He visited some of the hotels during the evening, drinking with friends, and started on his way homeward about 11 o'clock, having however, left the balance of his money with a friend in Osceola. Shortly after crossing the bridge he was suddenly attacked, the culprits hitting him with a club, or other weapon, over the head left him in an unconscious condition by the roadside, where he was found the next morning. He is terrible cut about the head and face and other portions of his body and it will be some time before he will be able to leave the house. The offenders have not been located.

Death of Maud Olive Meyers.
On Tuesday morning Maud Olive, the 10 year old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Wm. T. Meyer, of this place, died after prolonged suffering. The little girl for some years was afflicted with a cancerous tumor on the glands of the neck. All that medical skill could contribute for her relief was given, but it was in vain. An operation was performed over a year ago but the trouble returned and in an aggravated form.

During the past week her condition indicated that recovery was impossible, yet hope was entertained until the last of some chances of recovery, as long as the flame of life lingered.

Mr. and Mrs. Meyer have the sympathy of the community in this sad affliction, which is truly great. The interment will take place at Aaronsburg on Thursday. Services will be held at the residence, in Bellefonte, at 1 p. m.

—SEWING—Persons desiring any kind of sewing, are requested to call upon Mrs. Alice L. Rishel, 15 Thomas street, Bellefonte, Pa.

A BELLEFONTE MAN ROBBED.

Furst Crider the Victim of Confidence Men, at Philadelphia.

We take the following from the Philadelphia Inquirer of Friday relating the unfortunate experiences of one of Centre county's young men:

Furst C. Crider, of Bellefonte, who is stopping at the Central Avenue Hotel, went out to see the sights on Wednesday. He visited the Academy of Fine Arts and when he came out he was accosted by two men, who claimed to have met him before. They were congenial companions and promised to show him the town.

During their travels they reached an alley, and one of the two men suggested that they take a drink. He had a bottle of whiskey. Crider was handed the bottle first and the three took several drinks from it. They had not gone very far before Crider felt sick.

Soon afterwards the men were seen to go through Crider's pockets and were arrested at Seventeenth and Callowhill streets. Crider was in such a condition that it was deemed advisable to send him to the Medico-Chirurgical Hospital, where he remained until yesterday morning. It was found that the whiskey was drugged.

The prisoners were arraigned at City Hall yesterday and Crider and four other men testified against them.

Crider was robbed of a combination card case, diary and a sum of money. The card case was found on one of the prisoners.

The men, who gave their names as James Bradley, of No. 514 South Sixteenth streets, and Geo. Johnson, of Ogle street, Manayunk, were committed to prison for trial.

BOLD ROBBERS.

On Wednesday morning, about 2 o'clock, Mr. Charles Cook was awakened by a noise at his residence on Spring street, and saw a man in the bed room in the act of opening a bureau drawer. Mr. Cook did not debate long about the matter, but jumped up and started for his man. There was only a faint light, but he pursued the intruder down the stairs. On the way down, the burglar fired a shot back at Mr. Cook and then disappeared, through the front door.

The lower part of the house had been ransacked, but nothing has been missed. In the morning it was found that an entrance had been effected by forcing a window and breaking the catch, and after gaining an entrance all the blinds were pulled down to avoid detection from outside and the front door opened for escape. Mr. Cook describes the burglar as a tall man, of slender build, and wore a light coat. He was in his bare feet and left tracks on the porch and sidewalk. Mr. Cook found the bullet that passed uncomfortably close to his head, imbedded in the wall; it was a 28 calibre long.

The residences of F. W. Crider and John Johnson were entered also, and the lower rooms ransacked, but nothing was taken.

A Peculiar Accident.

A day last week while Mr. Frank Tate, a farm hand employed by Harrison Kline, of Spring twp., was driving in the barn floor with a load of pumpkins the floor gave away and the horses went down and hung across the timbers under the planks. Mr. Tate was alone at the time, and with a pole succeeded in getting one horse up, but the other one turned a summer-sault around the log and landed on his back on a pile of pumpkins in a stable below. After tearing down a partition the horse was gotten out with only a few scratches on his back. The floor was in rather bad shape and when the team reached the planks with the heavy load they slipped back, with the above result. Mr. Tate had his hands full for a time.

Died at Martha.
Mrs. Eliza Jane Stiver, wife of Wm. Stiver, departed the cares of this world, September 30th, after several weeks of suffering. She was taken down by a complication of diseases. Her age was 61 years. Was a constant member of the Baldeagle Baptist Church, since July 11th, 1869, at which time she was baptized and taken into the church by Rev. J. L. Holmes. The funeral services were conducted by Rev. Forges, of Huntingdon, at the church, on Thursday, October 1st, 1896.

Fine Appearance.
On Saturday evening the Junior McKinley and Hobart club, of Bellefonte, came out in parade, in their new uniforms consisting of caps, star and stripes, capes, and white leggings and carried torches. The boys made a fine appearance and were as proud as peacocks. They gave Gov. Hastings a call, during the evening. Thus far the boys have been creating all the political excitement about town.

The Next Arbor Day.
Friday the superintendent of public instruction issued a proclamation designating Friday, October 23, as Autumn Arbor day, and earnestly urging directors, superintendents, teachers and pupils to observe the day with appropriate exercises, both by the planting of trees and by the dissemination of information on the growth and care of trees and their value to present and future generations.

SUPREME COURT DECISIONS.

On Monday the following cases, taken from Centre county to the Supreme court of Pa., and heard at the April sitting, were disposed of as follows:

Estate of Henry Meyer, dec'd, Harris township. Appeal of J. Henry Meyer, admr., from decree of Orphans Court of Centre county, judgment affirmed. Attorneys, Orvis, Bower & Orvis for appellant; C. P. Hewes and J. M. Keichline for appellees.

J. S. Houseman, admr of Elizabeth Grossman, dec'd, vs. Ira, Joseph and Wm. Grossman. Appeal of the defendants from the decree of Court of Common Pleas of Centre county, sitting in equity. Judgment affirmed. Attorneys, C. P. Hewes for plaintiff, Orvis, Bower & Orvis for defendant.

J. Z. Long et al. vs. H. L. Harvey, et al. (In common parlance this is the famous Howard church case.) Appeal by the defendants from the decree of Hon. A. O. Furst, as the court of Common Pleas, sitting in equity. Judgment reversed. Attorneys W. F. Reeder and John G. Love for plaintiffs; C. P. Hewes and Ira C. Mitchell for defendants. This decision is of considerable importance to the members of the Disciple church, of whom there are many in our county.

This was a contest between what was known as the Lucas-Long party on the one side; and the Gardner-Harvey party on the other, for the possession and control of the Disciple church property situated at Howard. The Long party claimed the right to organize a court, or tribunal, of men chosen from sister churches to try the dispute. This right was denied by the defendants, claiming that the government of the church was purely congregational. The Long party however went ahead, organized their court which promptly decided against the Harvey party. The latter refused to surrender the church. The Longs filed a bill in equity, and had a decree made in their favor. Harveys were thrown out of the church, and compelled to pay about $700 in costs. The Supreme Court reverses the action of the lower court, reinstates the Harvey people and compels the other side to pay the costs. This opinion will likely be published in our next issue.

Estate of Martin Houser, dec'd, College township. Appeal of Mr. Baker from the decree of the Orphan's Court of Centre county. A. O. Furst and Harry Keller for appellants, Clement Dale and W. F. Reeder, for appellees. Judgment affirmed.

The Ballot to be Voted.

The ballot which will be voted in the state this fall will contain nine columns. The Republican party will be first; then will follow Democratic, Prohibition, National, People's, Socialist, Labor, Free Silver, Jeffersonian, and a blank column in the order named. The surnames of the presidential candidates of each party are placed in the column just below the circle above the electors. To the right of the names of the candidates is a large square in which the voter by marking a cross votes for the entire thirty-two candidates for elector in that column. A voter desiring to vote for any other candidate below the electors in any other column will be required to put a cross mark opposite each name. This form of ballot differs materially from any used since the enactment of the Baker ballot law in 1891. Col. John A. Glenn, Corporation Deputy Auditor General has prepared the plan and the ballot is expected to give more general satisfaction than any yet adopted.

Firmen's Convention.

The annual convention of volunteer firemen of Pennsylvania is in session in Johnstown this week, and is attended by thousands of firemen. These conventions are getting more interesting and instructive each year. The Logan company, of Bellefonte, is represented in the convention by Mr. Ollie Miller, the popular tinner on Allegheny street. Mr. Joseph Wise is representing the Undine company. Mr. Wise is an engineer of much experience, and will be a credit to his company in that body of firemen.

Death of William Moffat.

William Moffat died at his home in Tyrone, Tuesday of last week. For two weeks past he had been suffering with bowel trouble. Deceased was born at Shaver's Creek, Huntingdon county, May 20th 1838, and at death was aged 58 years, the greater portion of his life was spent in Half Moon valley, Centre county, and during his residence in Tyrone he was employed as hostler for Patrick Flynn.

Why They Were Refused.

A number of persons applied to Judge Love, who was holding court in Clearfield last week, for their naturalization papers on Monday. When asked about the constitution of the United States they knew nothing of it, and could not tell even who was president of the United States. When asked who made the laws they replied: "The court and lawyers." They were refused. Judge Love set an example worthy of imitation.

At Pine Grove Crossing.

Supt. P. H. Thomas says that the trains on the Bellefonte Central railroad make daily trips to Pine Grove crossing. This means that the new extension has been completed until within a mile of Pine Grove Mills. The work will not stop until the road reaches that little town.
