PLEASANT GAP REJUVINATING CLUB.

A Breezy Report of its Last Meeting, by our Correspondent. For the last meeting of the Pleasant Gap Rejuvinating club your correspondent submits the following report:

Meeting called to order at 7:30 p. m., with President Regrabelknud in the chair. Minutes of the previous meeting read and approved. The first case for the evening to try Dr. Regrabelknud's elixir upon, was Thos. Tute; he being unable to give his age, they proceeded to attend to his case. Mr. Tute's complaints were that he had a useless amount of flesh about his feet, stiff in the knees and hump-backed. An injection of 27 ounces of the fluid was made in his right foot, and in ten minutes he became very happy and began to sing "Nearer My God to Thee," and in about half an hour he started for Pete III, and wanted to fight out a grudge of ten years standing. At this writing he shows signs of retrograding, for he has an enormous appetite, sleeps like a log, has fought and came out victorious over all be came in contact with. Mr. Tute is now an active member, with good understanding and will no doubt be promoted to president of the club. Verdict at 11 o'clock was that Mr. Tute looked ten years

Next up for experiment was Pete III. He claimed to be 70 years old, rather lop shouldered, has shed part of his hair, and has had an enormous appetite for 70 years. He gave his occupation as being interested in raising booded stock (hogs). It was deemed wise to give Pete only 4 ounces as a trial; after he had taken this amount he said he felt hungry for raw turnips. After eating a bushel of turnips he was given another dose, and in half an hour was ready to fight the entire club. After knocking about half the members of the club around he sat down at peace, but soon arose and had the appearance of a young man of 21 years, and goes around aching for some one to knock a chip off his shoulder. At this writing he is improving and still insists on eating a bushel of turnips after each

The next was "Matt," the wonderful singer. Matt's complaint was of being very horse and a little stiff necked; he also complained of having for some years past, coughed up peach stones, water melons, etc., which he stated was not very pleasant. The committee at once looked upon his case as being a very serious one, while Matt claimed he had no faith whatever in the elixir, and as the committee had about a gallon on hand and didn't want to waste any they gave him the whole as a dose. A short recess was declared, after which 'he same case was again taken up, and when orders were given to proceed it was thought Matt was dead, but this state of affairs soon passed away for he sprang to his feet and with a whoop declared he felt like a new man. Since the last meeting he has eaten 11 bushels of raw potatoes and has coughed up the same number of peach stones.

The next case called up was Colonel Johnson. He is 59 years old, tall and slim. He complained of having been troubled from catarrh, consumption and gout and other unpleasant things, and stated that previous to his coming to the meeting he had eaten a barrel of tar. He also stated that six months or more ago he had bought a coffin on the installment plan, and but a very short time ago his wife had called the neighbors in at midnight to see him die. The business of the club was delayed 15 minutes until another barrel of the elixir was tapped. It was thought two gallons would be a moderate dose, as they had decided his case to be the most serious yet before the club. After he had taken the dose he sat down and began to cry like a child. It was then thought proper to give him a second dose, which was done, and in a short time he arose and looked 40 years younger. He was heard to say he would make Rome howl and was placed in the lock-up, and when the meeting adjourned the Col. or the lockup was no where to be seen.

Next was our ex-Squire. He stated he was 40 years old but did not want to be experimented on. He gave as a rea. of Names. son that he had just been run over by a butcher wagon that weighed 30 tons. He was given several doses and has ever since been standing on his head at his place of business, and will not eat anything but raw cabbage and sausage. He looks much younger.

Next for inspection was Sid, the great tie maker. His testimony was interesting, stating he had made ties one day, and for nearly a week was sick, and owing to his sickness was compelled to pay bills amounting to $10. He asked the club if they had any remedy for his case and was answered in the affirmative, but his case was held over until next meeting.

Pennsylvania's New Industries.

The bureau of industrial statistics is preparing an interesting report on a number of comparatively new industries in Pennsylvania. A feature of the report will be an elaborate treatment of the tinplate industry, showing its early trials and development, together with illustrations of the various stages of the manufacture of tin from the steel billet to the finished product. The silk industry of the state will also form an interesting feature of the report. Comparative returns will likewise be given from iron and steel, glass textile and other manufactories for the past four years. Comparisons will be made from the same plants for each of these years showing the number of employes, aggregate wages, total product of manufactures,
