RUSSIA'S CZAR IN PARIS.

Frenchmen Arrange a Magnificent Reception for Their Ally.

THE CITY LAVISHLY DECORATED.

At Night There Was a Marvelous Display of Fireworks, in Which the Eiffel Tower Was Used to Add to the Glory of the

PARIS, Oct. 7.-The czar and czarina arrived here safely at Ranelagh station from Cherbourg at 10 o'clock yesterday morning. The weather was fine, and the countless decorations showed up splendidly in the sunlight. Their majesties were accorded a most rapturous reception, and reached the Russian embassy, where they will reside during their visit to this city, at 11 o'clock. The crowds began gathering along the route of the procession shortly after daylight, and by 8 a.m. the whole route was thronged with enthusias-

A double line of troops held the route from the railroad depot to the embassy from shortly after 7 o'clock, and the soldiers were reinforced by lines of gen-darmes, sergeants-de-ville and detectives, the latter including a number of agents of the Russian secret police and picked men from the nihilist detective corps.

The decorations eclipsed anything ever seen in the French capital. Russian and French flags entwined or floating side by side predominated, but the trees, balconies, roofs, lampposts, statues, anything and almost everything, were utilized in the decorative effects planned to impress the czar with the enthusiasm of France at the visit of her friend and ally to Paris. The trees, bared of their natural foliage by the autumn blasts, were thickly covered with artificial leaves and flowers. Rostral columns, forty feet high, painted to imitate stone and surmounted by Russian double headed engles, each six feet high, and supporting imperial crowns, lined the Champs

At Ranelagh the czar and czarina were welcomed by the presidents of the senate and the chamber of deputies, all the cabinet ministers, General Saussier, the military governor of Paris; Cardinal Richard, archbishop of Paris; the civil and municipal authorifies and other high officials. The formal presentations took place in a magnificent salon constructed expressly for that purpose.

When this ceremony was concluded, their majesties and President Faure and their suites entered the gorgeous state carriages in waiting, and the state entry into Paris was begun. The scene outside the depot was one of frenzied enthusiasm. Shout after shout, roar after roar, arose from the multitude gathered to welcome the Russian travelers.

The trees were not alone in bearing artificial blossoms. On every lamppost or similar point of vantage men and boys were perched, hanging on for dear life with hands and knees, while gesticulating with patriotism or waving something continuously in the air. Even the playing fountains were utilized as spots from which to view the procession, crowds standing on them and others in them, utterly diregarding the wetting in their anxiety to get a good view of the idols of

The president, after reaching the Russian embassy, remained with their majesties for a quarter of an hour, during which the czar expressed to him how deeply he and the czarina were affected by the heartiness of the welcome accorded them by the citizens of Paris and their representatives.

After lunching at the embassy the czar and czarina drove to the Russian church in the Rue Daru, where a "Te Deum" was sung. They afterwards proceeded to the Elysee Palace in order to call on the president of the republic. There was a state dinner at the Elysee last night, and the day's ceremonies ended with a demi-gala performance at the opera.

All the main arteries of Paris were crammed with the populace last night, reinforced by strangers to a number estimated as high as a million, to witness the illuminations of the city. Vehicular traffic was entirely suspended. The center of attraction was the boulevards, which, between the opera and the Church of the Madeleine. were ablaze with variegated lights. At the Place de la Bourse and at nearly all the arrondissements open air balls and fetes were in progress

The entire length of the Boulevard Saint Germain gleamed with colored lanterns hung in festoons from tree to tree, while the bridge and the Place de la Concorde and the Rue Royale beyond opened into a vista of superb illuminations. Everywhere to the right and left all the chief buildings from the Cathedral of Notre Dame to the Palais dy Trocadero were outlined in flame. The waters of the Seine reflected quivering lines of light from a flotilla of illuminated boats.

The scene on the bridges of the Seine beggars description. There were revolving wheels of fire, showers of rockets and stars, cascades of molten fire and an apparent conflagration of turrets and towers cast their reflection in the water, while a powerful double projecting light was moving in a conical shaft over the whole scene from the distant top of the

The final and most striking display was a semi-religious apparation above the second platform of the Eiffel tower, representing Russia's patron saint and protecting genius. As this gradually died away mighty streams of liquid flames appeared to empty themselves from every platform of the tower and from the bridges into the dazzling waters of the Seine. Finally, the whole tower, from base to summit, was kindled into a blinding blaze, and 15,000 flying fuses and innumerable roman candles sprang forth with dazzling splen-

General Harrison in West Virginia. CHARLESTON, W. Va., Oct. 7 .- The Republican meeting here yesterday in honor of ex-President Harrison was one of the largest ever known in the state. The weather was favorable and the people turned out even from the distant mountam regions, while the steamboats were packed and the railroads ran many excursion trains. There were fifteen bands in the procession, and over 1,000 horsemen. In his speech General Harrison discussed the tariff question in all its bearings on natural products and industries of West Virginia

Higgins Will Not Withdraw. WILMINGTON, Del., Oct. 7. — Secretary W. R. C. Colquboun, of the Republican state central committee, gave out an of-ficial statement last night declaring that neither John C. Higgins, the Republican candidate for governor, nor Robert G. GORMAN IN THE CAMPAIGN. The Maryland Senator Speaks for Bryan and Sewall.

LAUREL, Md., Oct. 7 .- A big crowd, numbering about 2,500, assembled here last night drawn chiefly by the announcement that Senator Gorman would make his initial speech of the campaign. They were, however, disappointed as the Maryland enator made no attempt at a set speech, but confined himself to a few appropriate remarks and then introduced the speakers of the evening.

In the course of his remarks Senator Gorman said that the time had now arrived when the rights of the masses of the people should be contended for, against the encroachments of corporate greed.

"We have," said he, "submitted our views to a court of last resort, a court elected by the people and controlled by the people, the convention held at Chicago, and nothing is left for honest Democrats to do but bow to the will of the people.

"We have a candidate of the people and for the people and all Democrats will support him because of what he stands for. He was also nominated by a band of honest Republicans who believe in the United States controlling her own financial policy. Our candidate is cordially supported by the Populists because he stands for the rights of the people.

"Against us we have the great organization, the Republican party, led by Hanna, run by Hanna, and some say bought by Hanna. They have suborned themselves and become the tools of the money changers of London. They have some comfort from men who have worn the mask of Democracy, but these have thrown aside the mask and gone over to the common enemy. Let them go! They are now where they belong."

Senator Gorman concluded by saying that nothing would prevent Maryland from casting her vote for Bryan and Sewall. Senator Stewart was then introduced, and spoke at length on the financial issue. He was followed by A. A. Lipscomb, of Virginia, and Robert Moss, the local candidate for congress.

Seven Lives Lost by an Engineer's Neglect OSAGE CITY, Kan., Oct. 5.-A frightful railroad wreck, attended by serious loss of life and made more terrible by the self murder of one of the terrified passengers, occurred at 5 o'clock yesterday morning on the Santa Fe road, two miles north of this station. The boiler of the locomotive exploded, owing to lack of water, the engineer having passed his regular water tank because the train was behind. When the boiler exploded William Beckler, a passenger, shot himself dead before a car full of passengers. The dead are: William Beckler, Los Angeles; Engineer Strump, Topeka, Kan.; Fireman Harry Hollister, Topeka, Kan.; William McAdams, tramp, riding on baggage car, and supposed to be from Chillicothe, Ia.; three tramps, names unknown, all of whom were riding on the

The Destruction of Cedar Keys. JACKSONVILLE, Fla., Oct. 3 .- Full and authentic advices from Cedar Keys show the almost total destruction of the town and the loss of twenty-eight lives. This is believed to include the complete roll of the dead. At Shellmound, a pleasure resort near the place, a party of five men, three women and three children were camping out. Some surveyors making their way home after the storm found the eleven dead bodies strewn on the shore under logs and brush. They were close together, which would indicate that they were simultaneously killed by the tidal wave. Four other bodies have been found on the beach. The town was built on several small quays. The bridges connecting these quays were swept away, and the only communication is by means of boats. The Florida Election.

JACKSONVILLE, Oct. 7 .- Scattering returns from all parts of the state show Democratic majorities in every county. but afford no basis for an estimate of Bloxham's plurality for governor. comparison of precincts can be made with 1802, inasmuch as in that year the Republicans had no ticket in the field. In most of the precincts heard from Sheats, Democandidate for superintendent of public instruction, runs far behind Bloxham. Because of the Australian ballot system the counting of the votes will be very slow. Chairman Rawls, of the Democratic state committee, estimates Bloxham's plurality at 25,000.

To Prevent Filibustering.

JACKSONVILLE, Oct. 7 .- The government has put a strict watch upon Jacksonville, to prevent any filibustering expedition from leaving port. The cruiser Newark is now anchored off the St. John's bar, where a commanding view of the entrance to the river is to be had. The revenuecutters Boutwell and Merrill are anchored in the stream at the foot of Liberty street, within 200 yards of the filibustering steamers Three Friends and Commodore, which are tied at the same wharves.

Danforth Says Hill Will Support Bryan. NEW YORK, Oct. 7 .- Elliot Danforth, chairman of the Democratic state committee, has returned to town after having had an interview with Senator Hill, at Albany. He assured callers at headquarters that the senator would give his adhesion to both the national and state Democratic tickets. Mr. Danforth left it to be questioned, however, if Senator Hill will accept the Chicago platform.

Four Killed by a Bursting Boiler. KINGSTON, Mich., Oct. 5 .- The boiler in a saw mill at Novesta exploded, instantly killing Mr. Mills, the proprietor, and Jerry Lewis.
