An Authoritative Statement from the Ex-President.

DOES NOT WANT A NOMINATION.

Has No Desire to Re-enter the White House as Chief Executive-Friends of McKinley, Morton and Allison All Claim Harrison's Strength for Their Candidates.

INDIANAPOLIS, Feb. 4 .- Captain John K. Gowdy, chairman of the Republican state central committee, called on General Harrison last evening by invitation, and the ex-president handed him the following explanatory letter:

'In view of the resolutions passed by the state central committee at its recent meeting, and of the fact that delegates to the national Republican convention are soon to be chosen in this state, I have concluded that some statement from me as to my wishes and purposes should now be made to my Indiana friends. Hitherto I have declined to speak to the public upon this matter, but scores of friends with whom I have talked and many scores more to whom I have written will recognize in this expression the substance of what I have said to them. To everyone who has proposed to promote my nomination I have said, 'No.' There never has been an hour since I left the White House that I have felt a wish to return to it.

"My Indiana friends have been most devoted and faithful, and I am their grateful debtor. The Republican party has twice in national convention given me its indorsement, and that is enough. I think the voters of our party are now entitled to have a new name. For the sentiment, great or small, that has been manifested for my nomination I am grateful, and of that wide respect and kindness-breaking party lines-which have been shown me in so many ways, I am profoundly appre-

"I cannot consent that my name be presented to or be used in the St. Louis convention, and must kindly ask my friends to accept this as a sincere and final expression upon the subject."

Where ieneral John C. New was seen relative to the letter of General Harrison he said:

"It takes General Harrison entirely out of consideration as a candidate before the St. Louis convention. General Harrison is not accustomed to fight behind disguises, and it would be unjust to General Harrison to suspect that there is offered any hope of reading between the lines. The letter says what he has said to me and others of his friends for a year. We had hoped that he might be induced to change his mind, but he has evidently made up his mind, and his declaration should be regarded as final."

'For whom will the vote of the Indiana delegation probably be cast?"

"I think that in the great manufacturing districts of the state the sentiment will be for McKinley. In some parts of Indiana Senator Allison has a following that will probably make him some dele gates. I do not take it that Speaker Reed will develop much strength.

J. K. Gowdy, chairman of the Republican state central committee: "I think the strength of Indiana will go for the most part to McKinley, with some following for Allison.

CHEERING TO OTHER CANDIDATES, Friends of McKinley, Morton and Allison

All Claim Harrison's Strength. CLEVELAND, Feb. 4.-Hon. M. A. Hanna was shown the Associated Press dispatch from Indianapolis announcing the withdrawal of General Harrison from the presidential race, and was asked what effect the letter would have on the candidacy of

"I cannot but regard the withdrawal of General Harrison in the most favorable light," said Mr. Hanna, "because of the well known strength of Governor McKinley in Indiana. He has long been very popular among the Republicans of that state, and the accessions he will get there will certainly be a strong accession to his forces in the central west. Now that General Harrison has refused to permit the use of his name, much of the support that would have been given to him will come to McKinley."

CINCINNATI, Feb. 4.—Senator-elect J. B. Foraker, when informed of the positive declination of ex-President Harrison, said: "I never thought Harrison was a candidate for the nomination in the ordinary sense of such a candidacy. I am surprised, however, that he seems to debar himself from accepting the nomination should an emergency arise in which he might be desired by the convention. I think his declination strengthens Mr. McKinley's

DES MOINES, Iowa, Feb. 4.-The letter of ex-President Harrison stating that be would not be a candidate for renomination is pleasant reading for Mr. Allison's friends. They believe that a large part of Mr. Harrison's following will ultimately come to the Iowa man. They claim it was the vote of Iowa which turned the tide in the direction of Mr. Harrison in 1888. A number of people interviewed here take this view of the matter.

NEW YORK, Feb. 4.-Edward Lauterbach, chairman of the Republican county committee, said last night regarding Harrison's declination: "Assuming that General Harrison has declined to allow his name to be used as a presidential candidate, I think General Harrison's strength will undoubtedly go to Governor Morton, whose candidacy will be greatly strength-

Albany dispatches quote these expres-sions of opinion: Senator Ellsworth: "Mr. Merton will profit by the retirement of Mr. Harrison." Speaker Fish: "There will be some other retirements before the convention in favor of Mr. Morton."

Killed in Mistake for a Thief.

NEW YORK, Feb. 5.-Franz Seidel was shot and killed early in the morning by Hans Theede, proprietor of a beer bot-tling establishment. The shooting occurred in Theede's yard. Seldel had gone in pursuit of two burglars who had tried to rob kis employer. Theede was awakened by the noise, and seeing several men run ning through his yard fired at them with a rifle. He brought down one of the men, and then summoned the police. An investigation showed that Theede had killed his faithful employe.

Colonel Coit Acquitted.

COLUMBUS, O., Feb. 3.-Colonel W. H. Colt. who commanded the Fourteenth Ohie regiment while protecting a prisoner in the jail at Washington Court House, about two years ago, and fired upon the killing five of its members and checking the unruly gang, has been so-quitted. This was his second trial.

GREAT BRITAIN'S WEAKNESS

Lord Salisbury Declares That She Could Not Suppress the Turks.

LONDON, Feb. 1.-The banquet of the Non-conformist Unionist association at the Hotel Metropole last night was the occasion for an address by the Marquis of Salisbury, prime minister and secretary of state for foreign affairs. In the course of his remarks he said with reference to Venezuela:

"I have been held up as the denouncer of the Monroe doctrine. As a matter of fact, although the Monroe doctrine is no part of international law, my message to Mr. Olney, the secretary of state of the United States, supported it as a rule of policy in the strongest and most distinct terms. But when I stated in that dispatch, and reiterate now, that, as a rule of policy, we are the entire advocates of the Monroe doctrine, we mean the Monroe doctrine as President Monroe understood it. In that sense you will not find any more convinced supporters than we are.'

Lord Salisbury then turned abruptly to the Armenian question, and he reproached the religious communities with laboring under a mistake when they supposed that England had bound herself in honor to succor the Armenians. He said:

"If you ask why we have not interfered I can only answer for England that we could have threatened what I may call annoyances in the seizing of customs here and there, but when you are dealing with the rising of a whole fanatical population against a population with whom they have been at bitter enmity for ages, and who are situated in mountains far removed from the seashore, you are deceiving yourselves if you imagine that England's arm, long as it is, could have done anything in mitigation. Nothing but a military occupation could have done it, and England does not possess the power for military occupation at that distance.'

Fatal Explosion in Lawrence, Mass.

LAWRENCE, Mass., Feb. 4 .- A frightful explosion at 10:30 o'clock last night tore up a portion of Broadway on the south side, causing loss of life and great damage to property. The entire city was shaken and excitement is intense. Two men were killed. The dead are John Lee, of Melrose, and Alexander Gordon, of Buffalo, N. Y., the engineer and fireman in the engine house, in which were two large iron compressed air tanks for furnishing power to drills used in construction of the sewer. The bodies of the two men were found in the ruins, horribly mangled.

To Censure Ambassador Bayard. WASHINGTON, Feb. 3.-A resolution censuring Ambassador Bayard for the sentiments expressed by him in his recent speeches in England and Scotland was adopted by the house foreign affairs committee. Two resolutions will be reported. The first censures Ambassador Bayard by name for the language used by him in his Boston and Edinburgh speeches, and incorporated with this will be a second resolution expressing the disapproval of the committee of our representatives abroad discussing American political affairs abroad and displaying partisanship.

The Free Coinage Amendment. WASHINGTON, Feb. 5 .- The belated tariff bill merged from the finance committee yesterday and made its appearance in the senate soon after the session opened. Chairman Morrill made the report stating that a free silver coinage amendment had taken the place of the original bill. Mr. Quay made two attempts to have the bill recommitted to the committee with instrucrt back separate tariff and free silver bills, but was cut off by parliamentary objections. His resolution for recommitment will come up under the rules today.

The St. Paul Again Afloat.

New York, Feb. 5. - Just before 10 o'clock yesterday forencen, when the tide was only about half high, the American liner St. Paul, which had been stuck fast in the sand off Long Branch for ten days, was pulled off the shoal and slid into deep water without injury. The wind was blowing with considerable force, the sea was good, and the position of the St. Paul was such that she was able to aid herself considerably by her propellers. The vessel reached her pier in this city at 1.30 p. m.

Minnie Swanger's Confession.

ALTOONA, Pa., Feb. 3.-Minnie Swanger, the 13-year-old girl imprisoned in the Hollidaysburg jail on the charge of being responsible for the death of William Mc-Gregor and the attempted killing of his aged mother, Mrs. Mary McGregor, little Carrie Sill and Mrs. Martha Johnston, has confessed that she is responsible for the death of her uncle. She says she intended only to make her victims sick, so that she might rifle their pockets and have money to spend "as other girls spent it."

Sir Charles Tupper's Victory.

HALIFAX, N. S., Feb. 5 .- The bye election in Cape Breton county yesterday for the Canadian house of commons resulted in the return of the Conservative candidate. Sir Charles Tupper, Sr., by a major ity of 674 over Hon. George H. Murray, Liberal. Remedial legislation in Manitoba, a religious question, played an important part in the contest, as the constit uency is largely Roman Catholic.

The Effort to Save Holmes. PHILADELPHIA, Feb. 4.-Argument was made yesterday in the supreme court of the state on the appeal taken by the de-fense in the Holmes case from the refusal by the lower court of a motion for a new trial. The arguments for the prisoner were made by Samuel P. Rotan and R. O. Moon, while District Attorney Graham spoke against the appeal. The court reserved its decision.

Our Military Strength

WASHINGTON, Feb. 5.-A table showing the military force of the United States by states and territories is given in a communication transmitted to the house by Assistant Secretary of War Doe. According to this table the aggregate organized strength of the militia is 112,879, while the number of men available for military duty (unorganized) is 10,149,598.

Turks Want the Relief Funds. LONDON, Feb. 5 .- A dispatch from Contantinople to The Chronicle says: Turkish officials continue to impede the relief for the Armenians. The officials want all the money intrusted to them. Several ladies' committees here are preparing clothing for distribution through the American missionaries."

BETRLEREM, Pa., Feb. 1.-John Brown and Bert Engle, 8-year-old school boys, broke through the ice on the Lehigh canal here, and Brown was drowned.

HARRISBURG, Feb. 4 .- Governor Hastings yesterday issued two commutations from the death sentence, one in the case of William Bowman, of Wilkesbarre, and the other in the case of James McMullen, of Allegheny county.

PHŒNIXVILLE, Pa., Jan. 31. - Clara Burns, of Port Providence, was burned to death Wednesday night. She was the 16 year old daughter of Frederick Burns, and was rendering lard, when her dress caught fire, enveloping her in a blaze.

PHILADELPHIA, Feb. 4.-A Seventeenth and an Arch street trolley car collided last night and resulted in the death of Edmund Hamill, motorman of the Seventeenth street car. He evidently died from shock, as his body showed no marks. Several passengers were slightly injured. The cars were badly wrecked.

WEST CHESTER, Pa., Feb. 4.-The court house here is an object of more interest than it has been since 1872, when William Udderzook was tried for murder. Thomas Elvin is the man now on trial for his life. He killed his two children in Phœnixville on Nov. 15, and as the murder was a most brutal one a first degree verdict is expected PITTSTON, Pa, Feb. 3.-The twin shaft owned and operated by the Newton Coal Mining company was the scene of a terrible explosion. The explosion was due to a large gas "feeder" becoming ignited and which in turn communicated to a large body of gas. Martin Gilligan, Patrick Kelly and James Boyle were seriously burned.

HOLLIDAYSBURG, Pa., Feb. 4.-The puddlers' strike at the Eleanor Iron works ended yesterday. The Harrisburg manager. of the works yielded to the men's demands for $3 per ton. There was a resumption of operations at the Hollidaysburg Iron and Nail works today, the wreckage caused by the boiler explosion having been cleared away.

COLUMBIA, Pa., Feb. 4 .- Hayes Smith, the oldest locomotive engineer in the United States, died here yesterday of pneumonia, aged 77 years. For fifty-six years he worked for the Pennsylvania Railroad company. Fifty-two years of that time, and until one week ago, he operated an engine. He never earned a cent in any other way than by railroading.

SHAMOKIN, Pa., Feb. 3 .- In January the Seventh anthracite mining district experienced its worst month in the way of accidents, with one exception, in the past ten years. During that period sixteen men were killed, sixteen were seriously injured and over sixty received painful, but not serious injuries. The Luke Fidler mine took the lead with four lives lost.

UNIONTOWN, Pa., Feb. 3 .- The Scottdale postoffice was broken into, the safe blown open and all the contents of any value taken. The burglars gained an entrance through a window in the rear by cutting out the glass. They drilled a hole through the top of the safe, poured in a large quantity of powder and blew the safe to pleces. They quickly gathered up the money and stamps, amounting to $150, and fled.

PITTSBURG, Feb. 1.-An afternoon paper publishes a report that the Standard Oil company is to be reorganized as a corporation, with a capital of $200,000,000. This is just twice the capitalization of the original trust. Having been declared an illegal combination as at present organized, it into which will be more firmly combined fineries.

PHILADELPHIA, Feb. 1 .- Herman Housell, 17 years old, has been sent to the insane ward of the Philadelphia hospital a religious maniac. The boy, who was employed in Stetson's hat factory, was a close student of religious writings, and has been a constant attendant at the revival meetings conducted by Mr. Moody at the Baptist Temple. Thursday night he became violent, and yesterday it became necessary to place him under restraint.

WAYNE, Pa., Feb. 8 .- Flames wrecked the Wayne Electric Light company's plant Saturday, and as a result the suburban towns of Devon, Villa Neva, Paoli, Berwyn, Radnor and Wayne will be in dark-ness for some nights to come. The loss is estimated at about $40,000. Plans are already under way for rebuilding. Spontaneous combustion is supposed to have been the cause of the fire. The plant was one of the most complete in the state.

LOCK HAVEN, Pa., Feb. 3.-The discov ery of a vein of iron ore twenty-three feet thack on the farm of W. H. Dornblaser, near Lamar, this county, has caused considerable excitement, not only in Nittany valley, but in this city. The ore was discovered while digging a well for water, and is under thin strata of rock twelve feet from the surface. The greater part of this vein is literally solid iron rock, to get through which tested the hard drills to their utmost.

WEST CHESTER, Pa., Feb. 3.-A distressing accident occurred at Rock Run, this county, through which Martin Higgins, a small boy, lost both eyes and is horribly disfigured, while a companion, John Kennedy, was seriously burned. A lot of the boys had stolen a quantity of giant powder and fuse from some workmen who had been blasting near by, and went to a vacant house to set it off. While so doing the explosion took place. The building was almost completely wrecked, but all the boys except Higgins and Kennedy escaped injury.

HOLLIDAYSBURG, Pa., Feb. 1.—The case of Frank Wilson, the alleged murderer of Henry Bonnecka, went to the jury last night. At midnight the jury returned a verdict of guilty of murder in the first degree. Before rendering their verdict the jury asked the court whether a recommendation could be appended to the verdict. The court held that only the death sentence could be imposed for murder in the first degree, and any recommendation must be presented to the board of pardons. All the members of the jury thereupon drew up a petition to the pardon board urging that the sentence be commuted.

ALTOONA, Pa., Feb. 5 .- The man who registered at No. 2650 Pine street, in St. Louis, on Friday last as J. Norris, and who was found dead in his bed Sunday morning, was David M. Loudon, a wealthy citizen of Altoona. The woman who accompanied him, and who is represented as his wife, is supposed to be a woman from this vicinity with whom he was intimate Loudon left here last Wednesday, saying he was going to Cincinnati to receive treatment for rheumatism. He took a large sum of money with him, and as his pocketbook and the woman are missing, it is believed she took all his valuables His friends here believe that he took an overdose of laudanum to gase pain, and not with the intention of committing suieide. Loudon was 62 years old, and leaves a wife and several children.

R PORTED DUP DA " OF INSURGENTS

Though Said to Have Been Put'to Flight, the Revolutionists Seem to Move in Any Direction They Choose Letter from General Maceo, Gomez's Chief Lieutenant.

HAVANA. Feb. 5 .- A report has been received that an important engagement has taken place at Paso Real, east of the city of Pinar del Rio, between the Spanish forces under General Luque and the insurgents under Antonio Maceo. The loss of the insurgents is reported to be sixtytwo killed and over 200 wounded. The loss on the Spanish side is not stated beyond the fact that General Luque was wounded, how seriously is not stated.

The battle was fiercely contested, and the advantage is claimed to be all on the side of the Spanish as a result. But it is significant that Maceo's forces, instead of being turned back to the westward, proceeded on their way towards Havana province after the battle.

According to the official report of the angagement General Luque went in search of the engagement, and met the insurgents at 2 o'clock Monday afternoon. An attack was immediately opened on the insurgents in the town. They held their position with the greatest tenacity.

The Spanish formed for a regular and systematic attack, the vanguard of the columns under Colonel Hernandez charging their position by the left flank, while the center and rear guard of the Spanish under the direct command of General Luque forced themselves into the central street of the village and attacked by the right flank.

Seeing their position thus imperilled and themselves in danger of having their retreat cut off, the insurgents made a rapid retreat to the extreme western limits of the village, doing some execution during the retreat. Here they formed their lines for a further stand against the attack of the Spaniards. A volley from the rifles of the troops failed to break the line of the insurgent forces. They were given a second volley, but still they stood their ground and even in face of a third volley of rifle bullets they refused to budge an inch and obstinately maintained their formidable line.

The Spanish cavalry was then ordered to charge and it swept down with great valor upon the devoted band led by Lieutenants Herrera and Berenguer. The insurgents were unable to stand this onslaught, and their formation was broken and they were put to flight, ten of them being killed with cavalry sabers.

They were pursued by the Spanish cavalry outside the limits of the village, but the pursuers were here met by a force of insurgent cavalry numbering a thousand, and the pursuit was checked. The insurgent cavalry made a stand and met the attack of the Spanish, covering the retreat of their friends, and stubbornly refusing to give way, in face of the Spanish fire, until the Spanish infantry came up.

Meanwhile the Cubans had worked their way into the Calle Real, and once more made a vigorous stand against the onslaught of the Spanish troops. The battalion of San Quintin advanced upon them, but it was only after repeated volhas been decided to form a corporation leys had been fired into them that their position was taken, and the village was in essession of the Spanish

> But still the insurgents did not abandon the field, but only gave back before the troops, and prepared to make a last stand palm grove about three kilometers distant. Here they formed a line of defense again.

The Spanish artillery then opened fire upon the enemy at a distance of 600 yards. The insurgent cavalry did not await the nearer approach of the Spanlards, but dashed down the declivity out of the palm grove and charged full upon the Spanish formation with savage valor. These intrepid horsemen threw themselves upon the points of the bayonets of the Spaniards The Spanish infantry, however, stood firm and repulsed the charge with the bayonet. They then in turn themselves made a bayonet charge. The insurgent cavalry re treated, but only to form a second line for another charge. The troops were formed into a hollow square to meet this charge. Their artillery opened upon the insurgents at a distance of only 150 yards. This last charge was also repulsed, many insurgents being wounded with bayonets, and the insurgents thereupon retired, taking their departure in the direction of Los Palacios.

LETTER FROM GENERAL MACEO. Gomez's Trusted Lieutenant Writes Hope fully of Cuba's Cause.

WASHINGTON, Feb. 5.—The Star prints a letter sent to the editor by General Antonio Maceo, through its correspondent, who is with the Cuban revolutionary army in Pinar del Rio province. General Maceo denies published reports that his aid, Colonel Bermudez, had been killed, and then characterizes as ridiculous the reports of a rupture between himself and General Gomez. He says:

'There can be no such thing as a misunderstanding between General Gomez and myself. He is the commander-inchief, and as such his orders are as laws to me. I am but lieutenant general of the army, and at all times I am subject to his

'Aside from rules of military discipline, there is not a soldier in the Cuban army who would consider for an instant the disputing of the words or commands of Maximo Gomez. The entire army confides implicitly in his patriotism and his mili-

What have we accomplished by our in rasion of the province? A great deal. In the first place we drew the attention of the authorities to this end of the island, and 6,000 reinforcements under Nunez, Sanchez and my brother, Jose Maceo, were enabled to march from the eastern end of the island to the province of Havana without having a serious engagement.

"Our second advantage has been the calling of the entire Spanish fleet of cruis-ers, gunboats and coasters to look after the north and south shores of the western end of the island to prevent the landing of expeditions. While the fleet was keeping a good watch between Cuba, Florida and Mexico several good expeditions landed from Jamaica and Santo Domingo, and by this time the stores they brought are safely in the hands of our friends in the Sierra Maestra mountains.

"I will not venture, as you ask me, to say how long the war will last. It may be a conflict of months, or even of years; there is no telling. But this much is certain, that the red and yellow flag of Spain will never wave again in triumph over an enslaved Cuba."
