Interesting Events and Happenings from About the county—Doings of our People Briefly Told

Are you glad the election is over? Useless questions—"How do you feel on the election?" Woods Sebring came home from Philadelphia to vote. Tuesday was a fine day for the election. The attendance never was as large. Day, the hypnotist, at the opera house every night this week. He can put you to sleep. W. C. Patterson and daughter, of State College, leave this week for the South. Think of the good time coming under McKinley? We are patiently waiting for him. Salt river delegates will soon be on a move. It is only a change about. Have been up there before. All the office holders at Washington, D. C. Philadelphia and Harrisburg, were home for the election. Mr. Sternberg, the well known democrat, now employed in Philadelphia, came home to vote and greet his many friends. Mr. Irvin Wise, a prosperous young farmer living near Zion, feels more like farming now—a new boy arrived at his house. The Misses Tessie and Annie Peters will engage in dressing making at their home, on Bishop street. During the month of October, eighty-five new names were put on our subscription list. That is not bad. John Furst, who holds down a soft position in a bank at Williamsport, arrived in Bellefonte to greet friends and cast his vote. Editor Tuten is gradually recovering from his recent spell of sickness. It will be some time before he regains his former vigor. George Armor, who completed a successful course in the Eastman Business College, Poughkeepsie, N. Y., arrived home this week. The Urdine Fire company will hold their annual Thanksgiving ball in the Bush Arcade this year. Special preparations are being made for the event. Frank Eckenroth and Dale Musser, two Bellefonte lads who are students on the schoolship Saratoga, are home on a short vacation. Mr. and Mrs. J. S. Kelley, of Beaver Falls, Pa., are guests of Mrs. Kelley's parents, Mrs. and Mrs. John T. Johnson, on Linn street. The usual number of dilapidated politicians were about on Wednesday. An election always has a demoralizing effect upon many of our politicians. Max Hayes and Forney Winner, of Lock Haven, rode to Bellefonte on a Madam, Sunday. They made the trip in an hour and forty minutes. The republicans are talking of holding a big jubilee over McKinley's election on Friday evening. They have a right to celebrate—it is their turn. Paul Sheffer and W. Carrol Kipe, have opened a florist department in the vacant room, of Crider's Exchange. All orders will receive prompt attention. FOUND—a drum book, containing drum parts for band music. It has a black oil cloth cover and contains a number of linen stubs. The same was left at this office. Everybody must, at least should be, glad that the campaign is over. It is a great relief to get rid of political discussions and professional bums. They were plenty. The National Democrat which assisted in McKinley's election, will likely be discontinued after the election. It served its purpose and indirectly assisted in defeating part of the county ticket. On Saturday afternoon the second eleven of the Bellefonte High school and the Academy played an interesting game of foot ball. It resulted in a victory for the High school by a score of 2 to 0. Mr. James Cheesman, of Washington, D. C., is visiting friends here. It has been fourteen years since he has last seen the town and finds many changes and new faces. Hon. James Turner, of Michigan, Hon. James Kerr Clearfield; Hugh S. Taylor and Col. Spangler were the orators on Saturday evening at the demonstration was the announcement of a little girl at his home. He was the object of congratulations. Fred A. J. Dunwick, manager for Prof. Day, the hypnotist, paid us a pleasant call. He is an affable gentleman and a journalist of many years experience. The success of this entertainment owes much to his efficient management.

A Success.

The management of the Patrons Picnic Exhibition, Grange Park, Centre Hall, announces the recent gathering was a financial success and sufficient funds will be in the treasury, after the payment of current expenses to pay the last dollar on the Park grounds. Nearly 30 acres of valuable land fronting 180 rods on the railroad with side track almost the distance; admirable adapted to camping purposes, bought and paid for and improved in advance of maturity of bonds. The Park belongs to the county Grange.

Badly Burned.

On Saturday evening last a little three-year-old boy of Robert Lucas and wife, of Tyrone worked its way up stairs and while playing with a match it in some way ignited and the flames caught the child's clothing on the right side. The little fellow's screams soon brought help to him, but not before he was more or less burned on the right side from foot to head. The child suffers very much, but hopes are entertained for its recovery.

To Preserve the Game.

The State Sportsmen's Association will draft a bill that will be presented at the next session of the legislature that will enroll all the fish and game bills in one and have a chief game warden for the state, who will receive a small salary and have power to appoint sub-wardens, who will be paid for the work they do.

Williamsport Journalist Dead.

James B. McMath, a veteran newspaperman of Williamsport, and for many years city editor of the Gazette and Bulletin, died suddenly in that city of hemorrhages on Monday. He was 60 years old.

Death at Tylersville.

John Bierley died at Tylersville Friday night after a short illness with typhoid fever. The deceased was about 22 years old and is survived by a young wife. The funeral took place at Tylersville.

DEATH OF JOHN B. SOWERS.

A Venerable and Distinguished Citizen of College Township.

The venerable subject of this sketch was born in Berks county, April 26th, 1810, and if he had lived a few hours longer, would have been 86 years and 6 months old, when his spirit took its flight to the great world beyond, Oct. 25th, 1896. Mr. Sowers' parents early moved to Union county where he was an apprentice to the trade of shoe-maker, which he followed continually until within a short time of his death, making a continuous service of sixty-six years with hammer and last. Mr. Sowers lived for more than sixty years in the vicinity of State College, and was by far its oldest citizen, having voted for Andrew Jackson in 1832 and continually from that date to 1896 in College and Ferguson townships. He was married Jan. 1st, 1832, to Susanna Smith, by whom he had nine children, four boys and five girls, of whom three boys and three girls survive to mourn the inconsolable loss of a kind and loving father: Henry A. Sowers with whom the deceased made his home in State College, S. Calvin Sowers and Wm. T. Sowers, of Williamsport; Mrs. Shaffer, of Corning, N. Y.; Mrs. McQuillon, of Patton, and Mrs. Fenderson, of Williamsport. His wife died April 27, 1865, but he lived until 1896 and watched the many families growing up around him until he had thirty-three grand children and twenty-six great grand children, to honor and bless his declining years. Three sons did faithful and honorable service in the great war of the rebellion. Daniel was discharged for disability and Henry A. and J. Calvin were wounded in the service and we are glad to say they are drawing pensions, they richly deserve. The funeral services were conducted at the house by Revs. Guyer and Gill, on Tuesday afternoon and were very impressive, after which the remains were tenderly laid to rest by the side of those of his beloved wife in the beautiful cemetery at Boalsburg. This ends a long and useful life, loved, honored and respected by a multitude of friends and acquaintances, all of whom hasten to tender their heartfelt sympathy to the surviving children.

COOL OFF.

For the past three months a large portion of our population have been absorbed in politics. A presidential campaign always has an effect on business in that it attracts many from their daily duties, which consequently suffers from the neglect. During such an exciting period many do nothing but revolve questions of state in their minds, and dispose of great economic questions, drink bad rum, abuse their neighbors and actually neglect their families. During such a campaign many bitter feuds arise between neighbors and friends. Harsh things are said. Compliments are exchanged that stings and smart. All this is wrong—it is a mistake and from which no good can arise. The election is over. The battle is fought and all the unpleasanties should be forgotten. If you have been insulted by an unkind remark, overlook your neighbors weakness. Probably he does not know any better. Don't imagine that you are an "anarchist," "repudiator," or such like because some unreasonable, unfair, foulmouthed person imputes such motives to you. The chances are that he is in the wrong—don't know the first elements of decency or gentlemanly demeanor. Overlook all these things. You can afford to be generous.

In the heat of a campaign many things are done and said that in more deliberate moments would not be uttered. For that reason don't hold your opponent too severely for an offence. The duty of the hour is for everybody to drop politics and get down to business—quiet down—go to work. Get down to business—give politics a rest.

Vanderbilt's Business Nose.

Said a business man of wide experience and observation: "Have you ever observed the money-making nose? It is a strong well-formed nose, invariably curved somewhat like a beak. That crook in the nose is the unfailing sign of money-making ability. I have observed it for years. If you doubt it, look about you and you will find that every wealthy man who has made his own money out of nothing has more or less such a nose. A very fine example of the money-making nose is that which adorns the face of Cornelius Vanderbilt, who, though born with a gold spoon in his mouth, has shown very marked ability in the increase of his fortune. Most of our bankers and railway presidents have similar noses."

A Record to Be Proud Of.

Miss Nannie Delaney, of Central City, has been engaged for nineteen years in teaching public school. She never taught outside of Boggs township; her first term being at Eagle rolling mill and the other eighteen consecutive terms she has taught in Central City in the same room. She has taught a number of terms of private school during the summer in the same room. Is there another teacher in Centre county that can boast of a longer term of service in one place? It is a splendid tribute to her faithfulness and efficiency as a teacher.—Patron.

THE PERILS OF KISSING.

Efforts to Abolish the Practice on Sanitary Grounds.

The State Board of Health of Indiana is investigating a case in Columbus where a young man who persisted in kissing his pretty sweetheart, although warned of the danger, is alarmingly ill with diphtheria, which he is said to have contracted in his osculatory practice. The secretary of the Board is in favor of interdicting all kissing, but he admits that the task of enforcing such a regulation would be a herculean one. "I am convinced," he says, "of the difficulty the Health Board will meet in trying to taboo kissing among sweethearts. Although a most dangerous pastime, there seems to be an inherent tendency to indulging in it, and we have little hope of ever being able to do away with it. I may have to recommend a disinfectant. All that would be necessary to rinse the teeth with it and rule it well on the lips. That would insure devotees against the dangers resulting from osculation."

Attempt to Kill a Girl.

What seems to have been an attempt at murder took place Sunday evening about 8 o'clock out at the Gilling school house, in Sandy township, Clearfield county, Burley Ferrier, a son of Benjamin Ferrier, lives close to the school house, and as he was sitting with his wife and her sister, Susan Travis, of Reynoldsville, around the lamp, a gun was fired through the door and the bullet passed through Miss Travis's right side. The door stood open, as the evening was not cold and the room had been made uncomfortably warm in getting the evening meal, and while sitting there they heard a footfall on the doorstep, and almost the same instant the report of a gun, the bullet taking effect as stated. It is not known who stepped up to the door, as the party immediately disappeared in the darkness, and the attention of Ferrier was given to the wounded girl. Dr. James Spackmald was taken to see Miss Travis and found that the bullet in passing through her side, had penetrated her liver, but the injury need not be considered fatal.—DuBois Courier.

Will Pay their way.

Hereafter when the Lutheran Brethren of the East Pennsylvania synod assemble in convention as delegates they will not be under the necessity of feeling that their presence is an affliction upon the household that has opened its doors to them. A new rule was adopted by the East Pennsylvania Synod of the Lutheran church in session last week, which will be appreciated by the guests as well as the hosts. The old custom, which required the congregations where the synod met to entertain the members of the synod during its session was abolished. After much discussion the synod resolved to pay all expenses of the sessions, including entertainment, out of the synodical fund, the churches to be assessed to replenish the same. Hereafter each minister and layman will be allowed $1.25 a day to provide entertainment for themselves while attending synod. It is timely abrogation of the old custom and all denominations should adopt this rule.

A Poor Man's Hogs Fed Broken Glass.

One of the most dastardly outrages we have heard of for a long time was that perpetrated upon James T. Gregg a poor but honest and industrious citizen of this place. A few days ago Mr. Gregg lost two large hogs which would weigh nearly 300 lbs apiece. As hog cholera has been raging for the last month or two in some parts of the country, he thought at first that was what ailed his hogs but they they did not show any of the symptoms of that disease or in fact any other. He called in a veterinary surgeon to examine the animals to find out if possible what caused their death. On being opened it was discovered that the hogs had been fed broken glass, and that their entrails were literally cut to pieces. This is a penitentiary offence, if the villain who did the deed can be found out.—News.

Cost of Stopping Trains.

Some time ago an article was published which stated that the cost of stopping a train had been figured up carefully, and was found to be about $2. As there are at least 6,000 regular stopping places for freight and passenger trains on the Pennsylvania road, according to the estimated cost of $2 for each stop, the company loses $4,380,000 annually by stops alone, or that, in other words, it costs more to stop and start again than to make the run between stations and pay the wages of the train crews. Recently another estimate has been made the cost of stopping a train 60 cents and even this would run up into millions of dollars on the Pennsylvania system in a year.
