SPRING GREETINGS:

TEMPLE COURT CLOTHING EMPORIUM.

The season of 1896 opens with the promise of improvement in all lines of business, as it is believed that the darkest hours of the financial depression have passed. Having confidence in a more prosperous future, the Philadelphia Branch has launched forth upon an enlarged and improved scale. We made our debut on Saturday, April 4th, and now have the finest Clothing Emporium in Central Pennsylvania.

Our New Store.

The Philadelphia Branch is now located in the two handsome store rooms in Temple Court, on Allegheny street, Bellefonte. Here we made our spring opening on Saturday, April 4th, and when our curtains were raised from the front windows the public stopped in bewildering praise. From all sides came compliments for the splendid display of Clothing and Gents Furnishing Goods.

No business man can be insensible to such complimentary utterances of his friends and the public, and for that reason we felt gratified to know that the efforts of this store were appreciated. Those who came in were more than pleased with our handsome quarters, the elegant arrangement, the complete stock, and the fine quality and style of goods purchased for this epening. Here there is a department for everything and each line is

It is a pleasure to meet our customers in our new quarters where we are so conveniently located and can wait upon their trade more satisfactorily than formerly.

Our New Stock.

Six months ago a sacrifice sale was inaugurated in our old room and goods were sold at any price. and almost the entire stock was cleared away.

For our Spring Opening an entirely new stock was purchased. It was carefully selected in the eastern markets, and contains all the latest, nobiest and taking patterns in cloth for Spring and Summer wear. Never in the history of the clothing trade could clothes be purchased as low as at present. Woolen fabrics are almost one-half their former prices. Then having bought a large quantity, special discounts made the cost less than ev er. This is why we want you to come in and see the
