RIOTS IN PHILADELPHIA.

Serious Results of the Great Street Car Strike.

TRAFFIC ENTIRELY SUSPENDED.

Strike Sympathizers Wreck Cars and Assault the Men Who Tried to Run Them. Strikers Themselves Took No Part in the Disorderly Demenstrations.

PHILADELPHIA, Dec. 18.—It has been many years since this community witnessed the sights it did yesterday along Chestnut and Eighth streets. The former, from Eighth to Broad, and the latter, from Arch to Chestnut streets, were prac-line. The cars JOHN L. WELSH. Broad, and between that point and Eighth street about twelve cars were massed when a crowd of small boys began taunting the motormen and conductors. Then stones were thrown and in an instant almost the twelve cars were made the subject of a general attack, and forced pedestrians and shoppers to take refuge in the stores. The attack was kept up for so long that some merchants were compelled to lower their iron window shades for protection. Meanwhile a detail of policemen had been summoned, and after hard work succeeded in dispersing the mob, making many arrests. During the disturbance Reserve Policeman Keppler was very seriously injured through being beaten and stoned. The trouble was without question the fault of small boys, urged and assisted by a gang of hoodlums.

The police were absolutely unable to control the mob. From early morning until dusk, as each branch line made desperate efforts to start, howling mobs surrounded each car, stoned and hooted the motorman and conductor, smashed the windows, cut the trolley ropes and wreaked all possible destruction. The strikers took little, if any part in the work of destruction. This was in the hands of the inevitable rowdy element. Many persons were injured by flying missiles, and there is fear that when complete reports have been received they will include fatalities, and thousands of dollars' worth of valuable property was destroyed. The flercest riot of the day occurred at Sixth and Vine streets, about noon. The mob reached almost to Market street. It entrenched itself along the sidewalks and bombarded every car which attempted to run the gauntlet. Superintendent Linden, with a great force of police, finally succeeded in dispersing the crowds, after sixteen arrests had been made. At Sixth and to all appearances were living happily. and Market a veritable pandemonium from the upper floors of business houses on either hand. Motormen and conductors fled for their lives.

Later in the day another violent scene was witnessed at Eighth and Market. A West Philadelphia car made its appearance. Motorman, conductor and the few passengers were ordered to leave, and after the fender had been ripped from its attachments, and the same general work of destruction perpetrated, the car was upset at the intersection of the two lines of track. This blockade was not raised for two hours. Similar scenes occurred in the northeastern section, and all through the city less destructive attempts were made to prevent the running of the cars.

Three proclamations were issued by Mayor Warwick yesterday afternoon. First, he appealed to all good citizens to assist the authorities in maintaining order, and to that end to refrain from gathering in crowds on the streets. Secondly, he ordered the summary closing of all liquor saloons, and thirdly, he asked all women and children to stay at home.

Five hundred extra policemen were sworn in by Mayor Warwick last night. They have orders from the mayor to carry their batons unsheathed. Should this fall the governor will be appealed to to order out the militia. The city's executive declared in unmistakable terms that the strike is no longer a contest between a railway company and its employes, but a battle between the city and violence, and the city will win, if it takes the United President Mahon, of the National Association of Street Railway Employes, made a statement to the public in reference to the disturbances. He denied that the strikers were in any way to blame. He said the disorder and destruction to property was the work of others not connected with them.

John Lowber Welsh, president of the Union Traction company, was in and out the offices from early morning until late at night. At 10 o'clock last night he bustled in to tell the mayor that the mob surrounding the car stables at Eighth and Dauphin streets threatened violence. Extra police were at once sent to the scene

KHARPOOT MASSACRE

Further Details of the Turkish Attack on Christians.

LOOTING OF AMERICAN MISSIONS.

Though the Americans Escaped with Their Lives, They Lost Property Valued at $25,-000 to $50,000-Not a Single Moslem Killed During the Disturbances.

CONSTANTINOPLE, Dec. 18 .- Further details which have just been received here from Kharpoot shed a clearer light upon the massacr of Christians and the de struction of the American mission buildings there on Nov. 10. A false report was circulated at Kharpoot some days previous to the outbreak to the effect that the American missionaries were in possession of arms, which they were distributing to the Christians, preparing the latter for an attack upon the Mussulmans. Dr. Herman M. Barnum went personally to the governor of Kharpoot and gave up to that official five revolvers owned by the American missionaries. Dr. Barnum and his associates also induced the other Christians of Kharpoot to surrender their arms to the Turkish authorities, hoping thereby to aver the threatened uprising of Mussul-

But the surrender of the arms had no effect upon the excited population, showing that the reports circulated were only part of a deliberate plot. The attack upon the Christians, the burning of the mission buildings, already fully detailed in these dispatches, followed, in spite of the assurances of the Turkish governor that the fullest protection would be accorded to the property of the Americans as well as to Americans themselves. From 500 to 1,000 people are believed to have been killed, and American property variously estimated to value from $25,000 to $50,000 was destroyed. The Americans, however, all escaped with their lives.

The advices just received conclude with the statement that it is a noteworthy fact that not a single Moslem was killed during the disturbances. In most places the Christians did not offer any resistance, knowing it to be useless, but fled for their lives, abandoning their houses and stores to the pillage of the rioters.

The terrible extent to which the outbreaks were allowed to spread can be judged from the following facts: At Arabgkhir, out of 2,500 Armenian houses, 2,300 were destroyed, and 21,817 Armenians, including 17 Catholics, perished. In the village of Ambarga 60 houses were burned, and at the village of Shenik 100 dwellings were destroyed, and in both cases all the inhabitants were killed.

On the other hand, the Turkish government has communicated to the embassies a note, the substance of which is that the insurgents of Zeitoun have pillaged and burned the Mussulmans villages of Echau, Okatir, Kerenill, Simerek, Sari and Kerchurke and have killed 266 Mussulmans, of whom sixteen were women. The Zeltounlis are also alleged to have committed the most horrible atrocities. Lieutenant Agha, of the Turkish forces, and his wife, it is added, were murdered by the insurgents | El Paso, Tex., Feb. 14, for $19,000 and the of Zeitoun after their children had been been tortured by the Armenians

Alleged atrocities committed by the insurgents of Zeltoun are put forward to pave the way for a massacre of the people of Zeitoun, which shall be calculated to strike terror to the hearts of all the other disaffected subjects of the sultan.

The sleeping passengers were awakened by the rush of water, which deluged many state rooms, and to add to their excitement the electric light plant gave out, leaving the ship in total darkness for some time. The officers 'quickly allayed the fears of the passengers. The vessel carried over 100 passengers.

Dec. 15 the Tafna approached the disabled Athena, and when within a cable's length of her a flame was seen to shoot out of the center of the deck, and the port holes at the stern. The secretary devotes a large share his report to a discussion of the conditi of the treasury and the currency, in t course of which he makes an exhaustive argument in favor of the retirement of the green backs. He expresses the opinion that the secretary of the treasury ought always to have authority to issue and sell or use in the payment of expenses short time bonds bearing a low interest to supply casual deficiencies in the revenue. Referring to the cause of the existing stringency he says: "If the income tax provision contained in the act of Aug. 28, 1894, had been sustained by the courts it is believed that the deficiency for the year would not have exannual report. In that report the opinio was expressed that the laws then in force would not only yield an ample revenu during the fiscal year 1896, but that the would be a surplus of nearly $29,000,000.
