THE CENTRE DEMOCRAT, BELLEFONTE, PA., THURSDAY, AUGUST 13, 1896.

MR. BRYAN IN NEW YORK

Cordial Greetings Everywhere for the Democratic Candidate.

HIS TRIP THROUGH PENNSYLVANIA

At Philadelphia, Despite the Announce-Closed, a Large and Enthusiastic Crowd Greeted Him.

NEW YORK, Aug. 12.-William Jennings Bryan stepped upon the soil of the Empire state last night for the first time since his nomination for the presidency by the Democratic national convention at Chicago. It was an event in his career and in the general canvass for the presidency of no small moment. It was practically a step into the avowed section of opposition to his candidacy, an opposition not alone on party lines, but said to exist within the party under whose emblem he looks for victory in November.

The crowd that gathered at the Jer-sey City station of the Pennsylvania railroad to greet the Bryan party was not as large as had been expected, a thousand people in all, probably, paying their way to the ferry house in order to see the redoubtable orator from the west.

But it was a crowd that made the fifty Jersey City policemen display every bit of their ability in subduing, and which was enthusiastic to the core. It was a crowd that was quite as cosmopolitan in its nature as it was evidently Democratic in its proclivities and sympathies. The majority of the men stood with their coats off to relieve themselves of the terrific heat. There were a few women in the crowd, and some mothers brought their children to look upon the face of a possible president of the United States.

When Mrs. Bryan alighted Mr. Tomlinson, national committeeman from Indiana, took her in charge and hurried her along the private passageway which the police had laid out for the party to pass through. She was hardly noticed by the crowd and took the first boat out of the slip, while her husband and the remainder of the party followed behind the struggling police to a second boat. To go a distance of less than a hundred feet it took the party some fifteen minutes or more. The police threatened with their batons and hustled and jostled people to clear a passageway. The mob was good natured, but insistent, and demanded that Mr. Bryan should speak. He smiled and shook his head in refusal, and then the crowd called for Sewall.

Finally the police made a way, and the party reached the boat. They went up stairs into the pilot's cabin, while at least two thirds of the great crowd surged in upon the lower deck, and as the boat plied its way to the Desbrosses street slip kept shouting their approval of the candidate and his principles.

When the boat reached the dock in New York Captain Cross, with a cordon of police, held the crowd aboard the boat for a few minutes while Mr. Bryan, Mr. Sewall, Chairman Jones and Mr. St. John entered a carriage in waiting. When they got outside the gates they found at least 500 more people waiting, and although the carriage to proceed it was stopped several times

At Mr. St. John's house in Thirty-fourth street there was another gathering of citi-Mr. nor Mrs. Bryan showed much fatigue after their long journey. Mr. Bryan wore a black alpaeca coat and a silver colored

ease. DR. DAVID KENNEDY'S

Wheel Broke and the Motorman Was Unable to Control the Car.

COLUMBIA, Pa., Aug. 10.-A trolley car accident resulting in six deaths and injuries to sixty-two other persons, two of whom may die, occurred just outside the borough limits of Columbia last night. The car was bringing passengers from Chickles Park, where they had been to enjoy a Sunday outing.

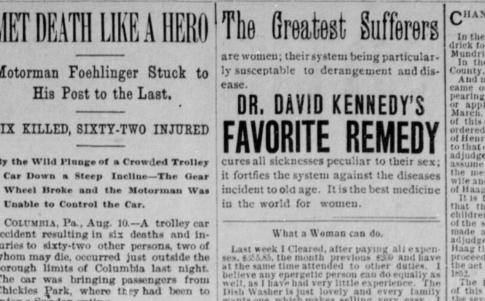

The place where the accident occurred is at the base of a steep incline, alongside of which runs a high embankment. The car was loaded with passengers, and as it reached the incline it began to slip, owing to wet tracks. The motorman applied the brakes, and at that moment the gear wheel broke, rendering the brakes useless.

There were about ninety passengers in the overcrowded car, who became panic stricken when they realized that the car was beyond control. The hill was a long one, and every moment the runaway gathered additional speed, until it is estimated by those on board that it was running fully a mile a minute when it struck a sharp curve and left the track. It ran across the turnpike running parallel with the trolley road, and struck against a tree and then toppled over into a deep ditch, being turned upside down.

The first body taken out was that of Henry Smith, an iron worker of Columbia, who had been instantly killed by a piece of wood, which pierced his head. Adam Foehlinger, the motorman, was found a few moments later under the car, having been crushed to death. He had stuck to his post to the last, and met death in a noble effort to avert the catastrophe. William H. Pinkerton, boy, Columbia, was also instantly killed.

Chief Burgess H. H. Heis, of Columbia, who had been riding on the rear platform, jumped a few moments before the car left the track, and his lifeless body was found about a quarter of a mile away, his neck having been broken. William Metzger, of Columbia, had both legs so badly crushed that they had to be amputated, and he died a few hours later. W. J. Ludlow, of Sea Girt, N. J., manager of the Atlantic Fish company, was so badly injured that he died shortly after being removed to the Columbia hospital.

Those most seriously injured are as follows: Mary Bradley, Philadelphia, cut and bruised about the body; John Carlson, Columbia, leg broken; Samuel Wike, Columbia, ribs broken' and badly cut; John H., Tragessor, Lancaster, shoulder crushed and cut about body; William Stauffer, Lancaster, cut on head, serious; Maggie Conley Columbia, shoulder dislocated, cut on head and arm broken ; Mrs. injured; Benjamin Wolfe, Columbia, leg. wrist and ribs broken; Charles Rine hart, Columbia.arm and hip injured ; Mrs. George Rinehart, Columbia, shoulders and back jammed: Susan Shall, Bainbridge, arm, head and face cut; Jennie List, Columbia, head and face cut and badly bruised about the body; Tillie McKenzie, Lancaster, arm broken ; Orrick Richards, Columbia, badly squeezed; Reese Frank, Columbia, four ribs broken. alpine hat. Mrs. Bryan wore a dark green traveling dress and a black hat with flower trimmings. Mrs. Bryan is quite worried over the loss of her engagement ring during her stay in Pittsburg. It was self through the head. He left the followgiven to her by Mr. Bryan when he won her in 1884.

At Mr. St. John's house visitors were stopped at the door by policemen and nobody was allowed to see the candidate until 10 o'clock. when he simply told the newspaper men how he would deliver his speech. It will be read from manuscript. Mr. Bryan has the speech memorized, but is anxious that more attention should be paid to its contents than to the manner of its delivery. After the meeting at the Garden he will speak from the balcony of the Bartholdi. Mr. and Mrs. Bland, Mrs. Bryan and Mrs. Stone, of Missouri, will occupy a box at the Madison Square meeting.

The candidate's trip from Pittsburg to this city was a continuation of the ovation that awaited him at every station between Chicago and Pittsburg, with the exception that Mr. Bryan did no speechmaking. His voice had grown so hoarse by his repeated efforts that speaking was an impossibility, and at several places along the route where a speech was called for Mr. Bland did the talking, while Bryan shook hands with all who came within reach.

At Altoona 6,000 people were on hand to see and to greet the nominee, and the crush between the train and the railroad fence was frightful, but fortunately no one was hurt. Outside the fence the streets were packed full of people for a distance of two blocks

Five thousand people greeted Candidate Bryan and party at Harrisburg. The nominee stood on the platform of an ordinary coach, and during the wait of ten minutes to change engines shook hands with more than 3,000 people. His wife was with him and took a part in the hand shaking. Repeated attempts were made to induce Bryan to make a speech, but he was deaf to the appeal of the multitude. Congressman Beltzhoover, of Carlisle, and Will K. Meyers, of Harrisburg, went through to New York with the party.

At Philadelphia a large and enthusiastic crowd succeeded in forcing its way through the Pennsylvania railroad gates when the Bryan train rolled into the station on time at 5 p.m. The regulations of the railroad company permits only those having tickets to pass through the gates, but the crowd of Bryan enthusiasts became so great that the officials ordered that a few hundred be admitted to the train platform, in order to relieve the congested condition in the station. Both Mr. and Mrs. Bryan appeared on the rear platform of the car and shook hands with all who could come within reach. No speeches were made. There was no stop between Philadelphia and Trenton. A crowd of about 100 gath-ered on the platform and cheered lustily as the train came to a stop in the station. A great crowd was prevented from greeting the candidate by the failure of the railroad officials to open the gates leading to the train platform. Mr. and Mrs. Bryan shook hands with all who could get near them in the limited time, and after a stop of one minute the 'train proceeded. Just as the train was pulling out Mrs. Bryan threw a big bouquet of roses into the crowd. This was eagerly pulled to pieces by men anxious to obtain a souvenir of the occasion.

of the others consist mainly of bruises and are not considered dangerous. There were children on the car, some being on the front platform, but they escaped injury.

Deputy Coroner Payne empanelled a jury at Columbia last evening to investigate the accident. The jury is composed of representative citizens of Columbia. and the purpose is to make a most exhaustive inquiry into the cause of the accident.

The injured in the Columbia hospital are all doing well with the exception of Miss Elsie Fitzgerald, of this city, and Cyrus Strayer, the Columbia boy, both of whom are in quite a serious condition.

The Dead Man Responsible.

ATLANTIC CITY, Aug. 8.-The jury of inquest in the recent railroad disaster near this city rendered three different verdicts last evening. The first, detailing the facts of the catastrophe, is signed by all six jurors. The second, signed by Foreman Charles Evans, T. J. Dickerson and C. E. Adams, declares that Engineer Farr, the dead Reading engineer, failed to have his engine under proper control, and that Towerman Hauser erred in giving the West Jersey excursion train the right of way. The third verdict, signed by Lewis Evans, L. C. Albertson and J. B. Champion, declares the cause of the accident was Farr's failure to obey the signals, and adds that Towerman Hauser "may have used bad judgment." Hauser, not being held criminally responsible, was released from custody.

National Democratic Party.

INDIANAPOLIS, Aug. 8.-The name of the new party is the National Democratic Its organizers call those supportparty. ing the Chicago platform and ticket the Populist Democratic party. The national convention of the National Democratic party will be held at Indianapolis the first Wednesday in September. There was unanimity in the conference on the selection of the name of the National Democratic party and also in determining to distinguish the two parties by referring to those supporting the Chicago platform as the Populist Democratic party. Senator John M. Palmer, of Illinois, was chosen chairman of the national committee.

Five Drowned at Philadelphia.

PRILADELPHIA, Aug. 11.-During a wind storm that broke over the city at 10 o'clock Sunday night a rowboat containing three young women and two youths capsized in the Delaware river near the new Pennsylvania railroad bridge, and, in spite of the efforts made to save them, all the occupants of the boat were drowned. dead are: John Trensler, Charles Minnick, Amelia Holman, Rose Breinenger and Rosie Breinenger, a cousin of the preceding women. "Minnick lived in Cincinnati, and was visiting friends at Bridosburg

Cost of the Atlantic City Disaster.

CAMDEN, Aug. 11 -- Railroad men are of the opinion that it will require fully a half a million dollars to pay the damage claims of the relatives of the killed in the Atlantic City accident and of those who, although injured, survived the disaster Who the defendant company in some of the cases will be is a matter of speculation among attorneys and others. Some claim that the two companies may be made joint Jefendants.
