BUTLER FOR CHAIRMAN

He Will Preside Temporarily at the Populist Convention.

EUGENE V. DEBS CALLED UPON.

In Response to an Urgent Telegram He Announces That He Will Attend the Convention-Congressman Towne Declares Himself in Favor of Bryan.

St. Louis, July 22.—The Populist national committee resterday decided upon Senator Marion Butler, of North Carolina, for temporary chairman. The selection was effected without much apparent opposition, but there was an adverse element present which would have manifested itself if the committee had not been so evidently favorable to Butler. It was at first the plan of the Bryan and Sewall advocates to put up General Weaver for the position, but they changed at the last moment to General Fields, of Virginia, who was on the presidential ticket with General Weaver four years ago. They believed that the opposing faction would be divided between Butler and Mr. Hines, of Georgia. Mr. Hines was, however, not placed in nomination, leaving the straights united upon Senator Butler. General Fields was placed in nomination, but when it became apparent that Hines was out of the race Fields' friends withdrew his name and allowed Butler to be chosen by acclamation.

It is apparent on the eve of the convention that there will be three factions: The "middle of the road" element, headed by

MARION BUTLER. "Cyclone" Davis, of Texas, which will stand out against all compromises prior to the convention and to the election; the faction favorable to the indersement or nomination of Bryan and Sewall, and the compromise men, headed by Senator Butler, of North Carolina, who favor the indorsement of Bryan, but who contend for the right to name a southern Populist in place of Mr. Sewall for the position of vice

The Bryan people are still holding out very stiffly against any and all compromises, and some of them gro so far as to say that if they are not successful in their contention they will leave the convention. Senator Butler is strong in the position that Mr. Bryan should be indersed upon a Populist platform, but says the southern people would never accept Mr. Sewall, not only because his affiliations are not with them, but because, if they surrendered both offices, it would mean the destruction of the People's party.

The more conservative of the members of the two extreme factions are beginning to regard the situation as a grave one, and there have been many informing friends during the day looking towards getting together on some plan like that substituted by Senator Butler. They fear that if this cannot be done a bolt is inevitable, whatever the action of the convention, and this they are exceedingly anxious to avoid. They express confidence that they will be able to reach this result. The two extreme factions each assert, however, that they will never yield, and the situation is admittedly critical.

It is generally accepted as a fact armong the Populist delegates that if Bryan and Sewall are indorsed by the Populist convention that the Populist party was to be accorded a liberal representation upon the Democratic executive committee. believe they will have at least two or three members of the committee. The understanding also is that the silver Republicans who have declared for Bryan will be given representation in the management of the campaign.

Chairman Jones, of the Democratic committee, would neither confirm nor deny that no definite arrangement had been made. "I have gone no further," he said, "than to say to all that I want the silver men to get together in this contest, letting bygones be bygones and fraternizing as men ought who are fighting for the same

Arrivals from Lincoln, to which place there are not a fewpilgrimagesthese days, report that Mr. Bryan still declines to make any concessions or pledges for Populist support. He tells all that he is not indifferent to the indorsement of the Populist convention, but believes he will be elected whether made the expressed object of the regard of the convention or not, and adds that as he was nominated by the Democrats without making any pledges or promises in the way of appointments, he cannot and will not make any pledges to secure other nominations, or even to secure the election, but that Populists as is now absent at Lake Minnetonka, has all the trained and experienced generals are aligned with them, and they have a ·ery thorough organization for systematic and effective work. The out and outers, if they should control, are at sea as to a candidate. Paul Vandervoort, of Nebraska, and Eugene V. Debs are about the only names can vassed since Congressman Towne, of Minnesota, arrived yesterday and announced himself for Bryan.

Yesterday Victor L. Berger, a delegate from Wisconsin, telegraphed Eugene V. Debs as follows: "You will not fail to do your duty when this country requires your services. The 'middle of the road' people want to nominate you for president. Come at once." In reply the following was received: "Shall try my best to join you tomorrow."

Interest in the silver convention, which opens today in Music Hall, where Grover Cleveland was renominated in 1888, has been completely eclipsed by the bitter struggle among the Populists of nomi-nating or indorsing Bryan. The program of the silver convention is cut and dried. There is no division of sentiment. Congressman Francis Newlands, of Nevada, will be temporary chairman, and William P. St. John, the New York banker, permanent chairman. They will deliver their speeches, a platform of a single plank in favor of the free coinage of silver at 16 to 1 will be adopted, Bryan and Sewall will be indorsed, and the convention will ad-

SILVERITES FOR BRYAN. Bolting Republicans Will Support the Democratic Nominees.

DENVER, Colo., July 21.—Senator Teller and eleven of his associates who left the national Republican convention last evening made public an address to the silver Republicans of the country setting forth their views of the situation. The silver Republican congressmen and senators have been in conference at Manitou for several days over this statement. In ad-, dition to those signing the address Senator Pettigrew of South Dakota and Senator Cannon of Utah are declared to be in sympathy with it, although Senator Cannon was not present at the conference, owing to business engagements in Boston. The address says in part:

The Democratic party, in its Chicago convention, has taken a position in its platform so pronouncedly favorable to silver, and has nominated candidates of such unquestionable convictions in favor of the bimetallic policy and of such high personal character, that we have determined to give them our support. We support such candidates because they represent the great principle of bimetallism, which we believe to be the cause of hurmanity and cavilization and the paramount question now before the American

We therefore announce that we shall by woice and vote support Messrs. Bryan and Sewall for president and vice president, and we appeal to all citizens, and especially to Republicans who feel, as we do, that gold monometallism would be of lasting injury to the country, to act with us im securing their election.

"The Democrats who believe in the gold standard are announcing their intention to support McKinley, or proposing to put a third candidate in the field for the avowed purpose of aiding Mr. McKinley's election. A great number of leading and inflyzential Democratic journals have declared that they will support the Republican mominees. It is evident there is to be a union of forces on the part of the advocates and supporters of the gold standard to elect Mr. McKinley and a congress favorable to him, which will support the financial policy outlined in the Republican platform.

"To those who believe in bimetallism, which means the equal treatment of both gold and silver at the mints of the nation. there is but one course to pursue, and that is to unite all the silver forces and to oppose with all our might the candidate representing the policy which we believe is fraught with disaster to the nation and ruin to the people,

The balance of the address is an argument for silver.

Three People Murdered on an American Barkentine.

THE VICTIMS' BODIES AT HALIFAX.

The First Mate of the Vessel Charged with the Terrible Crime by a Member of the Crew-The Statement of a Passenger Gives Color to the Charge.

HALIFAX, N. S., July 22 .- The American barkentine Herbert Fuller, which sailed from Boston a few days ago for Rosario. arrived in Halifax harbor yesterday with the bodies of three murdered people. The balance of those who left Boston on the vessel were immediately arrested. The United States consul here has telegraphed to Washington for instructions, pending the receipt of which he has enjoined all connected with the affair to maintain the strictest silence.

The three dead persons, whose murder is evidently the result of a bloody outbreak on the part of some members of the crew, are Captain Nash, his wife, and Second Mate Bramberg. The horrible triple murder occurred on the night of the 13th inst., and the affair so far is wrapped in complete mystery, notwithstanding that there were seven other men on board at the time it occurred, besides a passenger named F. H. Munchs, whose story of what he could learn, after it was all over, is the only narrative, reliable or unreliable as it may be, that can be ascertained so far.

After the murders Munchs assumed charge of the vessel and ordered the bodies of the murdered people taken out of the cabin and placed in a boat and towed astern, which was done. The Herbert

Fuller was then headed for Halifax. As the bodies of the victims were lifted out of the boat many of those who were present turned away, unable to stand the sight. Decomposition was making rapid progress. The bodies, which had lain in boat for a week, were wrapped in white shrouds, which were soaked in lime, salt water and blood. It took twenty minutes to transfer them to the under-taker's wagon, in which they were driven

F. H. Munchs, the passenger on board the Fuller, belongs in Boston. He is a member of Harvard's class of '97, and has been suffering for some time from pulmonary troubles. He had been advised to take a sea voyage, and was going to South America for recuperation.

In spite of the secreey maintained it has been ascertained that Mr. Munchs first became aware of the horrible crime when he went to the captain's room to inquire if the captain was ill, Munchs having been aroused from his sleep by a groan or a scream. Failing to receive an answer, he entered the room and found the captain lying on the floor covered with blood. He rushed on deck and confronted the first mate, who was in charge, with the statement that the captain had been murdered. Thomas Brown, the mate, seemed much agitated, and appeared not to know what to do. Munchs then rushed below and aroused the crew. The men hurried to the cabin, where the full extent of the crime was soon made known. As the bodies lay in their respective rooms they presented a horrible sight. Mrs. Nash's skull had been split almost in twain. The fingers of her right hand had been almost cut off, while another blow of the ax had cut off a ction of the scalp with the hair attached. Her husband's head was also split open. while Bramburg had evidently been killed with the poll of the ax.

Brown at first denied all knowledge of the murders, but later, from remarks let fall, and peculiar actions, suspicion pointed towards him as the murderer and he was placed in irons. The man at the wheel was Lahez. He was also suspected of complicity, and was ironed by the crew.

At the police station the first mate was stripped and blood was found on his clothing. The passenger, Munchs, states that he saw the first mate come from the captain's cabin after the murder. Seaman Brown last evening made a statement to the effect that he saw the first mate kill the captain. He heard a noise in the captain's cabin, and going thither saw the first mate murder the captain. There was no mutiny.

LONDON, July 22-As the royal procession was leaving Windsor castle for the railway station, where the queen is to witness the marriage of the Princess Maud, horses attached to the carriage preceding the one in which the queen rode, and which bore her majesty's Indian atttendants, bolted and overturned the carriage. Arriving at the latter station the queen walked to her carriage with slight assistance from an attendant. She appeared to be in good health.

Twelve Thousand Tailors on Strike. NEW YORK, July 22.-After several months of agitation a strike of the various organizations constituting the Brotherhood of Tailors was declared last night, and became effective this morning. It involves about 12,000 workmen in New York, Brooklyn and Brownsville. more than ten hours a day. Fell Through a Trestle. CARBONDALE, Ills., July 22 .- A disastrous railroad wreck occurred on the Chicago and Texas railroad about a mile south of Murphysboro yesterday.
