

DEATH BY EXPLOSION.

It Wrecks a Manufacturing Building at New Haven.

ONE VICTIM TORN TO PIECES.

The Other Two Were Burned to Death in the Fire Which Followed the Explosion. Four Others Seriously Injured—Workmen Rush for Their Lives.

NEW HAVEN, Jan. 22.—A tremendous explosion of gas occurred in the factory of Frank Pfeiffer & Co., located in the building of English & Mersy, on Crown street. One man was instantly killed by the explosion, two others lost their lives in the fierce fire which followed, the buildings and contents were totally destroyed, and a loss of $100,000.

The dead are: Joseph C. Hauser, machinist, aged 38, body frightfully mangled; Thomas Toof, aged 40, body almost burned away; Harbison Stevens, aged 24, body horribly burned.

Injured: Frank P. Pfeiffer, Sr., burned about face and arms; Alexis Krah, a foreman, burned and bruised; Frank C. Richter and James T. McNeil, seriously bruised.

The explosion occurred without a second warning, and was felt throughout the city. The cylinder of a gas regulator, containing a gaseous fluid with which an experiment was being made, blew out with a report similar to that of a ten pounder.

The report tore through the ceiling in the apartment of Frank P. Pfeiffer & Co., and burst through the roof. Joseph Hauser, a machinist, was attending the regulator, and was torn to atoms. His throat was cut, one leg was blown off, both arms and the remaining leg were broken, the face was battered to a pulp and the trunk was a mass of cuts and bruises.

At the time of the explosion there were in the building forty persons, including the factory hands and the office clerks in the three concerns located there. The building was a four-story brick structure. On the ground floor and second story were the works of English & Merrick, manufacturers of carriage hardware.

The third floor were the rooms of Edwin J. Toof & Co., makers of sewing machine attachments, and the fourth floor was occupied by F. P. Pfeiffer & Co., machinists.

As soon as the report was heard the workmen rushed for their lives. In an instant the building was filled with smoke, steam and dust, and flames burst out with great violence, fanned by the draft of air admitted through the front of the building, which had been completely blown out. In a trice the flames communicated to the whole building.

The entire fire department, together with the reserves, were called to the scene, and it was three hours before the fire was under control. Meanwhile Hauser's body had been found on the first floor. As the firemen arrived upon the scene the crowd which had gathered was scattered by another explosion, not so violent as the first. When the building could be entered the search for dead bodies was begun. The roll was called and it was thought that all had been accounted for. A little later, however, the firemen made their way through a mass of debris and came upon two horribly burned bodies, which were identified as those of Bookkeeper Stevens and Thomas Toof.

The loss will prove total to the owners of the building and the tenants. Although the loss will not reach a figure much in excess of $100,000, there is insurance on the property amounting to $133,000. It appears that in order to use acetylene in a building a special permit must be obtained. This had not been done in this case, and it is likely that some contest will be made against the claims for insurance.

Death of General Ewing.

NEW YORK, Jan. 22.—General Thomas Ewing, who was knocked down by a cable car on Monday, died yesterday from the shock. General Ewing had left his home, intending to go down town by the elevated road. As he reached Third avenue a cable car passed, and he stepped directly behind it, not noticing that one from the opposite direction was right upon him. The corner of the car struck him and threw him back several yards, and he landed on his head. General Ewing, who was a native of Ohio, was one of the lieutenants of the late Allen G. Thurman in his Ohio campaign, and served a term in congress from that state. He had a distinguished war record.

AN EQUINE HOLOCAUST.

A Score of Horses Burned to Death at Lancaster, Pa.

LANCASTER, Pa., Jan. 21.—Fire last night destroyed the large frame livery and boarding stables of Benjamin W. Hirsch, in the central section of the city. The building was of frame, and the flames spread with great rapidity, the structure being a blazing mass when the firemen reached it. There were between thirty and forty horses in the stables when the fire broke out, and less than half of them were gotten out, the number burned being estimated at twenty or more. Among these were valuable animals with good race track records. The terror of the frightened beasts, penned in their flaming prison, added to the excitement.

The firemen were hampered in the work of preventing the spread of the flames by a network of electric light, telephone and telegraph wires surrounding the building. Nothing in the building was saved, the efforts of the firemen being directed to saving the adjoining property. Quantities of oats, hay and other material were destroyed, together with many valuable carriages. The loss will aggregate upwards of $20,000. The fire is thought to have been of incendiary origin.

On the original charges against them a total bail of $18,000 was required, so that now the cost of freedom to them is $48,000. The charges against them involve the assumption, according to City Controller H. L. Gourley, that they made away with anywhere from $90,000 to $250,000.

The amount of taxes collected for these purposes was $25,373,590.87. This includes the amount expended for the support of county governments. These counties collected $47,917,149.48 in taxes for all purposes during the year. The total amount received during the year from licenses was $4,948,937.05; on real estate of railway corporations, $741,203.60; on real estate of corporations other than railways, $1,863,836.41.

WELLINGTON GETS IT.

Maryland Legislators Select Him for United States Senator.

ARTHUR P. GORMAN'S COLLEAGUE.

As Chairman of the Republican State Committee in the Last Campaign He Did Signal Work for His Party—The Eastern Shore Law Ignored.

ANNAPOLIS, Md., Jan. 22.—The protracted struggle for the United States senatorship which has been going on in the Maryland legislature for the past week was practically terminated last night by the Republicans in caucus nominating Congressman George L. Wellington to succeed Senator Gibson. His victory was decisive. The caucus adjourned without nominating a state treasurer.

The caucus met at 8 o'clock, and a stormy debate ensued over a resolution introduced by Speaker Mudd to make the action of the caucus binding, as a party measure. To this Senator Randall offered a substitute to the effect that it should be binding only upon those who had no conscientious scruples against voting for the nominee. Both SEORGE L. WELLINGTON, was withdrawn finally, and balloting began. Upon the first call of the roll it was found that Wellington had secured 40 out of the 48 votes present, and a rush to change began. The nomination was ultimately made unanimous. Prior to the changes the ballot stood: Wellington, 40; Goldsborough, 31; Westcott, 5; Dixon, 2.

The beginning of the end occurred yesterday, when in joint session Speaker Mudd took the floor and cast his vote for Wellington, in which he was followed by three other members who had steadily voted against the western shore man.

George L. Wellington is the congressman from the Sixth Maryland congressional district, which comprises Allegany, Garrett, Washington, Frederick and Montgomery counties. He was elected to congress in 1894, defeating Ferdinand Williams, his Democratic competitor, by a plurality of 2,967. Mr. Wellington lives in Cumberland, Allegany county, the home of Governor Lloyd Lowndes, and to his energy Governor Lowndes is greatly indebted both for his nomination and subsequent election. As chairman of the republican state central committee during the memorable campaign of 1895, which resulted in the election of the entire republican ticket and the overthrowing defeat of the Democrats in Baltimore city, Mr. Wellington made an enviable record.

When it became apparent that the Republicans had carried the legislature and would have a majority on joint ballot Mr. Wellington promptly announced himself a candidate to succeed Senator Charles H. Gibson, and has waged an unceasing fight for the place from that moment. He was bitterly opposed by many Republicans, not because he did not deserve the honor at the hands of his party, but because of an ancient statute which proscribes that one of the senators from Maryland shall always come from that section of the state lying east of the Chesapeake, and known as the "eastern shore."

Neither Senator Gorman nor Mr. Wellington reside in that section, and this fact greatly handicapped the latter. The law, however, has been ignored, mainly upon the ground that it is unconstitutional, and Mr. Wellington's nomination has been brought about in spite of it. All of his opponents are from the eastern shore, but the inability of the legislators from that section to unite upon any one of them gave the prize to Mr. Wellington.

The Democrats also held a caucus last night, and nominated State Senator John Walter Smith for United States senator, Spencer Jones for treasurer and Messrs. Gill and Legg, the present incumbents, for police commissioners of Baltimore.

Hills, a retired school teacher of supposed ample means, known as a poetess, whose name appeared in New York newspapers and magazines, was found dead in her cottage at Mamaroneck yesterday, where she lived, under circumstances which lead to the belief that she was strangled to death by a robber who came for her money. GENERAL CAMPOS' SUCCESSOR.

General Weyler Will Lead the War Against Cuban Insurgents.

MADRID, Jan. 18.—The cabinet has unanimously decided to supersede Captain General Martinez de Campos and his lieutenant, General Arderius, owing to differences which exist between them and the political parties in Cuba. General Marin and General Pando, who are now in command of Spanish troops in the province of Santiago de Cuba, will replace Generals Campos and Arderius temporarily.

HAVANA, Jan. 20.—A dispatch from Madrid announces that General Valeriano Weyler has accepted the appointment to the governorship of Cuba, and will sail for the island on Friday next. General Suarez Valdes has been appointed second in command. General Polavieja, whose name had been mentioned as the probable successor of General Campos, had a conference on Saturday with the president of the council of ministers, Senor Canovas del Castillo, at Madrid. The general expressed himself as favoring the appointment of General Valeriano Weyler as captain general and in consequence the latter was sent for. Cuban sympathizers here declare that Weyler's policy will be one of brutal annihilation.

On Saturday General Campos, who will return immediately to Spain, sent the following telegram to Senor Castillo: "I consider you: telegram as an order, but I ought to state that I have not given my resignation. I have no sense of failure. I am the first to congratulate the government upon its decision, which, perhaps, will avert disagreements which do not affect me and yet might be hurtful to Spain."

The Proclamation Ready.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 21.—It is learned from a trustworthy source that the United States is about to recognize the belligerency of the Cuban insurgents. There is high authority for the statement that President Cleveland was ready on Saturday to issue a proclamation recognizing the belligerency of the revolutionists, and that it was withheld on account of the announcement of the recall of General Campos. It was felt by the president that to issue a proclamation immediately on the heels of this action would be an affront to the Spanish government, and a delay of a few days was accordingly decided upon.

HARRISON NOMINATES HIMSELF

As a Matrimonial Candidate with Mrs. Dimmick, His Former Wife's Niece.

NEW YORK, Jan. 18.—The fact that General Harrison had an important statement to make drew a large crowd of politicians and others to the corridors of the Fifth Avenue hotel last night. At the appointed time Mr. Tibbitts, the general's private secretary, made the following statement in his room, where he received the members of the press: "General Harrison authorizes the announcement that he and Mrs. Dimmick are engaged to be married, and that the marriage will not take place until after Lent."

Mrs. Dimmick, to whom the general is engaged, is better known in Indianapolis and Washington than in New York. During the life of Mrs. Harrison, who was her aunt, Mrs. Dimmick practically governed Mr. Harrison's household in Indianapolis, and directed the household affairs of the White House during the period that Mrs. Harrison was ill and prior to her death.

Mrs. Dimmick was a favorite with the then president in Washington is without a doubt. At all state functions she received with Mrs. Harrison when alive, and acted in her place later when she was sick.
