti, who at two score and ten has again taken London by storm, is interviewed sympathetically in London Lady regarding her recent triumphant season at Covent Garden. The proof of the pudding is in the eating thereof, and La Diva is certainly entitled to speak of the singing voice with authority. Here is what she says:

"Yes," she began, "my reception was most gratifying the other night. I thought the people never would stop cheering. I assure you it brought tears to my eyes, and my heart had to be pushed well down my throat before I could find my voice."

"My voice? Yes, I know. It has always astonished me myself; but, then, God gave it to me, and I pray and believe that it will be many a long year before He takes it from me. Like 'Violletta,' I would sing my highest, sweetest note, even with my last breath."

"Do I feel more fatigued now than I used to?" continued Patti. "No. But, remember, I take the very, very best care of myself, and of every detail of my health. My diet, my wines, my hours of sleep, of practice, of recreation, are all most thoughtfully arranged, and under absolute regulation, and I never transgress."

"And again, cher Monsieur, I think that the school of operatic training to which I belong no longer exists. As I told Christine Nilsson the other day when we met in Paris, 'Only you and I are left, my dear,' and she agreed with me. Singers were not turned out in half dozens, like—like—well, to use an Americanism, like oysters on the half shell."

"I cannot help thinking that the reason that so few voices last among the present day singers is because so much of their tuition was forced. There was too much anxiety for a quickly-made voice, and so, like a burst of fireworks, there is glory for a little while, and then—puff—out!"

Neither Denial or Affirmation.

"You're a wicked, lazy tramp," shouted the red-faced woman.

"Madam," rejoined the tourist calmly, "I decline to be drawn into any controversy. You will take notice that I do not claim to be a June bride."—Detroit Tribune.

Papa's Joy.

"Ma," inquired Bobby, "hasn't pa a queer idea of heaven?"

"Well, I think not, Bobby. Why?"

"I heard him say that the week you spent at the seashore seemed like heaven to him."—Pottsville Review.

A recent advertisement in London Times reads as follows:

"Would the gentleman speak yet again, who said in London, 1865, that he loved me, and then that he was thrown over? All remembered. Parents are dead.—E. D. C.

Recent surveys show that one-sixth of the State of Oregon, something over 10,000,000 acres, is covered with dense forests.

A Soldier's Gold Medal Found.

A gold medal has been found on the farm of Dr. Gustavus Brown, Dickerson Station, Md., which would seem to have been lost while McClellan's army was encamped at that place in 1862.

Some laborers engaged in digging post holes unearthed it about 18 inches below the surface. It is about the size of a $10 goldpiece. On one side is a vignette of General McClellan, encircled by the letters of his name. On the reverse side, standing out plainly and distinctly, appears the name of "Franklin G. Pulisipher, Company I, Twelfth Vermont Volunteers." The medal is in the possession of Mr. Jamison, the superintendent of the farm, Dickerson Station on the Metropolitan branch of the Baltimore and Ohio railroad, 30 miles from Washington.—Washington Post.

—A special train will be run to Oak Hall, on Saturday, for the benefit of persons who wish to attend the funeral of Mr. Gilliland, leaving Bellefonte at 9:30 a. m.; fare for round trip, 50 cents.
