Fitz Gets $38,000.

Pittsimmions will receive $38,000 in money as the result of his victory. This includes the $15,000 purse, Corbett's $10,000 side bet, and a lump sum, amounting to $13,000, for his share in the profits to accrue from the pictures taken by the kinetoscope people. Corbett will get $13,000, too, from the picture business, but this will barely pay his training expenses, which are heavy.

Confidence Pudding.

The following is a recipe for confidence pudding: Take three gallons of Confidence, one peck of International Agreement, one quart of Gold Standard, seven tablepoonsful of Prosperity, two quarts Sound Money, and one pound of Protection. Boil it with 12 months of No Work for an hour and eat it while hot.

CZAR REED AGAIN RULES

How Large Appropriations were Rushed Through.

TARIFF BILL IN DANGER.

The Senate will not permit the Dingley bill to go unamended—Lots of fun ahead—McKinley is favoring his heeled—Others getting left.

Nothing more daring has been done in the House during either of the autocratic reigns of Czar Reed than the passing in a few hours of the Appropriation Bills which failed to become laws at the last session of Congress, without reference to any sort of Committee and practically without debate. Just stop and think for a moment of the audacity of this proceeding. Here is a new House, more than one-third of its members being men who did not belong to the last House and who know no more about the items in those appropriation bills than if they had been prepared in Africa. These bills were brought forward and House was ordered to pass them "sight unseen", as the boys used to say about swapping concealed articles, although they carried many millions of the people's money and it was admitted by some of the republicans who helped to force them through that they contained items that were questionable as well as those that were extravagant. And this remarkable assumption of authority of the part of Czar Reed had not even the excuse of urgency and lack of time to have the bills take the regular course of such measures. There will be time to waste in the House after the 31st of this month, upon which date the McKinley tariff bill, No. 2, is to be passed. The sole object was to keep the hands of the House tied for the whole of the present session, by not appointing the regular Committees, another unheard of thing originated by the gentleman from Maine, who still kindly allows the members of the House to draw their salaries and dispose of the money without consulting him, and who also allowed them to vote themselves extra mileage.

Representative "Champ" Clark, of Mo., made a red-hot speech in the House on the new method of passing appropriation bills, saying in part: "The longer a man lives the more he finds out. First and last, I've said some unkind things of the U. S. Senate, and poked considerable fun at it. In the days of 1894, I was so exasperated at its conduct that, although I believe in two legislative bodies, I was in favor of abolishing it. But in this distinguished presence, I wish to retract all the criticisms I have made against it. I thank God that the Senate remains a deliberative body. In this House we are going through the most amazing, most astonishing performance which ever took place on this Continent." Speaking directly to the republicans Mr. Clark said: "In the campaign of last year you charged 6,500,000 voters of this country with being anarchists. You are the real anarchists. What is anarchy? It is running the affairs of a country without government. You are doing just what you charged us with wanting to do, but let me tell you, a day of reckoning will come."

Mr. McKinley and other republicans are much alarmed at the signs of a tariff revolt in the Senate. It is given out by prominent republican Senators, among them members of the Senate Finance Committee, which has already taken up the subject, that the McKinley tariff No. 2, will not do, and that they are going to amend it so it will not do, and that they are going to amend it so it will not be recognized. It is, of course, possible that these republican Senators are only making a bluff to give Mr. McKinley an opportunity to offer them inducements in the shape of patronage to support his tariff bill, but the manner in which the Senate amended the two last tariff bills passed, it is calculated to make Mr. McKinley believe it means something more serious.

Although the out put of the administration pie plant continues limited in quality, the fact is noted with wrath by those who were not original McKinleyites that nearly all that had been dished out has gone to the original McKinley men. This too, in the face of Mr. McKinley's continued reiteration of his intention to recognize no factions of his party in making appointments. It is beginning to dawn upon the minds of some of the republicans who were not for McKinley before the St. Louis convention, that they are being tricked. Whenever one of them looms up as a prominent aspirant for a position, it "happens" that he runs against Mr. McKinley's very convenient rule not to appoint men who cannot get the endorsement of their entire Congressional delegation. It looks as though the old anti-Mc's would have to content themselves with smaller Federal offices in their states, while King Hanna takes care of "our friends."

PRESIDENT MCKINLEY'S FIGURES.

The Pittsburg Post, in commenting on President McKinley's last message, shows up the following:

For the three fiscal years ending July 1896, Mr. McKinley shows that the revenues of the government fell below the expenditures in the great aggregate of $137,811,729. Two of these years was under the present tariff, with deficiencies amounting to $68,800,800, while one was under the McKinley law, with deficiencies aggregating $69,800,000. That is, they were greater in one year of the McKinley law than two years of the Wilson law.

The president neglects to state the potent reason for the deficiencies, and says nothing about the extravagance of congress, which had as much to do with them as the falling off in the revenues. The income tax decision, cutting on the most important revenue section of the present tariff, deprived the treasury of not less than $75,000,000 in the two years 1895 and 1896. The president states the deficiency in these two years to have been $68,000,000. Therefore, it is plain, on President McKinley's showing, that had the income tax been allowed to stand the present tariff would have produced a surplus for the last two years.

But more important in creating the deficiencies which President McKinley regards as to the cause of our financial difficulties than the gold raids on the treasury, and the issue of bonds to maintain the gold standard, was a provision of Mr. McKinley's tariff law of 1890, repealing the custom taxes on raw sugar, and admitting it duty free in the interest of the sugar trust. It is a low estimate to put the treasury's loss by this remission of taxes at $50,000,000 a year. Sugar had been producing more than that under the tariff of 1883, superseded by the McKinley act. This in four years—or the life of the McKinley law—would have amounted to $200,000,000. To this should be added the onerous sugar bounty, which took from the treasury $18,000,000 for the benefit of favored and wealthy sugar planters.

So here we have lost to the revenues of $218,000,000, the direct result of the McKinley tariff, or $80,000,000 more than President McKinley figures up the deficiencies for 1894, 1895, and 1896 to be. The president, bringing his figures up to date, and including eight months of the present fiscal year, ending February, states the total of the deficit for three years and eight months—that is, from July, 1893, to March, 1897—to have been $186,000,000, or $32,000,000 less than the revenues would have been had his arm been stayed when he wrote into his tariff law the sugar trust's repeal of the duty on raw sugar and the sugar planters' bounty on home grown sugar. In the proposed tariff law there is a return to the sugar tariff policy of the act of 1883, which Mr. McKinley wiped out. This is an admission of blundering incapacity in dealing with our revenues. President McKinley, more than any other man in the country, is responsible for the deficiency up to date of $180,500,000 created as the direct result of the customs taxes on sugar. It was done in the interest of the sugar trust, and advantaged it tens of millions. It first gave the trusts its raw product free of taxes, and then gave it a tariff bounty on its refined product.

PROSPERITY ARRIVED.

The Clearfield Machine Shops gave notice on Saturday that on account of dullness in trade resulting from existing conditions they would only work eight hours. During the "Democratic times" the shops run full time, 300 days to the year, and many of them worked overtime to get out the work. The excellent reputation of these shops for doing good work and the skill of the manager and workmen brought them business when other places were idle. Now, under "Republican times" they have had to cut down. Not as promising as it might be.—Republican.

Railroad to Karthaus.

Clearfield Spirit: It commences to look now as if there would be a railroad built down the river from this place to Karthaus. There is talk of the B. R. & P. extending its line that far. A correspondent from down the river informs us that a gentleman from Buffalo has been leasing coal lands along the proposed route, and he assured the people that the railroad was a sure thing. It is to be hoped that the new road will be a go this time, as it means a great deal to the people of this section through which it will pass.

Lost Four Toes.

A young son of David T. Cowher, of Taylor township, had the misfortune to cut four toes off his right foot while engaged in cutting paper wood. It will make him a cripple for life.

A LAD SADLY DEMENTED

Edward Silkie Becomes a Religious Maniac.

HON. JAMES KERR HONORED

By Nomination for Clerk of the House—Other Interesting News Items Briefly Paragraphed for our Readers.

On Saturday a young man, Edward Silkie, of Scotia, Pa., this county, was brought to the county jail for safe keeping owing to his demented condition. The young man is 22 years of age and lived with his parents at that place, who came here from Germany some time ago. He was stricken with fever which left his mental faculties impaired. The excitement from attending a series of religious meetings in that community completely unbalanced his mind and it was deemed necessary to remove him to this place until proper disposition could be made of him. From morning until night he keeps singing, drumming on the bars making life almost unbearable for the other inmates and the sheriff's family. The poor fellow is completely unbalanced and his condition is a most pitiable one.

About a year ago Silkie disappeared from home and no trace of the young man could be found. Finally he was heard from, down in Florida, where he was working on a farm and expected to prosper. He returned from there a short time ago. The family realized that he had become a religious maniac and that their lives were in danger. The young man was induced to take a trip to Bellefonte and visit the jail, where he was kept.

Honored With Nomination.

Hon. Jas. Kerr, of Clearfield has been honored for the fourth time with the nomination for clerk of the house of Representatives. Though his party is shorn of power to elect its choice in this instance yet the fact that Mr. Kerr has been named, and without opposition, for this important office is a matter upon which he may be congratulated. He has already served two terms as clerk very acceptably. Mr. Kerr is one of the foremost leaders of the democracy in this state.

The G. A. R. in this State.

An exchange says the membership of the Grand Army of the Republic in this state, according to the latest official report, was 36,503, divided among 655 posts. There were gains in membership during the last six months of 1896 aggregating 1,225, while the loss numbered 1,790, of which 433 were caused by death and the rest principally by suspension. Financially, the organization is in a most prosperous condition. The posts distributed for relief purposes the sum of $667,279, and have balances in their treasury amounting to $82,643.

A Joke on the Legislature.

A Hazleton paper says: In the Pennsylvania legislature will be found one gambler, one base ball umpire, one preacher, eight men who declare they are 'gentlemen', nineteen without occupations, twenty-seven lawyers and one pugilist. Of the members three were convicted of larceny, one was tried for murder and acquitted, three have been in insane asylums, while eight have been at Keely cures and four are divorced.

Centre county's representatives must have been out when this canvass was made.

Accident to Woodsman.

While William Weaver was driving a team dragging a long piece of timber through the woods to a saw mill near Penn's Cave, the stick lodged against a tree in such a manner as to cause it to spring in the middle. In attempting to dislodge the piece of timber the one end suddenly sprang forward and struck Mr. Weaver on the left leg below the knee, crushing all the bones in the leg. The injured leg was attended to.

Coal in Nippenose.

The reported find of coal in Nippenose Valley has been confirmed, and the test by burning has proven satisfactory. The coal is not of the anthracite variety but is a good quality of bituminous, similar to the Woodland. The vein has been opened and found to be about 3 1/2 feet thick, and will be worked at once to supply the local market.—Lock Haven Express.

To be Fitted With an Eye.

Daniel Houser, of near Centre Hall, left for Philadelphia this week to be fitted with an artificial eye. Mr. Houser had an eye removed at the University hospital several weeks ago, due to the organ being afflicted, and he has recovered sufficiently to allow a glass one to be fitted.

FITZ WILL FIGHT NO MORE.

He Wants to Be Known as the Undefeated Champion.

In a recent talk Fitzsimmons said: "My determination to retire from the prize ring forever will not be broken by the attempt of several fighters to make me return. I am content to stand upon my record as it exists to-day, and let others do battle for the honors I relinquish. The satisfaction of having defeated James Corbett is sufficient for me, and I prefer to be known hereafter as the retired, undefeated middle-weight and heavy-weight champion of the world."

"The struggle for the mastery has been a long one, and I have found it necessary to beat three hundred men in order to place myself where I stand to-day. In this contest the world has been apprised of my movements through the press, and it has left none of the story untold. It has contained the most complete history of a prize fight ever set before the people of this or any other country, and what it has given the readers has been all there was to give, and the work was well done. No book has ever been written, and probably never will be written, that contains so much truthful information regarding the manly art as has appeared in the columns of the press during the last thirty days or more."

GOLD IN THE ALLEGHENIES.

Great Excitement Over the Discovery of Gold in Bedford County.

There is great excitement in Bedford county over the discovery of gold in the Tussey mountain. From the side of the mountain two tunnels, each 100 feet in length, have been dug, and in them found a gray quartz which contains a high percentage of gold. Prof. M. G. Hilseng, mining engineer at the Pennsylvania State College assayed a sealed check sample containing $513 in gold per ton. Prof. Hilseng said: "I do not know that the sample I assayed came from Tussey mountain, though I believe the person who sent it to me is confident that it did. I assayed another rock which showed only $17 worth of gold to the ton. Even if the gold does not run higher than that the mine will pay, if promptly worked."

It is the intention of the owners to continue prospecting and investigating.

Died Near Houserville.

Died near Houserville, March the 16th, after a brief illness of ten days, Wm. H. Dale aged 43 years and one month. He was the oldest son of John and Catharine Dale and is survived by his parents, three brothers and six sisters, all were present at his funeral also his wife formerly Miss Emma Harter, of Nittany valley and five children. He was an earnest worker in the United Brethren church and had been chorister for many years in which he was particularly gifted. The Sabbath school, prayer meeting and Endeavor society was not complete without him. He was ever ready to answer to a call in bereavement, to sing, speak or pray or do whatever his hand found to do. His remains were laid to rest in the Houserville church yard, followed by a large concourse of bereaved friends and sympathizing neighbors. He will be greatly missed in the church and neighborhood. His family has the sympathy of the community. A FRIEND.

An Aged Lady's Death.

Mrs. Margaret Teats, a widow lady residing with her daughter, Mrs. Daniel Mechtley, on Howard street, passed away Monday morning at 9:45. Her death was due to a general breaking down of the system caused by old age. She was 83 years of age, and was a native of Centre county. Her former home was at Hublersburg.

Deceased was the mother of grocer Harry Teats, of Curwensville, and also of the late Philip Teats, whose widow, Mrs. S. A. Teats, resides on Bishop-street. She also has three grandchildren residing in Bellefonte, namely: Mrs. J. A. Finkbinder, Miss Margaret Teats and Master John Teats.

The interment took place on Wednesday, at Hublersburg. Brief services were held at the house, in this place.

Phillipsburg Editor's Opinion.

The Phillipsburg Journal says the man who takes his job work out of town to have it printed is no friend of the town. He can prate about protection to home industries, but he is the rankest kind of a free trader, and all because he can save a few pennies occasionally on a job of work. These same kind of fellows when they come to die should send their obituaries to the same foreign job office and have them printed on manilla card board and then tack them up on the bill boards. They hardly deserve a funeral notice in the home paper.
